Another Kind.

The late Justice Wills once made
a rather cutting remark to a barrister.
The barrister was, in the judge's opinion, simply waiting the time of the court, and in the course of a long winded speech he dwelt at quite unnecessary length on the appearance of certain bags connected with the case."They might," he went on pompously,
"they might have been full bags,
or they might have been half full bags, or they might even have been empty bags, or""Or perhaps," dryly interpolated the judge, "they might have been empty bags."

"Paradise Lost."

Milton's "Paradise Lost" was completed between 1639 and 1640 and completed about the time of the great fire of London in September, 1666.
The author composed it in passages of from ten to twenty lines at a time,
and then dictated them to an amanuensis, usually some attached friend.
It was first published in 1667 by Samuel Simmonds, and a second edition appeared in 1674. For these two editions Milton received £50 and £10 wider $40 more.

Hens on the Trail.

Fresh eggs laid on the trail formed the latest luxury offered recently to travelers on the Canadian Pacific

any longer. The hens laid many eggs, but they made too much noise. A Burned at the Stake.

As late as the end of the eighteenth century executioners were publicly burned at the stake in London. On March 18, 1789, Christiana Murphy was executed at Newgate tower, London, for the crime of "coining." She was bound to the stake, and on a stool, the main tie being a cord around the neck. The funeral pyre was then lighted by the executioner and the prisoner, who was the last of whom finally jerked the stool from under the wretched creature, allowing the weight to fall on her neck. Within forty-eight minutes the body was entirely reduced to ashes and buried in a hole on the spot where the execution took place.

Two Archbishops.

The Archbishop of Canterbury is primate of all England and therefore takes precedence of the Archbishop of York, who is only "primate of England." This very nice distinction was made several centuries ago on account of a very bitter dispute arising between the two functionaries as to which should precede the other. The matter was settled by conferring precedence upon the Archbishop of Canterbury, the two titles being also bestowed at the same time.

Why He Refused a Fee.

I was born in Bonn, and a fellow student, an Englishman, was taken with sudden and serious illness. I pruned him up, ran to the chemist
at the corner and asked for a doctor.
There was a doctor-by a happy chance-lodging in the room above.
He came and attended my friend with much attention. After some hours, when the matter seemed over,
I asked him what was his fee. He threw up his hands and protested in his best English: "I charge nothing! I am on my holidays!"

A True Fish Story.

Here is a fish story told by a British nobleman: An Irishman had caught a big pike. Noting a lump in its stomach, he cut it open. As I cut it open there was a mighty rush and a flapping of wings, and away flew a wild duck, and when I looked inside
there was a nest, with four eggs, and she had been either sitting on that nest.FATHER OF C. I. N. S.Thomas Burt Has Been Thirty-Eight Years in British House.Mr. Thomas Burt, who is the "father" of the British House of Commons, and who has represented Morpeth for thirty-eight years, is about to meet with opposition from his own camp in his old age. Mr. Burt's views are not sufficiently advanced to meet the approval of some of the more advanced spirits of the labor sector, and the local branch of the Independent Labor party is proposing to run a candidate in opposition to him at the next election.Mr. Burt has had a very remarkable career, and has served out for himself a unique position. There is no man in the House of Commons more highly respected, and his winning personality has gained him hosts of friends. He started his life in the pit, and throughout his career he has been the miners' advocate. Except for a couple of years' attendance at the village school Mr. Burt is entirely self-educated. When twelve years old he was working twelve hours a day as a trapper boy. Then he was promoted to the position of donkey driver at the handsome salary of one shilling a day.In those days strikes were very common, though the workers were quite unorganized. Thomas Burt was a strong advocate of trade unionism,
and though his attitude made him unpopular with employers he gained the confidence of his fellow-workmen.
In 1888 they elected him secretary of the Northumberland Miners' Mutual Provident Association, and nine years later sent him to Parliament as their representative.He was the first miner to enter Parliament, and in connection with his election a good story is told. Mr.
Burt was opposed by Major Duncan, and the latter was accorded a most friendly reception. He was thus lured by the expressions of friendliness into seeking a vote of confidence as a Conservative candidate at one of the meetings. The vote received no support, which caused the major to comment: "What do you mean? You come in crowds to my meetings and do not interrupt me; you cheer my speeches; and then you vote against me to a man!"
"Why, yes," was the reply, "we like you well enough, but we're going to vote for Tommy Burt!"
Mr. Burt is a Privy Councillor, and has been honored with the Freedom of Newcastle-on-Tyne as well as that of Morpeth.

The Word "Picnic."

Few people know the original meaning of the word "picnic." It is to be found set out in the London Times of a hundred years ago.
"A picnic supper consists of a variety of dishes. The subscribers to this entertainment have a bill of fare presented to them with a number against each dish. The lot which he draws obliges him to furnish the dish marked against it, which he either takes with him in his carriage or sends by a servant. The proper variety is preserved by the talents of the maître d'hôtel, who forms the bill of fare. As the cookery is furnished by so many people of fashion, each strives to excel, and thus a picnic supper not only gives rise to much pleasant mirth, but generally can boast of the refinement of the art."

A Needle in a Haystack.

"A bundle of hay" was formerly much used in Derbyshire, England, and probably is so still, to denote a bundle of lies, which was taken from a cock to fodder cattle in fields. When it was difficult to find anything that had been told, the farmer folk were wont to say: "You may as well hunt for it as for a needle in a bundle of hay."

Some times the rope tied round the hay had a piece of wood with an eye in it at one end, through which the rope was passed to tie up the bundle,

and a sharp point at the other end,
and this piece of wood may have been called a needle; if so a needle of this kind may have been referred to in the proverbial saying.

An Avaricious Woman.

A woman who carried love of money to an incredible extreme was Lady Margaret Jardine, sister of the first Marquis of Queensbury. Although her husband was a rich man, Lady Margaret would actually carry foot passengers across the little river Annan for a halfpenny, and whenever there was a fair or market day she would sit on the banks of the stream all day long waiting for customers. She usually wore a red dress, and when on the rare occasions when she appeared anywhere she packed up a few decent garments, which she slipped on before entering the house, exchanging them for her dirty ones when leaving.—London Queen.

A South Sea Eden.

The Friendly islands of the South
Sea are described as an earthly Eden.
The natives have nothing to do but catch fish, gather fruit, sing songs and grow fat. The women are very beautiful, but a little heavy, weighing between 150 and 200 pounds. When a white man goes there to live he has to deposit £50 with the Government. If he lives a decent life this money is returned to him at the end of two years. If he makes trouble the money is confiscated and he is deported.

Quite Unnatural.

Why He Came.

A man rushed into the barber shop and jumped into the first waiting chair, explaining, "Shave in a hurry."
The barber was about to apply the lather when he noticed the customer's face. It had been shaved in spots and looked like a worn-out hair rag.
"I beg your pardon," said the barber,
"but whoever shaved you did not understand his business or must have been nearsighted." "That's all right," replied the customer rather sharply. "Every man to his trade.

that's why I came here."A Bear and a Log Jam.

way down to the log jam and attacked it frantically. Instantly the mass of logs broke. The bear was crushed to pieces. Later it was learned that the log jam was filled with honey.The Same Remedy.

MR. JOHNSTON K.C. OF TORONTO ADDRESSES THE CANADIAN CLUB

The Speaker Changes Original Subjects And Pays Strong Tribute To Canadian Club and the Press

Last night the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Club held a delightful and well attended banquet at the Y.M.C.A., with President Morris in the chair. A choice repast served by Coleman, the confessor, was enjoyed by those present. President Morris introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., of Toronto, intimating that the coming speaker's talk would be an easy one with so splendid a subject as "Ontario" for his address.

However, before Mr. Johnston could speak, President Morris asked secretary Munro for the financial statement, as this was the first meeting of the year. Mr. Munro noted that among the receipts was $188 for members' fees and only $2 for membership not paid. The report was adopted.

Pres. Morris said that the Peterborough Canadian Club had received an invitation to the dinner of the New York Canadian Club. It could not accept personally but asked members who could go to notify the secretary.

President Morris continued by saying that Mr. Johnston had changed his address from "Ontario" to "Some Modern Factors."

Mr. Johnston began by saying that Mark Twain, in his lecture on Agriculture, said sometimes the less a man knows of his subject the better he speaks. The main point of a speaker is to give some original ideas to his audience. He illustrated this by the elder who, when asked by his Presbyterian pastor what he thought of his sermon, replied "I did not like it for three reasons. First, because he read it; second, because he read it badly; and third, because the subject was no good." In speaking of modern factors one must not consider Canada alone but the whole world. Great changes have taken place in the world's history and many of them not noted by the public. The first thing to consider is the change in the human race itself, that is in the individual himself. From the patriarchal through the commercial along to the Kingdom system of Government. There is now a chain binding all the nations together. There is no way of reasonably comparing the present system of society and government with that which existed one hundred, nay, fifty years ago. Taking the world as it stands today, let us obliterate steamships, electricity and railroads, and we destroy industrial welfare. Take away such modern improvements, including newspapers and we relapse into barbarism. Let a man of a hundred years ago wake up today and he would be mentally paralyzed; he would think he was in a new planet. He would, if waking up in Canada, be only 5 days instead of as many weeks away from England. He would find small machines doing the work of twenty or thirty men, subject to the touch of a button. He would find that a child of three years could start the gigantic power of Niagara, turning the wheels of factories hundreds of miles away. His object and desire was to let people's minds work along a new line of thought. As far as Canadian Clubs are concerned not the local one only, they are an important factor in British life today. They get and produce national ideas. The Canadian Club is an imperial matter. It is not a political idea as there must be both Grits and Tories present. The Clubs bring a higher plane of thought, all issues of religious thought. The underlying principle of Canadian Clubs is citizenship. The Canadian Club works out for democracy the united good of rich and poor. They show that true members are proud of Canada. We will see that Canada will become an ally not a mere colony of Great Britain. Canada will assert her rights as the American continent. We must be Canadians and we must be imperial. A great prevalent idea is the broadening of religious thought. It

JIM DALTON IN PRISON BREAK

20 Escape From Pen, But Nine Are Recaptured
A REIGN OF TERROR

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 24.—Twenty convicts led by the notorious Jim Dalton, member of the Whitney gang of bank robbers, escaped through a broken fence in the penitentiary yard this afternoon. Eleven still were at large to-night and the possibility of their recapture is remote. It is believed they gained the hills north of the town before daylight.

The reign of terror which holds the town to-night began at 3 o'clock this afternoon when from the penitentiary burst a bedlam of shouts of convicts and through the streets nine convicts in the prison uniforms ran in a body. Horses tethered in front of stores, were seized by the leaders and bore them at breakneck speed through the town and away to the hills, outdistancing the guards that closed in on the rear of the fugitives after losing precious minutes investigating the cause of the uproar in the cells. Meanwhile four of the convicts seized a grocery wagon and compelled the boy driver to race for the hills. When the horses gave out they loaded themselves with provisions and ran.

SCENES ON THE TURKISH FRONTIER, WHERE THE COMBINED ARMIES OF THE BALKAN STATES ARE NOW ENGAGED IN WAR

GREEK ARMY SCORE A GREAT TRIUMPH BUT SERVILIANS LOSE IN GREAT BATTLE

Bulgarians Capture Towns Along Black Sea Coast And Imperial Turkish Armies at Adrianople And Kirk-Kiliseh—Employ Tactics of Lord Roberts in Boer War

London, Oct. 25.—What may prove to be one of the decisive battles in the history of the world is undoubtedly being fought by the Bulgarians and Turks around Adrianople, but the news which is thus far available as to its progress, is of the scantiest.

TURKS PURSUE SERVILIANS.
Constantinople, Oct. 25.—The Serbian army operating near Kumanova has been completely defeated by the Turkish troops defending that town.

The Serbians suffered enormous losses, according to an official despatch from the commander-in-chief of the Turkish western army. The Turkish troops are pursuing them energetically.

London, Oct. 25.—Events are transpiring quickly in the Balkan war. Several important battles were fought yesterday, all of which, with the exception of one at Kumanova, appear to have gone against the Turks. Adrianople and Kirk-Kiliseh, two important fortresses barring the way to Constantinople, are surrounded by the Bulgarians, and the fighting here, while not completely decisive, has been of the most desperate character. An alarming development for the Turks has been the progress of another Bulgarian army along the Black Sea coast, which has already resulted in the capture of Vasilika and Tirnov.

The Bulgarians appear to be resorting to Lord Robert's strategy in the Boer war, when he forced the enemy back of employing three parallel armies, with which he succeeded in keeping the enemy outflanked and on the run. The Bulgarian army coming down along the coast, unless at once checked, will make untenable the position of the Turkish forces at Adrianople and Kirk-Kiliseh. The Turks claim to have defeated the Bulgarians at Maras, and to have captured four batteries of guns and seven Maxim's.

Servilians Capture Two Towns.
In the north-west of the Balkan peninsula, the Servilians have captured Kriktina and Novibazar at frightful cost. They, too, seem to have been using tactics similar to those of Lord Roberts, but their third and most advanced army, said to have been composed of four divisions, seems to have met a serious defeat at Kumanova. The Servilian capital is alarmed at the prospect of the army running short of rifle ammunition.

The Greeks have been unexpectedly successful against the large Turkish army opposing their advance into Macedonia. They captured the town of Servia yesterday, capturing 23 field guns and many prisoners, and scattering the Turkish army, whose retreat is in doubt.

STOMACH ACTION CAN NOW BE ILLUSTRATED

Boston, Oct. 24.—A new departure in medical exposition—motion picture illustrations of the workings of the stomach and intestinal organs—was presented last night at the Homeopathic Hospital on East Concord street, at the close of the first day of the 72nd semi-annual meeting of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Medical Society. The motion pictures illustrated a paper on "The Radiographic Diagnosis of Gastro-Intestinal Lesions," read by Dr. Gregory Cole of New York. In explaining the paper Dr. Cole told of the first experiments in motion-picture medical work, which were originated by Prof. W. B. Cannon, of the Harvard Medical School. They were first attempted on cats, by feeding them bismuth, which made X-ray moving pictures of the stomach possible. The success of the experiments led to their being made on human beings. Following the reading of the paper the members of the society spent an hour in discussion of it.

FINEST BORDEN CLUB. Geoph. Organization Has Twelve New Members.

Geoph. Club, Oct. 25.—This city now boasts the largest Borden Club in Canada. As a result of the annual election for officers, it was announced that the vote showed over twelve hundred members. The white ticket, headed by Dr. C. C. Tatham, won all the offices and half of the executive committee. The successful ones were: President, Dr. Tatham; Vice-Presidents, Ed. Billings, R. E. McPherson, W. G. Howell; Secretary, Albert M. Orr; Treasurer, Arthur Watson; Executive, Joseph A. Hewitt, J. M. Scott, Robert Moore, Ronald Macdonald, W. TOWER SCANDAL AT OTTAWA A MILLION DOLLARS INVOLVED

Contract Record Criticizes Construction of Costly Edifice—Big Crack Shows How Tower Settles

(Special to The Times).
Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Conditions at the Victoria Memorial Museum at Ottawa, built under the late Liberal government at a cost of something like a million dollars of the people's money, shows to what extent the former spenders of the public funds were concerned in safeguarding the interests of the people whose trustees they were. The huge square tower of stone in the front of the building is sinking. Nobody seems to know how long the settling is like to continue, and the ultimate necessity of taking the tower down and rebuilding it at considerable cost does not seem improbable. The situation is made much worse from the fact that the contractor, before putting up the tower, warned the Public Works Department of what was likely to occur unless the plans were altered, and refused to assume any responsibility if the soil did not support the tower. The warning was not heeded by the Liberal government.
The Contract Record and Engineering Review, in its issue of October 9, published an illustration of the crack in the Museum, and published also the following comment under the heading, "Ottawa's 'Leaning Tower'":
American emulation of Old World examples in the field of architecture is plentiful, but the city of Ottawa may certainly lay claim to originality in copying such an unique feature as the "leaning tower" of Pisa. The only difference between the "leaning tower" of Pisa and that of the Victoria Memorial Museum at Ottawa is that the former exemplifies the possibilities of skillful design, while the latter does not. It is not charitable, however, to observe such differences, and Ottawa is entitled to be classed with Pisa and all other cities having building curiosities. Whether anything can be done to remedy the "lean" of the tower is problematical. As fast as the tower goes out at the top the consequent opening is filled with brick and concrete so that the eye of such dilettantes as high Government officials may not be offended.

A THOUSAND GEOLOGISTS ARE COMING TO TORONTO CITY

Main Topic for Consideration Will Be the Coal Resources Of the World—Twelfth International Congress

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the twelfth International Geological Congress which on the invitation of the Canadian Government, the geological survey and Canadian Mining Institute will meet in Toronto next summer. Matters of world interest are to be discussed, the main topic perhaps being the coal resources of the world. It is expected that over one thousand of the leading geologists and mining engineers from all the great nations of the world will attend, this alone giving an adequate idea of the significance of the convention. The proper authorities of each country have been asked to supply information concerning coal in their respective countries. As a basis for this discussion a monograph of the subject of coal is to be issued and is now being compiled and edited. It is the intention of the Government to make excursions a feature of the congress, affording the visitors from all parts of the world an opportunity to become acquainted with the geology and natural resources of the accessible portions of the Dominion.

A BIG EFFORT TO SAVE ELLIS FROM THE GALLOWS

Lindsay, Ont., Oct. 25.—After the jury had retired to consider the evidence in the trial of Arthur A. Ellis for murder, last night, T. C. Robinson, K.C., counsel for the prisoner, made formal application before Mr. Justice Clute for a stated case to be argued before the Court of Appeal as to the propriety of admitting as evidence the statement of the prisoner made before Inspector Reburn and Constable Welsh after being placed under arrest. The question to be argued is as to whether the prisoner would not be influenced by the statement previously made to Inspector Reburn, previous to his being placed under arrest without being properly warned that any such statement might result in his being detained for the crime. The former statement which was not admitted as evidence yesterday was obtained a few minutes before the statement admitted as evidence. A renewal of the application for a stated case will probably be made soon in Toronto.

ENGLISH WILL NOT FOLLOW FRENCH ON BI-LINGUAL ISSUE

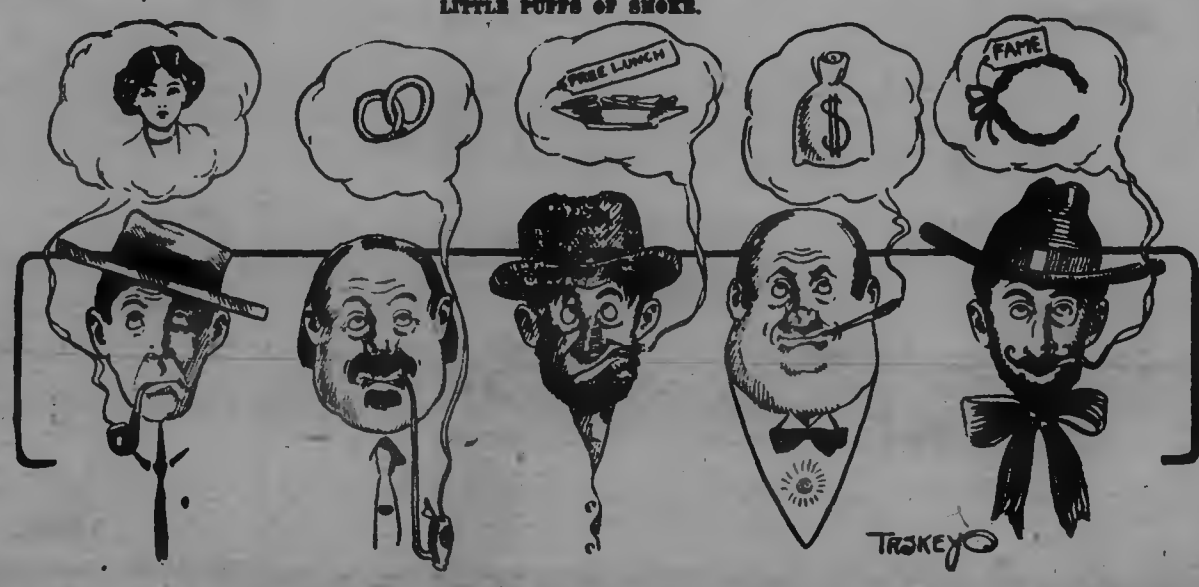

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—There is dissension in the Ottawa Separate School Board over the new regulations of the Provincial Department of Education with regard to the English-French schools. By a vote of 7 to 1 the English section of the Board last night decided to break away from the French section, which is opposing the regulations. There are nine French and nine English trustees, and when the matter comes before the Board for final decision to-night, a lively time is promised. The resolution adopted is: "We, the English trustees in committee assembled, being of the opinion that the regulations regarding the English-French schools have no relevance to English schools, hereby place ourselves on record as being opposed to the English section of the Separate School Board."

NATURE KNOWN NO HAIR RESTORER

German Scientist Says It Is Fashionable of Indoor Lovers.
Munster, Germany, Oct. 24.—We are so civilized or alleged to be civilized, said Professor Kroweyer, at the convention of physicians, that it would be curious indeed if there were less men with bald heads and if the hair of our women was not diminishing in volume. The hair needs life and air to develop. Many men wear their hats all day long; in America they do so even at their meals, I understand. Women are not content with the hair nature gave them, but they must add to it. Every real girl sticks in her hair causes the loss of hair, either to herself or to her future children. Shampoo is the best means for preventing loss of hair, since we must upon washing in indoor life. After the hair once begins to fall out there is no stopping it, all so-called "cures" being failures.

PRISONER TRIES TO BURN DOWN JAIL

Rebelant Negro Tried Twice To Escape From Custody.
Grand Case, La., Oct. 24.—Saturday night Will Hall, an intoxicated negro prisoner in the city jail, fired the place, with the idea of escaping and was rescued with difficulty after he had piled his bedding on one side of his cell and set it afire. On his way to Mansfield he made a second attempt to escape by jumping out the window and was rescued when he had been climbed into submission and his hands tied. Hall is still in the Mansfield jail.

TERRIFIC HEAT.

Explorer Braved African Climate to Make Important Discoveries.

"The heat where we worked," says Dr. Felix Oswald, British explorer in central Africa, "was terrific. Tsetse flies abounded, and I have seen the midges come over the lake in a cloud that obscured the sun to a dull yellow tinge, and the noise of their humming as they passed sounded like the lower C note on a pipe organ. Flying crickets as large as sparrows were common. There were ants three-quarters of an inch long. But what oppressed the most was the dreadful loneliness. Strange to say, the intensely hot air was stimulating to the nerves. I drank a gallon of milk a day."

This eminent authority was sent to British East Africa some time ago by the British Museum and the discoveries made are quite interesting. He reports having found conclusive evidence that the great lake of Victoria Nyanza has been in existence since the Miocene age—a matter of 3,000,000 years or so. The lake is of vast extent and lies at an altitude of 4,000 feet, in a mountainous region of the equator. In places it is of vast depth, the bottom probably being below the sea level.

Dr. Oswald found buried on the eastern shore of the lake parts of a number of prehistoric mammals, including the jawbone and teeth of a Dinotherium of the Tertiary Era, and some bones of acanthatherium and antherium, the ancient types of rhinoceros. They were all found close to the mouth of the Kaji or Kaya river. Other traces of fossils were unearthed at points five and 11 miles distant, in what appeared to be the same gully.

According to the British Museum experts the discovery of the vast age of Victoria Nyanza throws an entirely new light on the problem of human antiquity. One consequence is that civilization in Egypt may have to be reckoned as probably having existed from 10,000 to 100,000 years ago or even longer. For, they say, if Victoria Nyanza is 3,000,000 years old, the river Nile, of which it is the source, is not only of practically equal age, but has in all that almost inconceivably long period served in its present course of over 3,000 miles from the equator to the Mediterranean.

That means, according to the museum authorities, that the valley of the Nile in Egypt has remained for more than 1,000,000 years in virtually its present physical state, with conditions as favorable to human civilization and human development a million years ago as they were 1,000 years ago, at what is called the "dawn" of Egyptian history; and, inasmuch as the Egyptian culture of 11,000 years ago was as pronounced as it is to-day, there is no way of limiting, by inference, the actual extent of its antiquity.

Throat Becomes Disease From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets in, Mucus Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing Catarrh disease consists in using Catarrhose is now freely admitted. Catarrhose is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough medicines contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhose you take no drugs—you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhose's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhose seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhose Inhaler—it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhose, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchitis or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhose contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller sizes 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhose Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES

God did not make a man an ass, but there is not the least doubt that man was granted the privilege to make an ass of himself.

The great war of the Canadian people on Turkey will begin on Monday, which has been the day set aside for thanksgiving.

Boston Herald shows a facsimile of the cheque given Manager Stahl of the "Box" to split up with his team. The cheque was for $88,543.44. The cheque looked good to us and probably looked better to the players.

Fashion's decree is that this winter women shall wear fine furs. This means, of course, a disastrous attack on father's cash pile which will force the old man to get along with last year's moth-eaten overcoat.

It seems that the judge in the Minerva murder case ruled that "confessions do not count in murder cases." What a blessing it would be for some local citizen of post-prandial confessions to their wives at 3 a.m., would not count or be remembered.

Any of our city readers who attempt to follow the progress of the Balkan war, the course of events in Mexico and also keep up with the developments of the power question in Peterborough, are likely to require the rest cure.

For the benefit of those interested in the development of the Trent Canal we may call attention to a novel towing system which is being tested on a small section of the Dortmund-Ems canal, in Germany. A flexible rail is laid at the bottom of the canal and the rail is clasped, and by which the boat pulls itself along. Any kind of motive power will be available for use by the tug, but it is intended to install a trolley wire along the bank of the canal, so that electricity would probably be the usual mode of operation.

THE DE LAVAL BY-LAW

Whilst it would be altogether too much to say that Peterborough is "at the parting of the ways" as regards her industrial future, there is no denying the fact that our future growth and development are dependent upon such new factories as we may secure. This must be admitted not only as a self-evident fact but as a big factor in values of property here. A new industry gained by Peterborough does not mean solely a raise in price of land and property immediately adjoining or adjacent to such factory. A new factory for the city, whilst admittedly benefitting the immediate neighborhood, has a direct and irrefutable influence on increasing the value of every foot of real estate in our municipality. There are those that seem to think another new factory would naturally benefit the George street merchant and the man with land to sell for building purposes. True! It would benefit such individuals. At the same time, every new factory, with its increasing demand for homes for its employees, puts an increased value on the home, not only of the man with the automobile, but on the home that John Smith has paid for by years of hard work and harder saving.

Consequently, we confidently hope that every qualified elector of Peterborough will turn out on Oct. 31st.

BRITISH SUFFRAGETTES

The British suffragette is a woman of risk and recklessness, but shrewdly withal. Trusting to the defense which her sex gives her from violence at the hands of brutal men, she resorts to violence to further her cause and adopts a variety of schemes, questionable and obnoxious, upon the theory apparently that the end justifies the means.

A number of suffragettes have been imprisoned for ruthless violation of the law in destroying property and in other ways infringing upon the common right of others, and they accept the mild punishment as a sort of martyrdom. But one of their latest tricks is to bring their husbands also under the ban of the law and have them placed in durance vile for the good of the cause. In Great Britain there is a law which provides that if a wife owns property the husband is liable for the taxes, and if these taxes remain unpaid he is liable to be sent to jail.

Avaling themselves of the opportunity afforded by this law married suffragettes, it is reported, have formed a plan to have their husbands made co-sharers and co-sufferers with them in their extraordinary campaign tactics. One woman already has, by refusing to pay taxes, had her spouse safely landed in jail, and others are reported to have declared that they have husbands who will voluntarily and cheerfully go to the debtor's prison to give sacrificial demonstration of their devotion and subordination to their wives and their suffragette cause.

THE TRENT CANAL CHANNELS.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir,—I notice in a recent issue of the Times, an article drawing attention to the poor construction of the Trent Canal. It refers chiefly to submerged channels.

As a marine man and one that has had charge of one of the largest steamers plying on the canal, as well as years of experience in towing barges, would say that the government cannot take too much care in making submerged channels. There are a number of places on the canal that have been dredged and made deeper in this way. They become what is known as "submerged channels." The contractor, instead of dumping the rock or earth on the side of the cut, has it towed away. This, of course, makes the whole body of water look all the same depth, which is not the case, as the sides of the cut perhaps have only a couple of feet of water, when there is seven to nine feet in the centre.

The Trent Canal was never intended for more than a barge canal, and the greatest care must be taken to make the canal suitable for barge purposes. I venture to making the present methods of making these channels are continued a tug with a tow of three barges cannot make a trip to the Bay of Quinte without tearing the bottoms out of the barges.

A FITTING DEFENCE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is quite in accord with the fitness of things that Mr. D. O'Connell, a Roman Catholic, should rush to the defence of Rev. Canon Davidson. Protestants have not forgotten Mr. Davidson's fruitless effort to bring about an understanding between Rev. Father McCall and the Protestant ministers of this city, when the former declined to attend a dinner given by Mr. Davidson of the ministers of the city. I have no doubt Mr. Davidson really desired to pour oil on the troubled waters, but he could not have had a proper grasp of the wide and impassable gulf that separates Protestants and Catholics, or have Protestants forgotten the Ontario Separate School trouble, or further back when at a public banquet at the Oriental Hotel in this city, which was attended by the bishops and clergy of the Roman Catholic Church, the toast of the Pope was first on the list, followed by that of the Queen, the latter having taken second place. Or have the public of Peterborough quite forgotten the "pull" which the church has always had with the government of Canada, as exemplified by the fact that two murderers were allowed their freedom, through the efforts of Roman Catholic priests, I refer to James Ryan, who was liberally stabbed his wife to death, and was sentenced to death, which sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. He afterwards received a full pardon. James Farley, who was the son of a wealthy Roman Catholic, some years later, deliberately shot and killed a man on the market square and was treated in exactly the same way. In both cases no attempt was made to show that either party was not in his right mind. They escaped the gallows and subsequently were given their liberty simply and solely on account of their religion.

Along about the same time a murder was committed in Dunsmuir township by a crazy, demented man, who was known to be weak-minded, but he was a Protestant, and was strung up.

Catholics and Protestants cannot become bedfellows, any more than water and oil will mix, for the simple reason that the priests are thoroughly antagonistic and fight for all kinds of special privileges, while Protestants only insist on equal rights, and for civil and religious liberty for every citizen, regardless of race or creed.

I have no fault to find with any man who strives for peace and harmony, but what is the use of crying "peace!" "peace!" when one side violates everything that makes for peace and friendship.

DEER'S ANTLERS BLOCK FREIGHT

Newton, N.J., Oct. 24.—A big deer with large antlers swam the Delaware river near here to-day and came up the embankment of the Lehigh Valley railroad, just as a freight train was passing. The engineer saw the animal and stopped the train directly in its path. Without hesitation, the deer tried to pass over the train, but came to grief with its antlers in the brake-gear. The trainmen liberated it after a quarter-hour's work.

SHEDMAN WILL PLEAD GUILTY

District Attorney Nunez Got Evidence Against Him

ADMITS BIGAMY CHARGE

New Orleans, Oct. 24.—N. H. Nunez, district attorney of the 29th Judicial District, returned yesterday from Jacksonville, Fla., whither he had gone to gather the evidence in the Shedman bigamy case, which is now pending before the district court of Plaquemines parish. He was successful in finding a number of parties whose testimony was of great value to the State, and they agreed to come to Plaquemines next week when the case comes up for trial. Among those seen is the first wife of Shedman, who said that she believed that he had married more than twice, and that he had threatened her life so frequently when they lived in New Orleans that she was glad to get away from him.

Mr. Nunez saw a number of the officials of Jacksonville, who rendered him every assistance possible in unearthing evidence, among them being Clerk of Court H. C. Ingram, who was tireless in his efforts to assist the district attorney in getting witnesses. After he had interviewed wife No. 1, one of the witnesses to the marriage, and others, Mr. Nunez wired Sheriff Meyers that he had more than sufficient evidence to convict Shedman, and acquainted him with the character of the testimony. Saturday morning Sheriff Meyers informed the prisoner of the evidence in the possession of the district attorney and that the witnesses were willing to come down to Plaquemines, and concluding that there was no longer any chance of escaping punishment, Shedman told Sheriff Meyers that he would withdraw his plea of not guilty and substitute one of guilty. Late Saturday night Mr. Nunez, who had just reached home, was advised of this fact, and he in turn wired to Mrs. Shedman and the other witnesses in Jacksonville not to come to Plaquemines as their presence will not be needed.

EMPTY PURSES LED TO TRAGEDY

Vienna, Oct. 24.—Lack of money to pay for a dinner at a country inn resulted in a terrible tragedy at Microwitz, near Olmutz.

A young Olmutz photographer named Eduard Klitzsch took his sweet heart, Miss Friedrich, for an excursion. They had dinner at a small inn, and, finding that their joint money was not sufficient to pay for the meal they ran away to escape payment.

The waiters pursued them, overtaking the couple just at a wayside crossroads. Unable to face the disgrace of being arrested for swindling, Marie Friedrich begged her lover to shoot her.

Klitzsch drew his revolver and fired one shot, wounding her fatally. Then he tried to shoot himself, but was prevented.

This is a Want Ad Town

And There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider the want ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

Wanted a Lower Key.
Spats—My love, I wish you would lower the key of your voice. Mrs. Spats—What's the matter with it? Spats—Oh, nothing; only from the unkindness of Eliza Jane's face after our recent argument I'm certain it has every keyhole in the house.

Very Unexpected.
The teacher in the infant's school was explaining the principle of subtraction.
"Now, suppose," she said, "that mother put seven cherries on the table and little Willie came in and took one. How did mother know that one was gone when she did not see little Willie take it?"
She paused for an answer, expecting some child to say, "Because there would be six left."
But, instead, little Kna, blushing furiously, answered:
"I 'spect Willie forgot to hide the stem and the stone!"

TO PUT UP NO CAPITAL AND SHARE THE PROFITS GOOD BUSINESS FOR CITY

City Aldermen See More Light and Power Possibilities Than Hydro-Electric—Face to Face With Opportunity For Giving People Financial Interest in all Public Utilities, Without Share in Initial Cost and With Option to Purchase Outright at Leisure

"As the City Needs to Borrow Some $350,000 for Imperative Permanent Improvements, Would it not be wise to avoid a further capitalization of about $200,000 for the Acquisition of a Municipal Lighting and Power Plant, and enter into Partnership with the Electric Company, at no Initial Cost, and Share the Profits?"

As a result of Tuesday evening's conference between the City Council and representatives from the Seymour Power Company, our aldermanic representatives are face to face with an opportunity for giving Peterborough citizens a real interest in this city's public utilities. And now it might reasonably be asked: "What will they do with it?" Another result of that conference is that our worthy aldermen "See more Light and Power possibilities than those wearing the seductive halo of Hydro-Electric." The opinion seemed to be that dealing with the Seymour Power Co. would mean good-bye to public ownership; but on the contrary one learns that negotiations with this company may result in two desirable ends—immediate public ownership of light, power, gas and street railway, denuded of all competition, or a share in the profits of these consolidated public utilities operated by their present owners. That it is to say, the company will either sell outright, and at once, their railway, lighting and power distributing plants, and enter into a contract with the city for the perpetual supply of power; or they will operate these consolidated interests in partnership with the city. In the latter case our citizens would be partners and share the profits, the company also active partners, but responsible for operation, the trials and tribulations of maintenance and loss, if any; the city to have representatives on the Board of Control, which representatives would preserve the people's rights, and see that fair fixed charges are maintained. This proposition also to permit of the city purchasing the whole system each recurring ten years if so desired.

No wonder Alderman Johnston looked sad at Tuesday's conference, and acquiesced where Hydro-Electric is to come in. And little wonder that the Council sent the company's representatives home to frame their propositions for the former's earnest consideration. No other course was open to them in the people's interests.

"LET US REASON TOGETHER."

The past few years successive city councils have advocated, more or less, municipal ownership of all public utilities. This also is a set policy of Hon. Adam Beck's—the dreams of it at night and works on it by day. He has applied his pet principle by harnessing Niagara Falls and is now selling the electric energy thus generated to municipalities for distribution by their own plants. He will even go further than this. Where Niagara Falls' energy cannot be transmitted he will aid a municipality to expropriate private power plants in furtherance of his public ownership plan.

Now, let us see what Hydro-Electric offers Peterborough? It offers municipal ownership of the Peterborough Light and Power Company's distributing plant only, which, if expropriated, will certainly have to compete with the Seymour Power Co., who have a 30 years operating franchise. Hon. Adam Beck estimates the value of this plant at some $58,000, the Company can show that it cost $150,000, to say nothing of damages, and it is safe to say an expropriation board would adjudge nearer the company's figure than that of Mr. Beck. Altogether, with improvements, extensions, underground conduits, etc., one might reasonably estimate that the Hydro-Electric proposition would create a city debt, conservatively speaking, of say $200,000 or over. And for what? FOR ONE PUBLIC UTILITY PLANT, in competition with a keen competitor.

What does the Seymour Power Co. offer? Immediate or prospective municipal ownership of ALL public utilities—GAS, LIGHT, POWER, and the STREET RAILWAY. But let us pass lightly over the immediate ownership scheme; with the heavy debt to be involved and nerve-racking responsibilities in regard to operations and maintenance. Does it not behoove us to go a trifle slow and not accept any proposition which will create considerable debt, until we are convinced that there is no better way.

Would it not be good policy to accept the company's municipal partnership plan, involving no initial investment by the city, in which event the capitalization required for the Hydro-Electric scheme could be applied to the

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Needed For Permanent Improvements

The city is facing the immediate need of borrowing hundreds of thousands of dollars for permanent improvements. There is no getting away from that fact. We have to mend our ways and cease polluting the Ottonabee waters. Ottonabee and N. Monaghan townships insist that Peterborough adopts other means of sewage disposal, and they are supported by the same legislature that fosters Hydro-Electric. In consequence of this we have immediately to build a new outfall sewer and "install a sanitary plan for treating sewage. Then Ald. Buller's white elephant, the Romanesque street sewer, is kicking over the traces, and will probably need re-constructing—that is Ald. Buller's opinion, and he knows. An incinerator for garbage disposal must also be secured without unreasonable delay; and, goodness knows, we need street paving bad enough, together with another bridge over the river, and sufficient credit to encourage the location here of new industries. Finally, the new City Hall scheme is not dead, but sleeping, and two new fire substations are needed. The following figures may stand correction, but roughly speaking, next year and in the near future permanent improvement debentures will need to be issued for the following amounts:—

|--|---|
| New outfall sewer and sanitary treatment plant—$250,000 | New City Hall—$50,000 |
| New bridge—50,000 | Reconstructing Romanesque Street Sewer—12,000 |
| Incinerator—15,000 | Fire substations and equipment—15,000 |
| Street paving for a start—50,000 | |
| $405,000 | $77,000 |

The bridge estimate in the foregoing is exceedingly conservative. Inasmuch as it provides only for the south city structure, at Sherbrooke or Dalhousie streets, already stated.

(This true that the engineer has subsequently estimated $60,700 for a truss structure, and that the C.P.R. has agreed to a foot-bridge across their new one when built; but bridge accommodation at this point should be of a substantial nature to carry all traffic).

But apart from this item, it must be borne in mind that the Hunter street bridge is condemned, and that in reality an overhead bridge at this point is needed. What would such a structure cost?

Bulgarians and Greeks Have Done Their Share in First Stage of War—Used Bayonets Freely

London, Oct. 26.—The Bulgarians and Greek armies have carried out successfully their part of the first stage of the war waged by the Balkan states against Turkey by the capture of Kirk-Kiliseh and the Turkish base in the town of Scutari. Their allies, Montenegro and Serbia, are now working desperately to do their share by overcoming the Turkish hosts at Scutari and Kumanova, which latter is the key to Uskup.

Details of the great battle between the Bulgarians and the Turks at Kirk-Kiliseh are still lacking. It is said that the Bulgarians expected the fortress to hold out longer and its fall within a week of the opening of hostilities is considered by them a great achievement.

DON'T LIKE MAYOR HOCKEN

The Catholic Register's Antipathy To Orangemen.

The Catholic Register, the organ of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, Toronto, has no love for Mr. H. C. Hocken, editor of the Orange Sentinel, who was recently elected Mayor of Toronto.

It is in its last issue that it had the following:

"An Orange Council voting a man like Horatio Hocken into the Mayorality of a great city is certainly a matter for Twentieth Century boasting. A bounding city like Toronto presided over by a little Orange demagogue is surely a sad enough spectacle. Almost as well let it go to the bow-wow, for of all petty magistrates which the 'glorious and immortal' humber ever foisted on a town, this is the limit!"

CHANGES IN THE CABINET

General Impression That Mr. Macleod, Who Was With Premier Last Night Will Be New Minister

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The air is still full of Cabinet rumors and to-day there seems to be a general impression that L. T. Macleod, K.C., of Montreal, will be the new Cabinet Minister. One thing definitely is known that T. Chase Casgrain will not enter the Cabinet.

Mr. Macleod seems the most probable man. The fact that he was in Ottawa last night and saw Premier Borden adds weight to the story that he will be Mr. Monk's successor. However, it is considered very doubtful if Mr. Macleod enters the Cabinet whether he would take such a heavy portfolio as Public Works. In fact, in an interview last night, Mr. Macleod intimated that he left a man with more technical knowledge than himself should fill Public Works.

FINED FOR DRUNK IN LOCAL OPTION DISTRICT

County Magistrate Edmondson held a police court at Norwood on Thursday afternoon. The "casus belli" was too much bottled hilarity on the day of Norwood Fair. Incidentally, Norwood is a local option town. Still, like Mark Twain's Chinaman with "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," the man find of artificial hilarity seems able to procure his bottled joy whether he is in a local option municipality or not. Anyway Thomas Newhall and an Indian named Smoke, got, like Heints, "pickled again." As a result of the trial, Newhall and Smoke, charged with having been drunk in the sacred precincts of a local option municipality, were fined $20 and costs each, or about $25.50 apiece for one day's fun. Newhall was charged under the Indian Act with having supplied Smoke with fire-water. He was found guilty. Sentence was reserved.

CONTRACTOR JAS. BOGUE IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Falls From a Broken Plank at Millbrook and Breaks Leg and Hart Internally.

Yesterday, one of Peterborough's oldest and best known contractors, the man who has been awarded the $80,000 contract for the Lindsay armory, Mr. James Bogue, of 220 Dublin street, sustained severe and dangerous injuries at Millbrook. It seems that as Mr. Bogue was crossing a plank leading to the new Bank of Toronto building in that village which is being constructed by him, the plank broke and Mr. Bogue fell a distance of ten feet. The result was a broken leg and a fractured rib. The unfortunate man was conveyed to his home on Dublin street, on arrival of the train bearing him. Dr. Fredericks was summoned and did all that science and medical skill can do in such a case. Mr. Bogue's many friends will hope soon to see the genial contractor about again.

Anyway, the theory that marriages are made in heaven can't be much consolation to spinsters.

THE VAST OIL FIELDS WHICH LEAD TO GREAT WEALTH

Interesting Biography of Prominent Oil Expert Who is New in the City

It is of local interest to note that one of the most prominent oil experts and business men of the Pacific Coast is, for a short time a guest at the Oriental Hotel. We refer to Mr. A. J. M. Hosom, of Seattle, Wash., president of the Colonial Oil Co. This gentleman is making a business trip through Eastern Canada, awaiting the more settled business condition that will exist on the American side of the line when the Presidential elections are over. This Company is registered under the laws of Canada and about half its directorate is composed of Canadians of highest standing in financial circles of the Dominion, a fact which may be ascertained by reference to Bradstreet's or R. G. Don & Company's commercial agencies. A list of the directors may be had from Mr. Hosom, Mr. Colquhoun, or at this office.

To indicate the regard in which Mr. Hosom is held among prominent business men—where he is known—men who have associated themselves with him in this enterprise, we append the following estimate of his business ability and integrity, made by Mr. E. H. Thomas, managing editor of the Post-Intelligencer, the leading daily newspaper of Seattle. "I know no man whose business judgment is more to be relied upon than that of Mr. Hosom, and anything that has his approval as a safe and sound business proposition has always secured the co-operation of the careful investor, and for this reason, I and some of my friends are associated with him in the Colonial Oil Co. His judgment in investments in farm and coal lands in British Columbia has been good and immensely profitable, and the plan and scope of his organization of the Colonial Oil Co. has novel features which commend it to that class of financiers who are qualified to judge of the merit of such an enterprise."

Some three and a half years ago, Mr. Hosom conceived of a novel, yet practical plan, as it has since proven to be, of collecting large bodies of oil lands from a number of oil fields where oil is known to exist. He said, "we will have one big oil company on the Pacific Coast based on many thousands of acres in California, British Columbia and the State of Washington." His company expects to prevent the loss of any of its money, by putting its eggs in a number of baskets. To select these lands and get reports of them by reputable engineers was a task that probably not more than one man in a thousand would care to undertake, and he turned down over 300,000 acres as not suitable for his company. His explorations and those of his engineers were covered by steamers, railroads, launches, canoes and horses and often on foot, the cost running into thousands of dollars and over three years of time. But his enthusiasm, faith in action, sure of his plan, that his company would not lose its money which occurs so often in single oil fields, has claimed the attention of a large number of wealthy men from coast to coast. Mr. J. A. McNair, of Vancouver, B.C., the millionaire shingle king of Canada, has become a heavy stockholder in this company, and has since become its treasurer. Mr. E. H. Crandell, one of the strong factors in the financial circles of Calgary, Alberta, was a member of the Board of Directors of the Colonial Oil Co., and a large stockholder in the company. Last August Mr. Crandell advised Mr. B. H. Silver, 1st Vice President, to come to Calgary during the process of harvesting a bumper wheat crop, that he and his friends would organize a pool and take another large block of the Colonial Oil Company's stock. Mr. Silver is now in Calgary. Mr. C. A. Thurston, President of the First National Bank of Glendive, Montana, as well as 2nd Vice-President of the Colonial Oil Co., when here last July, said: "Mr. Hosom made a great deal of money for me in coal lands, and I am pleased that he gave me an invitation to join the Colonial Oil Co." Also Mr. E. B. Clark, a millionaire lumberman of Miles City, Montana, with large timber interests on Vancouver Island, said in an interview: "Mr. Hosom is a quiet man, who does things and then lets the people talk. I went into a railroad deal with him a few years ago and he treated me right. About two years afterwards I heard he was buying coal lands. I took an early train for Seattle and called on Mr. Hosom, and asked him if he could use any of my money in his coal deals. He said he could enlarge the purchase. Out of that deal in about eight months I took down 32 dollars for one. That beats the lumber business. I am going into the Colonial Oil Co. with him for several reasons. He never promises big returns, but delivers larger profits than expected. He has good connections and the confidence of all who know him. Mr. Hosom has not said as much, but we expect to see him drill 20 to 30 oil wells in a short time, and then sell out for three or four times the par value of the Company's stock."

Mr. Hosom has always had the faculty of surrounding himself with men of high character. It has just occurred to me that I have omitted to state a very important matter in connection with my story. Mr. Hosom, knowing there would not be enough capital on the Pacific Coast available for the Colonial Oil Co., went East some eighteen months ago to look into the fiscal situation, and being assured that plenty of money was available for his company returned and completed his explorations. He may not go east till after the election."

If there is any truth in the reports from the seat of war Turkey is getting well roasted.

From all accounts the Hon. Bill Tait is putting in his time getting ready for that moving day in March.

The Examiner recently remarked that "the world's greatest man has yet to be born." This looks like a minority report from Sir Wilfrid's own party.

The physicians ordered absolute "quiet and rest" for the Hon. Tekly McDevitt, but the fact that every trifling thing he says or does both day and night is published proves to our mind that it is the long suffering public who need rest.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION IN QUEBEC.

The clerical newspapers in Quebec, such as the Croix, the Verite and the Action Sociale, are never weary of arguing that the doctrines of free schools and compulsory education are anti-Catholic, and those who preach such things are necessarily under Masonic or other evil influence. And yet the tide in favor of these very things is manifestly rising, and the clerical Mrs. Farrington will have plenty of use for her terron. Senator Dandurand has just returned to Montreal from an extended visit to France, and Belgium, and he tells what he has seen. He says: "The Belgium Government which is in the hands of Catholics, and supported by the Catholic clergy does not hesitate to proclaim in its full free primary education and the obligation of the parents to give that instruction to their children. The adoption of this policy was imposed upon the ministerial majority by the fact that each year was showing an increased proportion of conscripts unable to read or write." Last year, according to Senator Dandurand, there were 129 illiterates in every thousand of the Belgian conscripts, whilst in the neighboring countries, where compulsory education is in force, there were only from 25 to 40 per thousand. It seems so evidently probable that Quebec itself will very shortly have a compulsory education law. Belgium has also fixed a minimum salary for teachers of $250. This the Witness declares, is equal to about three times the average salary for the rural schools of Quebec. Evidently the Provincial Government has an educational problem on its hands of more than ordinary magnitude. That it is earnestly trying to accomplish something in the matter is cause for congratulation.

Why Sniffle And Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhose You Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhose. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhose contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple, remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

The Catarrhose is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulso, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulso, under date of June 19th, 1910 "I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At the time I was living in New York state and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhose. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhose, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the greatest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other sufferers." (Signed) GEORGE PULSO.

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhose. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1. medium size 50c; at all dealers or the Catarrhose Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

annual feature of the community life of the West.

It is gratifying to note the interest that is being taken in these events in the newer communities of the Far West. From Cranbrook, British Columbia, word comes to hand of the successful agricultural exhibition, which has been a splendid advertisement for the resources of the country as a fruit and garden country. The Cranbrook Fair should be an important boost to the entire Kootenay district.

When it is considered that at the present time the orchards of British Columbia supply only 15 per cent of markets of the Dominion, it will be realized that the fruit-growing possibilities of the farther West have as yet been scarcely touched. Fruit growing in the prairie provinces will never be an industry of importance. Nature has designed that British Columbia fruit-growing district should meet this situation. As rapidly as the product will be found waiting almost at the very door. The fact that the industry is undeveloped as yet is the simple explanation of the small amount of fruit being supplied of the prairie markets by British Columbia.

The business side of the fruit-growing industry is coming to be better understood month by month. The required capital is small—the returns are lucrative and dependable. Even five acres of well-selected fruit land make the owner a good living; ten acres properly handled will make him wealthy. The Cranbrook agricultural fair has rendered an important service in emphasizing these conditions. A successful fair is an index of prosperity.

A NEW BRIDGE REQUIRED OVER PIGEON CREEK

Mayor Bradburn, the Warden of Victoria, the Warden of Peterborough County, and the reeve of Bobcaygeon met yesterday with Mr. Burnham, M.P., to talk over the proposed new bridge at Pigeon Creek. This bridge has reached the limit, and will have to be closed if not succeeded by a new one. Mr. Burnham promised to see Col. Hughes, M.P., and to find out from Hon. Mr. Cochrane, what the Dominion Government proposed to do as its share. It is likely the counties and the city will wait on the Ontario Government also, after Mr. Burnham has secured his report from Ottawa.

The proposed bridge will have a large fill-in, and will be in every way a great aid to travel between the north and south and east and west.

THE GLOBE MAKES FOOL OF PARTY JOURNALISM

The Globe, the grandmother of the Liberal party press in Ontario has made the stupidest blunder that has been committed by the Liberal party press in a decade. It is a pity that it has thrown discredit on Ontario journalism in this way. On the front page of The Globe, Oct. 25th, 1912, appears the following news item from its Montreal correspondent, regarding the Richelieu election:—"The election campaign was carried out pretty much on general lines, the naval question not figuring prominently as an issue."

But what does the gentle reader find in the leading editorial of the same issue under the caption: "The

PHENOMINAL GROWTH OF MELVILLE, SASK.

The wonderfully rich Province of Saskatchewan offers limitless opportunities for wealth, not only for the sturdy ranchman or dweller in its bustling towns, but for investors at a distance. Possibly town or city property offers quicker, safer and more easily handled opportunity for capital. The phenomenal growth of Melville, Sask., which has grown from a population of 550 in 1908 to 3,300 in 1912, holds out a guarantee of even more rapid growth in the immediate future. This thriving city as may be seen by the advertisement of the Central Saskatchewan Investments Ltd., in this issue, is a division point on several railway lines.

"Owing to the increased cost of living, judges are granting higher alimony than formerly. There are indications that it may soon be cheaper to remain married," remarks the Chicago Record-Herald. But see what the preachers would miss!

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of my medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the sick and suffering of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of kidney trouble, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney lack, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter.

Lazily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows:

Dear Dr. Frank E. Lyndt, I notice symptoms—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. Frank E. Lyndt, 97 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the postage of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

81 am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will state that I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been verified for according to law as complying in every respect with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate, it will heal sores and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it, here is not an ingrate that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Send the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1.-Pain in the back.
- 2.-Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3.-Pain or soreness in the bladder.
- 4.-Pain or soreness in the kidneys.
- 5.-Pain or soreness in the stomach.
- 6.-Pain or soreness in the joints.
- 7.-Pain or soreness in the muscles.
- 8.-Pain or soreness in the nerves.
- 9.-Pain or soreness in the heart.
- 10.-Pain or soreness in the lungs.
- 11.-Pain or soreness in the liver.
- 12.-Pain or soreness in the spleen.
- 13.-Pain or soreness in the pancreas.
- 14.-Pain or soreness in the gall bladder.
- 15.-Pain or soreness in the intestines.
- 16.-Pain or soreness in the rectum.
- 17.-Pain or soreness in the bladder.
- 18.-Pain or soreness in the ureters.
- 19.-Pain or soreness in the testes.
- 20.-Pain or soreness in the ovaries.

This is a Want Ad

Town

And There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

A CRANBROOK ORCHARD

Is the answer

Located less than 2 miles from the city of Cranbrook—a city of over 5,000 population and growing fast.

What Others Are Doing You Can Do. START NOW!

We submit a few examples of results obtained, and which we could easily increase by any number of similar statements, if additional proof were needed of profits yielded by British Columbia Orchards.

Lord Aberdeen's Coldstream Ranch, near Vernon, yielded a crop from its twenty-acre orchard of twelve-year-old Northern Spy apples that sold for $15,000—Vancouver Trade Gazette.

Mr. F. G. Fauquier, who has a fruit farm on the Lower Arrow Lake, states that he made a profit of $1,000 per acre on certain land set out to seven-year-old apple trees.

Mr. J. T. Beahy, a West Kootenay fruit rancher, has sold as much as 500 pounds of cherries from a single tree at 15 cents per pound, $75 from one tree.

"Of about four acres he (Mr. O. J. Wigen, a Kootenay strawberry culturist), has shipped berries to the amount of $4,000, and has more to ship yet. His land in strawberries is worth to him at 10 per cent interest $5,000 per acre."—Nelson Daily News.

Mr. Wigen has marketed 2,200 twenty-four quart cases of strawberries from his four acres in a single year. This is at the rate of 13,000 quarts to the acre.

It will be seen from this that $1,000 per acre may frequently be obtained from orchards in the Kootenay. To be on the safe side, however, place the returns to the intending fruit grower at $500 per acre instead of $1,000. If he can obtain $2,500 a year from a five acre tract, he will find that after taking into account labor and other expenses as well as the first outlay, that the result is a handsome profit.

And there is absolutely no reason why good fruit land, with proper cultivation, should not yield considerably more than this conservative estimate.

Note the remarks of some of the exhibitors and prize winners at the Spokane Apple Fair about the value of apple land and its products, and bear in mind that purchasers of "Cranbrook Orchards" should find their property as valuable a few years hence.

The winners of the $1,000 prize bought their land three years ago for $11,000. It is now worth $60,000, and is not for sale. Their exhibit won them $1,000 and was sold for $2,000 while the cost to them was less than $500.

E. C. Hill says: "I paid $650 an acre for my orchard and would not sell it to-day for $1,000 an acre."

J. F. McCurdy says: "Money cannot buy my home. I have refused several offers of $1,000 an acre for the whole or part. The oldest bearing orchard netted me $1,200 an acre this year."

J. A. Bourgeois says: "My land is now worth more than $2,000 an acre."

From 10 acres he sold 90,000 worth of apples.

H. M. Gilbert has refused $3,800 an acre for his land.

J. M. Perry says: "My 15 acres of land is worth more than $2,000 an acre, as it has brought me a net income of between $5,000 for the last six years."

Chas. Pope will not sell for less than $2,500 an acre. He raises 800 boxes of apples per acre, which he sells at $2.50 per box.

H. S. Simmons says: "I value my land at $2,500 an acre and would not sell it at that price. I would advise young men to go into the Upper Columbia country and grow with the new territory."

B. L. Smith says: "I paid $650 an acre and I am no longer with results I would not care to put a price on my land."

The Time Is NOW

The Opportunity IS BROKHURST

The Place is BATTLEFORD

Get in on the ground floor by BUYING AT FIRST PRICES. We are offering only one-half of this beautiful property at these exceptionally low prices, and only have a limited number of these lots to offer. This property is less than 15 minutes walk from the postoffice and three blocks from the new $200,000 high school. This property offers an investment that is seldom equalled anywhere. And we feel that it will be but a short time until this property will sell at double the prices we are now asking for it.

BATTLEFORD

Is destined to become a great city, as it will soon become one of the great railroad centres of central Saskatchewan. It is the only city that has a water front on that great river, the Saskatchewan, between Edmonton and Prince Albert, which according to engineers' report is soon to be made navigable from Edmonton to Prince Albert.

History shows us that all the large cities of both Canada and the United States are the cities that have a water front on a river with a navigable port. Manufacturers and wholesalers are already locating at Battleford because Battleford offers opportunities seldom found at any other city. Battleford today has a municipal industrial trust fund of $350,000.00, fully paid up, a most unique and genuine financial situation, for investment in stock or loans at a low rate of interest, and the general promotion and securing of industries for the Town of Battleford, not equalled by any city or town in the whole Dominion of Canada—not a private subscription fund, not a citizens' incorporated fund, but a strong, substantial Municipal Trust Fund, carrying with it other important and valuable municipal concessions such as valuable sites, exemption from taxes, electric current for power and light at actual cost of producing by the municipality. Water on same basis. Investment at once.

are cost? Say $150,000, and we'll probably fall short of the ultimate price.

While the above figures may or may not be precise, they are conservative and sufficiently close to indicate the amount of debt-burden indebtedness this city must shortly shoulder to keep pace with public requirements. And there is no fault to be found with it. But why add a big debt for the acquisition of a system of poles and wires if we can secure practically like results without a corresponding investment?

PUT UP NO CAPITAL AND SHARE THE PROFITS.

is one of the Seymour Power Company's propositions. To enter into partnership with the city for carrying on, not the Peterborough Light and Power Co.'s city distribution plant only, but their whole system in Peterborough, the company to finance and operate the system, to receive a fixed rate of interest on their investment, and to share with the city all profits, the city to invest no capitalization.

The scheme outlined at the Council meeting on Tuesday is along the following lines:

1. A new company is to be incorporated to take over and operate the Peterborough Municipal Utilities, using the assets and properties of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., including the gas plant, the Peterborough Radial Railway Co., the distributing system of the Otonabee Power Co., the street lighting system, etc.
2. The Mayor of the City and any other representative, that the Council might choose would sit on the Board of Directors.
3. The books of the new company would be open to the inspection of the city auditors, treasurer and engineer.
4. That the new company or Utilities Corporation should first of all pay for its operating expenses, depreciation and interest on bonds, and that any monies over this be divided between the city and the company as agreed.
5. That the present long term franchises now owned by the Peterborough Light and Power Co. and Peterborough Radial Railway Co., be replaced by short term franchises of 10 years' duration, renewable if the city did not take over the Utilities Corporation's holdings at the expiration of any 10-year period.
6. The city to have the right to purchase outright the Utilities Corporation's properties at the end of any 10-year term.
7. The Utilities Corporation to make satisfactory arrangements for a future supply of power for the city, the amount to be agreed upon by the interested parties.

MUNICIPAL PARTNERSHIP A GOOD SCHEME

This means that the company operates and the city shares the profits, as before referred to. The Toronto Railway and gas plant are operated on partnership plans with gratifying financial results to that city. And many American public utilities are operated similarly. It is a scheme which in most instances is preferred to public ownership. It has its advantages, the main one of which is perhaps that companies operate more economically than public corporations. Companies who have to share the profits from fixed charges with municipalities (said municipalities supervising the rates), naturally apply all their experience and business acumen to economic operations. Their employees know this and strain every nerve to "make good." But experience, generally, shows that public servants are not infused with the same degree of energy as companies' dependents. For instance, the writer knows of one big British docks where many steady hands found it extremely difficult to keep busy. One incident in this connection was quite amusing: Jack and Bill were one day industriously mending in a boat and corners out of sight, when the Superintendent appeared upon the scene. "Hello! men," he said, "What are you doing?" "Carrying this plank, sir," replied Jack. "But where's the plank?" enquired the boss. "Blow me tight, Bill," ejaculated Jack, "if we ain't forgot the plank." Well, a good many corporation servants "forget the plank."

MUST BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY.

The Seymour Power people will again meet Council Tuesday evening, when they must be taken seriously. The best interests of our citizens must be considered, and they are entitled to a bargain, no matter whence it comes. Council does not intend to submit the power by-law until January, and the month of December will give time for the statute to be complied with. In fact, it is not the City Fathers' fault, nor that of the Electric company, that this by-law has not been ready before. Council wanted further details from the Hydro-Electric Company, could not get it, and must now fall back upon the original report. And now that the Electric Company is, with Council's acquiescence, preparing plans for comparison with the Hydro-Electric proposition, let us hope our citizens will be given unimpaired opportunity of judging wherein their best interests lie. We have a good Council Board, and now that negotiations are opened, the public expects that they will do their duty, and their whole duty, on this question, in leaving no stone unturned to see that the citizens are well served and credit and enhance to the welfare of their constituents in general. The situation has resolved itself into a question, not of Hydro-Electric vs. Seymour Power Co., but of opportunity for public ownership, or city partnership, in public utilities. Which is the cheapest? We think it is evident.

CHANCE TO SHARE IN VANCOUVER'S PROGRESS

The phenomenal growth of Vancouver, B.C., has become proverbial. This far Western city with a population of 172,000, has increased its population by 25,000 within the past twelve months. With the early completion of the Panama, the chances for Vancouver, with its vast shipping interests are beyond prophecy. The golden grain of the Western wheat fields will find its way to the old world via Panama. The possibilities for rapid increases in real estate in Vancouver are limitless. A glance at the big advertisement of Messrs. Leitch & Taylor, 309 Cambie street, Vancouver, in this issue, will furnish food for serious consideration in this part of those seeking safe and lucrative investment.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

THE ESTATE OF JOSEPH MARTIN, K.C., M.P.

is Located one and a quarter miles from the
C. N. R. Passenger Terminal

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY are to spend $4,000,000 in the construction of their passenger terminals in the centre of Vancouver. Through the centre of these terminals a street which will connect up with First Avenue will be 125 feet wide, and will run through the centre of the Joseph Martin estate. This thoroughfare will be the widest in the City of Vancouver, and will very rapidly become one of the main retail districts of the city. One mile and a quarter direct from the C. N. R. passenger terminals along First Avenue is located the Joseph Martin estate. Two street car lines already give an adequate service to this property and surrounding localities. Graded streets and all modern improvements have already been made. A movement is now afoot to have First Avenue, the thoroughfare referred to above, asphalted, and this will in all probability be done at an early date.

Fire hydrants and water mains are laid to the property, and electric power for lighting purposes is already on the ground. Numerous houses of handsome architecture have been erected in several points on this property. If you could only look at this property with your own eyes we are sure you would think you were looking at a thickly populated area, with residences of all kinds erected on all sides. The best index to a city's growth is its building permits, and during the year 1911 Vancouver's issues totalled $17,652,642.00. This alone will show you how vast Vancouver's area is being built upon. The total for this year will far exceed those of 1911.

Vancouver's assessment for 1912 stands at $192,501,775.00, and for 1911 at $136,579,005.00, showing an increase of $55,922,770.00.

This alone goes to prove at least one point, that city property in Vancouver is very fast becoming valuable.

We have given those figures to prove incidentally that the present prices of the Joseph Martin estate have not been discounted. The future profits are for those who invest now. $170 will make your first payment on a large lot in the Martin estate. $850 and up is the purchase price. The terms are very reasonable, being one-fifth cash. Balance extended over a period of seven years.

We would seriously advise the purchase of a lot or two on this property, for we honestly believe that within two years you will be able to re-sell at a generous profit. We have a folder descriptive of Vancouver and the Martin estate. We would like to send you one. Send us your address and you shall have it by return of mail.

"TWO-PENNY BOX" BARGAINS.

Big Prices for Old Books Found in London Barrows.

The "two-penny box," so well known to frequenters of second-hand book shops does not seem to be a very promising field in which to go prospecting for a fortune, but big finds have actually been discovered there, all the same. There are two values to old books—the bibliomaniac's value and the dealer's value, the two not being of necessity related—and owing to this the "two-penny box" is not the Tom Tiddler's ground it once was. All the same, a man recently picked up an old copy of Quares' "Divine Emblems" there, and sold it half an hour after for $5.

A more lucky find was made by a cyclist in an inn at Basingstoke some years ago. He was held up by the weather, and to help pass the time the landlord hunted up a lot of old books for his amusement. One of them so took his fancy that he offered to buy it. The landlord gave it to him as a gift. It turned out to be a first edition of Pennant's "Account of London," and he eventually disposed of it for nearly $400.

A find nearly as lucky was made in the "two-penny box" by a man who fished out an early edition of Omar Khayyam's "Rubaiyat," and sold it subsequently for $300. It is extraordinary how books will in certain cases become as valuable as precious stones. Take the original edition of Burns, for instance, which was published at $1, and on which the entire profit to the author was something like $100. There is a copy in the Burns Museum for which $8,000 was paid.

But there are a few bargains still to be picked up. How would Moore's comedy, "Le Misanthrope," do to begin with? It was published in 1687, and may be worth $250. Or there is the 1719 "Robinson Crusoe," for which you might get $250 without much trouble, and for the two-volume edition (1765) of Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" $340 has been obtained. Then there is Lamb's "Tale of Rosemond Gray," published in 1798, copies of which have been sold for $250, and $480 has been given for a copy of the "Poetry for Children," by Charles and Mary Lamb.

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunbelt State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Knotenni, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

They are not just meat and bone, but a life is thrown into the sea. Upon perceiving the turtle its instinct teaches it to swim right toward it and as it pulls its head in, it is pulled in by means of its tail. Sooner would the sea allow itself to be pulled to pieces than give up its grip.

A ring, which is attached to the tail of the fish, in which a string is fastened, allows the fisherman to pull in his prize. By a peculiar manipulation the ring is pulled off and returned to the tub, to be ready for use the next time a turtle is sighted.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Newton's Perseverance.
Many interesting stories are related of Newton's great perseverance. Not infrequently upon arising in the morning he would sit down on his bed and remain there for hours without dressing himself, occupied with some interesting investigation which had fixed his attention.

On a tablet in the room in which Newton was born at Woolsthorpe Manor house is inscribed the celebrated epitaph written by Pope:

Nature and nurture's laws lay hid in night,
God said, "Let Newton be," all was light.

Str Isaac told Bishop Pearce that he had spent thirty years at intervals in reading over all the authors or parts of authors which could furnish him with materials for his "Chronology of Ancient Kingdoms," and that he had written that work sixteen times with his own hand.

Why They Go Mad.
Harry Macdonald once made a whimsical remark after his return from one of his many "polar expeditions." "I didn't mind the cold so much," he said, "and the hardships were to be looked for as a part of the game. But what proved to be almost insupportable was the constant association, day and night, with the same men. They were all good fellows, too, and I liked them, but I got to know them too well. A man is like a music box. He can only play just so many tunes, and after you have heard them all over again and again you get deadly tired of them. I think that is why so many go mad on such trips."

THE NEW G.P.O.
London Possesses the Last Word in Postoffice Perfection.
The General Postoffice of England is no longer the gloomy, severe-looking building in St. Martin's-le-Grand which has served so many generations of Englishmen. Time and population have conspired together to make it as hopelessly inadequate and behind-hand as was formerly the old office in George Yard, Lombard street. He who seeks the main postoffice of London must therefore present himself at the huge building which has been reared on the former site of Christ's Hospital, now happily taken to the fresh air of breezy Sussex at Hoveham.

Round about the new building are other huge postoffice blocks which have devoured whole streets, but these deal with administrative work, the secretary's department, the legal section, the telephone managers, the telegraph business, and so on. The actual work of dealing with the mails of London is concentrated in the King Edward street building.

It is a queer commentary on the attitude of the busy Londoner to the things of this huge city, that almost no Londoner ever troubles himself to inquire into the workings of the postal business or to look over the department from the inside. It will be assumed, therefore, when you go inside that you do not live in London!

The capital is divided into many postal districts, each with a district office and managing its own correspondence, but to King Edward street is the foreign section, and it is called, and the other non-London letters to the inland section of Mount Pleasant. In former days all the news from London was done at St. Martin's-le-Grand, but gradually they have been segregated as the business increased.

Letters come in various ways. They come direct in great bulk either from one of the two big post boxes outside the two small building boxes at the public counter which we will describe later. We dive down therefore into the basement and watch the letters come down as they are posted above us.

The public pushes its packages into the big lift in the wall, and it slides down a wooden slope on to huge wooden tables below. At night time between six and seven there is a steady flow—top, top, top they come. Every quarter of an hour there is a "collection" into baskets on the King Edward street side. This collection naturally has foreign, London, and inland letters. The first two classes in their baskets are placed on a revolving endless web or band, and travel in a dignified way upstairs to the main sorting room.

The provincial or inland letters are placed in bags or sacks, and are sent across the building to the Newgate street side. These bags are tied up and sealed with leaden seals. Arrived at the Newgate street side they join other inland bags there collected, and are sent off to Mount Pleasant. We have said that the bags are sent across but not by hand. They have a solid aerial cable tramway underneath the ceiling, for all the world like a street cable tramway, save that the cable and the gripper is above the car instead of below it. Down on the basement floor are contained all the stores, the

ROGERS HEADS PUBLIC WORKS ROCHE MINISTER OF INTERIOR MARECHAL NEW SEC. OF STATE

Ministers Will Take Oath Before Governor-General To-day—Hon. Robt. Rogers Was Minister of Interior And is now Chosen as Hon. Mr. Monk's Successor—New Secretary of State is Leader of Quebec Bar and New Member of Borden Cabinet

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works; Hon. Dr. Roche, minister of the interior; Hon. L. T. Marechal, secretary of state.

The above is the result of the shuffle which has taken place in the cabinet. Messrs. Rogers, Roche and Marechal will take the oath of office and be vested with their new portfolios by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught to-day.

MONK CAUSED CHANGE.

The changes were made necessary by the resignation from the ministry of Hon. F. D. Monk, who held the portfolio of minister of public works, and who left the government because he differed with the prime minister and his colleagues over Mr. Borden's emergency contribution proposal.

Mr. Rogers has since the formation of the ministry administered the department of the interior. He now succeeds Mr. Monk as minister of public works. Hon. Dr. Roche, who succeeds Mr. Rogers, has been secretary of state being a western man he has a thorough grasp of conditions and the work which will come under his supervision in administering the department of the interior.

ROMAN CATHOLIC PARENTS OPPOSED TO SEPERATE SCHOOLS

How Seperate Schools Were Forced Upon Ontario by Quebec—Sir R. W. Scott a Reactionist

The Orange Central takes Sir R. W. Scott, Secretary of State in the Laurier Government, to task very severely but deservedly for his attitude on bilingual schools, and says:

"Sir R. W. Scott continues his letter writing on the subject of bilingual schools. The task is most onerous to him, no doubt. It enables him to serve at the same time both his political party and his church. He began sixty years ago to serve his church as a member of parliament, and we believe the record will show that he has served the cause of Romanism in doing so it is creditable to him.

He says: 'The main object of the Separate School Act of 1863 of which I was the author, was to give the Catholic parents the right to educate their child according to his own views.' He probably means by this, not that the object was to give the Catholic parent anything to do with education but to hand over a portion of the school system to the Roman Catholic Bishops. If the Roman Catholic parents of this province were allowed to exercise their judgment seven-eighths of the Separate Schools would be closed forthwith.

It is not the Roman Catholic parents who want Separate Schools. It is the Bishops representing that church. So careful are they to eliminate parental control that they have resisted every attempt to have the Separate school trustees elected by ballot. By the system of open voting they are able to force the election of priests upon the school boards where they can exercise complete authority and control over the trustees. So much for his first argument. (Continued on page 5.)

VOTE FOR THE DE LAVAL BY-LAW ON WEDNESDAY

Its Defeat Would Mean the Certain Loss of Other Industries Now Seeking Location Here

The ratemakers should turn out on Wednesday and VOTE FOR the De Laval by-law. In face of the moderate concessions to this distress new addition to our list of industries the tarring down of this measure would mean a calamity, discouraging all further hope for enhancing Peterborough's progress in the way of industrial expansion. The aid offered—before fully specified—is far less than that given by many other municipalities for acquisition of manufacturing concerns, not even on an equal footing in any way with the De Laval Dairy Supply Co. So let all ratemakers govern themselves accordingly.

It has been whispered that some East City ratemakers are going to vote against the by-law because this industry is not located in their ward. Such a spirit of ward competition would be appalling short-sighted, and disturb the city's prospects for progress, generally. The City Fathers cannot dictate to officers of industries WHERE they should locate. The De Laval people were shown all available sites, irrespective of ward consideration, and chose the one in South City for their own business interests.

Any disappointed East City ratemaker might be pleased to learn that two other new industries are likely to locate here quite soon, one of which has selected a site on the lake front in East City. So let there be no aggressiveness regarding the by-law before us, unless it be in the direction of which ward will pile up the biggest vote for the De Laval measure.

GET OUT AND VOTE, AND TAKE YOUR NEIGHBOR WITH YOU.

THE WEATHER:

Fine and cool.

WEDDING BELLS.

Carry — Vanzant.
A pretty but quiet wedding took place at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at 516 Aylmer street, when Mr. Walter Cary was united in marriage to Miss Leona Vanzant, the Rev. James Rollins officiating. The bride was attended by her bridesmaids, and the groom by his best man. The ceremony was simple and unostentatious. Both the bride and groom were recipients of many presents, among which were a half-dozen silver spoons from the Coleman Bros. store staff, to the bride. The happy couple left during the afternoon for Toronto and points west. On their return they will reside at 516 Aylmer street.

REV. MR. MOORE WAS ELOQUENT

Last of Evangelistic Services Attended by an Immense Audience

Last night St. John's Church was filled to capacity by an audience of worshippers who thoroughly enjoyed and profited by the second of the series of evangelistic service. Rev. R. H. Moore, of St. George's Church Toronto, was the special speaker. As on the preceding Sunday the Conservatory orchestra, assisted by a full choir, under leadership of Mr. Davey, gave a great swing and assistance to the proceedings. The special service began with singing several hymns. Canon Davidson read the lesson from St. Matthew. This was followed by the congregation repeating the Apostles' Creed.

The pastor then introduced Rev. Mr. Moore. After the hymn "I need Thee every hour" was heartily sung, Mr. Moore asked a blessing upon the parish and the special service. He said when asked by the pastor to take this service he felt he (the speaker) was not competent, but he felt that behind the pastor was God. He felt it was a call from God, as he came to give a very simple Gospel lesson. The subject assigned to him was "The Vision of Our Lord and Master Jesus Christ." On such a subject we must leave the abstract and stick to the concrete. We first come in contact with St. Paul or Saul, whom he had had an intense hatred of the Nazarene, and his followers. When St. Paul heard of Christ's success it increased his hatred. St. Paul rode out of the city gate of Jerusalem, escorted by the Temple police, en route for Damascus to seize the followers of Christ. In passing Calvary he prophesied that Christ's name would soon be forgotten. Paul heard of the miracles wrought by Christ in healing the sick. When near Damascus, sitting after a day's journey, in front of his tent, he saw the sky ablaze with the glory of God. He then heard the voice saying, "Saul! Saul! Why persecutest thou Me?" Would he, an educated Jew, should he, forswear his religion and follow Christ? He sacrificed his earthly chances and crossed the bridge and leaves the boats behind. He became Paul the Apostle.

The address was here broken off by singing of hymns. Continuing, the speaker in part, asked "is it possible to see a vision of Jesus Christ as seen by the Apostles?" He thought not. Everyone in the church daily comes in contact with Christ; surely this is a vision! To gain great reward one must make great sacrifice. A man may go to far and east and lose his business but he need not go far for Jesus Christ. The little bible of General Gordon of Khartoum is given a place of honor by the British nation. Gordon lost his all for Jesus Christ. He then paid a high tribute to Father Damien, who left his comfortable home in Belgium to lie down amongst the sores and deformities of the Sandwich Island home for the lepers. This he did for Christ. "Where would you?" Mr. Moore asked the congregation, "sooner be to-night with Christ or with Pilate?" The time for talking is over; now is the time for action. Later on, Mr. Moore, walking up and down the centre aisle of the church, made an impassioned appeal to those present.

BULGARIANS TAKE FORTS AND DESTROYED ADRIANOPLE

Outlying Fortifications Captured and Turkish Northern Capital Almost Destroyed—Railway Also Taken as Well as 1800 Prisoners—Turks Retreating Before Victorious March of Invaders

Fofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 27.—A portion of the Town of Adrianople has been set on fire by the Bulgarian artillery, according to private despatches received here from the vicinity.

The Bulgarian troops have taken the outlying forts of Maras, Havaras and Nuslar, lying to the north and northeast of the city, and have also captured a railroad station in the extreme outskirts of the town. Eighteen hundred prisoners have fallen into their hands.

The 800 prisoners who arrived here yesterday from Mustapha Pasha were captured in some of the smaller towns taken by the Bulgarians.

The entire absence of Turkish officers among the prisoners captured at Kirk-Kiliseh is much commented on, as the first reports represented that the whole garrison had been taken.

OPERATIONS OF HYDRO-ELECTRIC IN TORONTO RESULT IN A DEFICIT

Toronto Saturday Night Agrees With The Times That Company Enterprises Are Always Run More Economically Than Public-Owned Concerns

In our Saturday's article on the power situation, we contended that invariably private companies operate more economically than public-owned concerns. This view is entertained by Toronto Saturday Night, of Oct. 26th, one of the most reliable journals on finance in Canada.

There is a disappointing deficit resulting from the Hydro-Electric's operations in Toronto, disclosed by Mr. Starlin's recent audit. It dealing with the electric situation in that city The Toronto Saturday Night says in part as follows:

"I take it that all users of electricity in the City of Toronto, save those who are shareholders or otherwise interested in the companies supplying electrical services in competition with the Hydro-Electric, will regret the position disclosed by Mr. Starlin's audit. The important question of course, is whether the deficit is avoidable or not. Is it due to bad management or to the rates being too low? In either case what can be done to remedy the matter? It is of the utmost importance that the public receive its electric light and power at that ideal but indefinite figure commonly known as a 'reasonable' rate, under the most efficient management.

"Many explanations are offered for the situation disclosed by the audit. In the end, however, it adds one to the numberless instances going to show that private management is superior to public management. In some ideal and far-distant day it may be that government or public operation may be as efficient as private management, but it will not likely be in your time or mine, and I doubt if it will ever be. Herein lies one reason why this page has ever opposed the very common tendency among the thoughtless to multiply government services and to suggest that the government do this, that and the other thing which can be done far better and more efficiently by private initiative."

The arguments above advanced by so influential an authority as The Toronto Saturday Night are assuredly in favor of the proposition for municipal partnership in public utilities now before our City Fathers.

Spelt the Song

It was at an amateur concert in an English town, and one of the young men who hankered after realism was singing "The Miner's Dream of Home," duly rigged out in red shirt, sombrero and Wellington boots. The latter he had borrowed from the local fireman as, like many other junior clerks, he did not keep these useful articles of attire in his permanent wardrobe. The song was going well. There was a hushed stillness in the hall, which if anything, became more marked at the third verse. Just at that particular moment, however, a loud voice from the side of the platform cried out:

"Hey, Jack, off with them ere boots; I'm called to a fire!"

A happy medium.

What She Wanted

The wife of a Gordon Highlander received an invitation to visit him at the barracks. She did so, taking with her their six-year-old girl. When they arrived the husband was on sentry duty, and they could not approach him. The child eyed her "daddy" with a somewhat sorrowful but amused expression as he paced up and down the square, shouldering his rifle and wearing a kilt. She had never before beheld him thus arrayed, and for a few minutes the spectacle seemed to be quite beyond her, but no longer could she keep silent. "Mamma," she said, in a voice that betrayed a trace of childish coyness—"If daddy finds the man who stole our trousers, will he gimme dat little frock?"

60,563,300 SOULS

Carried on Vancouver's Street Cars Annually

Were giving you in this advertisement a few statistics relating to Vancouver's development. We know that statistics do not make very exciting reading at any time but there is one thing that must be considered and that is that they prove development with the non-resident investor. There are over 700 street cars in active service daily in Vancouver, running over 280,77 miles of track. These cars carry annually over sixty million souls. The payroll for street car employees alone annually totals $4,695,060. Vancouver's population at the present time is estimated at 200,000. Assessment in Vancouver at the beginning of the year 1912 totalled $192,072,890.00. Vancouver has 28 public school buildings with 15,000 pupils enrolled. Vancouver's tonnage table for the year ending March 31, 1912, exceeded 9,134,000.

Bank clearings are always steadily on the increase. The first nine months of 1912 the bank clearings totalled $470,288,775. Vancouver's building permits for the year 1911 reached $17,652,642—an average of nearly a million and a half a month. There is practically no department of the city's life which is not leaping ahead. In January, 1908, there were 4960 telephones in Vancouver. January, 1909, found 8131 telephones. January, 1911, found 11,000 telephones, and in January, 1912, there were in use 16,160 telephones. All this will go to prove at least one thing, that Vancouver is forging ahead second to none in Western Canada. At this rapid stage of development Vancouver inside city property constitutes everything that goes towards making a good investment.

The Estate of Joseph Martin, K.C., M.P., is Inside Vancouver City Property and is located exactly one and a quarter miles from the Canadian Northern passenger terminals. These terminals comprise an area of land in the centre of the city and prove conclusively that the Martin Estate is exceedingly well located.

Two carriages are now serving the property with an adequate street car service, fire hydrants and water mains are laid right up to the property, electric light is available at any time a home builder requires to use this power for lighting purposes.

A school, costing over $125,000, has been erected within a few blocks of the Martin Estate. Considerable numbers of fine residences have been built on the property. Many hundreds of houses have been erected several miles east of the Martin Estate, and building outside the city limits is going on very rapidly.

You will immediately see by studying these figures that the Joseph Martin Estate is all that can be desired from the investment or home builder's point of view. Since first placing this property on the market we have sold a large amount of property. The demand in Vancouver alone is surprising even to us and we seriously advise those who are wishing to invest their surplus cash in well located Vancouver property to investigate the possibilities of the Martin Estate for future profits.

The price of this property is from $850 per lot up and can be purchased by paying one-fifth down, balance of payments extending over a period of seven years. Write for plan of the estate and price list, together with a large map of the City of Vancouver and a descriptive folder of Vancouver generally and the estate in particular.

We must urge those who intend to invest to make their application as early as possible, for this property is being sold at a rapid rate. Will you write for this information today?

ROGERS HEADS PUBLIC WORKS

The ministry to fill the gap made by the exit of Mr. Mopk. He is no stranger to political Canada. His eloquence is well known, and as an orator he has few peers in the Province of Quebec. He is a staunch Conservative, a strong supporter of the national policy and an imperialist. He was the close personal and political friend of the late Mr. Tarte, after that gentleman left the Laurier ministry because of his high protectionist views.

His inclusion in the cabinet is expected to strengthen the government and his eloquence will undoubtedly greatly add to the debating strength of the ministerial benches. It has not yet been definitely decided on what constituency Mr. Marchal will stand for election.

MAY HAVE CODRERE'S SEAT

Should Mr. Louis Codrere, M. P. for Hochelaga, be appointed to the Quebec bench, then it is more than likely that Mr. Marchal would be given that seat.

Mr. Codrere had a large majority last September and there would be little chance of Mr. Marchal being defeated. On the other hand, should Premier Borden decide to appoint a solicitor-general and give the office to Mr. Codrere, it will mean other things that Mr. Marchal will have to seek approval by the election of some other constituency. Charlevoix is vacant by virtue of Sir Robert Forges having decided to try for Montserrat.

Sir Rodolphe had a majority of 600 there last election, and Mr. Marchal should have but little difficulty in being elected as its representative now.

In any case, there is to be no delay as it is understood that Premier Borden is anxious to meet the house with a solid front, and as only a little more than three weeks will elapse between now and the opening of parliament, a decision will be reached in a day or two.

Experience Has Taught

That we must first learn ourselves the lessons we would teach our children.

That we must keep our boys and girls interested if we hope to influence them.

That children will eagerly learn many valuable lessons in the name of play.

That little hearts love appreciation even better than we do.

That a bad habit is easiest destroyed by cultivating a good one in its place.

That many parents seem to believe successful character building consists in pulling up undesirable traits—not realizing that unless they are good seeds they will have a barren garden.

That each childish nature needs individual handling.

That children will do much for the home where they have many privileges.

That there are exceptions to all rules.

That habits firmly inculcated in youth are seldom forgotten.

That our children can see no clearer than could we at their age.

That one dollar spent for our children in their youth to provide instruction and entertainment is worth ten dollars later the promise middle-aged man or woman.

That most people show by their conduct to childhood the particular work for which they are best suited and that the parent is wise who heeds this warning of nature.

The imagination and imitation gain for many children a reputation for truthfulness and many undesired punishments.

That ignoring a slight fault is frequently the quickest way of overcoming it.

That the unwavering confidence of a mother often keeps a child from doing wrong.

ROMAN CATHOLIC PARENTS

He states that public opinion favored the creation of Separate Schools. We assume this statement refers to Ontario. Assuming that we must characterize it as an absolute misrepresentation of the fact, Separate schools were forced upon the Province of Ontario by the representatives of the Province of Quebec. The School Act of 1863 was adopted in the Parliament of Upper and Lower Canada by an almost unanimous vote of the Quebec members. Mr. Hodgins, in his book on Upper Canada Separate School legislation says: (page 165):

"THUS 21 UPPER CANADA MEMBERS VOTED FOR THE 'MAN CATHOLIC SEPARATE' SCHOOL ACT OF 1863, AND 31 AGAINST IT; MAJORITY OF 'UPPER CANADA VOTES AGAINST THE ACT, 10. THE LOWER CANADA YEAS MADE THE VOTE STAND THUS: YEAS 76; NAYS, 31."

Therefore it is not correct to say that public opinion in this Province favored Separate Schools when three-fifths of its elected representatives cast their votes against the measure. Moreover, the adoption of the Separate School Act by such a vote was a direct violation of the understanding which existed between the two Provinces, and which had been observed by the representatives of Ontario. This understanding was that no bill affecting one of the two Provinces which were united should become law unless it had a majority of the representatives from that Province. Mr. Scott's Separate School Act for Ontario did not have a majority in the Parliament of that date. He knows that, because he was a member, and yet we are told that public sentiment and the press were favorable to this measure.

He goes on to make a sort of a threat that if the regulations are not changed there will be an appeal to the Governor-General-in-Council. We do not believe that there is any ground for such an appeal. The statutes of this Province never recognized bilingual schools. They have been tolerated but never officially recognized or specifically permitted. We have no fear of such an appeal. No government could continue to exist in the country that attempted to coerce the Province of Ontario to recognize bilingual schools.

Mr. Scott's objection to the appointment of Protestant supervising inspectors is what might be expected from a man with his record. But their appointment arises from the inefficiency or misconduct of the French-Canadian inspectors who have in the past had charge of these schools.

We do not think that the special pleading of Sir E. W. Scott will have the slightest effect upon the public sentiment of the Province of Ontario. He is, and always has been, a reactionary of the most pronounced type.

OVERCOMES PERIL FROM THE X-RAY

Paris, Oct. 20.—A discovery that is expected to remove the danger to which manipulators of the x-ray have been subjected in its handling was announced to-day at the Academy of Sciences by L. G. Drot. In his experiments Mr. Drot was impressed with the remarkable capacity of silk while being dyed to absorb considerable quantities of unstable substances.

With the aid of two silk manufacturers M. Drot succeeded in getting a piece of silk heavily saturated with lead and other substances which provided impenetrable armor against the rays. One piece of silk thus changed weight 200 grams to the square metre. With an thickness of this silk, M. Drot fashioned a short glove which he has used successfully in handling x-rays.

The Head Yarn.

A curious survival of the days when the magicians of Europe sought tadelightly for the philosopher's stone in the superstition that attaches to the head tree. The old alchemists used to make their divining rods out of head twigs, and they favored the belief that it would spontaneously direct the owner to hidden treasures if it was manipulated with the absolute faith that was required in all those occult enchantments of the middle ages. As time went on the "rod of Jacob" as a branch of hawthorn was universally known, gathered new powers. Not only would it lead to the discovery of buried hoards, but it would also act as an infallible agent in locating runaway servants and escaped criminals. It was a sure guide to underground springs as well and was an unfailing charm against the lightning.

Objects of the Company

The above Company has been formed to manufacture all kinds of Asphalt Roofing, Waterproof Paper, Insulating and Fireproof materials, especially those grades of Asphalt Roofing which have already found such favor with the jobbing houses of the Dominion.

Asphalt Roofing has sprung rapidly into favor with builders and architects for several reasons:—

1st.—Wood shingles are scarce, high in price, and very inflammable.

2nd.—Anyone can apply Asphalt Roofing easily and quickly.

3rd.—Asphalt Roofing is absolutely fire-resisting.

4th.—Asphalt Roofing is cheaper, and will outlast the majority of other roofings in the market to-day.

5th.—Asphalt Roofing materials can be used most successfully as an insulation for lining and siding buildings.

PROSPECTUS:

The Dominion Roofing Manufacturing Co., Limited, has acquired the business of the Dominion Roofing Company of Canada, Limited, for $29,500, or 295 shares common stock. Starting in a small way two years ago, the parent company imported this material under its own brand from the States. This entailed a duty of 25 p.c., in addition to a good margin of profit to the manufacturer.

Even with this handicap, the "Dominion" Roofing has been marketed with a very fair margin of profit, and when the disadvantages of duty and heavy freight charges are removed, it is confidently anticipated that a large margin of profit will be available for distribution when the new plant, which the Company proposes installing in New Toronto is in working order. The old Company has already opened up some 350 accounts in 300 towns and cities in Ontario, and it has been found absolutely necessary to form this new Company to meet the demands from existing customers, apart from the natural extension of the business.

By manufacturing in Canada the Company will be in a position to turn out 300,000 squares of roofing per year, and will be able to extend its field of operation to all parts of the Dominion.

PROFITS:

From a conservative standpoint, it is estimated that the Company will sell 100,000 squares of roofing in the first year. This, at a profit of 50c per square, shows a gross profit on the year's turnover of $50,000; deducted from this amount selling expenses, including office salaries, managing and traveling expenses, the net profit of the first year's trading amounts approximately to $35,000.

OFFERING:

300 shares of $100.00 each ($30,000), 7 p.c. preferred cumulative stock, are offered at par, payable 25 p.c. cash, 25 p.c. one month, 25 p.c. 2 months, and 25 p.c. 3 months from date. This preferred stock carries a bonus of 25 p.c. fully-paid common stock. The by-laws do not provide for further calls.

There is a contract for the payment of 10 p.c. commission for procuring subscriptions to shares, but no sum is to be paid to any promoter.

Copies of the material contract between the old and new Companies, and copy of agreement with J. M. Wilson and Co. may be inspected at their office, 14 King street, east, Toronto.

YOU MAY BE CRAZY.

Our Most Ordinary Acts Have Horrifying Names.

Are you a maniac? What a personal question! What an absurd suggestion! Of course, you are not—at least, you don't think you are. Mental scientists think otherwise, and they have just invented a frightful list of names for our little mania. After all, a maniac is only a person suffering from a mania, and although the word is associated in our minds with the humbles of asylums, "there are others," as the catch phrase says.

"Mother, Johnny will have to see a doctor at once," any fond father might well say after reading the British Medical Journal. "The poor little fellow has undoubtedly got 'stomatoclydylomania'."

"Oh, James, whatever makes you say that? What an awful disease!" another would reply.

As a matter of fact, the awful-sounding disease is really not dangerous, and is only the baby habit of mania for sucking the fingers under the selected scientific name.

No fretful little mother will ever dare bite his nails again after the latest addition to our knowledge. Tell him he is a regular "onychophagomaniac," and if that doesn't frighten him nothing will.

There is hardly a single person—man, woman or child—who is not the victim of some mania or peculiarity, many of which have been allotted blood-curdling names. Everyone has at some time or the other seen distressing examples of the "equimarginomania." Probably the afflicted person did strike them as being possessed of a quaint habit, but when they saw him of the riding-breeches and leggings switching his legs under the train impression that he was beside a horse, they had no idea his case was so serious.

There is, after all, some good reason for the modern craze amongst men to grubiously chop off their beards or moustaches. The practice is really akin to vaccination. It guards, or is said to guard, our sacred person from the terrors of smallpox, and in the razor line our chance of safety against becoming a "moustachio-streptomaniac." Once we allow our moustaches to grow we are in danger, and if we find ourselves suffering from a flowing military ornament or nervously fingering a moustache, we are infected with the deadly disease.

Now that the holiday season is coming along many of us will be going to the country for a fortnight, and in the fields and quiet lanes we may at any moment be confronted by a "capillariomania."

We need not stay at home or purchase a "Browning automatic" for fear of meeting one of these maniacs, for if we do this special form of disease will only drive itself in the observed habit of pushing the hat to the back of the head and scratching the scalp, generally prior to answering any question on subjects which call for more consideration than a remark on the weather or the state of the farm crops.

To the ordinary mortal it seems rather like blasphemy to suggest that there are many maniacs in the British House of Parliament. Of course, some extremists will be ready to agree that the benches in the Commons and the potted seats in the Guild Chamber are mostly occupied by men of weak mental culture, but whether this is so or not there are certainly many "tripudomaniacs" present at every meeting. Undoubtedly it is a nervous condition.

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunbelt State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and new regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

Ideal Protection Against Inroads of Catarrh

By Breathing the Rich, Balsamic Vapor of Catarrhosee You Prevent and Cure all Head, Nose and Throat Diseases.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhosee; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose ailments and irritation.

No medicine brings such prompt relief as such an invigorating in-breath, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhosee." Doctors, hospitals, and medicine, all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, asthma, or bronchitis, no treatment is so reliable as "Catarrhosee."

Victims of Chronic Catarrh Cured. "I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to improve my condition, and at last I became a victim of chronic catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhosee, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane of my life two years."

A. H. SWARTZ, Brockville, Ont. For certain cure, for relief in a hour, use Catarrhosee, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment guaranteed, price $1.00, smaller size 50c; all all druggists, or the Catarrhosee Company, Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW. To-day being Thanksgiving Day and a public holiday, there will be no issue of the Times tomorrow.

Geo. Holmes Won Medal. Quite a number of Peterborough people attended to Lakeside to see the "Covley" cup races at Grove school on Saturday afternoon. George Holmes won the medal but the cup races have not been finished yet.

Senator Cox's Gift Accepted. It now seems practically certain that Charlotte street Methodist Church will build another church, as their present quarters are inadequate, on the Aaron Cox property, donated with $10,000 by Hon. G. A. Cox.

Toronto Spectators for Buckhorn. Messrs. J. W. Johnston and H. E. T. Hankin of Toronto, arrived Saturday and registered at the Ontario Hotel. These gentlemen left the same day with Dan Whetung, the genial Che-mung Indian village stage driver for a week's shooting at Buckhorn Lake.

Good Music at St. Paul's. The service of praise in St. Paul's Church yesterday evening, was particularly interesting. In addition to the fine music rendered by the choir, Miss Dorothy Allan gave a solo selection, as well as joining with Mrs. John Crane in an effective duet.

Keele Man Is Successful. It took Mr. E. R. Taylor of Keele just five months to graduate at the National School of Railway Telegraphy in Lindsay. He passed his railway examination at the depot and entered the service of the G.T.R. as operator at Lakeside.

"Banty Falls the Strings." On Saturday, the Grand Opera House was well filled at both matinee and evening performances. The attraction was Graham Moffat's great play entitled "Banty Falls the Strings." The cast was clever one and the play went with great snap, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

New Mill at Fenton Falls. Lindsay Post: Notwithstanding all rumors to the contrary, the noted lumber firm of Mickle and Bennett, who have valuable timber lands along the head waters of the Gull River, have already begun operations to build their mill at Fenton Falls.

To Shave That Tired Feeling. At Saturday's police Court Robert L. Anderson was fined $22.00 for giving

ing Hyacin to Tom Sullivan, a 15-year-old boy. In default of paying it forthwith he was given 30 days. He went east on Brock street until the portals of Castle Nesbitt were passed.

Michael Larone does not seem to profit by experience or warning. He recently served a six months term in Central Prison for vagrancy. At Saturday's court it was shown he had camped out in the Bowling Club's Swiss Cottage. Larone, who can make $4 a day by laying bricks was given eight days in which to get to work and shake off that tired feeling.

Times' Reporter Should Travel. A member of the Times' reporter staff yesterday, in conversation with a gentleman from Lakeside, heard (practically) the following remarks: "Well, you newspaper men are doing first-rate. Of course you've got to travel to get your ideas broadened. Now I used to think I knew it all. But I've travelled since and got my ideas broadened. Why within the past four years I've been to Montreal and as far west as Detroit. I tell you sir, it takes travel to broaden a man." The reporter spoken to, who has visited the leading capitals of Europe, and knows Canada from coast to coast, only smiled and said nothing.

Terrible Road to Chemung. Farmers from Ennismore and Smith who were in the city on Saturday, complained bitterly about the terrible, almost impassable state of the road from Chemung to Peterborough. They were united in saying that that important road is in worse condition than it has been in 40 years. It seems that when the grader was put over the road that a heavy covering of mud was placed in the center of the highway. With the recent continuous rains has resulted in a road hub-deep in sticky mud. As far as automobiles are concerned a Times representative was told that such vehicles are absolutely out of the question for transportation. In fact, when Dr. Scott, when called out to see the broken leg broken in two places by a fall, of Mrs. Scott, mother of ex-reverend Scott of Smith, and who went out in his auto, had to make a detour of three or four miles from the regular Chemung road to visit his patient.

Improvements for St. John's Church. Mr. Skelton representing the Valley City Seating Co., of Dundas, was in the city on Saturday in connection with the re-arrangements of the seating of the church in St. John's Church. Mr. Skelton showed the Times the plans and specifications of the proposed re-seating arrangements. They show a great improvement over present conditions. The new seats are of white decorated oak with ash seats. Whilst not materially increasing the choir's seating capacity, they will add greatly to the convenience and comfort. For instance the new seats will eliminate the discomfort of ladies wearing "mortar board" hats, striking the latter against the seat backs. When asked by the Times when the new seats will be introduced, Mr. Skelton replied: "By the week before Christmas, if possible; if not by the end of the first week in January next. Mr. Devey, organist of St. John's, who naturally takes a deep interest in the comfort and convenience of his choir, was much pleased with the plans.

Little Local Lines. Mayor Bradburn is confident that the De Laval by-law will carry. The Northern Ontario demonstration car left the city Saturday. Many visitors arrived in the city on Saturday to spend the holiday. No vesper service was held yesterday at the Y.W.C.A.

Three immigrants arrived in the city Saturday from Glasgow, Scotland. Sir Mackenzie Bowell was reported Saturday night as being in a critical condition.

The work of widening the platform at the C. P. R. station is nearing completion. Since parting with his father, Ellis, the condemned Lindsay murderer, seems to have lost all heart.

Prof. Cotton of Wyld's College spoke yesterday at the anniversary services in All Saints' Church. The by-law to add the De Laval Dairy Supply Company will be submitted to the ratepayers on Wednesday next.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. will be held in the parlors to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Last night Rev. Canon Davidson announced that next Sunday His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto, will address a special service meeting at 5 o'clock.

Yesterday the congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church again worshipped in the church, now the new organ is installed.

Miss Nora Hutton, who has been attending Bishop Strachan's School Toronto, is spending Thanksgiving at her home.

Business Cannot Be Cured. We will give One Hundred Dollars by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; unless cause and effect are removed by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Weariness Changed to Vigor

That Played-Out Feeling Was Quickly Remedied and Health Restored.

Story of a Merchant Who Almost Lost His Business and His Health Through Neglecting Early Symptoms of Disease.

"My life for years has been of a sedentary character," writes T. B.
Titchfield, head of a well known firm in Buckingham. "Nine hours every day I spent at office work and took exercise only on Sunday. I developed the symptoms of ill-health, which were all too apparent to my family. I grew thin, then pale, and before long I was jaundiced—eyes and skin were yellow, my strength and nervous energy were lowered, and I was quite unfitted for business. In the morning a lightness in the head, particularly when I bent over, made me very worried about my health. Most of the laxatives medicines I found weakening, and knowing that I had to be at business every day I neglected myself rather than risk further weakness. Of course I grew worse, but by a happy chance I began to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was fore-handedly struck by the fact that they neither caused griping nor nausea, and it seemed incredible that pills could tone, cleanse and regulate the system without causing any unpleasant after-effects. Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted with me just as gentle as nature—
they gave new life to my liver, strengthened my stomach, and won me back to perfect good health. My skin is clear, dizziness has disappeared, and my appetite, strength, spirits are perfect.

Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are sure to cure. Sold in 25c boxes, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Cataracts Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

If the British fleet is defeated Canada goes bankrupt the next day.
And the whole British empire crumbles to pieces in blood and smoke.

PROTECTION IN ENGLAND.

The Duke of Westminster has had a dinner party to which he invited men who were willing to contribute on the average $5,000 apiece for the cost of tariff reform. The report of the meeting shows that of the $500,- 000 which is sought to be raised, $300,000 was reported as subscribed before that dinner was over and the rest of the fund will be undoubtedly at the command of the committee in charge within three or four days more.

Tariff reform in England means a movement for protection. Free trade has made England the dumping ground of the world in several important lines of industry, with the result that English workmen are walking the streets literally by millions. There is no civilized country in the world that has such an enormous army of the unemployed, and the reason is that English industry is totally without protection against the practice of unloading goods—remnants, odds, seconds and so on—whenever a market is sought, where something must be saved instead of a complete loss made.

England has conveniently made herself the receiving ground for that kind of business, and the result is so well known in its disastrous influence that for several years, beginning with the prompting of Joseph Chamberlain, the statesmen of England have been steadily moving toward the American policy of protection to home industry.

At the very moment that the great free trade experiment has failed in England, after sixty years trial, a national party in this country is declaring all protection to be unconstitutional and asking votes on that doctrine. Foreign sentiment is all for Wilson for that same reason.

ELECTRIC POWER CO.

In presenting the above outline we have endeavored as far as possible to divest it of any legal or technical difficulties. As we see it there are no serious obstacles in the way of a perfectly satisfactory arrangement.

In the event of the City exercising
such rights as it has under the Peterborough Act of 1912 this letter and all communications and negotiations are to
be without prejudice as was expressed and understood at our meeting with the Council held on the 22nd
inst.

Very truly yours,

THE ELECTRIC POWER CO., LTD.

TO PURCHASE OUTRIGHT PLANS.

Gentlemen,—We have in a separate communication outlined a plan securing to the City an interest in the Light and Power and Railway business carried on in the municipalities, with provisions for fixing rates and for the future acquisition by the Corporation of the entire assets of the Companies operating these utilities.

We have, however, been asked by your council the following questions:
Question (a)—On what terms and at what price we would be willing to sell all the assets of the Peterborough Light & Power Company, Peterborough Radial Railway Company, Peterborough Gas Plant and the Distributing System of the Otonabee Power Company as now existing in
the City of Peterborough and surrounding all franchises granted by the city to these companies.

Question (b)—On what terms and at what price the Peterborough Light and Power Company, Limited,
the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, the Peterborough Gas Plant and
the Distributing System of the Otonabee Power Company as now existing in
the City of Peterborough and surrounding all franchises granted by the city to these companies.

We beg now to make answer as follows:

Answer (a)—We will sell the physical assets of the Peterborough Light & Power Company, Limited, the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, the Peterborough Gas Plant and
the Distributing System of the Otonabee Power Company, all as now existing in the City of Peterborough and surrounding all franchises granted by the city to these companies, for the sum of $750,000.00, and in the event of the city not being willing to pay this price we will be willing to accept such price as may be fixed by arbitration in the usual manner. One of the terms of sale would be that the city would enter into a contract with the Electric Power Company, Limited, to purchase power for thirty years to operate the utilities, at a price or prices to be fixed either by arbitration or reference to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, at the option of the city, and will grant to the Electric Power Company, Limited, the right to construct a transmission line for the purpose of bringing power into the city and of connecting up with any of the power plants situate in the city,
but not, of course, for the purpose of sale or distribution within the municipality.

Answer (b)—We think it desirable to point out at this time that the city, as we understand it, covers, and to draw your attention to the fact that the Peterborough Light & Power Company, has under its franchise, the right for thirty years to use the streets of the city for the purpose of erecting and maintaining such poles and wires as may be necessary for the transmission of electric current for its operations as a Light & Power company, and that this right will continue even if the city expropriates
the present distribution system, and that therefore if the present distribution system only is expropriated or purchased by the city, the Peterborough Light & Power Company will,
under the terms of its franchise, construct a new system and continue its business as heretofore.

We also beg to point out that under the Act, respecting the City of Peterborough, 2 Geo. V., chap. 117, all the city has power to acquire as the "lands, property, erections, machinery, work and plant and appliances of the Peterborough Light & Power Company, Limited, or any part thereof in the City of Peterborough, now used and operated under by-law No. 1497." Clearly these words only apply to the poles and wires erected upon the streets,
under the franchise by-law, and do not cover private service wires meters which are not erected under the authority of this by-law and which the company desires to retain as part of its private system. In answer to Question (a) therefore the price is made to cover only the purchase by the city of the poles, cross-arms, pins, insulators, guys, guy wires, braces, fastenings, primary and secondary wires on poles, transfor-mers, lightning arresters and street lighting fixtures, all situated on the public streets of the City of Peterborough and which the city would be entitled to take under the terms of the Expropriation Act above mentioned. This property we will sell at $100,000.00, provided the city does not require possession of the same until the company has erected a new plant to perform the services now performed by the existing plant. In the event of the city exercising such rights as it has under the Peterborough Act of 1912, this letter and all communications and negotiations are to
be without prejudice as was expressed and understood at our meeting with the Council held on the 22nd
inst.

At the meeting with your council on the 22nd inst. our representatives were asked whether we would be willing to sell the Electric Distribution System of the Peterborough Light & Power Company, the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, and the Otonabee Power Company.
You will recollect that our representatives stated that they were not prepared to say whether we would be willing to name a price for a sale on such terms. We have taken the matter into consideration and have come to the conclusion that it would not be wise for us to make any offer on this basis. Having named a price at which we are content to dispose of all our properties and franchises which we acquired with the idea of operating them as a unit, we are not disposed to make an offer which, if accepted by the city, would diminish our Peterborough business and deprive us of the thirty year franchise lately conferred upon us by a vote of the ratepayers of the city.
In the event of the city exercising
such rights of expropriation as it has under the Act of 1912, this letter and all communications and negotiations are to be without prejudice, as was expressed and understood at our meeting with the Council on the 22nd
inst.

Yours truly,

WHAT DEFEAT WOULD MEAN

Here is the way the Vancouver World views the German war scare:

Great Britain can say to Germany that she must not move a single grenadier to the Russian border in order to help Austria snatch more territory in the Balkans.

Great Britain can thus say to Germany what Germany said to Russia four years ago, and only in this way can peace be kept.

And Germany has every right to tell Great Britain to mind her own business.

Would that be a bolt from the blue?
Nonsense! We are six or seven thousand miles away. What do we care?

Or, as Mr. Kerry added, that ques-

The Board of Directors of the com-share profits, would consist of five members, two of whom would represent the municipality. The company would of course renew contract for Terms for power would necessarily be subject to Hydro-Electric rules, which provide for reductions as the

The company would make exten-

with the above being deep on the company's and city's joint interests.

COUNTERACTING THE AMERICAN FLAG

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice, according to your correspondence columns, that the Overseas Club, of London, and the British Empire is doing more than ordinary interest in the moving picture world, and that there has been going the round of almost every newspaper throughout Canada and England, a letter complaining of the absence of the British flag in the films of the thousands of moving picture shows, not only throughout Canada, but throughout the whole of the British Empire, while in the United States the people appear to be so strongly in their ideas of patriotism and loyalty and obedience to their own flag that they and abominate any other, and this it is which prompts this letter. It is deplorable that so strong a feeling that prevails every time the British flag is exhibited although it is an axiom that the number of times can be counted on one hand, while most pictures contain the American. But the time is coming when all this will be changed.

Picture halls will have the opportunity of not only showing the British and Canadian flags, but of other Empire pictures on a large scale. Montreal is to be the city where the transformation will emanate from, and already considerable interest is being aroused in the British American Film Company which has recently been established with Canadian capital and head offices in Montreal, and already a very large sum has been spent in production. Only this week a valuable property has been acquired in a suitable section of the city to be transformed into a town studio, and fitted up with all the latest appliances for producing moving picture films. Historic scenes which are dear to the heart of all real Canadians, and even the most modern Englishmen have already been depicted, including the great and famous battle of the Long Sault, which will shortly be ready, while others which will be taken during the winter months,
with the above being deep on the ground, will be many of the world famous romances of the Hudson's Bay Company at the various posts throughout the Northwest. Attention will be turned to the landing of Champlain, the battle of the Plains of Abraham, and the interesting and exciting episodes which were the stirring events in the early days of the founding of this great Dominion, which has become one of the greatest the world has ever known. This company is the only one of its kind operating in Canada and one of the very few reducing scenic pictures entirely of a British Empire character.
The Canadian public has undoubtedly been surprised in the past by the goods of the American producer, and in view of the considerable correspondence that is constantly appearing in the newspapers from time to time on this particular subject it is only fair that the public should know what efforts of a national character are being made to counteract the present movement of circulating the films which make such a vivid display of the American flag. I am sure that the Overseas Club of London, England, who have been responsible for drawing attention to absence of such companies as the British American Film Company, will be pleased to know that an effort, and a strong one,
is being made by Canadians themselves to fight this battle. Appealing for taking so much of your space.

I remain, yours faithfully,

FRANK W. FOX.

A WORLD MYSTERY

Early Civilization of the Twin Continents of America.

THE SECRET OF THE PACIFIC.

A Riddle Still Unsolved in the Origin of the Ancient Toltecs, Aztecs, Mayas and Incas—The Enigma That Lurks in Their Ruined Monuments.

"The Secret of the Pacific" is the title of a book which deals with one of the great mysteries of the world—the origin of the aborigines of the Americas. The author—C. Reginald Knott, F. R. G. S.—answers his own question, "What do we mean by the secret of the Pacific?" thus:

"Set between the world's mightiest oceans, the Pacific and the Atlantic, lies that greatest of all islands, the twin continents of America. A great mystery still shrouds these twin continents. A riddle still unsolved, for whose solution the world may be said to have waited 400 years. What is this mystery?"

"History will have us believe that until the end of the fifteenth century these great seas had roared defiant, unbroken by man, with the exception, gradually admitted, of some shadowy northernmen from Europe, and that these great continents have been visited only by a few European explorers."

ever since the world began. Yet scattered for thousands of miles throughout the forests and deserts of these twin continents are the remains of civilized empires which once flourished there—the ruined temples, palaces, pyramids and habitations of peoples and nations who rose, fell and rose again ages before the caravels of the vikings and the conquistadores turned their prow toward the setting sun.

"What I have ventured to turn the secret of the Pacific is the mystery surrounding the ancient civilization of the Americas, the homes of the Toltecs, the Aztecs, the Mayas, the Incas and their predecessors. What was their origin? What was their connection with each other? Had they any link with the old world? Did they in olden times draw inspiration and knowledge from Asia, Egypt, Babylon? If not, and they sprang unaided from their own soil and created their own culture, what are or were the conditions of their independent development?"

"It has been my lot to traverse, at least in part, those great regions of North and South America forming the western world which we have erroneously termed 'new'—the ancient world of America before Columbus. My travels have taken me upon the trails of Cortes and Pizarro, trails which in some cases are almost as remote and difficult today as they were when first traversed by the white man from Europe and the horse first ascended the Andes."

"But to these journeyings we must add other incursions through space and time, both real and conjectural, which will take us from Mexico to Egypt, from Peru to Babylon, from the Americas to the shores of the islands of Polynesia. From these broad regions where the Toltec, the Aztec and the Inca flourished we must seek to gather up those threads which some have conjectured lead to Asia."

"What are the monuments left by these ancient peoples, and what are the evidences of their civilizations? For 4,000 miles or more they lie upon the western American littoral and Cordillera and seem to extend in isolated patches across the Pacific ocean in a southwest path to Asia, like vast stepping stones between the old world and the new. In the rock ravines and scorching deserts of Arizona and California, wildernesses whose trails were first mapped out by the bones of hardy explorers, are the abandoned habitations of the cliff dwellers."

"On the high slopes and tablelands of Mexico are strange pyramids and mysterious courts and quadrangles, with carved stone halls about them, a puzzle to the beholder. In the dense tropic forests of Yucatan are the sculptured facades of palaces and pyramids of exceeding beauty and ingenuity, ruined and abandoned or surrounded here and there by the wattle huts of half savage Indians."

"In Central America sculptured stones of great beauty and peculiarly grotesque shapes protrude from the jungle, while far away below the equator, along the scorching coast line of Peru and amid the bleak tablelands and snow-crowned ranges of the Andes, are ruinously wrought temples and magnificent fortresses, which could only have been fashioned under the hand of ruthless new world pharaohs or devoted American chieftains."

"In the Mexican deserts and by the waters of the mysterious Lake Titicaca on the loess of the sun and the moon god held sway, and centuries ago numbered ancient worshippers raised great temples to the unknown God. "Deepening the mystery still, there arise strange and grim upon solitary sea girt Pacific islands in the track of the setting sun colossal maces and fortresses whose origin no man can conjecture. Here, in brief, are the chapters, written in stone, of some great and perhaps universal history—a history which so far we have not been able to inscribe in the general plan of human record. This, then, is the secret of the Pacific."

POWER OF GIBRALTAR

GATEWAY TO MEDITERRANEAN IS A MARVELLOUS FORTRESS.

Not Even a Torpedo Boat Could Get Past the British Stronghold Even on the Blackest Night, Declares a Naval Expert—The Famous "Galleries" Are Equipped With Powerful Weapons—The Needle Guns.

"An enemy's fleet could be sent to the bottom in ten minutes before getting within five miles of Gibraltar, not even a torpedo boat could succeed in entering the bay unobserved on the blackest night."

One of the most eminent naval experts of today has thus expressed himself as to the impregnability of the world's greatest fortress, the Rock of Gibraltar, says The Manchester Times. "Turning to the sky and rising sharply on the north or Spanish side, to a height of 1,200 feet, the famous stronghold is indeed a striking representation of Britain's might; in time of peace a sleeping giant. The majestic grey rock, scarred and loop-holed, with guns bursting to every point of the compass, and the grand old Union Jack waving proudly over all, is a sight never to be forgotten. The grandeur of this permanent demonstration of power sends a thrill of pride through the heart of every patriotic Briton."

Divided by two fissures into three sections—Wolf's Crag, Signal Hill, Sugar Loaf Hill, the lofty ridge has the appearance of a giant's back, and the profile of a dead body, and gives rise to the Spanish title, Corpo di Muerte, and Corpo di Muerte it is to those who would try its strength. Several hundred feet above the level of the sea, and extending for about two and a-half miles, are these numerous labyrinthine hewn out of the solid rock—"the galleries." At intervals of about a dozen yards is an embrasure, behind which is mounted a powerful gun. The harbor and bay below and the Spanish mainland opposite can be swept at will by these without danger to the artillery men of the Rock.

At the end of one of the galleries is a chamber, 50 feet by 35 feet, also hewn out of the rock, and known as St. George's Hall, and all along the galleries are stored immense quantities of ammunition and water in extensive tanks. The extent of the famous galleries may be estimated from the fact that there are over 70 miles of tunnels cut in the solid rock of Gibraltar.

The guns that protect the Rock, however, are not all contained in the galleries. Modern "needle" guns, the finest in Europe, are mounted in batteries that have been constructed in places where one would never expect them. They are unreachably from the sea, even as they are undiscernible, owing to the skill with which they are painted and draped to match the surrounding vegetation, whilst huge searchlights drop automatically before them at each shell is fired. They have a range of fifteen miles, and could drop shells on Ceuta, in Africa opposite, quite comfortably. One gun weighs 110 tons, and is capable of throwing a shell weighing three-quarters of a ton.

The firing is the most mathematically perfect imaginable. The surrounding waters are mapped into squares, upon which certain guns are kept ready trained. During practice, targets are lowered across the bay, the object being to hit the water a few yards in advance of them. Gibraltar never sleeps. It is ready for war in time of peace. The garrison is always on the qui vive, and in a surprisingly short time after an alarm, is prepared to meet the foe. The troops take up the quarters detailed to them in time of war, the town is cleared, the gates of the fortress locked, the bastions manned, and the booms protecting the harbor thrown out.

As everybody is aware, Gibraltar has been the scene of many a thrilling fight. It was taken from the Moors by the Spaniards in 1462 and from the Spaniards by the British, under Sir George Rooke, in 1704, after a siege of only three days, and it was ceded to Britain by the Treaty of Utrecht, in 1713. Since that time it has remained continuously in possession of Britain.

Based on no less than fourteen different occasions, the most celebrated was the great siege in 1782-83, when the combined forces of France and Spain made a tremendous effort to recover it, but it was magnificently defended for nearly four years by Gen. Elliott. The floating batteries that could, so the besiegers said, neither be burnt, sunk, nor taken, were all either burnt, sunk or taken.

During the siege there was some wonderful escapes. A shell blew an old woman out of a window, but she sustained no hurt beyond a few bruises. Another shell, bursting, fractured a soldier's head, broke an arm in two places, one of his legs, and a finger; but he had so good a constitution that in eleven weeks he recovered. Scarcely caused many more deaths than the enemy's fire. Fortunately a ship was taken laden with lemons and oranges. These were given to the sick, and most of them regained health.

SOLICITORS: Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis, BANKERS, Bank of Nova Scotia.

Objects of the Company

The above Company has been formed to manufacture all kinds of Asphalt Roofing, Waterproof Paper, Insulating and Fireproof materials, especially those grades of Asphalt Roofing which have already found such favor with the jobbing houses of the Dominion.

Asphalt Roofing has sprung rapidly into favor with builders and architects for several reasons:—
1st.—Wood shingles are scarce, high in price, and very inflammable.
2nd.—Anyone can apply Asphalt Roofing easily and quickly.
3rd.—Asphalt Roofing is absolutely fire-resisting.
4th.—Asphalt Roofing is cheaper, and will outlast the majority of other roofings in the market to-day.
5th.—Asphalt Roofing materials can be used most successfully as an insulation for lining and siding buildings.

PROSPECTUS:

The Dominion Roofing Manufacturing Co., Limited, has acquired the business of the Dominion Roofing Company of Canada, Limited, for $29,500, or 295 shares common stock. Starting in a small way two years ago, the parent company imported this material under its own brand from the States. This entailed a duty of 25 p.c., in addition to a good margin of profit to the manufacturer.

Even with this handicap, the "Dominion" Roofing has been marketed with a very fair margin of profit, and when the disadvantages of duty and heavy freight charges are removed, it is confidently anticipated that a large margin of profit will be available for distribution when the new plant, which the Company proposes installing in New Toronto is in working order. The old Company has already opened up some 350 accounts in 300 towns and cities in Ontario, and it has been found absolutely necessary to form this new Company to meet the demands from existing customers, apart from the natural extension of the business.

By manufacturing in Canada the Company will be in a position to turn out 300,000 squares of roofing per year, and will be able to extend its field of operation to all parts of the Dominion.

PROFITS:

From a conservative standpoint, it is estimated that the Company will sell 100,000 squares of roofing in the first year. This, at a profit of 50c per square, shows a gross profit on the year's turnover of $50,000; deducted from this amount selling expenses, including office salaries, managing and traveling expenses, the net profit of the first year's trading amounts approximately to $35,000.

OFFERING:

300 shares of $100.00 each ($30,000), 7 p.c. preferred cumulative stock, are offered at par, payable 25 p.c. cash, 25 p.c. one month, 25 p.c. 2 months, and 25 p.c. 3 months from date. This preferred stock carries a bonus of 25 p.c. fully-paid common stock. The by-laws do not provide for further calls.

There is a contract for the payment of 10 p.c. commission for procuring subscriptions to shares, but no sum is to be paid to any promoter. Vancouver's Area

VANCOUVER'S area comprises 14 square miles. In comparison with its population Vancouver, as compared with other cities, is the most densely populated city in the whole of Canada. Being situated on a peculiarly shaped peninsula with Burrard Inlet washing its north shore, the Gulf of Georgia on the west and the Fraser River on the south, it is impossible for this city to develop except in an easterly direction.

The whole of the eastern portion of Vancouver is rapidly becoming thickly populated. Homes and business houses are being erected speedily.

The estimated population of Vancouver today stands at 200,000. These figures show that Vancouver possesses a population of 14,285 per square mile. Where else in the Dominion of Canada is there a city so densely populated, area for area?

That inside Vancouver city property must rapidly enhance in value is a foregone conclusion. Property in this city will increase in value more rapidly in the future than it has in the past, so the investor who purchases property in this city is not taking any chances whatsoever. He is sure that the dollars that he invests will be multiplied considerably within even a short space of time. Therefore the being inside city property and situated only a mile and a quarter from the C. N. R. passenger terminal must comprise one of the finest investments in Vancouver today.

ESTATE OF

Every lot in this estate has been cleared. All improvements such as graded streets, etc., are already made. Two rapid street carlines serve the property. Water mains, and fire hydrants are laid right up to the property and electric light is available at any time. A school of a commodious nature has been erected within a few minutes' walk from the property and one of the widest thoroughfares of the city cuts right through the centre of the estate.

We have made a specialty of Vancouver property for a number of years and have sold many money making pieces of real estate in this city, but we honestly believe that the estate of Joseph Martin is one of the finest properties that we have ever had the opportunity of presenting to the public. To the investor who is looking for a high class piece of real estate that will enhance in value rapidly we recommend the Martin Estate. We have prepared a handsome folder together with a large map of the City of Vancouver. We want you to write for this literature and study the location of this property. Investigate every statement we have made and then use your own common sense as to whether this investment appeals to you or not.

Should you decide to purchase a lot or two in the Martin Estate we must necessarily ask you to let us know as soon as possible for the demand here in Vancouver is very heavy and we believe that the time is not far distant when we shall be forced to cry "sold out."

Kindly write for this literature today.

Legend and Reality.

Legend tells how Napoleon, while Moscow was in flames, found time to draw up a decree organizing the Theatre Francaise. Alas, the story is not true. Napoleon was in Poland when he received the decree ready to be signed. He there signed it and sent it back to Paris, but in the margin wrote the following: "To be forwarded when the army will be at Moscow. It is his majesty's intention that the decree should be dated from that town."

Additional Targets, Long Branch

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS marked on the envelope "Tender for Extension, Long Branch Rifle Range, Toronto," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, will be received until noon, on November 19, 1912, for the construction of Additional Targets at Long Branch Rifle Range.

Specifications may be seen and full particulars obtained at the office of the General Officer Commanding 2nd Division, Toronto, Ont., and the Director of Engineer Services, Headquarters, Ottawa.

Tenders must be made on the form supplied by the Department and accompanied by an accepted cheque on a Canadian Chartered Bank, for ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, which amount will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into or fails to complete the contract in accordance with the tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

A man once owned a fine and resourceful goat of which he was very proud. One day this goat lost caste with his master by swallowing a red flannel shirt which was the property of his owner. Angered beyond reason, the man led the goat to the railroad track and, tying the animal to the ties, left him to what he believed was certain death. The goat was opposed to capital punishment and made violent efforts to release himself from his bonds. In this he was unsuccessful, but in straining himself he produced a violent fit of coughing, and he coughed up the shirt and flagged the train.

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fabrics products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things
That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished
at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—for securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

A Hungarian Fire Eater.
A famous Hungarian fire eater, who lived in 1898 his thirty-fifth anniversary. He gave a banquet to which only those were invited who could prove six deaths. An exception was made in favour of a woman who had met and killed her man.

A Vegetarian Banquet.
The menu of a meal given lately by the London Vegetarian Association included walnut cutlets with brown sauce, cauliflower and new potatoes, asparagus on toast, spaghetti on toast, tomato farce and young carrots.

Forget Himself.
"My husband is a brute. Friend—All men are brutes, dear. She—Mine is simply abominable! I asked him if he did not think you as pretty as I, and he said 'Yes.'"

Having One's Doubts.
Tammie—Aye. I'm sometimes disposed to agree with you that there's no need for everlasting punishment, but when I think of that unprincipled scoundrel McMurkle I lose my doubts.

Sir Sam Evan's Story.
Sir Samuel T. Evans, president of the British Divorce Court, has several good stories to tell relating to his profession. One which concerns a man who stole a pair of trousers is decidedly naive. This man received a favorable verdict, but when the case was over he showed no signs of leaving the court. At last his lawyer asked him why he didn't go. The innocent (?) man whispered in reply: "The fool he, sir, I did not like to move till the witnesses had left the court. You see I've got on the trousers and I stole."

Only Single Faces.
This story is told of Sir George Reid in connection with a Parliamentary election in Australia. He was addressing a meeting of electors, and one of them, a party faced man, repeatedly accused the speaker of being "two faced." Sir George turned on him at last. "Well, it's pretty clear," he said, "that you are not two faced." The man, rather staggered, blurted out: "Why?" "Because if you were two faced," retorted Sir George, "you'd have left that one at home and brought the other!"

Cure Old Folk's Coughs

Doesn't Disturb the Stomach, Does at Once and Cures Thoroughly.

"CATARRHOZONE" A DOON TO MANY THOUSANDS.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing — those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with CATARRHOZONE. You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhzone, and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct, healthful, soothing medicine, full of soothing anti-septic pine essence that reaches every corner, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm or sicken the stomach, because Catarrhzone is the purest, easiest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

"For many years," writes Richard McCallum, Stirling, Ont., "I have suffered from Catarrh, and occasionally hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed, irritable condition."

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was used in smearing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good."

"I heard Catarrhzone favorably spoken of, and tried it. Really it benefited me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies."

"Breathing such balsamic fumes, I continued using Catarrhzone, and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat trouble."

Get Catarrhzone to-day. Large size costs $1.00 and lasts two months. Smaller size, 50c, and 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhzone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Charged With Stealing.
At a special session of the Police Court, held yesterday afternoon, Wm. Fallon and Albert Wright were charged with stealing from the person of a farmer the sum of $7. The case was adjourned for one week.

Here for Operation.
Mr. John Thornton of Mount Pleasant, arrived in the city yesterday, and will to-day undergo an operation in the hospital for hernia. Doctors Young and Carmichael will operate.

Mr. J. Allan's Distinguished Guest.
Mr. F. G. Flower, who for some months acted in the capacity of private secretary to Sir James Macdonald, was in the city on Monday the guest of Mr. John Allan, the organizer of St. Paul's church.

Ketchikan Hunt Club.
Yesterday the following members of the Ketchikan Hunt Club left for a deer hunt: Messrs. Collins, Bennett, R. Gibbs, B. F. Ackerman, F. R. J. MacPherson, M. Comstock, E. F. Mason, W. G. Morrow and H. Winn. Others of the party will follow on Friday of this week.

Smoke and Leaky the Victors.
Much interest was manifested on Thanksgiving Day in the road races so admirably run off by the Y.M.C.A. Shortly after breakfast time crowds began to gather awaiting the result. Smoke the Chemong Indian easily won the senior event, whilst Leaky captured the junior prize.

Applications from a Distance.
Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons yesterday received a communication from a gentleman living in Tyrone, Ireland, asking this well known local firm to forward, if possible, one hundred of their flag folders showing the history of the construction of Britain's flag, the Grand Old Union Jack. A similar request was received by the same mail from St. John, Newfoundland.

Hunters Leave By C.P.R.
Messrs. S. Ray, Bennett, M. McPherson, Curtis, J. M. Brooks, E. Mason, J. Rogers of Cobourg, left for Toronto, leaving this morning via the C.P.R. train by the new gala route for Shawanaga. The C.P.R. has placed a special car at their disposal, provided with a cook stove. Whilst the party is hunting the car will be side-tracked awaiting their return.

Radiator Got Too Busy.
A radiator is supposed to radiate heat. However, sometimes a radiator can radiate too much heat, and that was in evidence at the street car barns early yesterday morning. The radiator in a car disposed of much caloric that the car caught fire. Some young men returning from a dance saw the blaze, and succeeded in dragging the car from the shed, thus averting a conflagration that might have done thousands of dollars worth of damage, the barn being crowded with street cars. The fire brigade put an end to the danger with a chemical.

Hurt by Exploded Cartridge.
As Cyril Corbett, son of Mr. W. Corbett, Water street, was out shooting in Ennismore on Monday, a cartridge exploded in his face. The injured lad was attended by Dr. McNulty, and afterwards brought into the hospital. Although his injury is a painful one, it is not thought he will lose his eye. An operation was performed that will doubtless remedy the trouble.

Death from Swallowing Lye.
On Monday morning, Patricia, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert York, Western Avenue, died as a result of accidentally swallowing some lye about a year ago. The little one was tenderly, carefully and patiently attended by the nursing staff at Nicholls Hospital. While in that institution the poor child cried almost continuously, but those in charge of her seemed to have unlimited patience. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence, Western Avenue, to the Little Lake cemetery.

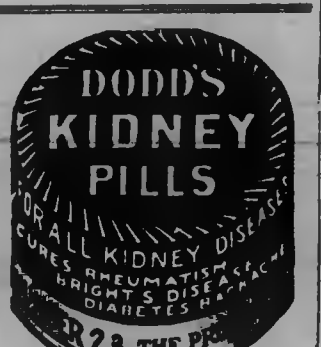

Police Court Paragraphs.
It seems that some men are not content with Thanksgiving, but must cap the climax by celebrating. A few such individuals lined up yesterday morning before the local P.O. A Dundas man charged with drunkenness, said he had been a teetotaler for two years, but who had evidently fallen off the wagon, was fined $2.

Two other men were fined a like amount for the same offence, but three others, charged similarly, were less fortunate, having to pay $5.75.

Three citizens were each fined $4.00 for riding their bicycles on the sidewalk and another two for leaving his horse untied.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Charles Primrose.
Yesterday morning, Mary Elizabeth McGarity, widow of the late Charles Primrose, passed away. The late Mrs. Primrose was 86 years of age, and was born in Ireland. While still young, she came with her parents to Peterborough, where she has since resided. For two years the deceased lady lived at the House of Providence, where her death occurred. The funeral will be held on Thursday morning at nine o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

A protest has been entered against Frank Leaky, the winner of yesterday's junior race yesterday on the ground that he is over age.

Mr. Edgar Hartley, has returned from his annual duck shooting trip at Rice Lake with 32 ducks.

Mr. Jack McBride of Toronto, who has a $50,000 contract for asphalt-paving in Brockville, was in the city yesterday. The main object of his visit is to hire help.

WEDDING BELLS.

Gerow-Filling.

The wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Wm. Filling, Bolivar street on Monday night, when his daughter, Miss Gertrude, was united in marriage to Mr. Daniel Gerow of Belleville. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. J. R. Webb in the presence of many guests. The young couple were unattended. They were the recipients of a large number of handsome presents. They will reside in Belleville.

Warboy-McLennan.

St. Luke's church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when Annie Sarah McLennan, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLennan, 139 James street, became the charming bride of William Warboy, son of Mr. J. Warboy, of this city. The Rev. F. J. Savers performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a handsome tailored suit of blue serge, and wore a picture hat of plush, with a large white plume. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Eva McLennan, sister of the bride was bridesmaid, and was attired in a dress of pink silk, with a hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was assisted by Mr. Bart Carpenter. After the ceremony a dejeuner was served at the residence of the bride's parents, 139 James street. Mr. and Mrs. Warboy have taken up residence at 507 Aylmer street.

Business Cannot Be Cured.

We will give One Hundred Dollars by local applications as they cannot reach the damaged portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

THE DE LAVAL INDUSTRIAL BY-LAW CARRIED BY A GRATIFYING MAJORITY OF 1264

Another Live And Progressive Industry Secured to Peterborough—City Council and Citizens Committee Largely Responsible For Yesterday's Successful Issue At The Polls

The By-law to aid the De Laval Dairy Supply Company, carried yesterday by the handsome majority of 1264, with but 54 votes recorded in opposition to the measure.

When the last industrial by-law was voted on a two third majority vote of the number of qualified voters on the roll was required to carry the measure, but the act was amended at last session of the legislature to permit of such a by-law being carried by a two-third majority of the number of votes polled, irrespective of the roll. The number of votes polled yesterday was 1372, which would call for a majority of 914 to carry the by-law; hence the vote stood 350 over and above the actual number needed to legally endorse the city council's legislation in regard to aid to the De Laval Company.

Congratulations and bouquets are in order in regard to yesterday's voting activities. The council, headed by its progressive Mayor, W. H. Bradburn, is to be warmly congratulated on the successful issue of a measure they conscientiously believed to be in the best interests of the city. The Aldermen and His Worship had the courage of their convictions, and during the last couple of weeks have energetically applied themselves in preparation for yesterday's polling. And in fact, each and every member of our council board were very much in evidence in their several wards yesterday up to the eleventh hour advanced by statistics. Then a strong committee of leading citizens has industriously busied themselves in the interest of the by-law, for which they are entitled to a measure of appreciation from citizens in general.

All of which goes to show that Peterborough appreciates a good industrial proposition and will vote and work for such accordingly.

His Worship, Mayor W. H. Bradburn, last evening was sporting a beaming countenance, and expressed his heartfelt thanks to the ratifiers for their untiring endorsement of the council's endorsement to the De Laval industry to locate in this city. AND THERE ARE MORE TO FOLLOW.

In this connection one must not forget to recognize Ald. Gillespie's peculiar share in the result of yesterday's polling activities. It was Ald. Gillespie who, through his business connection with the De Laval Dairy Supply people, brought them and the city council together on the question of locating in this city.

CANAL EMPLOYEES TO BE PAID PROMPTLY

No Excuse For The System of Time Checks Hitherto in Use—Auditor's Letter Will Surprise the Public

Some few days ago the Times published two letters from the Department at Ottawa to Mr. Burnham, M. P., expressing surprise at the statements made by him to the effect that casual and temporary canal employees were not paid their wages in full; but were compelled to pay discount to get the cash otherwise the delay might be for many weeks. The result of the publication of the letters was that very soon a temporary employee who had been laid off showed Mr. Burnham the order given him to give the bank to discount his pay for cash, and the note and power of attorney he had to sign. On sums under $50, the discount or whatever it was called, would be 35 cents, and on sums over that amount, 50 cents. In a season this would amount to hundreds of dollars paid unnecessarily by the workmen, of their wages.

Mr. Burnham was indignant about it, characterizing it as the smallest piece of business he had yet seen. He sent a full set of the employee's documents to Ottawa and has received the following reply:

It may be said, however, that the fault is not the Superintendent's. It is the fault of the system which has been allowed to continue in the past, and has only lately come to light. The worker is a patient man.

Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, October 20th, 1912.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 24th instant addressed to the Honourable the Minister of Railways and Canals has been referred to me.

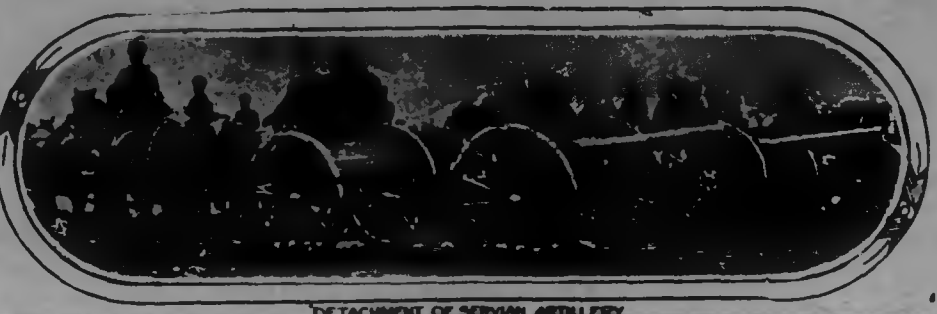

I cannot understand why the Superintendent of the canal has carried out a system of time checks which entails the hardship on the employees concerned of paying discount for same. The instructions he has from the Department are that regular employees are to be paid once a month, but in the case of casual or temporary assistance he is authorized to issue checks of his own against a special account which is provided for that purpose; and there is no excuse for the non-payment of such temporary employees.

I am to-day writing the Superintendent instructing him that the practice of issuing time checks is to be immediately discontinued, and further instructing him to pay promptly for all temporary assistance; it, of course being understood where the men are employed for the full month that they will be returned on the regular payroll and paid by check from the Department.

The enclosures accompanying your letter to the Minister are returned herewith.

Yours faithfully,
G. A. BELL.

"Red Phil" Davidson Will Escape the Gallows for Murder.

New York, Oct. 30.—"Red Phil" Davidson, slayer of "Big Jack" Zelg, the gang leader, will escape the electric chair. At the opening of his trial to-day he withdrew his former plea of not guilty, and entered a plea of guilty to second-degree murder. The penalty may be life imprisonment.

A jury was obtained in record time. Justice Goff then called to the stand physicians who had examined the defendant, and on their testimony that he was weak mentally, the plea to second degree murder was accepted. Sentence was deferred.

WEDDING BELLS

Tarte—Anglo-Can.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning when Mr. Cyril Tarte, of Hamilton, was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Angley of this city, by the Rev. Father Phelan.

Miss B. Walsh of Young's Point, a cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Philip Finney supported the groom. After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride, 149 Rutledge street, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Tarte left during the afternoon on a trip to Toronto and Niagara, after which they will reside in Hamilton.

BECKER OFF TO SING SING DEATH SENTENCE PASSED

Week of December 9th Set As The Date, But Notice of Appeal Will Act As Stay of Execution—Must Spend Time in Solitary Confinement—Sheriff Would Not Allow Him To Remain Even an Hour in the Tombs

HIS WIFE COLLAPSED, BUT BECKER TOOK SENTENCE QUITE COOLLY

New York, Oct. 30.—Former Lieut. of Police Charles Becker, convicted last week of murder in the first degree in having brought about the death of gambler Herman Rosenthal, was sentenced by Justice Goff to-day to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing Prison during the week beginning December 9th.

Becker took his sentence calmly, standing impassively. He had no word of protest and the proceedings were absolutely formal, the attorneys for the prisoner making the various motions in low tones and dully muting the exceptions as each motion was denied by the black-robed justice. Becker stood alone at the bar, his faithful wife, to become a mother soon, had been denied permission to stand by his side. This denial was an act of mercy, as the little woman collapsed utterly under the strain as she stood in the sheriff's office and aided to the floor in a dead faint. It was necessary to call a physician to care for her.

Chief Counsel Not There.

The doomed man's brothers also remained outside of the court room and his chief counsel John F. McIntyre was unable to be with him. The strain of the trial had absolutely broken McIntyre, and it was said to-day that his doctor had warned him if he hoped to live, he must leave New York for a long rest in another climate.

Becker was not given the usual permission to stay in the Tombs following his sentence. Instead, Sheriff Julius Harburger, for reasons best known to himself, rushed the condemned man to the Grand Central station in the prison van and took him to Sing Sing on the train, thus giving color to Becker's bitter comment of the other day that he was to be "railroaded" even to the death house.

TURKS COME TO LIFE, REPEL BULGARIANS AND GET THEM IN A CORNER

Ottoman Troops Take the Offensive and a Great Battle, That May Last For Several Days and Be Long in Doubt, Is Being Waged

DEFEAT THE ENEMY AT VISA AND HOLD HIM IN CHECK AT POINTS FURTHER SOUTH

London, Oct. 30.—The Bulgarian army was defeated by the Turks at Viza, Hemil and Serai yesterday, according to an official despatch received by the Ottoman Embassy here. The Turks lost totalled 800 killed and wounded.

GREAT BATTLE IN PROGRESS.

Constantinople, Oct. 30.—The Turkish commander-in-chief Nazim Pasha telegraphs that a big battle has been in progress since this morning. The troops engaged on both sides number 150,000. Nazim Pasha says the position of the Ottoman forces is favorable.

REPULED THE BULGARIANS.

Constantinople, Oct. 30.—Mahmoud Mukhtar's division of the Turkish army repulsed the Bulgarian troops yesterday, inflicting severe loss on them at Tcherkeskeni on the Tcherlu River, and midway between Constantinople and Adrianople on the railroad.

London, Oct. 30.—A big battle, perhaps the decisive one of the war, is proceeding, between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies, somewhere to the east of the line from Constantinople to Adrianople, and heavy fighting also is taking place around Adrianople.

While admitting that they have to depend on mere rumors and suppositions, military critics here are inclined to believe that the Turkish army is at last ready to take the offensive, and has a chance of retrieving itself.

LIBERALS MAY UNITE WITH NATIONALISTS IN QUEBEC

Montreal, Oct. 30.—Hon. G. P. Graham is here at a conference to choose a Liberal candidate to oppose Mr. Coderre in Hochelaga.

LIBERALS AND NATIONALISTS.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—The latest development in the political situation is the possibility of an alliance between the Liberal and the Nationalists in Quebec. It is said that a conference has been held between Mr. Bourassa and some of the Liberal leaders with a view to combining a candidate to fight the new Minister, Hon. Louis Coderre, in Hochelaga, in opposing an emergency naval contribution. On the other hand the Ontario Liberals are in favor of letting Mr. Coderre go in by acclamation. They are naturally afraid of an alliance with Henri Bourassa, while they are afraid of the party being placed on record as opposed to an emergency contribution.

TRAGIC STORY OF TORONTO WOMEN

Shot Herself Because She Could Not Support Her Child

HUSBAND WAS A BIGAMIST

Detroit, Oct. 30.—Suicide was the sacrifice made by Mabel Potter Green, a young Toronto woman, in order that her little boy might be eligible to enter an orphan home. The circumstances surrounding the case are unusual and most pathetic. The woman shot and killed herself at 42 Abbott street yesterday, leaving her four-year-old son, whose father is Roland Green, of 1220 Scotter avenue, now living with his first wife and family of small children.

The woman who killed herself, claimed Green's name and the rights of a wife, but when the woman who is now Green's wife came from England with her three children, his new wife who had only one child to take care of said she would withdraw and there would be no further trouble. Yesterday, worn out with her efforts to get work and find a home for her child, she shot herself. The other woman is willing to add the motherless baby to her own little brood and take care of him for his father's sake.

Mrs. Mabel Potter Green was found dead in the home of E. N. Winegar den. She had come from Toronto several weeks ago, and her little boy was also brought here.

WINTER IN ALGONQUIN PARK

With Switzerland, Canada is taking it to right place as the Playground of the Nations. One of the most popular districts where untried opportunities are found for healthful sport and where an invigorating atmosphere may be enjoyed is the Algonquin National Park of Ontario. In summer it is the stamping ground of the angler, camper and tourist, and its pre-eminence as a fishing ground has been conceded, but with the first frost of Autumn the camper and angler have stored their tents, their rods and their canoes and the lovers of winter sport follow in the footsteps of the Summer visitors and take possession of the Highland Inn, the well run and comfortable hotel at Algonquin Park station that offers splendid accommodation at reasonable rates. Algonquin Park is at an altitude of 2,000 feet above sea level, is reached over the Ottawa Division of the Grand Trunk Railway. System is about 200 miles north of Toronto, and 175 miles West of Ottawa. The winter rates at "The Highland Inn" are $14 to $16 per week, and the several attractions of the Park in booklet entitled "Winter in Ontario's Highland Park," copies of which may be had free by addressing a postal card to Wm. EDITORIAL NOTES

By reading the war despatches one would infer that the Balkans are populated mostly by Crown Princes.

The Turkish army is fleeing from Elisakata, Ellasakata, Epirus and Xirevouni, greatly to the envy of the monoline operator.

Andy Carnegie says he always laughs when he is with kings, and so does every fellow when he holds four of them and an ace on the side.

With ten thousand Russian Jews coming to Canada to form a colony in Saskatchewan, there may yet be hope of seeing a New Jerusalem in the west.

The Greek Archimandrite Agathodoros Papageorgopoulos, of Montreal, wants to his him off and fight Turkey. Sending in his card might be as effective.

Doubtless when the Sultan of Turkey is alone with his thoughts he fears that he is in the same fix as the fellow who is up against four kings with nothing more potent than a hobnob flush.

The recent outgoings of the Hon. Bill Taft shows that the only clear idea he has of the political situation is that somebody will be elected President on November 5, but he says nothing to indicate a conviction that he will be the man.

China celebrated on October 10th, the first anniversary of the outbreak of the revolution which brought about the republic. Judging from the incidents of the celebration a spirit of patriotism is developing in a marked way among the Chinese people. A nation the size of China with a year old flag is surely a sight to see.

Miss Wylie was in Toronto a few days ago representing the British suffragettes, but her voice and utterance were milder than at first. When she first set foot in Toronto the reporters wrote as follows: "The fiery young college woman said she's not stop where the English women stopped. She'd carry a revolver. And she'd kill any man who dared to touch her." But now she says the men in Canada are away ahead of their brethren in England, and she will probably not use the revolver at all on us.

A tramp with an indistinct recollection of the classics, a few days ago "braced" a Peterborough bartender for a drink. He remarked that Horace was all wrong when he used the words "aure sacres fanum." The dispenser of liquid joy took up and said he was from Miessouri. Mr. Dusty Doolittle replied it meant "The accursed thirst for gold." Now I've got a most cursed thirst for whiskey, but no gold." He won out.

TOO MUCH LUXURY.

A description was recently published of the Electric Hotel now being built in Paris, wherein the wants of the guests are to be met by means of electric appliances. There, by merely speaking aloud and without the use of a receiver, orders will be transmitted through the hidden telephone and replies received.

A guest will have only to touch a button to control the heat of the room, to bring up a meal, which mechanically places itself on the table, to remove the dishes when the meal is over, and to do many other things which otherwise would require some trip and exertion. Just such a hotel as is now being constructed in Paris was described by Ignatius Donnelly in his weird tale, "Caesar's Column," written more than twenty years ago.

Is an establishment so equipped a guest will hardly need to move, so complete will be the mechanical service, but whether this means genuine enjoyment or not is an open question. Certain it is that a mode of living that dispenses with any kind of exertion has its disadvantages, because it entails a loss of exercise which in its general effect is conducive to health and to the happiness that comes with health.

Attention has been called to the fact that since the introduction of automobiles the practice of walking as a means of exercise has been falling into disuse and the consequence is a measure of physical degeneration, hence there is reason to wonder what the results will be when people not only cease to walk out-doors, but even cease to move about indoors to attend to the simplest duties of home life.

A GERMAN-AMERICAN WAR

The Hamilton Herald says that hunger for territory seems to be her opinion of all students of world-politics. But they can't agree as to the particular territory which Germany covets. It is commonly believed that she has her eye on choice bits of the British empire, and that that is why she is getting ready to grapple with the naval power of Britain.

But D. L. McCutcheon, a Toronto broker just returned from Europe, says that this belief has no real foundation. Germany's territorial desires, he says, are directed towards South America. "I have talked with many German business men in various cities of Europe," says Mr. McCutcheon, "and they scout the idea of war with England. 'England has nothing we want,' say the Germans. 'Germany wants Northern Brazil.' There are 170,000 Germans living there now, with 40,000 German soldiers prepared to fight. I believe that Germany is building her great navy to fight for the ownership of Northern Brazil." And, of course, the power which she would have to fight for the ownership of Northern Brazil is the power which holds exclusive possession of the Monroe Doctrine and aims to become the sovereign power of the western hemisphere.

Mr. McCutcheon's theory is not new. It has been from time to time exploited by Americans who have visited Brazil and noted the aggressive energy of the German colonists there, who are rapidly gaining commercial control of that part of the republic. However, there are certain facts which tend to discredit the story. If Brazil were the objective of German ambition, why should the German battleships have such very small fuel capacity? It is evident that they are not built for long voyages, but for comparatively short cruises. It is not probable that they are built for service outside the North Sea.

Admiral Broussard, of the German navy, does not appear to be in any doubt as to the enemy that Germany is preparing to fight. In a recently published statement the admiral admitted that the plans or the invasion of Egypt as soon as the prospective Anglo-German war begins have been all arranged. The land attack on Egypt, he says, will be undertaken with the co-operation of Austria, and Italy, and the Tripolitan forces will be used as a base. The reason he gives for the seizure of Egypt is the urgency from Germany's point of view, of intercepting Britain's food supply immediately on the outbreak of hostilities—for a successful attack on Egypt would mean the control of the Suez Canal.

This much, however, can be paid in favor of Mr. McCutcheon's theory—that Germany would like to get Northern Brazil as well as the command of the sea. It she destroys or seriously cripples Britain's naval power, she will acquire the command of the sea, and will then be able to appropriate what she wants of South American territory for the Monroe Doctrine would then be a dead letter.

MUNICIPAL HANDLING OF COAL

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In view of the fact that there have been suggestions made that the city purchase hard coal for distribution among our citizens at reasonable prices, I might respectfully advise you that the municipal authorities of Galt are thinking of buying coal in large quantities and selling it to the citizens at cost as a measure of relief from the high price of fuel. Now, sir, I fully believe in the city, aiding her people in procuring so vitally necessary an article as coal, so long as the coal is sold at a reasonable price. I fully believe in the city, aiding her people in procuring so vitally necessary an article as coal, so long as the coal is sold at a reasonable price. CANADA SOVEREIGNTY MAINTAINED

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Farmers get busy and follow example of the farmers of Australia, New Zealand, France and Germany. Organize farmer or land Banks such as above enjoy. Keep the gold got from the exports of the Country's products to retire the paper currency of your own Banks, whose safety can be guaranteed by the Government and the land you own.

The paper money now in circulation forbodes disaster when the reckoning day comes, as come it must, then you, your neighbors and our common country will be face to face with privation experienced only as the concomitant of invasion; since there is not but a small fraction of bullion in the money corporations to meet the millions on millions of the rag money on deposit which our citizens vainly imagine they can change for gold on emergency.

The promotion of Banks such as the above mentioned countries enjoy would save the day for Canada—do away with the selfishness that pervade the present money corporations, and would for ever from our midst, the Loan Companies that have effected the ruin of so many of your people, and the destruction of so many industrial establishments in almost every settled locality of the province. Parliament can be prevailed upon to do its duty in this regard only by you setting in motion throughout the Province. The object is a consummation to be desired by every man in instant of patriotism for Canada.

Private monopoly in public franchise is a public loss; conservation which merely builds up private fortune is of little public value. Expanding power is also a dangerous process—all of which applies to the most valuable franchise asset of the nation MONEY.

A New Winter Resort.

The Highland Inn, situated on Cache Lake, Algonquin National Park of Ontario, has issued a very handsome and interesting little booklet entitled "Winter in Ontario's Highland Heritage." The object of this publication is to give an idea of the delightful attractions that are given to the people during the winter months in the wilds of Canada. It is written to interest the reader and contains valuable information for the winter tourist. It tells where and what the Park is, what can be done when you get there, how to reach the Park and particulars of the Highland Inn. Some of the attractions offered are snow shoe tramping, tobogganing, skiing, skating, fishing through the ice, photographing the animals that live in the Park, and the end of all he is being taught

MUSIC & DRAMA

THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE

The story of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Eugene Walter's great play, which comes to the Grand Saturday, matinee and night is familiar to millions of book readers who love romantic works of that vigorous American writer of fiction, John Fox Jr., author of "The Little Shepherd of the Kingdom Come."

In his new play Eugene Walter has taken the atmosphere of the Virginia hills, blending them together, with that consummate deftness of dramatic art and ability for which Mr. Walter is justly famed. The play opens with a scene in the Cumberland hills, showing the trail around the lonesome pine, which sentinel is visible to all in the Gap below. Hale and Berkeley, a couple of Eastern engineers, have come to the Gap to develop its resources of coal, iron and limestone, intending to start a boom and establish a steel manufacturing city for which the place offers ideal inducements. Hale already has started a reform element which has become the target for the spite of the rough mountaineers, especially the feudal class of the Palms and Tollivers, who have terrorized the Gap for years, and who are determined to continue their lawless proclivities in spite of the "furrin" police. The advent of law and order is resented especially by young Dave Tolliver, who sees in the invasion of the Gap, the end of all he is being taught to regard as sacred—the right to kill an enemy—the sovereignty of the leader of the tribe—the law of the hills. Dave not only expects to become leader of the Tolliver clan but also looks forward to making his cousin, June, his wife.

June is a primitive mountain girl. Superstitious and imaginative, she loves the Lonesome Pine, and each morning at sunrise and each evening at sunset, she steals away from the mountain cabin where she was born and sits under the tree listening to the sighing of the wind in the pine, and fancying she hears the voice of her dead sister urging her to go out into the world and learn. Hale discovers June and engages her in conversation, laughing at her coy repulses and enjoying her whimsical remarks. He wins her confidence and encourages her to reveal more of her thoughts and dreams, bringing out such surprising characteristics as depth of emotion, loveliness and breadth of soul, originality, so that he finally persuades her father, who also at first resents his intruding, to permit her to attend the new school at the Gap. Her departure from the mountain cabin to the school in the valley has started gossip among the factional clans about her relations with Hale. Hale, who has all along regarded June as a child is surprised at the generally accepted idea that he is having her educated so that she can marry him. June cannot understand all the gossip and sends for her "paw" to come and take her home. June fires the cabin to look a bit more attractive, and when Dave again begs her to marry him, she tells him that she doesn't intend to marry anyone now.

June hears Dave has shot Hale and when the hut is surrounded by police, she rides Dave in her room. Berkeley's claim who has been wounded by Dave's bullet is carried in by June and followed by Hale, who insists on searching the place, when Berkeley, who has listened in a momentary condition to June's pleas, saves Dave by emphatically stating that he is not the man who shot him. Hale keeps a guard around the cabin to prevent any further outbreak of the feud, and the next morning Berkeley comes out looking for Hale to bring about a reconciliation with June. June soon appears as Jack first saw, barefooted and garbed in homespun. Both catch the humor of the situation, before immediately drawing together beneath the old pine where they first met, and where they now wait for the old Justice of the Peace to come and marry them.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

nd There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quite the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day each people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! ARE YOU a want advertiser?

WAS KING OF JUNGLE

ENGLISH SAILOR HAD AMAZING ADVENTURE IN AFRICA.

Engineer on a Freight Liner Took a Holiday to Shoot Big Game on the East Coast and Was Captured by Blacks—Fought the Native Ruler and Got Thrown by a Strange Accident—Wives Too Many for Him.

Stranger adventure than that which befell an Englishman on the East Coast of Africa is seldom met with outside the realms of fiction. While hunting in the jungle he fell asleep, was brought before a tribal king, fought that potentate, became ruler because of the attachment for him of a sacred monkey, and entered into full royal possession, including the dusky harem. His rule was of short duration, for, according to his own account, the "sixteen wives" practically hounded him off the throne. His escape also makes thrilling reading.

The story of Mr. Hugh Edward Gillespie is told by The Manchester Dispatch. Mr. Gillespie is a native of Newcastle, who, after serving an apprenticeship at Hawthorn, entered the service of the Prince Line nine years ago, and at the time of his adventure was, as he still is, second engineer on the Royal Prince, and had long nourished the desire to have some big game shooting.

At Mombasa he obtained the necessary leave, and, with a guide, set out for the jungle. Coming on the trail of elephants, they followed it up until the tracks became stronger. The guide suggested their separating so as to come on the game from two sides, and this was done.

Along, Gillespie followed the trail until he felt he was either lost or in danger of it, whereupon he tried to get his guide by shouting, but no answer came. Tired, weak and hungry, he sat down to contemplate the situation, but fell asleep.

He was suddenly awakened by a number of natives, who took possession of his rifle and revolver, and marched him to their village and before their king.

The natives low-towed to their monarch, and tried to make the Englishman do the same. This he refused to do, and, as they persisted, he lost his temper and struck out with such effect that three of the natives were on the ground.

The king, evidently incensed at the treatment of his men, made a blind rush for Gillespie. As he came on with his head down, like a bull, Gillespie stepped aside and delivered a telling blow which laid him on the ground. No fewer than six times did the savage make similar bull-like rushes, each time to receive exactly the same felling blows.

Then he tried close quarters, and for fully half an hour the two fought, wrestled, and wrangled on the ground, each getting a blow in when the opportunity offered. At last Gillespie delivered the "knock-out," and while he was recovering his breath and generally pulling himself together the strangest thing happened.

A little monkey, which had been sitting at the side of the throne, ran to Gillespie and climbed on his shoulder.

The natives prostrated themselves face down on the ground and gave utterance to weird cries.

The rest of the story is best told in Mr. Gillespie's own words.

"An old chap, with a big staff, the head carved in the shape of a strange bird, came towards me and low-towed. Then he pointed to me and mentioned towards the throne. I then began to realize that I was chosen to be their king. I walked towards the throne, and the natives chanted a weird heathen song. When I sat down, with the monkey still on my shoulder, they cheered so loud that they brought the king back to consciousness. He took a good look at me upon the throne, and fled madly into the forest.

"I was duly made king by the chief medicine men. I soon learned how it all came about. The monkey, it seems, was a sort of personification of the god which lived in the depth of the jungle, whom the natives worshipped, and when it jumped on my shoulder they accepted that as a sign that their god chose me as their ruler.

"But my troubles began very soon. All because of the royal wives, of whom there were sixteen. The man who finds himself hemmed by one wife is to be pitied, but think of a man hemmed by sixteen! That was my case.

"These wives wore strings of bones' teeth as necklaces, and they were always wanting more. I sent the hunters of the tribe out to get more, but they were unsuccessful, and my wives yammered and scolded day and night in consequence. After I had been king of the tribe for about three weeks I concluded that the job was not to me, liking, and I decided to escape.

"One night, when the sixteen females had negged me until my head was swimming, I slipped out of the hut, stole through the village, and made for the woods. I had not gone far when I heard a noise which made my blood cold.

"I thought on my trail, but when I looked back I saw it was only the sacred monkey. That monkey was my salvation, for it took me in the right direction. About sunset next day, when I was famishing for food and water, I came on the camp of an English hunting party.

"Well, to make a long story short, the Englishmen guided me back to Mombasa, and when I went on board the Royal Prince the crew thought I was a ghost.

"It is a strange story, but it is true. And if Sophie—that is the monkey's name now—could only speak, she would confirm every word of it. I did not inherit royalty. I had it thrust upon me, and I have had sufficient of it."

A Perpetual Sacred Fire.
In the peninsula of Abhebron, formerly belonging to Russia, but now a part of Russia, there is a perpetual or, rather, what the natives call an eternal sacred fire, which is known to have been burning continually for more than 2,000 years. It rises from an irregular orifice of about twelve feet in depth and 150 feet square. The flames, which are constant, rise to a height of from six to eight feet, unaccompanied by smoke or disagreeable smell, waving back and forth with the wind like a field of golden grain.

SPLENDID BASEBALL MAKE IT YOURSELF

Some Leather, Cork, Scrap Rubber and Nibb! Fingers the Only Essentials

Any boy can make a regulation league ball if he will follow a few simple instructions. Any old piece of cork will do, cut into the shape of a ball three-quarters of an inch in diameter. Then it should be wound with strips of rubber. An old overcoat or a water bag or the inner tube of a bicycle or automobile tire will do. An ounce of the rubber should be used the strips cut narrow and wound tightly.

The yarn is then wound around the rubber turn the ball around instead of wrapping the yarn around it. The winding should be done tightly and should be continued until the ball measures 1 1/2 inches in circumference. Then wind around the cotton cord until half an inch more is added to the circumference and finish with yarn until a circumference of about 8 1/2 inches is reached.

New you are ready to cut the home.

SKETCH OF HOW PAPER SHOULD BE MARKED AND CUT TO MAKE PATTERN FOR BASEBALL COVER.

Hide cover. A simple way to do this is to draw a straight line 1 1/2 inches long on a piece of paper. Divide the line in half and then divide each half into six equal parts. Through the center of the line draw a short line 1 inch long, half an inch on either side of the long line. On the next division point draw a line 1 1/2 inches long on the next a line 1 1/2 inches long; then on the next a line 3 1/2 inches long; on the fourth division point a line 1 1/2 inches long and on the last another line 3 1/2 inches long.

Now connect the outside ends of all of these lines with a gentle curved line, that at the very end should be an arc of about 45 degrees and the whole drawing will be approximately a half of one of the two parts of the cover, as shown in the sketch.

The section should be folded exactly across the middle, along the 1-inch line and thus the two halves of the one section can be cut exactly even and only one need be marked. Then lay this pattern of paper down on another piece of paper and cut to the second section. Make both sections a little larger than necessary, as they can be trimmed to fit the ball.

When the paper patterns have been cut fit them to the ball before touching the horsehide with the scissors. Leave a margin of 1/8 of an inch between the edges of the cover to allow for the stretching of the leather. When the cover has been cut seek it in water and then stretch it on the ball covered with a prepared cotton thread, to be obtained from any sporting goods dealer, rather than with a shoe-maker's waxed, as the waxed one will stretch the leather. When the work is finished the result will be a perfect representation of a regulation league ball in circumference and 5 ounces in weight.

Money for Inventions.
A man named Deacon pasted several little rings about the hole in a shipping tag and thus made an "eye" that would not pull out, and got a fortune for it.

One man cleared $100,000 inventing a tin can.

Another invented an opener for cans and cleared nearly a million.

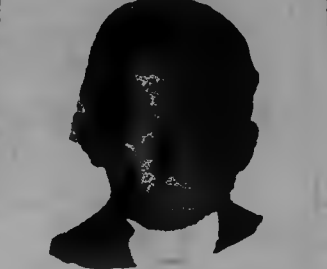

Still another invented the net-opening can, the one with a lug, and cleared up a million.

NATURE PLANTED A SILVER TOOTH

Strange Case of a Boy in Whose Mouth a Curious Molar Grew

Four hundred dentists from three states looked into the mouth of 8-year-old John Schittker of Toledo, Ohio, prodded with sharp instruments at one of John's teeth, shook their heads and turned away. They questioned John's mother for an hour or so, but confessed that they could not solve the mystery of a baby tooth.

JOHN SCHITTKER IN WHOSE JAW A SILVER TOOTH GREW.

John's first tooth was filled with silver or some similar metal when it burst through the child's gum. The case was reported by Dr. Lyman L. Barbaugh, a Toledo dentist. Four hundred other dentists who were attending a convention at Toledo laughed at the local doctor's statements until they were shown.

The child is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Schittker, who live on a farm. He was brought before the clinic by Dr. Barbaugh. The doctors examined the tooth and then questioned the mother. She told the following story:

"About eight months before the birth of the baby, Dr. Barbaugh filled with silver a tooth for me. When the baby began cutting his teeth, the first one to break through had a shiny patch on it. When I caught the gleam of the metal, I thought he had a pin in his mouth. I called my husband and we brought the baby to Dr. Barbaugh. He scratched the molar patch in the tooth with an instrument."

"Then he told us that the patch was a kind of metal, probably silver. He said that the mysterious manifestation was perhaps brought about by pre-natal influence."

"It is the strangest case ever heard of," was the composite opinion of the dentists.

Dr. Barbaugh said: "The body has enough metal in it for such a manifestation and it doesn't seem impossible for nature's laboratory to deposit it all in this tooth."

Dr. Barbaugh watched the development of the tooth from the time the molar burst through the child's gum. He says that he intends to await developments until the child loses its tooth. Then he intends to secure the molar for further examination.

WHAT NOT TO DO WHEN VISITING

Some Hints for Making Your Visit Enjoyable to Your Hostess and Yourself

The popular woman visitor is a tactful individual who has the knack of so morgan her individuality in that of the family of which she is a temporary member that she scarcely seems a visitor, yet she never makes the terrible mistake of usurping family privileges.

She is not late for breakfast or any other meal. She does not give orders to servants or in any way attempt to change the household routine.

When she is asked where she would like to go or what she would like to do she answers frankly. There is nothing more irritating than the "Oh, I don't care in the least!" or "Whatever you like" reply. The desirable visitor exercises her tact, however, in this as in all other things and takes care not to suggest fatiguing excursions to a hostess less youthfully active than herself or force a host perhaps not too well endowed with this world's goods into needless expense.

If you desire to be a pleasing visitor don't be too energetically bent on "helping." If you keep your eyes open it will soon become evident if there are small services you can render any member of the household.

But the visitor who insists on cooking some particular dish or "doing the housework"—in both cases requiring half an hour's attendance getting her property together—is an unmitigated nuisance.

Don't monopolize your host's special chair or use his writing table without his direct suggestion. Don't litter the living rooms with your possessions or leave your own room untidy. Don't, just because you are visiting, sit down long. Arrange to go walking or "write letters" in your bedroom for an hour or two a day.

Remembering these things, you also will be of the visitors whose visits, unlike those of angels, are not few and far between.

WATCH IN A PEARL

France can boast of some of the most artistic watchmakers in the world, and one of them has accomplished a wonderful feat by making a watch whose case is a single pearl.
This timepiece has just been finished by a Paris jeweler, after fifteen months of the most exacting labor.
Cutting the pearl was not the least difficult thing about the novel watch.
The pearl was three-fifths of an inch in diameter. The works of the watch are considerably less than half an inch in diameter, and this in proportion; yet they were made with as much precision as a full-grown watch, and have all the up-to-date improvements.

There is no danger of these pearl watches becoming common. The cost, which included the price of the pearl,
was $4,000.

Exports More Wheat Than Any Other Country in the World

Agriculture in the Argentine Republic is far away the most important of its industries, and it is increasing in importance every year. It was not until the year of 1877 that sufficient wheat was grown to supply the needs of the small population of roughly 2,500,000 people. To-day, little more than 30 years later, the area under this cereal alone comprises about 15,000,000 acres, producing over 5, 000,000 tons, and each year sees a substantial increase in the acreage cultivated.
Attracted by the excellence of the climate and the fertility of the soil,
the invasion of capital—both foreign and native—goes steadily on, and assisted by the ever-increasing stream of immigration, by the construction of new railway lines, and the subdivision
and colonization of vast tracts of land, the development of agriculture in the Argentine is phenomenal. The lands cultivated are spread over so vast an extent of country, in regions so far distant from each other—that a total loss of the harvest in any one year is hardly possible.
The Argentine Republic exports more wheat, more maize and far more linseed than any other country in the world, and when it is considered that only about 12 per cent. of the total available agricultural land is under the plow—or say 45,000,000 acres out of a possible 375,000,000 acres—some idea may be formed of the future of this country. The value of the year's exports of agricultural produce may be taken to be about $300,000,000 gold.
The pastoral industry comes second only to agriculture in importance.

LITTLE ECONOMIES FOR THE HOME

Storing the Soap
Always buy soap, both for household and toilet purposes, in large quantities if you possibly can and store it away until required. This allows it to harden, and you will find that it will last almost as long again as it would otherwise do. Store it in the same way, as they last much longer than if used when new.

To Dry Clean Gloves
While kid gloves that are not very badly soiled can be quite well cleaned
at home with a mixture of finely powdered fuller's earth and alum, it should be rubbed well in with a clean piece of flannel and then thoroughly brushed and shaken out.

To Save the Linen
If you want your linen to wear well
try this plan: Instead of folding tablecloths and sheets lengthways, as is usually done, fold them the other way, occasionally, as they last far longer
if the folds are sometimes changed in this way than if always "folded in the same place."

New Stockings
New stockings will last almost twice as long without wearing into holes if they are shrunk before being worn.
Wash them in warm water to which a little ammonia has been added, then dry them out and they will be delighted with the result. Silk olives should be treated in the same way.

Gas Mantles
Don't throw away broken incandescent mantles. Crush them up into a powder, store in a small box and use for cleaning jewelry. It gives a up in did polish and does not scratch the surface of the gold or silver.

Artificial Flowers
Crumpled artificial flowers may be made to look quite fresh again by holding them over the steam of a hot bathe for a few minutes, then pull them out into shape and shake them until they are quite dry. This treatment works wonders with velvet flowers.

A PRESIDENTIAL TRIAD.

Haiti's Recent Uprising is Only One of a Long Series of Outrages.
Whether the gunpowder which blew up the Haitian National Palace and killed President Cincinnatus Leconte, was touched off by accident or by design, the fact was the administration's.
The police authorities were unable to clear up the mystery immediately after the explosion, and while the enemies of Leconte were suspected, there was not evidence enough uncovered
to justify the arrest of anybody.
A paper draws the conclusion that an administration palace containing powder magazines and large stores of arms is in itself a confession that Haiti is a Government which derived its powers from some other source than the consent of the governed. This bit of recent history in which Leconte figured conspicuously is well worth reading:
Leconte was Minister of the Interior under President Nord Alexis, whose bloody reign of tyranny came to an end in exile. But for the protection he begged from a foreign warship Nord Alexis would have been torn to fragments in revenge for his savage and summary executions of citizens
on the mere suspicion of disloyalty.
President Leconte was the man who carried out the orders of Nord Alexis.
Upon the downfall of that petty tyrant he was compelled to seek safety in exile. President Simon, who obeyed his title to the Presidency by the overthrow of Nord Alexis, was subsequently challenged by Leconte, who, from his refuge in Jamaica, plotted, and a German consular saved him from death.
He promptly went about another revolution, and next time he succeeded in overthrowing Simon. Following the long-established precedent, he declared himself President pro tem, and ordered an election. The people who looked on him as an oppressor and an usurper, for any other choice would be an invitation to civil war, elected him President of Haiti for three years,
where who how to the machine, always "vote right." In consequence of this cowardice in the face of a military despotism their Government is as corrupt and as oppressive as the President knows how to make it.
It is not a matter of race that makes Haiti a political puzzle on the face of the earth. It is the lack of education.
The term education is here employed in its larger and best sense, for the primary and most important purpose of education is to make schools, but to make exemplary citizens who will be educated to proper standards of morality and of patriotism.
When the average citizen grows up with the idea that government is merely grafting privileges whereby the officials in power are licensed to levy tax and tribute, public and private, without authorization of any law but the law of greed, government necessarily becomes a travesty and the subject of government merely slaves.
This is a tragic condemnation for Haiti. The early white colonies quickly exterminated the aboriginal inhabitants of whom they made slaves, and Africans were imported to take their places. Again the greed of the rapacious white man overreached itself, for soon the black population was several times larger than the white and the negroes began to ask themselves why thousands of them should be the slaves or cattle of hundreds of whites and be denied all privileges as men and women.
They appealed to France, which became owner of the island by the treaty of Ryswick, but France had problems at home that absorbed her energies and the French planters had interference with the colony. France in case of an inclination to consider the petition. There being no hope of help, the slaves rose in rebellion in 1791 and slaughtered their taskmasters with fine enthusiasm.

THE TIMES' ARTICLE STIRRED STEAMBOAT MEN TO ACTION

Strong Petition Sent to the Minister of Railways and Canals, Regarding Dangerous Conditions on the Canal

A few days ago the attention of the Times was called to the imperfect work which is being done in certain portions of the Trent Valley Canal, by which its main object is detrimentally affected. As is generally known, but more particularly by practical steamboat men, the approaches to artificial stretches of the canal, are, under present conditions, absolutely dangerous and in heavy winds, especially when river currents affect such approaches almost impossible of safe entrance for strings of barges in tow. At the respective entrances to such portions of this waterway there is nothing to identify or designate the proper channel. In response to representations made in the Times, the various steamboat owners along the route of the canal have addressed a petition to the Minister of Railways and Canals, calling attention to the difficulty and asking for relief. Below is given a copy of this petition which explains its purport, viz.:-

To The Honourable the Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa.

Sir:-The undersigned owners of steamboats and barges navigating the waters of the Trent Valley Canal beg respectfully to represent:

1. By reason of the rapid currents at different points on the several rivers, especially at and near the dams and approaches to the locks, navigation, particularly of barges, is difficult.
2. To improve and facilitate navigation at the different points where it has been and may be necessary to make an artificial channel by deepening there should be visible banks or other similar device to prevent barges in tow being forced out of the channel against the rapid edges of rock cuttings or into shallow water, in the absence of such embankments or device there cannot be constant grounding of vessels and barges whereby the navigation would necessarily be greatly impeded and retarded, injury to vessels, and consequently great increase in insurance rates.
3. The Trent Valley Canal is and is intended to be essentially a large canal; the handling of barges in tow upon the river reaches must of necessity be more or less difficult on account of cross winds at the different points where artificial channels are required, and this difficulty can only be overcome by erecting visible

NAVAL POLICY IN HOCHELAGA?

Montreal Politicians Expect Announcement From Premier During Campaign

Montreal, Oct. 31.—That Premier Borden will not wait until opening of Parliament to announce his naval policy, but will make it known during the campaign in Hochelaga, is the general expectation expressed to-day in local Government circles. Premier Borden is to address a meeting in Victoria Hall between Nov. 12th and 15th, in the interests of Hon. Louis Coderre, when it is generally regarded as certain he will state the Government's intentions. Mr. Borden has taken the position that he would make no announcement until after Parliament had met, but this will not be until Nov. 21, while the contest in Hochelaga takes place two days earlier, so that politicians expect a definite announcement in this campaign.

POSTAL SERVICE BEING MUCH IMPROVED

Reorganization of the Rural Mail Delivery System— The Travelling Post- Master Makes His Appearance.

(Special to The Times).

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The development of the country and the rapid extension of the areas of settlement is calling for corresponding increases in and extensions of the postal service. An idea of the rapid strides made, is given by the fact that almost 600 new post offices have been opened in different parts of the country since January 1, 1912. The number is increasing monthly for the monthly average from July 1 to October 1 has been at the rate of sixty. The grouping together of new inhabitants necessitates the establishment of post offices. The majority of those being opened are in the west, but the older parts of the country are not being neglected. Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime provinces receive their share according to the increase of population, an increase specially noticeable in the cities.

NEW WESTERN OFFICE

An idea of the development of the west may be given in the number of new post offices established in the Prairie provinces and the Far West in one month. Out of seventy-six new offices opened on July 1, fifty were in points in the Prairie provinces and the Far West. The same ratio has been kept on August 1, September 1 and October 1 of this year.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE

The department is also entering to the needs of the people in the rapid extension of the rural mail delivery system. By an act passed last session a superintendent was appointed over the rural mail delivery branch. His work was to specialize on that branch of the department's work. This has been successful and beginning with November 1 of the present year, the rural mail carriers will be equipped with a supply of postal orders and stamps and authorized to take registered letters so that frequent visits on the part of inhabitants to the post offices in outlying districts will be unnecessary, with a consequent saving of time and labor. The result will be a former rural mail carrier transformed into a travelling postmaster.

Reorganization of the Rural Mail Delivery System— The Travelling Post- Master Makes His Appearance.

DANGER OF WAR NOT AN ILLU- SION

Martial Virtues Play Vital Part in Honor of Every People MUST BE SELF RELIANT

Who Will Be Bold Enough to Say Force Was Never a Remedy Asks Winston Churchill.

London, Oct. 31.—Mr. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in a speech at Sheffield last night, said there were many signs which encouraged the hope that the long, dismal chapter of human history unfolded in the Balkans will be closed forever when the present war is ended by the united action of the Powers.

Force As a Remedy.

When faced with the explosive situation now proceeding, would be bold enough, asked Mr. Churchill, to say that force was never a remedy? Who would be bold enough to say that martial virtues do not play a vital part in the health and honor of every people? Who would be vain enough to suppose that the long antagonisms of history and time could in all circumstances be adjusted and made into compact by the smooth, superficial conventions of politicians and ambassadors?

"We in England sometimes have been assured by persons who profess to know that the danger of war has become an illusion, and that this danger would not exist at all, but for the machinations of statesmen and diplomats, for the intrigue of financiers, aided by the groundless suspicions of generals and admirals, fomented by the sensationalism of the press."

In Spite of Them All.

"Well, here is a war which has arisen from none of these causes, in spite of all that rulers and diplomats could do."

Referring to Great Britain's attitude, Mr. Churchill said: "We can survey our past without a pang, survey our future without a grudge, but we must be prepared for all eventualities. It is good to be patient; it is good to be circumspect; it is good to be peace-loving; and that is not enough; we must be strong; we must be self-reliant, we must be united."

THREE DAY BATTLE EXTENDED OVER A FRONT OF 31 MILES

Turks Retreated in Disorder to Tchortu, Leaving Many Dead and Wounded on the Field—Bulgarians Staking All on a Decisive Engagement

London, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian army has completely defeated a Turkish force estimated at 200,000 men at Lule Burgas, after three days' terrible fighting, according to a news agency despatch from Sofia. The Bulgarian cavalry is pursuing the retreating Turks.

The Turkish army after its defeat at Lule Burgas, retreated toward Tichatalja Adrianople is completely hemmed in by the Bulgarian troops.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian army has completely routed the main Turkish army under Nazim Pasha. The Turks fled in disorder, leaving many killed and wounded on the field.

The battle, which is regarded as the most important engagement since the beginning of the war, lasted three entire days. It extended along the line from Lule Burgas eastward to Serai. The Turkish front was over 31 miles long.

The Ottoman troops retreated to Tchortu, about 21 miles to the south of the positions, from which they were driven by the Bulgarians.

Squadrons Bombarded Bulgarians.

Constantinople, Oct. 31.—It is rumored here that the Bulgarian troops are being bombarded by a Turkish squadron on the Black Sea coast, and under cover of the firing of a body of Turkish troops has been landed.

French Fleet to Syria.

Paris, Oct. 31.—In view of the danger threatening foreigners in Turkey the second division of the flying squadron of the French fleet has been ordered to sail from Toulon this evening at full speed to the Syrian coast.

London, Oct. 31.—Great Britain has ordered a warship to proceed to Salonika for the protection of British lives and property there, and the action of the other powers in the matter is under consideration.

Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, stated to-day in the House of Commons, that when the military situation in the Balkan Peninsula permitted, the powers would take steps to insure a durable peace between the belligerents.

NOW NO. 62738 BECKER'S NAME

Cell Which Former Police Lieutenant Occupies Is a Small One

Ossington, N.Y., Oct. 31.—Convict 62,738, under which number former Lieutenant of Police Charles Becker is now known in the old gray prison on the hill south of this town, awoke in his cell in the death house this morning after what the guards declare was a night of perfect sleep. To-day he begins the routine that will be his from now until he is either granted a new trial by the Court of Appeals, or is led through the "little door" into the square chamber adjacent to be shocked to death.

The convicted murderer of gambler Herman Rosenthal was very confident that he would be granted a new trial, and he assured Principal Keeper Connaghton, who is in direct charge of the condemned prisoners, that he would give no trouble to anyone.

Cell Is Small One.

Although Becker donned the prison uniform to-day, it was stated that he would be given his own blue serge suit and his underwear as soon as it has been passed through the prison laundry and been disinfected under the rules. Beyond the brief period during which he will be permitted exercise in the corridor under the eye of a guard, Becker must spend all his time in the 8 by 10 cell assigned to him. The lights never go out in the death house. Day and night they burn in front of the cells where the condemned are held, so that the two keepers always on duty can closely watch the men whose lives have been declared forfeit by the State.

HEALTH MATTERS TO BE IMPROVED SOON

Toronto, Oct. 31.—The securing of a general sanitary survey by the Ontario Government dealing particularly with water, sewage and drainage for every city, town or village in the Province, with the exception of centres of over fifty thousand population is to be embarked upon by the Provincial Health authorities through the district officers of health

W.C.T.U WARNS LIBERAL PARTY

Must Not Insult Intelligence Of Voters DEFENDS MR. ST. CLAIR

Decline to Hear English Suffragette
Speaker While Approving Woman Suffrage.

Renfrew, Oct. 31.—"To array the Women's Christian Temperance Union against the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage."

The foregoing clause is embodied in a resolution drawn up by the committee on resolutions of the Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union, in session this morning. It is a stand with regard to licensed bars, clubs, etc., and the resolution continued:

"We further deem it wise to sound a note of warning in connection with the East Middlesex contest, where one of the candidates chosen was notorious for the temperance people, first, because of his personal habits, and secondly, because of his previous relationship to the temperance question."

"Therefore resolved, that if the Liberal party, as organized in the various constituencies, desires the support of the temperance people it must not insult their intelligence and loyalty by candidates whose association with the bar, and whose past active hostility to measures of temperance reform would render their pledged values to any sincere supporter of the temperance cause."

House of Commons, that when the military situation in the Balkan Peninsula permitted, the powers would take steps to insure a durable peace between the belligerents.

TURKS KILLED AN AVIATOR

Russian, Who Was Reconnoitering Over Adrianople for Bulgars Killed by Use of Shrapnel

Paris, Oct. 31.—Aviators were greatly excited to-day by news of the death of the Russian aviator, Popoff, shot while making a serial reconnaissance for the Bulgars over Adrianople.

Not only was Popoff the first aviator killed in actual warfare, but a flying machine is not as safe from shots below as had been imagined. The theory hitherto has been that an aviator, flying high and swiftly, practically could not be hit.

Another theory which has been upset is that massed firing by a large number of riflemen would be effective if anything could be, against a hostile flying machine. The Turks tried this, it was reported, against Popoff, failed to hit him, and then brought him down with shrapnel.

BLACKLISTER BLAMED NOT THE CHOP SUEY

John Doherty, of Hastings, whom in the Stewart House, a temperance place, on Hunter street, occupied a room with Ralph McQuade. McQuade had an overcoat worth $40. Now John first broke the 10th and then the 8th Commandment. John fell from grace and captured the garment by "French Leave." McQuade liked the overcoat and coat in dear anyhow this winter, so Doherty was pinched. At yesterday's police court he pleaded guilty to the theft and was remanded for a week.

Bill Doyle is on the blacklist, so is his room mate Bill Anthony. Now it would appear that Anthony must have followed in the footsteps of the "Irishman" and met a complicitous stranger who has given him a flask of whiskey. Anyhow Doyle, who came out of the Chinese restaurant drunk, was man enough not to blame his bag on Chop Suey. He said that Anthony and his little flask led to his tangle-legged state.

The boys who used No. 22 artillery at the Collegiate Institute recently were let go with a warning.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Colonel Roosevelt is around again, actively engaged in the work of the campaign. He feels like a bull moose that has escaped from the hunters with a bullet in his side.

When a young hopeful upstart asked his father the meaning of the term, "Honest Injun," he was informed that it means the Indians have not yet gone into politics.

It is said that Thomas Edison's ambition now is to invent something that will cause him to be regarded as the world's greatest benefactor. Let us pray for him to try to find this hand at a price reducer.

In view of the fact that the incident of Governor Wilson sewing a button on his coat has appealed strongly to the favor of the women voters of six states we momentarily expect to hear an announcement from Oyster Bay that the Hon. Ted Roosevelt is knitting a pair of stockings for his wife.

A Chicago dispatch notes that, owing to increased cost of living and decreased prices of safety razors, the barbers of the Windy City, will, on Nov. 15th, boost the price of hair-cutting from 25 cents to 35 cents. In the city one barber made a cut from 35 cents to 15 cents for similar service. However, the cut price seems to be the only indication that the originator of this reduced scale is doing business in his tonorial department.

You Can't Cure Catarrh By Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrup Tablets and Sprays Bicken the Stomach But Don't Reach the Glands of Catarrh, Hence Their Failure to Help.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to root out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhosone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhosone mix with the breath and descend through the throat down the bronchial tubes to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piny essence that cures, heals and cures.

Catarrhosone has entirely displaced the old-fashioned remedies, such as cough syrups, sprays, tablets, and sedative powders. It contains none of the opium, chloral and drowsy narcotics so commonly found in liquid cough and catarrhal remedies. Couldn't Breathe—"Catarrhosone" Cured.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal Catarrh than I suffered a month ago" writes Mr. G. E. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W.I. "My head ached terribly, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Two minutes inhaling Catarrhosone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhosone every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhosone quickly cured me. I am well over since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhosone, but being a good remedy, it is imitated. Beware of the substitute. Large Catarrhosone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhosone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LAZY HUSBANDS

What should be done with men who are too lazy to support their wives and families? asks the Christian Guardian. This was one of the subjects discussed at the recent Canadian Conference of Corrections and Charities in Montreal. All the Societies had complaints to make of the burden thrown upon them by such men, who either run away from their families in order to escape the responsibility or else lie around and refuse to work. In either case the family must shift for itself or else be supported by charity. All were agreed that somehow the lazy husband should be compelled to support his family. But how? That is the difficulty! The present method of sending a man to jail is condemned on all sides as a failure. It does not support the family, and in many cases it is not even a punishment to the worthless husband. If it were possible to make such men work in jail and work hard enough to pay their own board and support their family also, the solution would be simple enough. But it seems difficult to make the man work hard enough to earn his own board. The Hamilton Times suggests that a good whipping might help a little, and it is just possible that it might. It may be that the man who is afraid of work would be even more afraid of a whipping, and the incorrigibly lazy might recognize the advisability of self-reformation. We don't think that the husband who would support his family only because he was afraid of a whipping would be a little nearer to it than the man who did not support them at all.

HON. F. D. MONK

The resignation of Hon. F. D. Monk as Minister of Public Works has come about under circumstances which are creditable to the Government and at the same time creditable to Mr. Monk. These circumstances involved, on the part of the Government, a determination to observe a promise made by him as an individual member prior to the formation of the present Government. Mr. Monk's resignation was effected without bitterness on either side, but on the contrary, with the most friendly personal feelings and with no diminution of that mutual good will existing prior to Mr. Monk's decision to resign. Mr. Monk considered himself personally pledged to a reference of any naval policy to the people. When the Government as a whole reached the conclusion, following the visit of the Prime Minister and some of his colleagues to England, that the situation in Great Britain called for immediate aid, Mr. Monk found himself unable to agree to a measure of aid without the question being first referred to the people. At the same time he recognized the naval situation to be grave and critical. As an honorable man Mr. Monk was bound to observe his pledge and his course must have been followed by any other minister similarly situated. The other members of the Government had made no pledge to refer the question of immediate aid to the people. They could not see eye to eye with Mr. Monk, while thoroughly appreciating his position. Under these circumstances Mr. Monk took the only course open to him. To ignore his previous attitude was, of course, out of the question. He goes out of the Government in obedience to a sense of duty, and this has entitled him to the respect alike of political friend and opponent. At the same time the circumstances of his withdrawal have crystallized the belief that the Government intends to propose, for immediate action by Parliament, a strong measure of effective aid to Great Britain in a grave and critical moment.

MUSIC & DRAMA

THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" appears at the Grand to-morrow, matinee and night. A Southern romantic play of great power and charm, by Eugene Walter, from the book of the same name by John Fox, Jr., the author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," the production has been rendered most vivid in motion and color by a gorgeous scenic embellishment.

There was need of an artist of deep imagination and virile style, to catch and reproduce the spirit of Mr. Fox's great story, and of Eugene Walter's equally great dramatization. Wholly out of the common it is a play that, for the first time in the history of dramatic art, reproduced scenically and in the spoken play, the very spirit and atmosphere of the people and scenes of one of the most romantic spots in the United States, the interior of the western-most range of Appalachian Mountains. Mr. Walter has vividly impressed the charm of June's romantic love for Hale in a graphic, dramatic and picturesque manner. He has taken the love story and presented it with vividness, sympathy and enthusiasm, and his conception is at once felicitous and novel, and the execution is in every way worthy of the conception, for every scene has a distinct and individual charm, full of feeling and beautiful imagery. The strong New York company representing this play have made it one of the season's big successes. They have been received and applauded by thousands of readers of the book.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC MEANS

The old saying that "There's nothing new under the sun" has once more been disproved. The allied science of materia medica and surgery have made wonderful strides in the past half century. Their progress has led scientific men and deep thinkers interested in human disease and its cure to consider radical methods of alleviating suffering without the use of opiates or drugs. "Chiropractic" is a science, art and philosophy. It is the art of adjusting by hand all partially displaced vertebrae and articulations of the framework of the body. It realizes that as the brain is the dynamo of the body, and the nerves the cable conveying the power, so that should the vertebrae be partially out of place, the life giving and controlling power, is by pressure cut off. The chiropractor frees this power by adjusting the misplaced bones. Dr. Ira L. Fenton, 322 Reid street, has opened an office for the practice of this science. Her motto is: "No drugs, no knife, consultation free."

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 90 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and new regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

The Rev. Dr. M. P. Talling and Mrs. Talling, Toronto, passed through the city yesterday en route for Montreal, where they will sail on Saturday for the old country, visiting Eastern Palestine and Egypt later.

Mr. Herb. J. Henley, secretary of the A. R. Williams Machinery Company, Toronto, and general manager of the Winnipeg branch, with Mrs. Henley and son Harold, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Skitch for the past few days, left yesterday for Lindsay.

Mr. Herb. J. Henley, secretary of the A. R. Williams Machinery Company, of Toronto, and general manager of their Winnipeg branch, with Mrs. Henley and son Harold, returned this evening to Lindsay, after spending a few days the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Skitch, city.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.
Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While such fund is only $50,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directors are composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

Value of Friendship in Business.
The salesman who was so formerly intent on getting orders by means of the "happy days" system of claims and driftings now courts the friendship of his customers on utilitarian lines. He tries to make suggestions that will be of use. He essays an idea or drops a few words intended to do the customer good. Not infrequently an expert salesman will study the methods of a customer and even the methods in use in his establishment before approaching him, so as to be in a position to talk intelligently on his needs and perhaps spring a new idea that will attract attention. Then the customer is able to be induced to buy in a friendly way, which is the best method of securing a new business and keeping it.

Alexandra's Royal Relatives.
Probably no royal lady of any time has been so intimately related to such a large number of kings and queens as Queen Alexandra. Her father and mother were King and Queen of Denmark, her husband was King Edward VII., her son is now King of the Hellenes. Her daughter is Queen of Norway, a sister was for some years Queen of Russia and is now Dowager Empress, one brother was the late King of Denmark, another brother is King of the Hellenes, one of her nephews is Czar of Russia, another nephew is now King of Denmark, another nephew, who is also her son-in-law, is King of Norway, while a fourth is destined to be King of the Hellenes.

Wife, "on Visiting Terms."
"We love each other dearly, but we want to be divorced." Such was the fervent wish expressed in the Circuit Court at Montreal by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Malouf, a Syrian couple. With his wife hanging affectionately on his arm, Malouf declared that they were happily married in Syria nineteen years ago, but that they had no children. His wife wanted him to marry another woman, and she would then be satisfied to remain on visiting terms. The judge advised the couple to apply to the Senate.

A Man of Many Tongues.
Abbas Hima, the Khedive of Egypt, owes much of his success as a ruler to his linguistic attainments, which are remarkable even for a monarch. During the course of an "audience day" it frequently happens that his highness discusses questions of state with the British diplomatic agents in fluent English, with the French representative in equally perfect French and with the German in German. Later he will conduct all affairs with the Sultan's representative in Turkish, then preside over a council of his ministry, where all the details of policy are discussed in Arabic. And at night he will be at the theatre listening to opera in Italian.

What is Your Vocabulary?
Shakespeare produced all his plays with about 15,000 different words; Milton's were comprised about 8,000; and the old Testament's limit is 5,543. A person of good education seldom exceeds 4,000, while many people are limited to about 300.

STALLION INSPECTION UNDER ONTARIO ACT

Inspectors, under the Stallion Registration Act, for the purpose of inspecting stallions as their owners desire, will visit the following places on the dates respectively set forth, viz: Oshawa, 9 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 31st; Fenton Falls, 9 a.m., Monday, November 4th; Boboyegon, 9.30 a.m., Tuesday, November 5th; Peterborough, 9 a.m., Wednesday, November 6th; Lakeland, 3 p.m., Wednesday, November 6th; Dorro, 9 a.m., Thursday, November 7th; Norwood, 9 a.m., Friday, November 8th.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Postmaster-General, will be received at Ottawa until Noon, on Friday, the 12th December, 1912, for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years, six times per week, OVER RURAL MAIL ROUTE No. 4, from Peterborough, Ontario, to commence at the pleasure of the Postmaster-General.

DISPOSAL OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 60 acres, wholly owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchase homestead in certain districts. Price $5.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 60 acres and erect house worth $300.00.

SEALED TENDERS marked on the envelope "Tender for Extension, Long Branch Rifle Range, Toronto," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, will be received until noon, 4th November, 1912, for the construction of Additional Targets at Long Branch Rifle Range.

Specifications may be seen and full particulars obtained at the office of the General Officer Commanding 2nd Division, Toronto, Ont., and the Director of Engineer Services, Headquarters, Ottawa.

Tenders must be made on the form supplied by the Department and accompanied by an accepted cheque on a Canadian Chartered Bank, for ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence which amount will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into or fails to complete the contract in accordance with his tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

EOGENE PIERCE, Colonel, Deputy Minister, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, October 7, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if inserted without authority from the Department.

A Flea Collector.
The life ambition of one of the world's richest men is—fleas. He possesses them from everywhere—fleas from the Arctic and fleas from Australia. Big fleas, little fleas, medium-sized ones, fleas with spots and fleas without. Hon. Charles Rothschild, son of the late Lord Rothschild, and a member of the richest family in the world, loves them all and has resolved his life into one grand thing—collecting the refrain is fleas, fleas, fleas.

In the zoological museum owned by his brother, Walter Rothschild, at Thuring, a little town in Herefordshire, 30 miles from London, Charles Rothschild wanders among his flea cabinets, gazing over his rare specimens, planning the capture of more. For 15 years he has pursued fleas persistently, internationally, paying large sums or small sums to achieve his desire, until now his flea collection ranks as the greatest in the world.

A Queer Australian Well.
A curious form of water hole is found in places in western Australia, dry by day but yielding an abundant supply of water at night. The flow of water is produced by hissing steam soundings of rushing air. The phenomenon is discussed by Dr. Malcolm MacLaren, who has located and examined one of these wells.

He found that the water supply occurred in a long, narrow trench, at the bottom of which was a thin plate of gneiss, separated by a cavity from the main rock mass beneath. Apparently the heat of the days causes this plate to expand in the form of a depression, into which the water retreats. When it cools and contracts at night, forces first air and then water back into the trench.

AUSTRALIAN PEARL FISHING.

Dangerous Occupation of the Diver and His Rewards.

Broome, on the northwest coast of western Australia, bids fair to become a veritable Eldorado for those engaged in the pearl and shell trade, for pearls have been recently found there. Unlike the Ceylon and Persian Gulf pearl fishers, who dive naked, the Broome diver has the benefit of the most up-to-date inventions; he wears a complete diving dress, and, relying on a constant supply of air, remains under water for hours at a time.

The fleet of pearling luggers, of which there are now 325, sail at high tide from their headquarters in Broome harbor to the shell beds, some distances off, where they remain for many weeks without returning to land. A schooner is stationed on the ground to act as a general store, while other schooners ply between the boats and the shore, bringing supplies and mail, and returning with the shell.

Seven colored men are allowed to each lugger, five of them forming the crew, the other two being the diver and his tender, who for the time being is the most important man on board, for every one must obey his orders instantly. Malays and Japanese form the majority of the divers, although the latter are noted for their industry and skill, the former are better able to stand the pressure of deep water.

At day break the diver commences work. Donning his dress, screwing his helmet securely, and grasping his life line, with which he signals to his tender, he descends a short ladder and sinks to the ocean bed, where with a few ascents for rest and refreshment, he remains till sundown. On board two men work continually pumping down air, and the tender, his hand on the life line, and alert for the slightest signal, directs the lugger's course as it drifts in the wake of the man below. In shallow water the diver's risk is small; he is secure from sharks, and if careful avoids the deep holes, which mean danger; but in deep water the danger becomes extreme. The high pressure can be borne only for a few minutes at a time and many a man owing to a trifling delay has been brought to the surface, living, indeed, but destined to be a wreck for the rest of his life. About 30 divers lose their lives annually; but many more are permanently injured.

Skilful divers are much sought after by the boat owners; during the season, which lasts for nine months, an expert man will raise five tons of shell, sometimes six. His services are retained during the lying-up season as Christmas, sums varying from $700 to $1,000 being advanced to a skilful man. While at work the diver receives $10 per week and $125 per ton of the shell raised. Shell is opened on board the schooner, and the opener is a man of importance, for, in spite of careful supervision it is easy to steal the pearls. He gets from $25 to $50 per month in addition to 10 per cent. of the value of the pearls found. The greater part of the profit arises from the shell, which at present fetches $1,125 per ton but has occasionally mounted to $2,000. The cost of raising is $500 per ton.

Dealers in pearls must have an annual license, but in spite of this a good deal of illicit traffic goes on. The opener frequently steals pearls and always finds agents to pay him for the "nicks," as stolen pearls are called; some travel continually on coasting steamers between Singapore and Broome for this purpose.

Perpetual Youth.
All radiant as dawn-kissed waters from which Aphrodite sprang, still crowned with coils of burnished gold, like and rosy as a hamedryed, "The Jenny Lily" has returned to this country after an absence of several years.

"Lily" Langley, or, rather, Lady De Balfie, is younger than ever, despite her 60 years.

Time has not laid a blemish on her; there is not a thread of silver in her hair; her eyes are as bright and her laugh is as gay as they were in those distant days when the popes and shammas of this generation began to rave about her.

She was asked how she grew young and younger. She replied, with a dashing smile:

"Colors; colors, within and without. You must dress in them and you must think in them. Have no gray thoughts or dark brown regrets and you will never look old or drawn or haggard. If you will think in gay colors you can wear them and feel them and live them."

Olden Time Restrictions.
The origin of "windfall" in the sense of "good luck" dates from the time of William the Conqueror. It was then a criminal offence to cut timber in the forests. Only such wood could be gathered as the wind had blown down; hence a severe storm was hailed by the peasants as so much good luck.

In olden time even some of the nobility were forbidden by the laws of their estates to cut down any trees whatever. All the timber was reserved for the use of the royal navy, or any other purpose to which the King might see fit to apply it. The occupant of the land, however, might take the use of such as fell from old age or the effect of the wind. Sometimes a good storm would in that way double or treble a noble's yearly income.

A STEEL CANOE IS EASILY MADE

Handy Little Craft, Costing Little, Can be Put Together by Any Amateur Boatman

The ordinary canoe is liable to spring a leak if any ugly snag gets in the way, and it doesn't last very long, while a steel canoe will defy snags and rocks, and can be built by anyone for about $30.

The best steel for boat building is the galvanized kind and a length of this 6 feet 7 inches long by 30 inches wide sells for about $12.64. Four lengths are enough. There are two ways in which the boat can be built.

One of these is a watertight bulkhead type and the other is an ordinary canoe. The construction of both is similar in all practical details, except that in the first instance the boat is built in two watertight parts, fore and aft, joined by the seat.

The four sheets are laid out and cut as in "Fig. 1." The curves must be made exactly the same for each piece. Then the pieces are laid out as shown, and riveted together to form the bottom. If it is desired to build the watertight bulkhead type, the two halves are not joined at this stage of the operations, but each half is finished separately. The curved ends are now brought together and riveted. Then wooden bulkheads or transoms are set in to conform to the shape desired. This may have either widely flared sides, which give a wider boat or straighter sides, which provide a narrower but deeper canoe.

If it is decided to build the watertight type, the bulkhead of wood is set in far enough from the end of each half to permit a good joint to be made of the two when they are brought together, as shown in Fig. 2. From the curved pieces cut from the ends, enough steel can be secured to girth over the ends, as shown in Fig. 3. This cover or deck should be secured at all joints, which provides an airtight compartment that will add much to the buoyancy.

Ribs should be made of pliable wood and so shaped at the bottom to form a foundation for a floor of long strips. If it is decided to have a floor, three sets are sufficient and these can be set into the rail or strake of wood that is run around the inside at the ends of the steel sheets.

It is not absolutely necessary to have the ribs, but they add much to the stiffness and rigidity of the boat and cost but little more. Use some good boat paint, and a canoe is provided that will last years of the roughest kind of wear at a cost of not to exceed $30.

SAVING FLOWER SEEDS

Remember the Finest Flowers Produce the Best Seeds

It is extremely interesting to save seeds in the garden, for raising one's plants from seed is a most fascinating pursuit. Seeds should be saved only from the finest plants. Sow your ripest and most perfect seeds in the late summer for blooming next season.

Delphiniums, lupines, pyrotechna, various poppies, wallflowers, sweet peas, all annuals, and many other flowers produce seed freely. When the seed appears ripe cut off the whole stalk and lay it on a large sheet of paper in a cool room. In two weeks the seed may be shaken out and put away in labelled packets.

However, by cool judgment and scientific application of their fire fighting appliances, Chief Howard and his good men succeeded in confining the fire to the dry kiln and engine house. The dry kiln was about full of valuable lumber, two-thirds of which was saved. The fire will result in a loss of about $1500 fully insured.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Had Stroke.
The many friends in this city of Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, formerly rector of St. Luke's church, but now rector at Innisfil, will regret to learn that this talented divine was seized with a stroke of apoplexy last Saturday. In fact his life was for some hours seriously in jeopardy. At noon the doctor went with his little daughter, upstairs at the rectory to take a short rest. His telephone shortly afterwards rang with a call from a parishioner. Mrs. Langfeldt found him unconscious on a lounge. Medical aid both local and from Barrie, was summoned. Artificial respiration was applied, but Dr. Langfeldt remained unconscious for three hours. Fortunately, however, he rallied and was able to attend to his church duties next day.

Peterborough Prophecy Came True.
On the afternoon of Good Friday, 1866, the day that J. Wilkes Booth shot President Lincoln in the theatre at Washington, Mr. John McClelland the Water street jeweller, and Mr. Geo. Edmiston, now County Magistrate, went out shooting. With their guns and dog, these minnows began their hunt in the woods where Charlotte street Methodist Church now stands. They gradually worked south towards where the Locks Bridge now spans the Otonabee. They crossed and went towards Beaver Creek. Here, noticing the nature of the soil, Mr. McClelland remarked: "George, I would risk a bit that here will be the garden of Peterborough when she grows bigger. Today, with the celery and truck gardens which produce the greater part of Peterborough's vegetables, this prophecy has been substantiated."

Local Man Squared Matters.
Last Friday night a George street merchant, whose name for obvious reasons, is omitted, proved that even though he may occasionally fall from grace in some light degree, he is not lacking in the faculty of resource and quick wit. This merchant, though married, has a heart big enough to admire any and all good looking ladies. On the night in question whilst passing through Central Park, about 9 o'clock, he met a lady acquaintance. A conversation and walk was suggested and adopted. In the shadow of the Collegiate Institute he had the temerity to kiss the young woman. No cardinal sin unless one is married and caught in the act by another of the fair sex. This latter happened; he was seen give the white by his wife's dearest enemy. He thought quickly, leaving the kisses he went home, and asked his wife to go for a walk. Surprised at being asked to go walking at 10 p.m., his good wife, flattered possibly by his thoughtfulness, consented. He quickly led their course toward the Collegiate Institute. Here, possibly hearing the conversation round to old courtship days he

POWERS ALARMED

CITY CAN SECURE INTEREST IN ALL PUBLIC UTILITIES WITHOUT INCURRING ANY FURTHER DEBT

The Electric Power Company's Proposition Offers Opportunity For a Move in the Direction of Twentieth Century Progress Without the Investment of a Big Capital—Brief and Concrete Outline of a Scheme in Which the People Who Create the Profits Would Share Them

Notwithstanding the fact that a month ago our esteemed City Fathers were as a majority biased in favor of the Hydro-Electric plan for supplying this city with light and power under municipal control, to the exclusion of any other business proposition in this regard, we now find that there are, even in Council's eyes, more pebbles on the beach than one capable of handling the electric situation in this city to advantage, and at the same time fostering the municipal ownership scheme.

When our City Fathers met representatives from the Electric Power Co., Limited, with a nominal view of securing from them a price at which the company would sell their Peterborough Light and Power Company's distributing plant, without recourse to arbitration, and for that purpose only, the company presented several propositions, including one by which the city would secure an interest in all the company's present public utilities—electric light and power, gas and street railway—in consequence of which the Electric Power Company, Limited, was invited to outline their several propositions in concrete shape, and submit same to the City Council. This course our city fathers considered only just in the interest of the community at large.

Tuesday evening last the Electric Power Company's representatives, true to their engagement, met Council with their several propositions intelligently outlined, and the situation has now resolved itself into one in which the Electric Power Company's propositions are being taken very seriously and weighed with that which Hydro-Electric offers us. His Worship most emphatically declared that the people are entitled to opportunity for gauging the Electric Power Company's propositions without prejudice, and the Council, in a spirit of fairness to all concerned, has forwarded those propositions, as printed in full in these columns last Wednesday morning, to the Hydro-Electric Commission for advice thereon.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC WOULD HAVE VOICE IN COMPANY'S PROPOSALS.

Of the several propositions submitted by the Electric Power Co., Limited, the one offering the people financial interest in all public utilities in this city, takes precedence in that it aims at the Twentieth century ideal of the people sharing in the profits they engender themselves with, if desired, ultimate acquisition of complete ownership of same. And in this connection it must also be borne in mind that in all cases where public ownership or financial interest in companies operating public utilities is concerned, either arbitration or Hydro-Electric Commission adjuicate the rates to consumers and users, thus protecting the rights of the community. This does seem an easy manner of acquiring city control of public utilities, which has been openly advocated by thinking men of Peterborough from time to time.

Would Mark Peterborough as a Progressive City SCHEME FOR CITY TO HAVE INTEREST IN ALL PUBLIC UTILITIES.

While the City Fathers would like, above all things, to acquire city control of all public utilities they dare not face the ratepayers with a by-law to raise over $975,000 for the immediate purchase of such. But the Electric Company offers as the next best thing in their proposal to amalgamate the public utilities in the City of Peterborough, making one Operating Company, or, if thought best, to amalgamate the Gas Company and the Lighting Companies, leaving the Railroad an independent Company, the intention being that the City should share in all profits after paying fixed charges, etc. on the Railway, Gas Plant, Electric Lighting and sale of power in the City.

CITY PUTS UP NO CAPITAL.

The Company would finance the whole public utilities scheme to the extent of $1,000,000 so that extensions of the Street Railway, etc., may readily be made if found desirable. The interest on the bonds to be 5 per cent. per annum.

CITY TO BE FREE FROM LIABILITY.

The above scheme would relieve the City from entering into any further debt, hazard of operation; the loss of initial stage of operations which always occurs; and would insure a lower cost of operation than could be secured in any other way. Should losses occur from operating the Company, or disaster of any kind, the Company would shoulder the burden and the City would be free from any loss whatever. Again, if a loss occurred through change in development of electricity or in generating (which does occur from time to time), the City would not have on its hands an immense investment in machinery, etc.; and such losses and change occur periodically.

RATES FIXED BY ARBITRATION OR HYDRO-ELECTRIC.

The proposal includes the fixing of all rates by arbitration or by the Hydro-Electric Commission, thus insuring the City that the Company will only be allowed sufficient dividends to cover interest, depreciation etc.

CITY TO INSPECT BOOKS.

The City would have the privilege of inspecting the books of the Company at any time. In fact, they would have all the rights of inspection that any shareholder would have in any corporation, although investing no capital.

CITY REPRESENTATIVES ON BOARD OF MANAGEMENT.

The city would be represented by two directors out of five on the Board. The advantage of these city's directors would be in that they would be able to give the Company the benefit of their advice and knowledge of local conditions, and also be in a position to protect the City from any unfair treatment. In fact, the practical operation of the system would be vested in these two directors as being the men on the ground and conversant with conditions.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

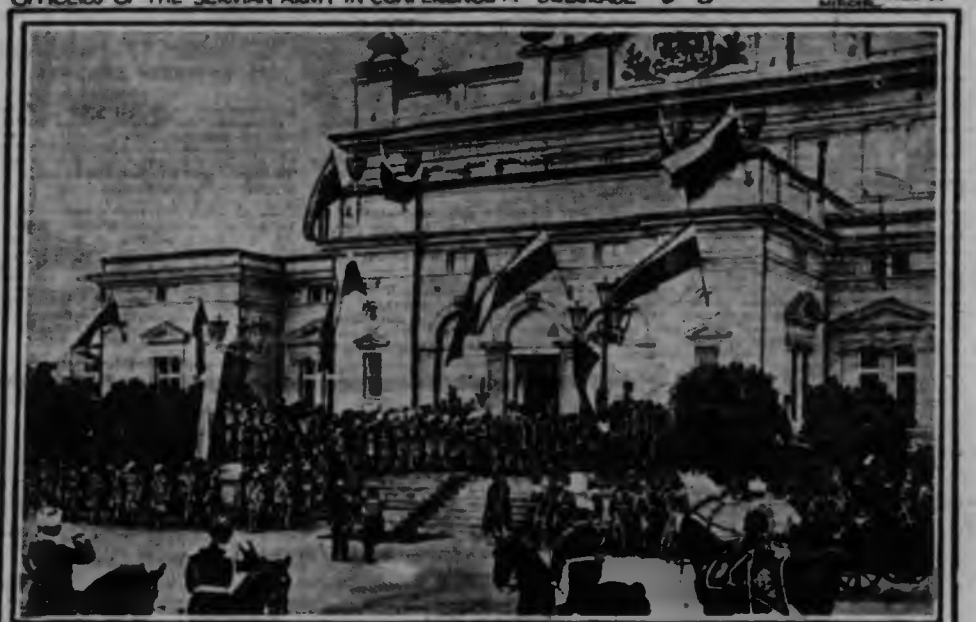

This scheme offers an advanced step in municipal ownership; and it is believed it is a little farther than anyone in this country has yet dared to go. The City gets the benefits of municipal ownership with no risks or experiments, and if successful they have the privilege of taking over the whole business; if not successful, the Company stands the loss.

CONSTANTINOPLE IS THREATENED BALKANS FIGHT INTERVENTION

Sofia, Nov. 1.—Bulgarian troops to-day occupied the Turkish town of Thessalonica, thus completely cutting off the possibility of communication between Adrianople and Constantinople.

GREEKS SEIZE ISLAND.
Athens, Nov. 1.—The Greeks to-day occupied the Turkish Island of Samothrace in the Aegean Sea. Its population numbers about 5,000, most of whom are Christians.

London, Nov. 2.—The Turkish army on which the fate of the Ottoman empire depended, has been out-generaled and out-fought. It has made what is believed to be its last stand against the victorious Bulgarians who are now falling back in disorder as its final line of defence at the forts of Plovdiv, 25 miles from Constantinople.

Grave doubts are expressed in military circles as to whether the remnants of the immense but disorganized army of the Sultan will make any serious attempt to hold this line.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER IN BRIEF

Many of Peterborough's citizens are not quite clear as to the Hydro-Electric plan—that is where it begins and ends. In the briefest possible explanatory way the scheme is as follows:

The Hydro-Electric Commission furnishes the electric power to the city and distributes it.

The Hydro-Electric sells power to a municipality; the municipality distributes it to consumers at charges that will take care of maintenance, depreciation, a sinking fund for ultimate satisfaction of the debt incurred by the municipality, and the price of Hydro-Electric power.

In the case of Peterborough, the Hydro-Electric Commission does not propose to expropriate the Peterborough Light & Power Company's power plant, but only its distributing line. Or rather the city would expropriate with the Commission's co-operation, who would subsequently practically aid the city in improving and extending this system.

The Hydro-Electric Commission would control and operate the POWER it secures, from whatever source, to be divalged later. Prices to be charged consumers also to include taking care of a sinking fund for the ultimate purchase by the municipality of this power-generating plant.

TURKS BURNED LIVE CAPTIVES

Servian Officers Report Terrible Stories of Atrocities

London, Nov. 1.—The Servian Legation has received a despatch from Belgrade giving accounts by returned Servian officers of atrocities committed by the Turkish troops before abandoning the country conquered by the Servians.

"Wherever the Turks passed," says the despatch, "the Servian army found only land strewn with bodies of men, women and children mutilated in the most barbarous fashion. Bodies of men were also found bound to trees. They had been burned alive by means of fire kindled under their feet. One body bore indications of having been roasted on a gridiron."

BISHOP AT PETERBOROUGH.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Bishop Sweet will leave tomorrow to open a new mission in South Peterborough Sunday. His Lordship will address the congregation of St. John's church at five o'clock and preach the closing sermon at the same church in connection with special evangelistic services.

TURKS LOSSES WERE ENORMOUS AND BATTLE DECIDED ISSUE

Great Many Prisoners Taken by the Victorious Bulgarians—Impetuous Assaults Too Much for Sultan's Army Which Broke and Flew in Disorder

Athens, Greece, Nov. 1.—The Turkish battleship Feth-i-Bulend was sunk during last night in the Gulf of Salonika by a Greek torpedo boat.

The Greek commander's daring enterprise was carried out under the guns of the Turkish forts without being observed, and the torpedo boat escaped unscathed.

Strategic Point Also Captured.

Sofia, Nov. 1.—Details thus far of the rout of the immense Turkish army by the Bulgarians show that the Bulgarian forces in the battle that decided the result of the war were numerically far inferior. The Turkish army is reported to have aggregated 200,000 men. It included the garrison which had retreated from the captured fortress of Kirk-Kiliseh, as well as the main body of Turkish troops which had advanced from Constantinople. It comprised practically the whole of the Turkish troops remaining in Europe, apart from the garrisons of Adrianople, Salonika, Monastir, Janina, Soutari, and a few other towns. This great army was under the personal command of Nasim Pasha, Minister of War and Commander-in-Chief, who was assisted by some of the most able Turkish generals serving in the army at the present moment.

Opening the Battle.
The fight opened with the discovery of the Turks of a number of Bulgarian cavalry scouts. The Turks drew in their outposts, and these were closely followed by lines of Bulgarian skirmishers, who were succeeded by the main Bulgarian army in fighting formation.

LOOKS LIKE CITIES WILL CONTROL THEIR OWN STREETS

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Promptly at noon to-day the large deputation representing municipalities all over Canada who are fighting for absolute control of their streets were admitted to the office of the Premier to lay before him their desire that efficient legislation should be passed by the Government to prevent power companies from placing poles on the streets without the permission of the municipality. The Minister of Finance and Minister of Justice were also present.

Mayor Hopewell of Ottawa introduced the subject to the Premier by reading the resolution passed at the meeting held previously in the Chateau Laurier, and handed the Premier a sheet of letters and telegrams from municipalities not represented on the deputation. These letters were from many cities stretching from Halifax in the East to Vancouver in the West.

Stop the Loop-Holes.
As only one hour was at the disposal of the deputation, the speeches were necessarily short. Corporation Council Geary of Toronto was the first to address the Premier. "For a long time there has been grumbling, and more than that, because of certain powers which have been decided by the Privy Council to belong to power companies. It had always been thought that the railway Act provided that permission must be given by municipalities, and it was a great surprise and humiliation when the Privy Council decided otherwise, and we want efficient legislation passed so that the loop-holes in the Railway Act should not be allowed to prevail."

THE WEATHER.
To-day—Fresh westerly to north westerly winds, fair and cool.

HUGHES PLANS LONGER CAMPS

Will Make Arrangements for Military Education in Universities

Montreal, Nov. 2.—An elaborate series of changes in order to bring the militia system of Canada to a greater pitch of efficiency and completeness were outlined by Col. Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, in the course of a talk he had with the leading officers of the local garrison last evening.

Colonel Hughes intimated that the old Farnham camp would be abolished and another site, probably at Three Rivers, chosen to succeed it. His idea is to get away from small military camps and have the troops operate in a large area such as Petawawa, where every arm of the service, including the artillery, can be exercised.

He said he was trying to find some such place near Toronto as well. The Minister also asked questions about the local situation and learned that greater increased accommodation is needed.

He said that in the future young officers would not have to rely on Kingston and other military schools alone, but that whatever sufficient students could be gathered together an instructor would be sent to them.

He further stated that arrangements would be made for a military education to be given in connection with the universities.

NURSERY HINTS FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

No soap should be used on a baby's skin if it is very sensitive and chafed sorely but a bran bath should be given.
Place one pint of wheat bran in a shallow cloth bag and leave it in the bath water until well soaked. Then squeeze it for several minutes until the water looks like thin gruel.

Prickly Heat

Prickly heat is caused by excessive perspiration and often the skin is irritated by flannel underclothing. Put a flannel or linen shirt next the skin.
Wash the entire body frequently with equal parts of vinegar and water and bathe the body with a powder of two parts starch to one part borax and.

Baby's Band

Some babies only need to wear their flannel band about one month, although the usual time is three or four months. Replace the band with a woolen binder fastened on the shoulder.
The healthy baby does not need the support of the old-fashioned high waist. A thin baby should wear the flannel band longer than four months
as it fits more snugly over the abdomen than the binder.

Fruit for Children

It is safer to give stewed fruit
rather than the fresh article to children under six. Stewed or baked apples, pears, peaches and peaches are all good. The strained juices of sweet oranges, raspberries, peaches and grapes may be given to children with whom they agree.

PREPARING VEGETABLES

Care Necessary in the Kitchen Especially in Making Salads

If vegetables are not quite fresh are brought into the kitchen there is no hope of ever restoring them to first class condition. Even good vegetables will not be at their very best if not properly cared for after they have been received.

Most housewives think that washing vegetables with water is the best way to clean them. So it is if the water is above suspicion, but when water is not considered safe for drinking it should be boiled or well for washing vegetables as it should be for family consumption.

As to the best way of washing vegetables, a few cautions will not come amiss. These people never eat ve-

Spinach is another vegetable which requires the very best attention in cleaning them to free it from grit.
After the roots have been cut off it should be washed in a number of

EDITORIAL NOTES

No, dear Maud, you can take it from this g.f.f. that Montenegro is not a place where negroes play Monopoly.

The problem which The Times would like to have solved is presented by the question why white women like to marry Jack Johnson.

Looking at the short kilts worn by the Greek soldiers we are convinced that they will have cold knees if not cold feet when they cross the snowy Balkan mountains.

We are anxiously awaiting the time when General Helldorff, of the Bulgarian army, gets into action. He was last heard from preparing to capture Poplikinschick Pass.

Caruso, the celebrated tenor has brought suit for slander against the sweetheart who lived with him as his wife. Caruso's voice may be good but his morals evidently require a liberal treatment of disinfectants.

Recently an Indian in Oklahoma rode fifty miles on a pony to pay a debt of $5. This is conclusive proof that the red man was not civilized. If he had acquired the graces of civilization the other fellow would have come the riding.

It is interesting to read the hysterics of the Liberal press concerning the alleged corruption in the Macedonian election and to compare it with the mild indifference of the same press concerning the outrages committed by the Scott government in Saskatchewan. Consistency, thou art a jewel!

Those whose sympathy is with the Balkan States in the war against Turkey, will be glad to hear that by a masterly maneuver General Helldorff, the Napoleon of Bulgaria captured Poplikinschick Pass and thus obtained control of the plain of Kajinkayakopizagawaz. Military experts are predicting that he will connect the names of the two places and use them along his front, in lieu of barbed wire, as a barrier to the advance of the Turkish cavalry.

THE NAVAL POLICY

The summoning of Parliament for November 21st means that before many weeks the country will know all that there is to know on the subject of the Borden Government's naval policy. The announcement of the date sufficiently answers Liberal predictions that the Government would seek and find some pretext for delaying the opening until the new year.

Sergeant-Major Under General French

Veteran of Boer War Who Lost His Health on the Veldt Tells Experience.

Good Advice for All Who Have Indigestion or Stomach Disorders.

In his home at Waldgrove, N. S., no one is better known than Sergeant-Major Cross, late of the 4th Queen's Own Hussars. Speaking of the ill-effects of a campaign upon a man's constitution, the Sgt.-Major writes: "I served under General French during the late Boer war, in the capacity of Sgt.-Major. It was perhaps owing to a continued diet of bully beef, hard tack, and bad water, but at any rate my stomach entirely gave out. I was in such a state that I could eat nothing without the greatest suffering. The army doctors did not help me much, and since leaving the service I have been very miserable. Some few months ago a friend told me he had been a great sufferer from indigestion until he tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they cured him. I confess it was without much faith I bought a box, but the first dose made me feel better than I had been for a long time. Dr. Hamilton's Pills completely cured, and now I can eat everything and anything. I have recommended them to others and in every case the result has been similar to mine."

Quick, sure results attend the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure disorders of the stomach, correct indigestion, make you feel uplifted and strengthened. To renew or maintain health, Dr. Hamilton's Pills always prove a good prescription. 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, all dealers or the Catarthosone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Predictions of that sort have been freely circulated in opposition newspapers for some weeks, the wish being probably father to the thought. They have been circulated despite the definite declaration of the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden in Montreal on September 21st, that Parliament would meet in the autumn. The statement of the Prime Minister should have settled, and with a majority of the people undoubtedly did settle, the question as to the readiness of the Government to meet the House. As a matter of fact there is every indication that the opening of the second session of the twelfth Parliament will find the Government's seasonal agenda in an advanced stage of preparation so that no time will be lost in getting important legislation before Parliament. This means that there is to be a working session from the start, making possible a comparatively early prorogation consistent with the importance of the measures to be considered. The naval policy will of course be the principal matter for the consideration of the House. Recent developments substantiate the belief that that policy will be one worthy of the people of Canada, involving as one of its main features immediate and effective aid to the mother country, such aid to be given in a manner calculated to give the fullest status of Canada as a self-governing dominion with the Empire.

CHRISTIANITY IN EGYPT

Recently some 65 missionaries gathered for an eight-day conference in Egypt, and this is their report of the state of affairs in that country. They say: "To-day as never before there is manifest among Moslems an interest in Christianity and its teachings. Copies of the Scriptures and religious tracts are being bought and read by Moslems to an extent unparalleled in the past history of Islam. A spirit of religious inquiry is manifest among many Moslems, even of those who are recognized as sheikhs or religious teachers. The attendance of Moslems is increasing in both the regular and special meetings held under Christian auspices. Requests for baptism on the part of Moslems are not infrequent. Two who were born Moslems may now be found in attendance at our theological seminary. Where, few Moslems were willing to listen to Christian teaching, now few there are who refuse to listen when approached." There is also, we are told, "a spirit of unrest in Moslem circles, and an increasing effort to discover ways by which Islamic standards and practices, Islamic laws and institutions, may undergo such revision and reconstruction as will enable them to retain the respect and command and allegiance of a Moslem public which is advancing in knowledge and enlightenment." For all of which the Church of Jesus Christ unforgottenly gives thanks.

MUSIC & DRAMA

THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE.

Millions of delighted readers know June, the primitive, ever charming mountain girl of the Virginia hills, the heroine of the famous novel, by John Fox, Jr., "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." These same readers have received with acclaim the announcement of the dramatist, Eugene Walter, and are but waiting to see June and John Hale in the flesh.

Not one of the many who have followed June from her cabin in the hills through all the vicissitudes of her fight for love over feudalism can afford to miss actually seeing what their imaginations have pictured.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" as masterfully dramatized, has proven one of the greatest successes of years. The dramatist has faithfully mirrored the delightful scenes of the book. Long runs and the greatest business of late years greeted the play in Boston, New York and Chicago.

Elaborate stage settings and the strong New York company presenting the play assure it of such success as all would wish the charming June herself.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" appears at the Grand this afternoon and to-morrow.

"ELIJAH."

Mr. Bernard Fergus, whose splendid performance of "Elijah" in the all-star cast of the Majestic Grand Opera Company, has been the surprise of the new opera production, was born in a small town in Wisconsin. It is his first stage venture, and he is the most surprised member of the Opera Company. Mr. Fergus, discovered he had a voice when he was scarcely grown up. He is now not quite twenty-seven years old. After a few preliminary vocal lessons in his home, he went in for musical education in earnest. After studying for two years, he became a church singer and gradually secured a fine position for himself in New York at the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

In selecting the all-star cast for the operatic production of "Elijah," the management found in the signing of Mr. Fergus, a fresh, vigorous, youthful voice of rare quality. The dramatic ability which Mr. Fergus developed so wonderfully was a discovery for himself and his managers.

The company, which will present "Elijah" at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night, Nov. 7th, is the largest travelling Grand Opera organization.

WEDDING BELLS.

Miller-Pringle.

On the evening of Thanksgiving Day a pretty wedding was solemnized in Newmarket Methodist church, when Miss Edna Alice Pringle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pringle, became the charming bride of Mr. Norman St. Clair Miller, of Toronto, son of Col. and Mrs. J. W. Miller of this city. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Simpson, in the beautiful floral decorated edifice. The bridesmaid was Miss Ada Miller of Peterborough, in pink satin and Venetian lace, with picture hat of black velvet and carrying pink roses. Little Helen Fiske of Peterborough was flower girl. The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Gordon C. Miller, of Victoria, B.C. The happy couple left later for New York. Upon their return they will reside at 180 Dunn Avenue, Toronto.

YOUTHFUL, BEAUTIFUL, SKIN EASY TO HAVE.

(From the Clubwoman).

You may be as healthy as a bird in the air and still have a poor complexion. Changing seasons and temperatures, winds, dust and dirt, are apt to injure any skin, even though the general health be good. When these external influences spoil the complexion, the natural thing is to remove the spoil by external means. Ordinary mercurized wax will do this. It will actually absorb the weather-beaten film-skin, a little each day. In a week or two you'll have a brand new complexion, a new skin. (The exquisitely beautiful and youthful complexion thus acquired, comes so easily, without harm or discomfort, there's no reason why any woman should not adopt this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will not fail in any case.)

To quickly remove wrinkles, signs of care and age, bathe the face occasionally in a solution of powdered rosolite, 1 oz. dissolved in 4 pt. witch hazel. The results will surprise you.

This is a Want Ad Town

nd There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other, Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Science change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hulled up on the mud-flat. Encyclopedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Moscorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopædia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is the one and perpetual by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopædia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., L.L.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopædia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopædia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not un-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopædia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyse, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopædia. Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Women in Politics.

As long ago as 1878 women were among the speakers at both Republican and Democratic national conventions, and in 1900 Mr. Bryan's nomination was seconded by a woman delegate from Utah. The first woman's suffrage convention was held at Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848. But the movement was by no means new even then. Abigail Adams and Mary Warren tried to secure recognition of women when the federal constitution was made, and in colonial days Margaret Brent, an ex-actress of Lord Baltimore, demanded a seat in the assembly of Maryland—Chicago News.

Wine For the Guest.

Suburban had taken Chumleigh home to dine. Everything went well until they were seated at the dinner table, when Willie remarked, "Why, pa, this is real beer!" "Well," said his father, "what of it?" "Why, I heard you tell me at breakfast that you were going to bring a mutton head home for dinner this evening."—Boston Transcript.

High Finance.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Turkish, "did you say those blue chips were worth a dollar apiece?" "Yes." "Well, here is a whole barrel that I got for 50 cents, with some other colors thrown in."—Washington Star.

No Offense.

"Your wife referred to you as 'he,' did she not?" asked the lawyer. "Yes. But I don't believe she meant anything unkind by that. She frequently referred to her pet dog in the same way."—Washington Star.

Undertaker on the Horizon.

Well—Why does she always dress in black? Belle—She's in training. Well—Training for what? Belle—Well, you see, she married an undertaker—Philadelphia Record.

Patron Saint of Footballers.

Not every footballer is aware perhaps that the game has a patron saint. This saint, however, has sometimes been accorded to Hugh of Lincoln. Hugh, a champion player of his day, according to legend, kicked the ball through the window of a Jew's house, and in revenge the occupant lured the lad indoors and murdered him.

The indignation of the townsfolk of course was great and the whole of the Jewish population suffered for the crime. Hugh was buried with great ceremony and afterward canonized, while many verses were written describing the virtues of "Sweet Sir Hugh" and his prowess as a football player.

UNDISCOVERED PARTS OF EARTH'S SURFACE

Years of Work for Explorers in all Parts of the World

Alexander wept for more worlds to conquer, and the notion has got abroad that modern explorers may imitate his example since the South Pole has been discovered. The fact is that there is perhaps another hundred years' work for the explorers before we shall be able to make trustworthy maps of the earth's surface.

In Canada there are great regions to which man has never penetrated. Considerable portions of North-western Mexico are unexplored. There is still a black area of the Dark Continent. A great stretch of the interior of South America has never been visited, and in the Russian Empire, in China, and in Australia there is work for the explorer for two or three generations. It may be that it will be harder to explore some parts of Canada than it was to reach either of the poles. Indeed, it is doubtful if any small party of men could penetrate the forests that guard the Caribou Mountains from the surveyor.

This range of mountains is not to be subdued by a sudden dash. It will yield only to long siege by the prosaic road-builder. Not very long ago Prof. J. Norman Collie stood on a peak of the Rockies and saw far away to the west a great group of mountains he had never seen before. Other white men had seen them, however, and anyone who travels to Prince Rupert will be able to see them from the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Prof. Collie declares that for beauty these mountains surpass the Selkirk, and that they probably offer a field for the mountaineer equal to the Alps.

There are other portions of British Columbia almost as inaccessible as the Caribou Mountains, and there is room enough and glory enough for a hundred explorers in this province alone. The Russians are great explorers, but there remains a vast forest area that stretches across Siberia south of the tundra belt along the frozen ocean that has not been penetrated. This work will be gradually accomplished by the Russian Government, and it is probable that the whole region will be preserved as a forest reserve. Asia offers few more opportunities for the explorer except as regards certain portions of Tibet, the hinterlands of Burma, Siam, and Cambodia, and Western China. Chinese Turkestan and Mongolia. In nearly all these regions there are exploring parties at work, and Asia will be explored in the near future.

MYSTERIES BEFORE AFRICA.

Portions of Australia there is work to be done. Part of the interior desert is yet unknown, and in the north there is a tropical region that remains to be penetrated before the continent can be mapped. Australia, like Canada, is not destined to be a field for alien adventures, and her future exploration will be a matter of Government policy rather than individual enterprise. Despite Shackleton's explorations and the more recent exploits of Amundsen and Scott, the Antarctic Continent still remains by far the greatest unexplored territory in the world. The continent has been entirely circumnavigated, but it is to be borne in mind that Antarctica is as large as Europe and Australia together.

JUVENILE THIEVES

Eighteen Youngsters Picked Pockets, Snatched Purse and Robbed

In connection with the juvenile court in Toronto, school teachers are sometimes the detectives who get in the grip for the mill. One day there were 18 children before Judge McIntyre Starr to answer charges of what would be termed picking pockets, purse-snatching and highway robbery among adult offenders. The charges involved the theft of over $10 and the pocket-picking and purse-snatching were all done in a single highway robbery occurred before a moving picture theatre. Two of the youngsters had snatched an intoxicated adult into a side street and then each had relieved him of a five-dollar bill which was sticking out of his pocket. In the purse-snatching one was caught just as he was about to snatch a five-dollar bill and another $247 order. The thefts were discovered when a boy attending the public school pulled a bunch of money when looking for a pencil. The teacher saw it and called up Commissioner Starr. The result was a corral of the 18 children. They acknowledged the thefts and all but three were put upon a daily probation.

CONSULS IN THE MAKING.

New Applications Are Made and the Examinations That Follow.

Consuls are appointed by the president, with the advice and consent of the senate. A candidate desiring appointment to the consular service makes application for such appointment through the secretary of state on a form furnished by the state department. From among these applicants the president designates to take an examination those candidates who seem properly qualified for the service and who are not from states which already have more than their share of appointments in the service, each state, so far as possible, being allowed appointments proportioned on the basis of population.

Naturally if the service needs men and but few candidates present themselves from states that are underrepresented some candidates from states overrepresented must also be designated for the examination. In making these designations politics is given no consideration, the service being now upon a strictly nonpartisan basis.

Then when the set time arrives the candidate presents himself at Washington and takes a written examination in international, maritime and commercial law, political and commercial geography, arithmetic, modern languages, French, German or Spanish; the natural, industrial and commercial resources and commerce of the United States, political economy, American history, government and institutions, and the modern history (since 1875) of Europe, South America and the far east.

To determine a candidate's business ability, alertness, general contemporary information and natural fitness for the service, including moral, mental and physical qualifications, character, address and general education and command of English, he takes an oral examination. All those candidates who receive a total mark of 80 per cent are then pronounced qualified for appointment, and their names go on the list of eligibles from which future appointments are made. —Robert D. Heald in Leslie's.

Ignoring Noise.

Our suggestion that the senses be trained to ignore noise recalls Lord Lyndhurst's heresim. He found education in distraction. "I recollect many years ago," he wrote, "when I was studying in chambers, having a neighbor who was learning to strape on the violin. I was at first disposed to complain of my neighbor's innocent pastime as an annoyance, but on a little reflection I said to myself, 'Is it wise in me to object? Let me see whether I cannot stand it without distraction. If I can, what an admirable discipline it will be to me in pursuing my mathematical studies.' After a time I ceased to hear the nuisance as it was called; it made no impression on me." Even an amateur violinist has a spoliative mission—London Chronicle.

A Butterfly Farm.

An Englishman operating a butterfly farm is said to sell to museums and collectors upward of 50,000 specimens yearly. He obtains as high as $50 for exceptionally fine ones, and his net income is said to be fully $3,500.

Objects of the Company

The above Company has been formed to manufacture all kinds of Asphalt Roofing, Waterproof Paper, Insulating and Fireproof materials, especially those grades of Asphalt Roofing which have already found such favor with the jobbing houses of the Dominion.

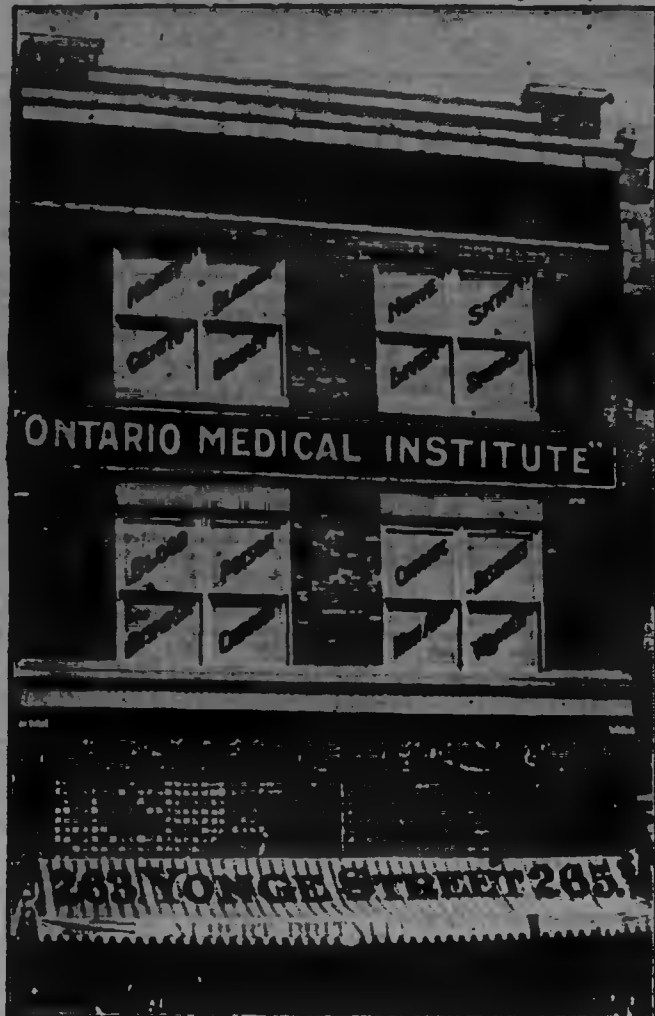

Asphalt Roofing has sprung rapidly into favor with builders and architects for several reasons:—

- 1st.—Wood shingles are scarce, high in price, and very inflammable.
- 2nd.—Anyone can apply Asphalt Roofing easily and quickly.
- 3rd.—Asphalt Roofing is absolutely fire-resisting.
- 4th.—Asphalt Roofing is cheaper, and will outlast the majority of other roofings in the market to-day.
- 5th.—Asphalt Roofing materials can be used most successfully as an insulation for lining and siding buildings.

PROSPECTUS:

The Dominion Roofing Manufacturing Co., Limited, has acquired the business of the Dominion Roofing Company of Canada, Limited, for $29,500, or 295 shares common stock. Starting in a small way two years ago, the parent company imported this material under its own brand from the States. This entailed a duty of 25 p.c., in addition to a good margin of profit to the manufacturer.

Even with this handicap, the "Dominion" Roofing has been marketed with a very fair margin of profit, and when the disadvantages of duty and heavy freight charges are removed, it is confidently anticipated that a large margin of profit will be available

OVER A PRECIPICE.

Nerve Racking Experience of a Hunter in the Tyrol.

BETWEEN HEAVEN AND EARTH.

Perils the Daring Adventurer Braved to Rob a Golden Eagle's Nest of its Young and the Anxious Hours He Spent Dangling in Terror in Mid Air.

An Englishman who was spending his vacation in the Tyrol learned that a pair of golden eagles were ravaging the valleys of poultry and small game and found that they had their nests on a certain mountainside. Being of an adventurous disposition he obtained the services of several woodcutters and started out before dawn determined to capture the young eagle that was believed to be in the nest.

When the party ascended the mountain and looked over the edge of the perpendicular cliff they could see a ledge about 100 feet below them. One of the party remained at the top while the others lowered themselves to the ledge by means of a rope.

Here they fastened a fifty fathom half inch rope to the stump of a tree, fired a block of wood against the edge of the cliff for the rope to run over, fastened an iron hook in the crevice of the rocks and prepared to lower the Englishman to the ledge, which they could now see far below.

A stout leather belt was fastened round his waist, with an iron ring in front, through which the rope passed. To the end of the rope a strong piece of wood was knotted, and the Englishman seated himself astride it.

With a ride on his back, a revolver in his pocket, a big knife in his belt and a long pole in his hands he was ready to start. Five men took hold of the rope, while two others lay flat upon the rocks, rifles in hand, looking over the edge of the cliff. If the old birds should attack the intruder his life would probably depend upon those two rifles.

The descent lasted ten or fifteen minutes. Then the Englishman found himself self opposite the eagle's ledge. He jerked the signal line. He was ten or twelve feet from the ledge, but with the hooked end of his long pole he was able to draw himself in and presently was gazing cautiously over the edge of the nest, which, to his surprise, contained not one eagle, but two.

One of them, not without a lively struggle, he put into the canvas bag he had brought for the purpose. The other he finally managed to secure by running a noose over its feet. He then the bag to the signal cord, arranged himself upon his wooden seat, took the second bird in his left hand and gave the signal. The men on the ledge above, contrary to instructions, gave a vigorous pull that wrenched the pole from his hands and sent him away from the cliff at a frightful pace. The return spring was likely to dash him against the rock with deadly force.

There was but one thing to do, and the Englishman had the presence of mind to do it. He tilted the upper part of his body backward and his legs forward and struck the rock with his feet, with no worse result than a paralyzed feeling in his legs and a twitching sensation in his back and loins.

Just then a dark object flashed by him. It passed so close proximity that the man felt the rush of air produced by its flight. At first he supposed it to be a falling stone, but presently he perceived that instead of being drawn upward he was quite stationary.

One hour passed, then two, and still he hung motionless at the end of the rope. He could of course form no idea of what had happened. The strange situation finally got upon his nerves. He imagined that he had been abandoned and must swing there till he lost his hold and fell to his death or until the parent eagles should return and pluck out his eyes. To add to his misfortunes, a sharp thunderstorm came on that wet him to the skin and nearly blinded him with lightning.

At last, when he had hung thus between heaven and earth for more than three hours, he felt a tug upon the rope and in fifteen minutes was at the top with his two prizes.

Then he found that the falling object was the block on which the rope had run. It had had to be replaced. Just the rope should be cut by the sharp edge of the rock, and the long delay had been caused by the necessity of sending the one man at the top down to the base of the mountain to cut a small tree and make a second block.

AT HUDSON BAY

Archdeacon Renison Discourses on the Northern Territory

Speaking of the possibilities of Hudson Bay at a Canadian Club dinner at South Porcupine, Venerable Archdeacon Renison a missionary at Moose Factory for fifteen years, said that once when he was at the Parliament buildings in Toronto "a statesman whose suave manners and courtesy are widely celebrated; desired to see him. When he was introduced the statesman said: 'I hear you are up on Hudson Bay. Now nothing can sell there at all, is that so?' He had replied that the Hudson Bay books had called there for 200 years, and they must have something to sell on. But the statesman was one of those who would not be convinced. 'You tell this type of man that the thermometer had never been known to go below forty-two degrees below zero of Moose Factory,' said the Archdeacon, 'and they would answer 'that cannot be.'"

He would tell them that Moose Factory was in the same latitude as London, and they would say, 'Well, that doesn't matter.' He would say that they could grow any kind of vegetable and produce at Moose Factory and they would not believe him. What were they to do with that kind of people?

Archdeacon Renison called Hudson Bay the Mediterranean of Canada. No real in extent that the United Kingdom could be put into it and a vessel could sail round it without ever catching sight of land. He knew that Hudson Bay was navigable indeed for five months in the year, and he believed that if breakwaters were built the Moose River could be made navigable for vessels of moderate draught.

Enough salt-water lay grey along the shores of Hudson Bay to feed millions of cattle, and he believed that in the years to come no small populations would be found on the shores of James Bay. He made an impassioned plea for the use of the Indian not as a third-rate blacksmith or carpenter, but in the sphere where he excelled—namely, as a fire ranger and a guide instead of the tyros who were sent out from the colleges.

THE MISFORTUNE OF MR. MONEYBAGS

HOW NATURE REPAIRS.

The Loss of One Sense Seems to Bring Added Power to the Others.

When the third question put to the girl who was taking a customer's hair a fashionable shade elicited no reply the woman turned to the manager of the beauty shop and said: "What is the matter with that girl, anyhow? Is she deaf?"

"Very nearly," said the manager.

"How does she hold her place?" said the woman. "It seems to me that a person employed in a place like this stands in need of her five senses."

"That is just what they do not need," was the reply. "If one sense is lacking the other four make up for the deficiency and become the more valuable because more acute. Your hairdresser cannot hear, but her sight is marvellous. She can detect a gray hair half a block away, and her gift for shading and washing colors amounts to real genius. No woman with all her faculties is as conscious of an artist as she is in touching up a difficult head of hair. When you are ready for message I shall bring you a blind girl. All her art is reserved in her finger tips. She can find and smooth away wrinkles that even sensitive fingers would not discover. Another deaf girl in the establishment is particularly sensitive to scents and perfumes. The manager is a piece of his kind made for five senses and a sixth more as nature can provide but her sensitive elimination and can distinguish the difference. New York Times.

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

On Thursday evening in St. Luke's church, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Adams were presented with a handsome cabinet of silver, on behalf of the congregation of that church. Mr. and Mrs. Adams have been for many years faithful workers in St. Luke's church, and their absence will be noticeably felt.

Greatest Invention of Age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered is so Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhose.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhose cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes hoarseness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhose keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—weakness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhose, and credit is no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhose.
"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as Catarrh."

"Being a professional singer you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill."

"One year ago I read in the Progress a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God-sent invention, Catarrhose."

"Believing in the merits of Catarrhose, I tried it."

"Catarrhose cured me and has been the means of my success."

"You are at liberty to use my name, if it will help relieve some from suffering, and I will always remain."

"Rob Birley, New Glasgow, N.S."

Mr. Birley is one of the best known singers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhose is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhose is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhose Co., Buffalo, N.Y., or Kingston, Ont.

Lindsay Man Was Robbed.
A few days ago Mr. David Lafferty of Lindsay drew some money from the bank in the town. The money was put into his trousers pockets. As Lafferty, in the wee hours' hours was dreaming possibly about the din and thrills of Kent, he was suddenly awakened by a hand on his shoulder. He turned and after a moment's hesitation, took the roll of bills. The unaccountable bifurcated garment was left in the back yard.

Baker Advertising Agency Moves.
Word has been received here that the Baker Advertising Agency, formerly situated on Adelaide street, Toronto, have removed to Nos. 16 to 20 Wellington street, in the same city. As the Baker Agency is a synonym for live up-to-date business advertising and exploitation, this change to more convenient quarters will interest every live man, whether engaged in manufacturing or trade.

Wish Killed Valuable 'Chickens.'
Mr. Bert McCarrroll of the township of Emily, who farms near the shore of the Chemung Lake was in the city yesterday. Mr. McCarrroll informed a Times representative that he recently had his large flock of chickens killed, with two exceptions, in one day and in daylight by a hawk that evidently had come from the edge of the lake. The chickens included some valuable thoroughbred black minors, were found dead on a hillside with their necks bitten through by a bloodthirsty hawk. This carnivorous destroyer of game had simply killed for blood and food. Mr. McCarrroll later on found two of his flock alive in the woods, but so wild and frightened as to be as easily caught as so many hawks.

Lakefield Man With Hoosier.
Many friends in this district of Hon. Laurence Graham, who for the past few years has been manager of the Lakefield Game Co., at that village, and who resided in position some weeks ago, will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed private literary secretary to ex-president Roosevelt at the good pay of $150 a week. It is not generally known that some years ago, Mr. Graham was directly instrumental in saving the life of then Theodore Roosevelt, before the latter became Chief Magistrate of the United States. It seems that out West, during a stampede of the wild range cattle, Mr. Graham saved the redoubtable Teddy from being stampeded to death under the hoofs of the charging herd.

Vandals at Collegiate Institute.
It seems that the Goths and Huns whose vandalism formerly terrified Europe, had no "fear" or monopoly in the senseless destruction of property. Yesterday morning one of Peterborough's finest buildings, the Collegiate Institute was found to be disfigured with paint and plaster of Paris. The doorway of every entrance of the Collegiate was filled with plaster of Paris, and when Mr. McKee, the caretaker, tried to force an entrance in the morning, he was baffled. Across the double doors of the main entrance, "Hallowe'en" was printed in large green letters. The other doors were similarly marked, on some of them being put fans and obscene language. The teachers' names figured in some of the designs, with disgraceful nick names and inferences. It is to be hoped that Chief Thompson and his merry men will ascertain who these practical jokers (?) were.

HANRAHAN BUYS

OUR sales manager, the first purchaser in the estate of Joseph Martin, K.C., M.P., buys the instant he sees it. Verdict of an expert in real estate values. A little over a week ago we selected a staff of salesmen and our manager for the Martin Estate. We picked the highest grade men in the city, men known for their integrity and experience. For sales manager we secured Mr. Hanrahan, one of the best known men in the real estate circle of Vancouver. Mr. Hanrahan, while of a conservative temperament, is an expert, and has been a critical student of events in Vancouver for a number of years.

On the 16th of October, the opening day of the sale, he accompanied a member of our firm and a staff of salesmen to the Joseph Martin Estate for a view of the property. He had not been on the ground ten minutes before he said, "I will take this lot." That was most gratifying to us than the sale of the entire block to almost anyone else. It was positive evidence of the high character of the property and investment possibilities.

The price of this property ranges from $850 up. Terms, one-fifth cash, balance of payments extending over a period of seven years.

commands one of the grandest views to be had anywhere in Vancouver, and is an entire tract of the choicest residential lots within the city limits of Vancouver. There is no flaw in it. The view is simply entrancing. Two street car lines already cut through the property. Improvements, such as graded streets, etc., have already been made. Fire hydrants and water mains have been laid. Electric light available at any time. Other civic improvements will be made upon the property as soon as required. The Martin Estate is located exactly one and a quarter miles from the C. N. R. passenger terminals, and is well within the city limits of Vancouver. It undoubtedly is the finest real estate purchase on the market today.

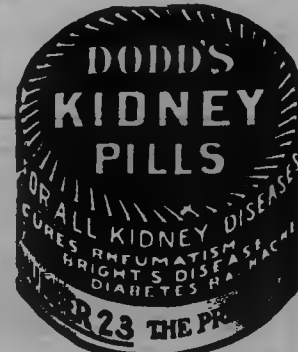

A large quantity of this property has already been sold in Vancouver and also at outside points. A number of sales have been made with residents of your city, and the demand is on the increase. We would seriously advise you not to hesitate any longer before you make an application for a lot in this property.

The price is right, the property is all that can be desired, and the terms are the easiest we have ever heard of.

Will you write us today and ask us to reserve you a choice location before it is too late?

We have prepared very handsome literature regarding Vancouver and this property. We are anxious to send some to you. Will you let us send it to you?

THE VAST OIL FIELDS WHICH LEAD TO GREAT WEALTH

Interesting Biography of Prominent Oil Expert Who is Now in the City

It is of local interest to note that one of the most prominent oil experts and business men of the Pacific Coast is, for a short time a guest at the Oriental Hotel. We refer to Mr. A. J. M. Hosom, of Seattle, Wash., president of the Colonial Oil Co. This gentleman is making a business trip through Eastern Canada, awaiting the more settled business condition that will exist on the American side of the continent when the Presidential elections are over. This Company is registered under the laws of Canada and about half its directorate is composed of Canadians of highest standing in financial circles of the Dominion, a fact which may be ascertained by reference to Bradstreet's or E. O. Dun & Company's commercial directories. A list of the directors may be had from Mr. Hosom, Mr. Colquhoun, or at this office.

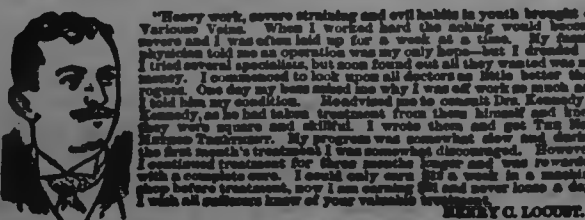

To indicate the regard in which Mr. Hosom is held among prominent business men—where he is known—men who have associated themselves with him in this enterprise, we append the following estimate of his business ability and integrity, made by Mr. E. H. Thomas, managing editor of the Post-Intelligencer, the leading daily newspaper of Seattle. "I know no man whose business judgment is more to be relied upon than that of Mr. Hosom, and anything that has his approval as a safe and sound business proposition has always secured the co-operation of the careful investor, and for this reason, I and some of my friends are associated with him in the Colonial Oil Co. His judgment in investments in farm and coal lands in British Columbia, has been good and immensely profitable, and the plan and scope of his organization of the Colonial Oil Co. has novel features which commend it to that class of financiers who are qualified to judge of the merit of such an enterprise.

Some three and a half years ago, Mr. Hosom conceived of a novel, yet practical plan, as it has since proven to be, of collecting large bodies of oil lands from a number of oil fields where oil is known to exist. He said, "we will have one big oil company on the Pacific Coast based on many thousands of acres in California, British Columbia and the State of Washington." His company expects to prevent the loss of any of its money, by putting its over in a number of baskets. To select these lands and get reports of them by reputable engineers was task that probably no more than one man in a thousand would care to undertake, and he turned down over 300,000 acres as not suitable for his company. His explorations and those of his engineers were covered by steamers, railroads, launches, canoes and horses and often on foot, the cost running into thousands of dollars and over three years of time. But his enthusiasm, faith in action, sure of his plan, that his company would not lose its money which occurs so often in single oil fields, has claimed the attention of a large number of wealthy men from coast to coast. Mr. Jas. A. McNair, of Vancouver, B.C., the millionaire shipping king of Canada, has become a heavy stockholder in this company, and has since become its treasurer. Mr. E. H. Crandell, one of the strong factors in the financial circles of Calgary, Alberta, was a member of the Board of Directors of the Colonial Oil Co., and a large stockholder in the company. Last August Mr. Crandell advised Mr. B. H. Silver, 1st Vice President, to come to Calgary during the process of harvesting a bumper wheat crop, that he and his friends would organize a pool and take another large block of the Colonial Oil Company's stock. Mr. Silver is now in Calgary. Mr. C. A. Thurston, President of the First National Bank of Glenview, Montana, as well as 2nd Vice-President of the Colonial Oil Co., when here last July, said: "Mr. Hosom made a great deal of money for me in coal lands, and I am pleased that he gave me an invitation to join the Colonial Oil Co." Also Mr. F. B. Clark, a millionaire lumberman of Miles City, Montana, with large timber interests on Vancouver Island, said in an interview: "Mr. Hosom is a quiet man, who does things and then lets the people talk. I think I have done a railroad deal with him a few years ago and he treated me right. About two years afterwards I heard he was buying coal lands. I took an early train for Seattle and called on Mr. Hosom, and asked him if he could use any of my money in his coal deals. He said he could advance the purchase. Out of that deal I about eight months I took down 22 dollars for one. That beats the lumber business. I am going into the Colonial Oil Co. with him for several reasons. He never promises his returns, but delivers large sums of money. He has good connections and the confidence of all who know him. Mr. Hosom has not said as much, but we expect to see him drill 20 to 30 oil wells in a short time, and then sell out for three or four times the par value of the Company's stock.

Mr. Hosom has always had the faculty of surrounding himself with men of high character. It has just occurred to me that I have omitted to state a very important matter in connection with my story. Mr. Hosom, knowing there would not be enough capital on the Pacific Coast available for the Colonial Oil Co., went East some sixteen months ago to look into the financial situation, and being assured that plenty of money was available for his company returned and completed his explorations. He may not go east till after the election."

WHO WILL STRIKE THE MATCH FOR CONFLAGRATION IN EUROPE

General Scramble for Spoils Flutters the Diplomatic Dovecotes of Europe—War Has Renewed Agitation For Universal Military Training—Feverish Activity in Government Dockyards in England

London, Nov. 2.—The Balkan status quo is dead, killed by the victories of the Allies. The hope of the great powers to avoid alteration of the boundaries of south-western Europe, with resultant complications, was based on the expectation of a Turkish triumph, but this hope is dissipated by the astounding success of the allies. If the allies ultimately prevail—as seems now absolutely certain—they will not rest satisfied with Macedonia reforms, but will demand a tangible reward for their sacrifices of life and treasure. Already schemes for partitioning Turkey are propounded and the idea of maintaining the existing order of things is being abandoned.

Every Nation After a Slice.

The prospect of a general scramble for spoils greatly flutters the diplomatic dove-cotes. Austria makes little secret of her intention to participate in the division, which will arouse a corresponding reaction on the part of Russia, still smarting under her Bosnian disappointment. Italy has long viewed Austrian ambitions with suspicion, while Germany would disapprove of any arrangement calculated to embarrass her designs for expansion in Asia Minor, which neither France nor England could watch unconcernedly. The future is therefore dark and pregnant with possibilities. There is plenty of fuel for a European conflagration. Who will strike the match, and when?

WOMEN POISONED AT CHURCH DINNER

Denver, Nov. 3.—Twenty-five women, delegates to the annual convention of the Topeka branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church, were stricken with ptomaine poisoning here Friday night during a dinner at Trinity church, at which 300 delegates were present. Many others became ill after leaving the church. Physicians are unable to decide what food was responsible for the trouble.

Mrs. Hoffman, Miss. of Fort Worth, Texas, is said to be in a serious condition. The dinner was provided by a caterer.

IMPORTANT ADVANCES MADE IN THE HOME RULE MEASURE

Irish Unionists, Under Lord Dunraven, Made Progress During the Past Week, the Government Appearing Willing to Hear Suggestions and Make Concessions

London, Nov. 2.—Home affairs, although largely lost from view in the war excitement, have been making important advances this week. The group of Irish Unionists under Lord Dunraven who have sought a via media of the Home Rule difficulty, is making remarkable progress. The Government has been open to their suggestions, and the Government's concession on the constitution of the Senate, the guarantee of British control of Irish police for ten years, and the concessions on financial policy, all show that Ministry would gladly welcome a round table conference to bring about modified Home Rule.

The main body of Unionists still believe, however, that they can prevent the final passage of the Home Rule bill, and are irremediable. They base their hope on the supposed deep hostility of the rank and file of the Labor party to the Liberals, owing to the unsatisfactory outcome of the Government's intervention in the strike.

WAR HAS STRUCK BLOW AT GERMANY'S PRESTIGE

Turks are German-Trained, Her Guns are Krupp's, and Tactics German, While Bulgaria Went to France for Her Guns and Her Methods

London, Nov. 2.—Europe today suffers deeply to readjust her viewpoint to the logic of accomplished facts. In these sixteen days of war, the incredible has happened, and even now statesmen and politicians almost cut themselves off the Balkan campaign is not one vast phantasmagoria.

Turkey, for centuries the fermenting point of Eastern Europe, has passed with none to lament her. A new power has arisen, the Balkan League, which already threatens to defy the Concert of Europe—if the Concert proves unreasonable. In Savoy, the Bulgarian generalissimo, now hailed a new Napoleon, whose success strongly resembles Bonaparte's first bold dash across the Alps against the Austrians. Already Europe is busy discussing the next step. Turkey is suing for intervention. On what conditions can the powers offer mediation? Last week I called that the Balkan States are aiming at creating one vast empire of their common peoples. This is now being generally admitted. Thus Friday's Times declares: "The root of the evil has not been the misgovernment of Macedonia but the frustration of the longing of Bulgarian, Greek and Serb for national unity."

SUCCESSFUL TEA AT CHURCH OF ST. MARTIN'S

On Saturday evening in the unexpected basement of the little church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Rev. J. Price, incumbent, a tea was held at which his Lordship, Bishop Sweeney, Van. Archbishop Warren, Canon Davidson, Rev. F. J. Savers, Rev. E. R. Grobb, were present, as well as Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., and Jas. Edgar, who represented All Saints.

Mr. W. G. Howden, reeve of North Monaghan, is treasurer of the new church which is destined to use from humble beginnings to an important place in city life.

After the opening remarks by the incumbent, who acted as chairman, in which he told of the significance of Mr. Hooper, Mr. Wilson, Canon Davidson and the people of All Saints, the Bishop delivered an address of being true to our ideals. To take analogies for the real thing was to turn religion into a mockery. The gathering of workers was one long to be remembered.

Bishop Sweeney preached at 11 o'clock on Sunday and administered holy communion.

HIS LORDSHIP OF TORONTO

Delivers Stirring Address in St. John's Church Last Night

Delivers Stirring Address in St. John's Church Last Night.

Last night every seat in St. John's church was occupied, on the occasion of His Lordship of Toronto being present on Dedication Anniversary Day. The rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, said the evening prayers, whilst Bishop Sweeney read the lesson and preached. The rector noted how he, as the unworthy leader of this great congregation was dependent upon the prayers and support of his flock. He noted how through the Channel Guild the sea to the Channel would be changed about Christmas time.

His Lordship said looking on this splendid congregation, he would speak along two lines, first retrospective. He paid high tribute to the splendid work done by the rector during the past quarter of a century. The fine old church of St. John's should and would be the mother of further churches in Peterborough. The future has great potentiality for the congregation. He then referred eulogistically to the recent Evangelistic services. The speaker said he might come again soon and speak as their loving Bishop. Such an inspiring audience as he addressed made him think of the present as well as the prospect. It is of importance to trace the genealogy of Jesus Christ to Abraham, so that one can answer the Jew who acknowledges Abraham, but denies Christ. Jesus is the son of Adam and the son of God. There are right and also wrong thoughts of Jesus Christ, and also in too many cases, no thoughts of Jesus Christ in ordinary life. Regarding Christ as a Savior. Jesus and Joshua are Saviors. The gospel had been preached from the pulpit of St. John's for 77 years. The great question is "what think ye of Christ as a Savior?" This must be answered. There is no other mediator between God and man, but Christ the Son of God and man. He noted the reverence rightly paid to our temporal King who rules over nearly half the population of the globe. There is, however, another King, Christ the King. Thinking of "Christ the King, will you ever take his holy name in vain?" the speaker asked. "What do you think of Christ as your Judge?" he next asked. Apes come and go, empires flourish and decay, but there is one unchanging personality through all time, for time, and eternity, Our Saviour Jesus Christ. What think ye of Christ?

BETTING ON ELECTION

New York, Nov. 2.—The New York Americans says betting on the election was more brisk in Wall street yesterday. A Commodore placed $100 against $800 that Roosevelt will get twice as many electoral votes as Taft; also $100 to $400 that Roosevelt gets three times the electoral vote of Taft, and $100 to $800 that he gets four times as many.

Wilson is still 4 to 1, and some got 5 to 1.

SIXTEEN DROWNED NEAR MONTREAL WHEN STEAMER CECILIE STRUCK ROCKS

NO ESCAPE FOR TURK TROOPS

Bulgarians Make Dash Which May Cut Them Off

London, Nov. 2.—Only two lines of forts, both known as Tchatalja, one to the northwest of the fortress of Adrianople and the other stretching across the peninsula outside of Constantinople, now stand between Turkey and the total obliteration of her power in Europe. On neither of these lines of forts can much reliance be placed in view of what has happened at other places supposed to be strongly fortified.

Be Not Need All.

No confidence are the Bulgarians of their ability to overcome the shattered army of Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, now stretched along the Tchatalja line built to defend the Ottoman capital, that part of their army is being sent back to Adrianople. It will there complete the investment of that fortress and carry on the siege and if the place is not carried on by storm will starve it into submission.

No Escape.

There seems now to be no escape for the Turks. The Bulgarians are following up their successes with a dash that surprises the world. They are now endeavoring and perhaps have succeeded in doing so, to get a force of their troops from Beral between the routed Turkish army under Nazim Pasha and the Tchatalja line. This move would fulfill the two-fold purpose of putting an end to all Turkish resistance and stopping the defeated and maddened Ottoman soldiers from reaching Constantinople where their arrival is so much feared by the population.

DRY DOCK IS NOW ASSURED

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. Secures Appropriation Of $30,000 For Purpose

When Mr. Burnham was in Ottawa with the Council's deputation seeking to regain control of the city's streets he had an interview with the new Minister at Public Works, the Hon. Robert Rogers, respecting the dry dock. The Minister informed him that the dry-dock would be built at once, and that arrangements, financial and otherwise, would be made accordingly. It will be remembered that this matter had been gone into with the late Minister of Public Works by Mr. Burnham, and it had been agreed that the representations as to the necessity of a dry-dock were justified. The Minister also agreed that Peterborough was the best place for it on account of its central position and the large number of craft plying in its vicinity as well as the fact that it could be constructed here in connection with one of the locks at a very much reduced cost. The retirement of Mr. Monk, however, necessitated the new Minister being contacted with, and it will be gratifying to the patrons of the Canal generally to know that they will be able to have their boats examined and repaired in a way that cannot now be done at all much to the detriment of inland commerce. The dry dock will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000. It will be situated just below the lift lock and alongside lock No. 6.

WIND BLEW OVER FIFTY-FIVE MILES AN HOUR, AND LITTLE VESSEL BECAME UNMANAGEABLE ON LAKE ST. LOUIS—STRUCK ON AN ISLAND, AND ONCE WENT TO PIECES

Montreal, Nov. 2.—During a tremendous storm last night the steamer Cecile, a little boat which plies between Montreal and Valleyfield, sank at Isle Perrot, in Lake St. Louis, ten miles west of here. As far as could be learned, at least sixteen people have been drowned, the dead comprising men, women and children. Only four passengers were saved, all men. The survivors are: LIONEL LEDUC, son of Capt. Jean Leduc, Valleyfield. A GOSSIAN, Valleyfield. E. H. BAILLARGEON, Valleyfield. FELIX COUSINEAU, St. Cole.

Soon after leaving Lachine Canal and entering the lake the storm caught the frail little craft, which only weighed 125 tons, and began to toss it about at random. Capt. Leduc made valiant attempts to keep the boat under control, and in the hulls in the storm made a little headway.

Smashed on Rocky Island.

About 7 o'clock the violence of the storm increased, and the Cecile then got out of control completely. With the force of the 55-mile-an-hour gale behind her she rushed towards the south shore and struck the rocky Isle Perrot with a force that smashed her thin wooden hull to fragments and threw passengers and crew into the water without the slightest preparation.

The shrieks and shouts of the people in the water attracted the attention of a farmer named Alexander Leonard, who heroically put out in a boat to the scene of the disaster. He found the four men saved, clinging to the wreckage, which was everywhere visible. These he took safely to the shore, but though he searched all night he could recover no more.

The survivors got ashore on a hastily constructed raft, after a terrific tussle with the storm, which buffeted the frailly constructed craft wildly about the lake, and ultimately drove it ashore off Isle Perrot.

Women and Children Drowned.

The Cecile was a new steamer, built only last year. She was on her way to Valleyfield, having left Lachine about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Several women and children were among the passengers on the ill-fated vessel. The boat is a complete loss. This morning sections of the debris had drifted ashore along the borders of the lake destroying all hopes of the safety of the remaining crew and passengers.

FORCES ACROSS PENINSULA DRIVING IN SOLID WEDGE

Adrianople Thus Cut Off From Constantinople—Allies Prevent Flanking Movement—Turks Deserting Salonika As a Base—Strong Position By Chance or Strategy

London, Nov. 2.—Victory after victory for the allied States is reported from the field of war. When Montenegro fired the first shot students of the situation would hardly have dared to prophesy such results, however much their sympathies might have emptied them to augur success for the Christian forces. Turkey in Europe is reputed to have an army of 1,000,000 men. Always it has enjoyed a reputation for possessing the best fighters in the world. However, it is possible to account for the collapse of the Turkish troops. A careful analysis of the features revealed to us by military operations gives some possible explanations. First, it is necessary to understand the geography of the war area as this affects the military situation.

Fear Main Areas.

Turkey in Europe is in shape somewhat like a leg of mutton with the shank pointing Eastward. The shank which contains our towns of capital importance, is dominated by Bulgaria. It is rather less than 200 miles in length and at only one point is more than 100 miles in depth. This area is the scene of Bulgaria's spectacular advances. West of a perpendicular line drawn on the map through Drama, which is about 80 miles northeast of Salonika, Turkey spreads out and becomes about 300 miles in depth as it nears the Adriatic. The entire length of Turkey from east to west is 500 miles. Thus it will be seen that Bulgaria's operations cover a small though very important area in Turkey.

PLAYGROUND FOR THE PEOPLE

New Use For Forest Reserves
Interior Department Working on Schemes

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The Forestry branch of the Department of the Interior is developing a plan to make the western forest reserves of more real benefit to the general public. Hitherto the reserves have been timber reserves pure and simple, the new plan is to make them playgrounds as well for the people of the west. A new branch has been formed, which might be termed "The National Playgrounds Bureau." In brief, the scheme is to establish summer resorts and picnic and outing camps in the various western reserves.

The first experiment was made this summer on the Turtle Mountain Reserve in Southern Manitoba and proved highly successful. A resort was laid out on Lake Max, not far from Boissevain, where for several years campers have been going, though without recognized rights. Now the site has been laid out into lots and leases are given under certain easy conditions. The leases must build a substantial summer cottage. The plan was very popular and already many leases have been taken and next summer there promises to be a rush for lots.

Others Coming.

Already applications to have resorts established at several other reserves have been received by the department, and the plan will now be made general.

A CRANBROOK ORCHARD

Is the answer

Located less than 3 miles from the city of Cranbrook—a city of over 5,000 population and growing fast.

What Others Are Doing You Can Do. START NOW!

We submit a few examples of results obtained, and which we could easily increase by any number of similar statements. If additional proof were needed of profits yielded by British Columbia Orchards.

Lord Aberdeen's Coldstream Ranch, near Vernon, yielded a crop from its twenty-acre orchard of twelve-year-old Northern Spy apples that sold for $16,000—Western Canada Trade Gazette.

Mr. F. G. Fournier, who has a fruit farm on the Lower Arrow Lake, states that he made a profit of $1,000 per acre on certain land not out to seven-year-old apple trees.

Mr. J. T. Beatty, a West Kootenay fruit rancher, has sold as much as 500 pounds of cherries from a single acre at 15 cents per pound, $75 from one tree.

"Of about four acres he (Mr. O. J. Wren, a Kootenay strawberry culturist) has shipped berries to the amount of $4,000, and has more to ship yet. His land in strawberries is worth to him at 10 per cent interest $2,000 per acre,"—Nelson Daily News.

Mr. Wren has marketed 2,200 strawberry quart cases of strawberries from his four acres in a single year. This at the rate of 13,000 quarts to the acre.

It will be seen from this that $1,000 per acre may frequently be obtained from orchards in the Kootenay. To be on the safe side, however, place the returns to the intending fruit grower at $500 per acre instead of $1,000. If he can obtain $2,500 a year from a five-acre tract he will find this after taking into account labor and all expenses, as well as the first outlay, that the result is a handsome profit. And there is absolutely no reason why good fruit land, with proper cultivation, should not yield considerably more than this conservative estimate.

Note the remarks of some of the exhibitors and prize winners at the Spokane Apple Fair about the value of their land and its products, and bear in mind that purchasers of "Cranbrook Orchards" should find their property as valuable a few years hence.

The winners of the $1,000 prize bought their land three years ago for $11,000. It is now worth $20,000, and is not for sale. Their exhibit won them $1,000 and was sold for $2,000 while the cost to them was less than $650.

R. C. Hill says: "I paid $650 an acre for my orchard and would not sell it to-day for $1,000 an acre."

J. F. McCurdy says: "Money cannot buy my home. I have refused several offers of $1,000 an acre for the whole or part. The oldest bearing orchard I owned me $1,200 an acre this year."

J. A. Bourgeois says: "My land is now worth more than $2,000 an acre."

From 10 acres he sold $6,000 worth of apples.

H. M. Gilbert has refused $3,000 an acre for his land.

J. M. Perry says: "My 15 acres of land is worth more than $2,000 an acre, and is not for sale. It brought me a net income of $1,000 for the last six years."

Chas. Pope will not sell for less than $2,500 an acre. He raises 600 boxes of apples per acre, which he sells at $2.50 per box.

E. S. Simmons says: "I value my land at $2,500 an acre and would not sell at that price. I would advise young men to go home to the Upper Columbia country and grow with the new territory."

B. L. Smith says: "I paid $500 an acre and I am so pleased with results I would not care to put a price on my land."

The Time Is NOW

The Opportunity IS BROKHURST

The Place is BATTLEFORD

Get in on the ground floor by BUYING AT FIRST PRICES.

We are offering only one-half of this beautiful property at these exceptionally low prices, and only have a limited number of these lots to offer. This property is less than 15 minutes walk from the postoffice and three blocks from the new $300,000 high school. This property offers an investment that is seldom equalled anywhere. And we feel that it will be but a short time until this property will sell at double the price we are now asking for it.

BATTLEFORD

Is destined to become a great city, as it will soon become one of the great railroad centers of central Saskatchewan. It is the only city that has a water front on that great river, the Saskatchewan, between Edmonton and Prince Albert, which according to engineers' report is soon to be made navigable from Edmonton to Prince Albert.

History shows us that all the large cities of both Canada and the United States are the cities that have a water front on a river with a navigable port. Manufacturers and wholesalers are already locating at Battleford because Battleford offers opportunities seldom found at any other city. Battleford today has a municipal industrial trust fund of $350,000, fully paid up, a most adequate and genuine financial situation, for investment in stock or loans at a low rate of interest, and the general promotion and securing of industries for the Town of Battleford, not equalled by any city or town in the whole Dominion of Canada—not a private subscription fund, not a citizens' incorporated fund, but a strong, substantial Municipal Trust Fund, carrying with it other important and valuable municipal concessions such as valuable sites, exemption from taxes, electric current for power and light at actual cost of producing by the municipality. Water on same basis. Investigate at once.

HIS ROMANTIC CAREER

SIR RUFUS ISAACS RAN AWAY TO SEA WHEN A BOY.

Attorney-General of Britain, whose Post Has Recently Been Dignified by Inclusion in the Cabinet, is the Most Distinguished Jew in English Politics Since Disraeli—He Conquered Whitaker Wright.

Those who follow British politics will doubtless be interested to know something about Sir Rufus Isaacs, Attorney-General in the Asquith Cabinet. Probably not since Benjamin Disraeli's rise to the Prime Ministry, the highest official position within the reach of any Englishman not of the royal blood, has any Jew been himself more strongly felt in English law and politics than Sir Rufus who has just been elevated to a membership in the Cabinet. His success has been due principally to his unusual ability as a trial lawyer, rather than to cleverness as a politician. The story of his career reads like a romance.

When a boy Rufus Isaacs ran away from home and joined a ship's company for Rio de Janeiro. At twenty-five, although a member of the London Stock Exchange, he was already marked as a financial failure; and yet, ten years after he had been admitted to the bar of the Middle Temple, for which he had begun studying when twenty-six years of age, he had been created a King's Counsel, and had the largest practice of any barrister in England.

Sir Rufus Daniel Isaacs is the son of Joseph M. Isaacs, a London merchant. He received his education at the University College School and at Brussels and Hanover. His parents desired him for Cambridge, but the idea of study was irksome to the spirited young man, so that while the arrangements for his education were being perfected, he embarked on a sailing vessel for South America as a common sailor.

He soon tired of this life, and returned to London. Although he might still have gone to a university, young Isaacs preferred business, and became a broker. He learned, however, that business in London was unbecomingly to him, as he was only twenty-six, he was fated to face with financial ruin.

It was at this juncture that young Isaacs met his future wife, Miss Edith Cohen, who was to play an important part in his later career, as his constant helpmeet and adviser. Miss Cohen was the daughter of an American merchant, who had moved to London.

She became engaged to the young broker, and advised him to study law. Isaacs reluctantly gave up his lawless life at so late a date, but the young woman insisted. Together, in the evenings, the two used to pore over the law books. Such was their success that in 1887 Isaacs was admitted to the bar in London. The same year, although he had not a single case, he was elected to the House of Commons.

It was not long before Isaacs became known as a master of intricate figures and details—a gift which remained his most distinguishing talent in the practice of law. He was soon recognized as an expert in bankruptcy law, and as an indispensable aid in unraveling the legal knots of the large mercantile and financial houses of London.

When Whitaker Wright, the great English "frenzied financier" expert, who had fled to America, was brought back to London and successfully prosecuted by Isaacs, the great success was secured. Wright had involved so many peers and younger sons of England's most prominent families with him, that the press was unanimous in the opinion that he could never be convicted. But the trenchant examinations of Rufus Isaacs, together with the mastery of figures with which he dazzled his hearers, won the case for the prosecution. Wright drank poison and escaped punishment.

The clever blackmailer came added to Isaacs' eminence at the English bar. "Bob" Siever, the proprietor of a London racing paper, was a colman known as "Colonel" Siever. In which, it was alleged prominent men who had refused to accede to Siever's demands, were consistently blackmailed. Finally, Lord Joel, a Londoner of great wealth, sued Siever for blackmail and, after a sensational trial, Isaacs succeeded in obtaining his acquittal.

In 1904 Isaacs was returned to Parliament as a Liberal from the Reading District. From then on his rise was rapid. Up to the death of Edward VII. he was a regular "fourth" at the royal bridge table, and it was jokingly said that the reason that the King, who was not a great bridge player, enjoyed playing with Sir Rufus Isaacs, was because the lawyer played as badly as he did.

In 1908, Isaacs was made Solicitor-General, and in 1910 he was knighted and made Attorney-General. The following year he was created Privy Counsellor and Knight Commander of the Victoria Order. This year, as if by magic, he had not come rapidly enough, the historic precedent of the British Constitution was broken in order to make him a member of the Cabinet, for he is the first Attorney-General ever to be admitted.

Fraternizing Fractions. Lidger—My brother is coming on a visit. Have you a couple of spare ones?

Landlady—A couple! Is he so big as all that?

Lidger—No, but you see the fact is, he really consists of two half brothers.

The Doctor. He that will lose a friend for a jest deserves to die a beggar by the bargain. Rich men get their jests by that they may not grind the credit of their friend, and make not jest so long that thou becomest one.—Fuller.

The Camel's Possibility. The camel alone among animals does not perish by its entire skin. It perishes only in the back of the neck and so when traveling in extreme heat does not require a continual supply of water in order to replace the moisture evaporated through the pores. A camel consequently of this singularity in the structure within a degree of the blood temperature of a healthy camel—that is, a rise of temperature of 4 degrees, which in a human being and in other mammals would be a sign of fever, is a normal function with the camel.—New York Sun.

Always Fairy Tales. There has never been a language spoken that has not been used for telling fairy tales. Whether in hot lands or cold, among savages or the most cultivated nations—why, not a moment passes in which some one, somewhere, is not telling a fairy tale or hearing to one or reading one or perhaps writing a new one, which makes it delightfully probable that we shall always have them with us, however scarce the fancies may have become themselves in these prosaic and practical days.—Edgar Allan Hawthorne in St. Nicholas.

Charity Bequests. Bequests for religious, educational and charitable purposes in England during 1911 aggregated $30,000,000.

Apparent Contradiction. Editor—In your report of the fire you refer to the chief as "our invincible old fire fighter."

Reporter—Yes, sir.

Editor—And yet in your next paragraph you say that he was "licked by the flames."

More of Him. Miss Mayler—The idea of his calling me homely may not be very pretty, but I'm certainly not as homely as he is.

Miss Perot—No, dear, but that's simply because he's bigger than you.

Helping Him Out. "Life is a burden to me."

"Take an interest in something. Have an avocation. Take up golf."

"No, life isn't worth living."

"Then take up aviation."

Birth in Holland. In some parts of Holland a birth is announced by fastening a still pipe on the doorknob. If the pipe catches is red the baby is a boy and if white a girl.

COLORS OF INSECTS.

Their Protecting Hues and Outlines Are a Fascinating Study.

Consider the matter of color alone. Here is a brilliant green tiger-beetle of inland woods, bright as its native herbage, and here is a dun-colored beetle relative of the shore whose darker, duller color fittingly protects this small forager while hunting among brown seaweeds east up along the waterline. Another beetle of the same family shows a body so nearly pure white that only a trace of black lines on the ivory-white wings distinguishes it from the surrounding sand.

Or contrast the dun-colored grass-hopper of dusty inland roads with the white shore species of beautiful frosted whiteness; or compare the yellow-brown spider of the woods and the Quaker-grey spider here, well represented by that unobtrusively tinted arachnid which was seen earlier in the day. The male is even lighter, with a covering of hoary hairs which render it far less conspicuous; and as this sex alone wanders abroad over the sand (only the female inhabiting the burrows), the instance of color is all the more striking and significant. Another species is nearly pure white, for only a faint speckling of grey colors the body, and this, indeed, still further conceals it from the eye; but with the sand against which it rests. These individuals seem to wander more widely abroad, and more openly than themselves do their slightly darker-colored brethren—again an instance of protective color and its correlative behavior.

That the theory of such protection and the manner of its use, whether it has come about through some chemical change, some physiological response to surrounding color, or through the nervous system (the latter being the more probable), has been overdone, and that there is an equally certain that a remarkable sympathy does exist widespread in nature between the color of a creature and its habits, and that whether this has come about through some chemical change, some physiological response to surrounding color, or through the nervous system (the latter being the more probable), has been Roosting Mice.
Always lower the temperature of the oven somewhat fifteen or twenty minutes after a roast has been placed in it. This will insure that the joints be retained.

Alligators.
Alligators not only supply valuable leather, but there are a number of by-products. The skin scrapings can be used for making glue; the teeth, a perfectly white ivory of medium hardness, can be worked into an endless variety of small articles; the grease gives a fine yellow oil, which is used by the natives for lung disease, while the flesh and bones can be used for fertilizer.

Maltese Cats.
The Maltese cat does not exist in Malta. At least not one has been seen there of the color called Maltese in the United States.

"FAKE" CLAIMS

One of Worst Problems Transports tion Companies Have to Grapple

Claims Agent Forest, of the Toronto Railway Company, had a long experience as policeman and detective on the Toronto force, but a few months after leaving the city's service he remarked that he never knew what crime was until he was called upon to deal with claims against the railway company. He declared that there was a small coterie of lawyers and physicians who specialized in damage suits against the company, gambled on the chances of success, and agreed to take no payment for their services to their clients in the event of failure. Transportation corporations all over the world and accident insurance companies have recognized for many years that one of the most serious problems they are called on to grapple with is that of the "fake" claim. So numerous are "fake" claims that these corporations are inclined to be suspicious of every claim, and as a rule take the ground that every claim is exaggerated, if not wholly fraudulent, until the contrary is proved.

These corporations have found their best means of protection in the Index Bureau, which is a sort of Who's Who of accident impostors, and doctors and medical men who assist them in making their claims. When an accident occurs that a claims agent has any reason to suppose is fraudulent or exaggerated, he reports it to the Central Bureau, giving all details of the accident, and the names and any other information he is possessed of concerning the persons affected. The expert at the Central Bureau then hunts through the statistics to find out if the victim of a previous accident, or if his witnesses have previously filed in a similar capacity. If he is able to find that they have he sends information back to the claims agent. It is very useful material in the hands of the lawyer.

The trial, if indeed, the case comes to trial, for he may be able to show that the claimant has an extensive record of former accidents, or that he has been a witness of similar accidents on previous occasions. It is possible, of course, for a man to rectify a previous month for years, and be entitled to compensation for a new accident, but a man who has been injured on a number of occasions has contracted a habit of making claims, and is usually dismissed his claim.

HUBBY CAN'T FORGET TO MAIL LETTERS NOW

The man who forgets to mail a letter or buy the meat for dinner will become an extinct animal if he adopts the little memory-keeping device recently patented.

This consists simply of a little slip of celluloid equipped with a wire clip that fits around the stem of a watch.

The idea is to write down what it is to be remembered and snap the clip over the watch face. As every man who carries a watch takes it out some time a day, he cannot fail to see the note.

NOVELTY IN RAT-TRAPS

This One Invented by a Boy Who Has Been Offered Fortune for It

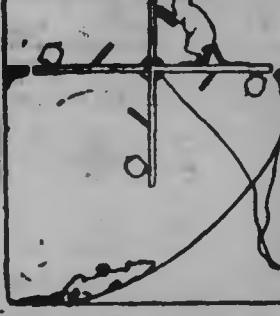

Ben Card is "only a farm boy" in England and goes to school yet. He has just invented such a good rat-trap that he has been offered $100,000 for it by a big syndicate.

A rat-trap that would work incessantly and effectively day and night has been long sought.

That's the kind of a trap Ben Card has invented.

Just as soon as I heard that they would pay lots of money for an electric rat-trap machine and better than any ever made I started to work."

Ben explained to an interviewer his machine like this: "Ben pointed out: 'The rat comes up this 'walk,' goes on this trip, smells the bait, puts its forefoot on this shelf to get nearer

BEN CARD'S ELECTRIC RAT-TRAP

the bait, and in so doing completes a circuit through its body, and is electrocuted. The current releases the switch beneath the trip, one of four revolving 'tongues,' and the weight on the dead rat turns the trip wheel. The rat falls into a receptacle beneath, or into a tunnel which may carry it far away, and another trip is ready for the next rat.

It puts them out of sight one at a time as fast as they can walk into the trap and so rat over gets a small

of the one ahead. It can be used wherever there is an electric light socket to get the current."

MORMONS IN ALBERTA

Rev. A. T. Reid Thinks They Are a Menace to Canada

"A deadly menace to this country if allowed to carry out their tenets," was Rev. A. T. Reid's characterization of the Mormon situation in Southern Alberta, in an address on western mission work in Eskrima Presbyterian Church. Their conception of a dual God—male and female—which he could not explain to a mixed audience, Mr. Reid considered one of the most dangerous doctrines extant. Thanks to the work of the Mounted Police he did not think that the colony, which now numbers 24,000, practiced polygamy, but quoted one Mormon who had said: "We most certainly believe in polygamy, but not to practice it against the law. We must work and not men into Parliament to hold the balance of power, and so legislate our beliefs into the laws of the land."

Dr. Reid then sketched the devious path by which the Mormons were strengthening their position in Alberta. A very large percentage of their girls are being trained as teachers, thereby bound to spread the tenets of their creed into the minds of their pupils. Turning to the situation in northern Alberta Mr. Reid said that Canada had made one of her greatest initial blunders in allowing the establishment of vast colonies of Russians, Finns, and Ukrainians, peoples who preserve their ancient customs and have brought with them to Canada the cruel problems which have vexed European Governments for centuries. If the west were not nationalized, and these colonies made that difficult, some day in the near future it would go hard for Canada.

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DAKES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Presidential Election.
To-day will settle who shall occupy the position of Chief Magistrate of the United States. The Times will give the result in tomorrow's issue.

Protestant Home Superintendent.
Miss Lancaster, who has several years experience in institutional work in Buffalo, has arrived in the city, and is now in charge of the Protestant Home, as superintendent.

New Postal Delivery.
Mr. J. H. Barnham, M.L., has received a letter from the Post Office Inspector, in reply to his, with regard to letter delivery on Concession street south. The Inspector has promised to take up the matter and see that delivery is properly dealt with in that district.

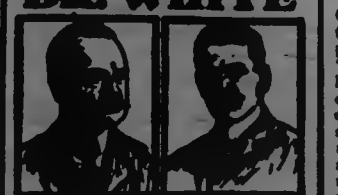

Hockey Players for Syracuse.
Lindsay will lose a couple of its hockey players in the course of a fortnight. They have decided to leave for Syracuse in company with a number of Peterborough players, where they will play on a team entered in the International Amateur Hockey League.

Horse Market Here Quiet.
Mr. T. Cavanagh, Peterborough's leading horse shipper, when asked on Saturday by a Times representative: "Ted, how's the horse market? Are you shipping any?" replied: "Never a one. The horse market here is very quiet. It just now, I won't be shipping till next Saturday."

Stole the Chinaman's Hens.
A Chinese laundry man named Hoo Lam did business in Bobcaygeon until last week. Some desperado, one dark night, entered Hoo Lam's chicken coop and stole the Asiatic's eighteen chickens. When these future ingredients of many a savory dish of chop suey disappeared, Hoo Lam folded his tent and shook fragments of Bobcaygeon rock from his sandals.

P.C.I. Lost Both Games.
On Saturday afternoon the P.C.I. Junior rugby team journeyed to Lakeside and played the Grove school of that village. It turned out that the Grove boys played all round the P.C.I., and defeated them by the score of 10 to 11. However, this result was to be expected as the Grove team were superior in weight. In fact two masters (as a P.C.I. player expressed it, with much reason) were on their eleven. The senior team also suffered defeat at Lindsay.

Specialists in Diseases of Skin, Blood, Nerves, Head and Special Allergies. Consultation free. Office hours: 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. Sundays, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

DR. SOPER & WHITE
25 Toronto Street, Toronto, Ont.

W. Menzies, 291 Redbridge street. The deceased was born in this city and was a daughter of the late Mr. W. G. Mills. She has been a resident of Lindsay for about a quarter of a century. Mrs. Menzies was married in 1877.

CASEY JONES STILL HERE.
Denham (Casey) Jones who was committed to Orillia Asylum some week or two ago is still in the Children's Shelter. Mr. Geo. Cochran, agent of the Children's Aid Society, on Saturday noted that, whilst the boy's possible influence on the younger children there is not of the most desirable nature, he has greatly improved during his stay. As soon as there is room for him at the Asylum young Jones will be sent up.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"Trail of the Lonesome Pine." at Grand Opera House Saturday.

Eugene Walter's play of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," was presented at the Grand Opera House in this city on Saturday afternoon and evening, to large audiences. The production has been rendered most vivid in motion and color by a gorgeous scenic embellishment.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While each fund is only $50,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the policyholder is amply protected by the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Director is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Snow to an appreciable depth has fallen in Habberton.

Dr. Perry Goldsmith of Toronto, formerly of this city, caught a 20lb. lung at Stoney Lake last Tuesday.

The services of the South Peterborough Anglican church for Saturday and yesterday were carried out as formerly announced.

As Lieut.-Col. Marsh was cranking his auto car last Wednesday, the crank swung back, and striking his hand broke one of the bones therein.

Another Lindsay cab-driver has been fined for allowing a boy under 18 years old to occupy the box and handle the ribbons.

If you heard a ripple of mirth Saturday morning, as the roadside puddles were frozen hard, you need not be a Sherlock Holmes to discover it came from the local coal dealers.

Venerable Archdeacon Warren preached at All Saints' church yesterday morning. In the evening the rector continued his course of sermons on the Twelve Apostles, taking as his subject James.

The fire brigade of Lindsay waited at the station until midnight anticipating the usual Halloween false alarms. Lindsay Warder speaks in commendatory terms of the boys there for not sending in false calls.

The first meeting of the season under the auspices of the Royal Agricultural Society of Canada, local centre, will be held in the Collegiate Institute to-morrow evening, when Rev. Dr. Marsh will lecture.

Speaking of "The boy who stuttered and the girl who lapsed," on Saturday morning a big car balked on George street, and as it driver cranked and cranked it, it was a case of "auto that stuttered and the man who cursed."

Messrs. Tom Duncan and Jimmy Butler have returned from Newcastle after completing a painting contract in this town for Ald. Duncan. These experts in the art of decoration accomplished the usual good Peterborough job.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Readers of The Times are requested to send their names to the Editor of the Times if they are of Social or Personal Note that may come to their knowledge.

Health Association W.A. Officers.
At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Health Association the officers were re-elected as follows:

President—Mrs. Kendry.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. E. R. Hall.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Walter Stocker.

Social Events.
Mrs. R. W. Fray's. The Auxiliary decided to open what will be known as Mother's meetings which periodically will be addressed by Miss Sparkhall, the district nurse on matters of interest and importance to mothers.

Mayor and City Officers Home.
His Worship Mayor Bradburn, and City Solicitor, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, arrived home Saturday morning from Ottawa.

In speaking of the trip, Mayor Bradburn states that the deputations was received by the Prime Minister Friday, and were given the assurance that the matter of curtailing telegraph and power companies from placing poles on the streets without the permission of municipalities would be considered by the Cabinet as a whole. The Minister of Finance and Minister of Justice were present at the conference.

Englishmen Will Dance.
A young Englishman called on Chief Thompson at the Police Station Saturday afternoon and proposed the following suggestion:

"Would I have to get out a special license supposing I rent the Knights of Pythias Hall and hold weekly dances therein? I expect to hold a series of dances beginning next Wednesday night which I hope will be attended by about thirty Englishmen of the city. I shall charge 30c a head for those present." The Chief sent him away happy by saying: "I don't think we can charge a license in such cases but I shall look up the by-law."

A Bad Heart, Its Cause and Cure

Mary, Firmly Convinced They Are Dying of Heart Trouble, Have Often the Strongest Hearts.

Sometimes you wake you wake up at night, heart throbbing like a steam engine. Your breathing is short and irregular; pains shoot through the chest and abdomen, and cause horrible anxiety.

Your trouble isn't with the heart at all. These sensations are the outcome of indigestion, which has caused gas to form on the stomach and press against the heart.

Just read what happened to Isaac Malton, of Belle River, Ont.: "Three months ago I was a weak, sickly man. My appetite was poor, food fermented in my stomach, I had sour risings and indigestion. At night I would often awaken with gas in the stomach and heart palpitation."

"I consulted my doctor and used remedies that my friends advised. Nothing helped."

"One day I received a sample of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and my cure commenced. To-day I have a vigorous appetite, strong heart action, and no sign of indigestion. I feel younger and healthier than ever before."

Starving Venezuelans Kill Baby Brother and Eat Body.

New York, Oct. 30.—Conditions of extreme poverty and privation in Venezuela are described in a letter written from Caracas by a correspondent of the Tribune. In the State of Trujillo, more than 800 persons have starved to death during the past season, it is said.

"The bodies of an entire family, whose members starved to death, were found in one house," the letter says.

"One consequence of the pangs of hunger was the killing of a baby by his two older brothers who then roasted the body and ate it. Much of the blame for these conditions is placed upon political conditions, which have led to neglect of agriculture."

STREET RAILWAY CONNECTION WITH EAST CITY IN SIGHT

Bylaw For High-Level Bridge at Hunter Street Will Go To Ratepayers in January—Electric Power Company Willing to Contribute Their Share of Cash and Run Cars Over Structure—Local Option Bylaw Passed Council Last Night

A new high level bridge across the river at Hunter street is now on the Council's slate for attention at the earliest possible moment.

The Electric Power Co., better known here as the Seymour Power Co., are willing to make street car connection with East City, providing the Hunter street bridge is replaced by a substantial structure, and with this end in view have assured Council that they would be willing to contribute a fair and reasonable share of the cost thereof.

The City Fathers have taken advantage of this opportunity, and realizing that a new and modern bridge MUST be built at Hunter street, will instruct the City Engineer to submit to December's meeting of Council the plans and estimates for an overhead structure at this point he has already prepared. A by-law will be then prepared and submitted to the ratepayers at the January elections.

Ald. Morgan first took the floor on this question last night. He understood that the Seymour Power Co. would not run the cars across a bridge at Dalhousie street, but would cross to East City over a new bridge at Hunter street, and would volunteer to pay their share of the cost of building the same. He offered that advantage should be taken of the company's proposition, and steps taken to build two bridges with one stone—secure a new bridge at Hunter street, which is badly needed and get street car service for East City. Perhaps, he concluded, the Quaker Oats and the Government could be persuaded to contribute.

Ald. Duffin is in favor of the proposition, and contends that a new bridge would never be built cheaper than in the immediate future.

Ald. Anderson left readily into the scheme, and urged that street car service for East City is a crying need that cannot be ignored. The company's offer, he said, is a high level bridge, and a high level structure at Hunter street erected.

His Worship pointed out that the Government Engineer, when last in Peterborough, would not commit himself to assure Government aid for a new bridge similar to the present one. And the Quaker Oats would not contribute to a high level structure. However, he said, this work must be done, sooner or later, and it might as well be undertaken now, although the expenditure will be heavy—some $240,000.

Ald. Anderson urged that the Government be again approached on this question; were a high level bridge, which is needed at this point, erected, perhaps Government aid could be secured.

It was agreed that His Worship and Ald. Morgan interview Mr. Ker of the Electric Power Co., on the question of the company's co-operation as above referred to, and that all data for preparation of a by-law be to hand at December's meeting.

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night. Present were Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Morgan, Anderson, Graham, Johnston, Brown, Duffin, Gillespie and Buller.

Living Up to Agreement.

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Johnston, the City Treasurer was authorized to issue a cheque for $6,000, payable to the Bonner-Worth Company, the balance of the city's loan to that industry.

To Ald. Brown His Worship replied that the Bonner-Worth people are more than living up to their agreement with the city, both in the amount of machinery installed and the number of hands employed.

Writ Against City.

Measrs. Peck, Kerr and McElderry, wrote on behalf of the township of North Monaghan and Otonabee, that a writ had been issued last Saturday applying for an injunction to restrain the city from polluting the Otonabee river with sewage and also for damages.

In this connection the city will have to take action within ten days, and the City Solicitor will be instructed to take the necessary steps.

The Power Question.

Mr. G. W. Hatton, wrote, enclosing a letter from Hon. Adam Beck, being a reply to the manufacturers of Peterborough regarding the power situation, and stating that the Commission are only too willing to give all the information required as provided for in the Hydro-Electric Power Commission Act—Received.

Mr. Chipman's Account.

Mr. Willis Chipman, Toronto, wrote, asking for a settlement of the balance of his account in connection with the Romaine street sewer. The account is $1,623.35, but Mr. Chipman offered that if the bill is paid this year he would deduct $150, a month's salary for Mr. W. S. Pardoe leaving the account at $1,473.35 in full to date—This letter was referred to the Board of Works.

Motion of Thanks.

On motion of Aldermen Morgan and Buller, the thanks of the Council are tendered to Mr. Burnham, our local Federal member, for his general interest in the city's welfare, more particularly in regard to his co-operation with the Council's recent decision to Ottawa on the question of securing from the Government control by municipalities of their streets, re light and power poles.

Municipal Fuel Yard.

The Trades and Labor Council wrote, urging the need for the establishment of a Municipal Fuel Department. This matter was deferred for further discussion.

Local Option By-law.

A by-law to prohibit the retail sale of spirituous liquors in the City of Peterborough after May 1st, 1913, passed its several readings.

Cession Street Trouble.

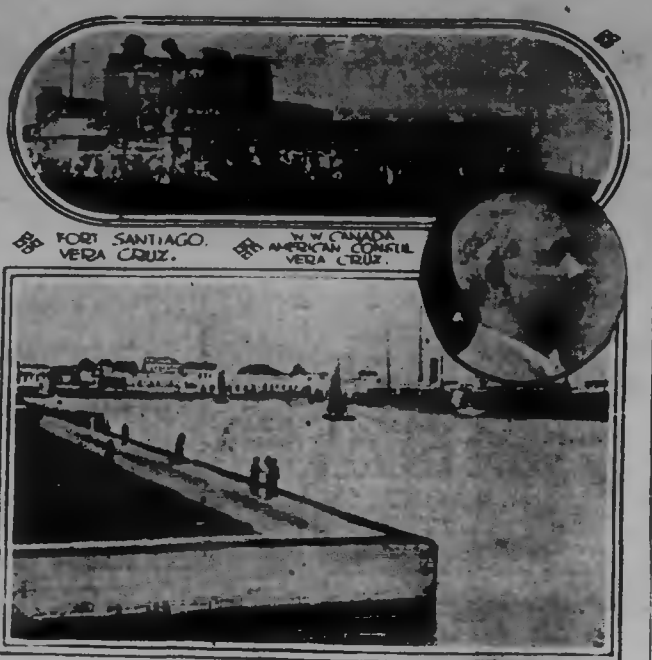

Ald. Morgan again raised the question of making Cession street possible for traffic, and wanted to know why the Board of Works had not been busy on the matter.

Ald. Buller replied that this road was being attended to.

Ald. Anderson was pleased to hear this, but regretted that Driscoll Terrace and Dunlop street had not received attention.

Ald. Buller replied that East City received more than double its share of expenditure on streets and walks.

VIEWS OF MEXICAN CITY, TAKEN BY FEDERAL TROOPS, AND U. S. CONSUL

PORT SANTIAGO, VERA CRUZ. U. S. CANAL, VERA CRUZ. HARBOR OF VERA CRUZ.

The principal fort and harbor of Vera Cruz, which have been captured by the federal troops, are shown above. The government forces occupied the city with very little opposition.

Romaine St. Sewer.

Ald. Buller offered that at Council's next meeting he would submit all details in connection with this work. He also pointed out that he had never agreed with the scheme which originated in ex-Ald. Hicke's time as chairman of the Board of Works. Ald. Hicke had replied that he (Ald. Buller) was prone to see things when too late. Well, Ald. Buller here went on to say, $2,000 had been spent on the work at the time in question, when I protested that the sewer would prove a failure and still the Board proceeded with the work.

"However," added Ald. Buller, "I have done my best to remedy matters and am pleased to announce that the sewer is now working satisfactorily."

Ald. Morgan was pleased to hear that Ald. Buller had got his famous "white elephant" under control at last, although he is informed its present good behaviour will not last long.

Ald. Buller—"I can't guarantee that there will be no more trouble. I am not a sewer expert."

His Worship here strongly eulogized Ald. Buller for the time and attention he had devoted to this matter.

Ald. Morgan acquiesced. "But," he said, "I used to be accused of sleeping at the fire hall, and I think Ald. Buller must certainly have been sleeping at the Romaine street sewer."

The Mayor said the suggestion that the sewer empty into the main one at an angle instead of on a straight line seemed a promising one. This change would cost $100.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, the Board of Works was authorized to make this change after receiving the Engineer's report thereon.

Walk for Dunlop Street.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Buller, That Board of Works be authorized to lay some kind of a walk on Dunlop street, between the tracks and the river.

Railway Siding.

On motion of AM. Johnston and Graham, the G.T.R. will be authorized to lay a siding across Lane's down street to serve the De Laval Dairy Supply Co.

Students' Convention.

A convention of University students is to meet here on the 25th 30th and 31st of this month and the reception committee was instructed to arrange for tendering them a civic reception in the armories on Saturday the 30th.

FRANCE TO FIX BALKAN WAR

Sultan to Retain Sovereignty Over Constantinople

London, Nov. 4.—The latest proposal to the powers made by the French Premier, Raymond Poincaré, is as follows:

First: Recognition by the powers of political and administrative changes in the territory occupied by the troops of the allies.

Second: RETENTION OF THE SULTAN'S SOVEREIGNTY AT CONSTANTINOPLE AND THE REGION ROUND THE CAPITAL.

Third: The summoning of a European conference in which the Balkan Nations shall participate.

A DANGEROUS HOUR SEEN FOR THE PEACE OF EUROPE

So Declares the Star's Special Resident Correspondent in an Exclusive Cable Received This Afternoon

London, Nov. 4.—We have reached the most dangerous hour for European peace. Turkey's heroic efforts to rally her forces after Lule Burgaz has failed. Twenty thousand more Turks were killed and wounded on Saturday, and the final remnants rallying behind the Tehtaltja line are helplessly broken.

The Bulgarians, who have suffered enormously, are pausing for a moment in their advance, and are preparing for an overwhelming attack upon Adrianople, so as to release their forces there, and set siege guns free for an attack on Tehtaltja.

The Ottoman Government admits disaster, and to-day the Turkish Ambassador has interviewed Sir Edward Grey, presumably begging for British mediation.

Meanwhile the terror-stricken, starving, uncontrollable Bashi-Bazouks are rushing backwards toward Constantinople, murdering and pillaging every Christian village. Even the fate of war correspondents is in jeopardy at Tehtaltja.

The Turkish Government is straining every nerve to stop the Bashi-Bazouk rush. English, German, Russian, and Austrian warships are making full speed for Constantinople. All Europe waits to know if they will be too late to save the Christian population there.

Assassinate Means Forebode Intervention.

A Constantinople massacre may mean intervention by the powers. This may well mean an extension of the conflict far beyond the Balkans. Meanwhile, the Bulgarians declare they will admit no mediation and no robbing them of the fruits of victory. If Turkey wants peace, they say, she must beg it, not of Europe, but of the Balkan League.

HOLD TWO FOR MURDER

Quebec, Nov. 4.—Xavier Savaguen and his son Paul were arrested Saturday in the woods of Notre Dame d'Ange under suspicion of being responsible for the death of Alfred Morin, the Montreal trapper.

They will appear to-morrow morning in the Court of Sessions.

REPUBLICANS WILL VOTE FOR WILSON RATHER THAN TEDDY

Oyster Bay, N.Y., Nov. 4.—In a statement issued here to-day, Theodore Roosevelt charged that republican leaders were advising their followers to vote for Woodrow Wilson if they did not feel that they could support President Taft. The great concern of the "bosses" the Colonel said, was to beat the Progressive Party.

Col. Roosevelt was to leave for Mineola this afternoon to address a campaign rally of voters of his home county. To-night he speaks in Oyster Bay.

BATTLE OF THE BAR ON IN NINETY-THREE PLACES

Toronto, Nov. 4.—The time for petitions for local option contests to be in the hands of the Municipal Councils in order to have the question voted upon at the coming elections, expired November 1st, and although it is possible that some small municipalities may order a vote with out any petition it is not like that this will be done in more than one or two cases and the opposing parties know pretty well where they are at. Local option votes will be held in 78 municipalities in Ontario.

In addition to this there are fifteen places in which an effort is being made to repeal the local option law. This makes a total of 93 fights on the programme and some of them will be particularly keen.

In Ontario there are 266 municipalities in which liquor licenses are in force and a local option vote could be taken. The fact that in 78 of these places the question is to be fought out points to the activity which the temperance people are displaying. There are 240 places under local option and only fifteen of these are endeavoring to get rid of it.

Keen Struggles in Sight.

The situation was cheerfully commented upon by Rev. B. H. Spence this morning. Some of the struggles in sight that are expected to be particularly keen include the City of Peterborough which gave a majority in favor of local option three years ago, but it was not the necessary three-fifths. The same applies to Lindsay, where another try is being made. Oshawa is looked upon as sure as all of the big industrial concerns there are represented on the local option committee and every municipality is working against the license. Whitley will vote too, and is expected to go the same way as Oshawa.

MR. HODGINS ACCEPTS

Mr. Frank E. Hodgins, K.C., received official notification this morning of his appointment to the Court of Appeal and has decided to accept.

Triple Alliance Holds Together in Opposition to Other Powers—Austria May Have Misunderstood It—Other Powers Did Not Intend to Forbid An Adjustment—Won't Bully The Allies

Paris, Nov. 4.—The French Government has refused the Turkish Government's appeal for it to take the initiative in bringing about an intervention of the great powers to stop hostilities and impose an armistice on the Balkan States.

The reply of the French Foreign Office points out that for France to take the course suggested would be contrary to international law and would make her appear as siding against the Balkan States. France can only, it was added, consider in accord with all the great powers a request for mediation, properly so called, if such a request be addressed to her.

HAVE CAPTURED BUK.

Sofia, Nov. 4.—Bulgarian troops now occupy Buk on the Salonika Constantinople Railroad, and this with the possession of Neretop finally cuts communications between the Turkish army in Macedonia and the Turkish garrison of Adrianople.

London, Nov. 4.—The negotiations which were taking place among the powers when Turkey sprang the surprise and asked for mediation were not over successful. The European governments had not even agreed upon the preliminaries for an offer of mediation. The suggestion made by France to which both Russia and England subscribed met with nothing but criticism in Austria, and, of course, was backed by Germany and Italy, the other two members of the Triple Alliance.

It is now suggested that Austria misunderstood the proposal in regard to "disinterestedness," which was not, as believed in Austria, directed against the idea of economic arrangements between Austria and the Balkan League. Still, Austria's attitude has caused much uneasiness and reports that she is mobilizing continue to circulate all over Europe.

War Must Continue.

In the meantime the war is going on and what was left of the Turkish army after the defeat at Tehtaltja is rushing for supposed safety behind the line of forts at Tehtaltja with the Bulgarian left trying to cut them off. It is suggested in some quarters that Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, has received reinforcements and is making a last desperate stand to cover the retreat of his shattered forces.

The Food Route To Steady Health

Many persons are kept ill because they do not know how to select food that their own particular bodies will take up and build upon.

What will answer for one may not do for another.

If one is ailing it is always safe to chance food and seek the Road to Wellville on a plain, simple diet.

The most perfectly made food for human use is

GRAPE-NUTS

It contains the vital food elements of wheat and barley, including the Phosphate of Potash (grown in the grain) especially required for rebuilding brain and nerves.

The food has a fascinating flavour.

A BABY TOWN

Coronation But Eight Months Old,
Has Already Reached Important Proportions

The youngest town which the Made-in-Canada train honored in its tour of the West was Coronation. Here was found a bustling population of 1000 on a beautiful location about 100 miles east of Lacombe. The sale of lots took place on September 27th, 1911, and yielded $100,000.00 to the C.P.R., the company having decided that a divisional and junction equipment should be located at this point, which was called Coronation in honor of the crowning of King George and Queen Mary. The sale had no sooner closed than gangs of workmen were put to work on the erection of buildings. Before the freeze-up Coronation had a population of about 700, who were comfortably housed in hastily built residences. The British spirit extended beyond the name, royal names being chosen for several of the streets. Thus, they have Victoria Avenue, Royal Street, and Windsor Avenue. They call the hotel Royal Crown. At present there are in the town about 350 buildings, including 3 general stores, 3 hardware, 1 confectionery, 5 lumber yards, 5 groceries, 5 meat agencies, 2 drug stores, 5 real estate agencies, 2 doctors, 3 lawyers, 4 pool rooms, 1 mile of permanent walks, 1 moving picture theatre, and the Royal Crown Hotel which has 70 rooms, and cost $45,000.00. The 70 residents at Coronation are up to date; knowing that church union was in the air, they endeavored to organize a Union church, but at the meetings which were held for that purpose there was too much dissension to go ahead with the proposal. Therefore the denominations remain separate. With union, however, they would have erected a fine church and paid some men a good salary. Here as in other points in the West the real estate agent has been at work, and already two quarter sections have been subdivided and sold; another quarter section is held by the C.P.R. and another by the C.P.R., the latter Company having made plans to erect a 7 story round house, a substantial station and other buildings associated with divisional headquarters. New school and municipal buildings will be erected this summer, school being held at present in a small two roomed building, with H. L. Merrill, formerly of Toronto in charge. The publicity and of the new town is well looked after by W. F. Beaulieu, formerly of the Owen Sound Advertiser, who writes the Coronation Review, a weekly whose first issue appeared on the day the town was born.

TAMED THE BULLY

Dramatic Incident of Pioneer Days in Tennessee.

A STAGECOACH ADVENTURE.

The Thrilling Scene When the Terribly Calm Stranger Cowed the Insulting Stagecoach Driver in Tennessee.

As it Was Described by Henry Clay, Who Witnessed It.

Upon a certain occasion in his early manhood Henry Clay was traveling in a public stagecoach in Tennessee. His fellow passengers were a young lady and her husband—the latter evidently an invalid—and a man in the front corner as muffled up in a fur lined cloak that his features were concealed. He appeared to be rather under than over the medium size and was evidently enjoying a refreshing slumber. By and by a big, brown faced, brawny Kentuckian got into this coach, smoking a rank, coarse grained cigar. He glanced around covertly, as though he would impress upon the minds of his new companions that he would chew up and swallow any one who dared to interfere with him. In short, he was half horse and half alligator, with a goodly sprinkling of panther and grizzly bear thrown in. He pulled forth huge volumes of smoke without the least concern for the comfort of his companions.

Presently the lady, who seemed to be growing sick, whispered to her husband, and the husband, in the politest manner possible, asked the stranger if he would not throw away his cigar, as the smoke greatly discommodated his wife. With an impudent, swaggering stare the fellow replied, interlarding his speech with several oaths:

"I reckon I've paid for my place. I'll smoke as much as I please, and I'll like to see some one try to stop me." He looked dangerous as he glared around, and it was very evident that he was used to quarreling and strife, and, furthermore, a struggle with him might have been a deadly one. The young man who had spoken to him shrunk back and was silent. The lady lowered the mask by her side for a breath of fresh air.

Mr. Clay felt every gallant instinct of his soul aroused. He considered for a moment whether he should interfere and found himself reluctant to draw upon his own head the brutal violence of the gigantic ruffian. In that then lawless country he knew that his life might be sacrificed unavenged. He knew himself to be physically unequal to the contest, and he thought, after all, it was not his duty to risk his life in some quixotic manner.

Clay was settling back with pity for the insulted and disgust for the insultor when suddenly, but very quietly, the cloaked figure in the corner assumed an upright position, paring the barred mantle without a particle of excitement, thereby revealing the small, well knit, muscular frame of a man plainly dressed in a closely buttoned frock coat, with a face rather pale and a pair of bright eyes that gleamed like polished steel, and those strange eyes quickly attracted the attention of the foreboding Kentuckian.

With a terrible calmness this man passed his hand under his collar at the back of his neck and deliberately drew forth a long, glittering and ugly looking knife from a sheath in that singular place.

"Stranger," he said, "my name is Colonel James Bowie, well known in Texas and Arkansas. If you do not put that cigar out of the window in less than fifteen seconds I'll put this knife through your heart as sure as death."

Clay said he would never forget the expression of the colonel's eyes at that moment. They told, as unmistakably as signs can tell, that the threat would certainly be fulfilled, and this conviction only increased himself upon the mind of the colonel.

During a very few seconds his eyes met those of Bowie. With all his brute strength he was the weaker man, and he quailed. With a muttered curse he threw his cigar away, upon which Bowie coolly returned the knife to its sheath and, without another look of word, refolded his cloak about him and lay back as before.

At the next stopping place the Kentuckian got out and took a seat with the driver.—New York Telegram.

The Proper Retort.

At a dinner a married man praised the beauty of the Atlantic City girls. Then, with a foolish chuckle, he added:

"I had an awful bunch of them after me when I was down there on my vacation."

The lady beside him looked at him coldly and retorted:

"Dear me! They must have been an awful bunch."—Exchange.

The Better Name.

"Why so?"

Headaches Over the Eyes Mean Frontal Cataract

APT TO GET INTO EARS, CAUSING DEAFNESS, OR TO REACH THE LUNGS AND END IN CONSUMPTION.

You Can Cure Cataract in Any Stage by Breathing the Healing Balsamic Fumes of Catarrhose, and Here is Proof.

Mr. Urie Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetburg, Que., inherited cataract from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Cataract was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhose and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhose pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferronese Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhose could work such a miracle.

"Everyone in town knows I was just about dead with cataract, and in cure is an evidence of what Catarrhose can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhose.

growing in Palestine, and he has since been engaged in crossing it with other varieties in order to produce a superior grade. He declared that plants grown from the experiments thrive in the rocky, shallow and dry soil even without cultivation. The professor is enthusiastic over the matter, and he declares it to be the highest proposition regarding the food supply of the world which we have yet been called to consider. If he succeeds in producing such a wheat as will be commercially profitable upon arid and semi-arid soils, he will undoubtedly have conferred a lasting benefit upon many countries, and yet we venture to predict that for a good many years to come the wheat grown nearest the frozen north will be the wheat most in demand.

A RELIGIOUS WAR.

Had Turkey not sought to impose the Koran on Christians there probably would have been no Balkan war cloud, states a recent writer on the conflict that is threatening the peace of Europe, and doubtless there is in this feature in the mind of Lord George when, in deploring the outbreak, he remarked that good might come out of the conflict and the boundary of freedom and good government be extended. At least the sympathies of Christian countries will be with the Allies whose countrymen in Turkish territory have so long been subjected to Musselman cruelty and oppression.

The Montenegrians are described as the best fighters in the Balkans. Descendants of the aristocrats of the Serb race, the nobles of which were driven to the mountains by the Moslem conquerors centuries ago, these people long defied the power of the Sultan, and after five hundred years have succeeded in erecting their principality into a kingdom, and now their King, Nicholas I, the father-in-law of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, leads these natural-born warriors to battle. All the Balkan powers also have friends and relatives among the mixed population of Macedonia, and the massacres and outrages there perpetrated by the ruthless Turk have been bitter-Greeks, too, have kinemen in Macedonia, and this, joined with their natural hatred of the Turks, will urge them to support the Balkan allies. With such reasons to drive the Turks from Europe and avenge the insult to the Christians, it will be a miracle if the great powers can stay the spread of the war or prevent what the Allies the modification of the territorial status quo of Turkey.

CONCERT BREAKS DOWN.

The higher class of foreign papers declare that the concert of Europe has totally broken down in the presence of the Balkan war. "Europe is rediculous," said the Russian statesman Sazonoff, the other day, but the question at once comes back to what good purpose is Europe re-found, the view of the carnage in the Balkans and the disaster which perhaps awaits states of Europe that are outside of the present war zone?

The truth is that the diplomats have played a stupid and humiliating, as well as a totally impotent game. They have seen nothing; they have no courage; they have no confidence in each other. It has been a game of standing and waiting and watching and suspecting, without frankness, without co-operation, without such control as even the United States would speedily exercise if such a situation arose in the Western world.

There are, as The Graphic says, abnormal political conditions in other countries than the Balkan peninsula. For the same conditions exist in Russia, in Prussian Poland and in a certain part of Italy.

But, however that may be, it is not a question of the pot calling the kettle black, but a question of how far the steamship of Europe has failed to solve a problem that needed only brains and confidence and firmness to dispose of it on the right lines. Now the Balkan States declare that they are going to divide up Turkey in Europe among themselves, that they do not intend to have the European greater power interfere.

The great end of diplomacy for nearly a century has been to keep the Turk in Europe in order to prevent Russia from getting Constantinople, which is the main end of Russian policy and even of Russian war making. In watching each other Germany, France, England, Russia and Austria have managed to let the centuries-old feeling of hatred develop into a passionate period of fighting. They have not sought to deal honestly with the situation, but always selfishly, and the result is such a breakdown of the concert of Europe as to make that term utterly ridiculous.

CANADA'S FOOD MUST BE PURE

Government Takes Action To Assure Purity Of Various Foods

(Special To The Times.)

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—Steps have been taken by the Food and Revenue Department to have standards for a variety of articles of food, including fruit and fruit products and canned fruits, vegetables, honey and lard, properly defined. These precautions have been embodied in a series of regulations approved by the Governor-General in Council. The advantage to the general public of Canada is clearly shown by the scope and details of some of the regulations. Concerning canned fruit the regulation states: "Canned fruit in the sound product made by sterilizing clean, sound, properly matured and prepared fresh fruit, by heating with or without sugar and keeping in suitable, clean, hermetically sealed containers, and conforming in name to the fruit used in its preparation."

Jams and Marmalade

The definitions of jam and marmalade state that they are the sound product made from clean, sound, properly matured and prepared fruit, a fruit pulp and sugar with or without spices or essences, by boiling to a semi-solid consistency; and conform in name to the fruit used in its preparation. It is further stated: "10. When jam, marmalade, fruit, butter, or jelly contains other fruit or fruit juice than that which gives its special name to the article, the fact of the presence of such other fruit shall be stated upon the label, in lettering as large and as distinct as that used in naming the fruit principally present. This requirement does not, however, apply to the use of fruit juices, up to the amount of ten (10) per cent, of the weight of the jam, etc., used instead of water in the manufacture of the jam, etc.

11. When the sugar in preserves, jam, marmalade, fruit butter or jelly is wholly or partially replaced by glucose, or by any other substitute for sugar, the fact of such substitution shall be stated upon the label in plain lettering.

Canned Peas.

As regards canned peas the regulation defines: "1. Canned peas, unless specially designated as below, shall be prepared from the harvest of the year in which they are canned, and shall be the unripe peas of the crop of that year.

2. Ripe peas may be canned, provided that the label shows quite clearly that they are such. This may be done either by labelling them as canned ripe peas, or by the use of the word 'soaked'.

3. Ripe and Unripe Peas. A mixture of ripe and unripe (or green) peas, shall be plainly labelled in such a way as to show that they are such.

A former regulation in regard to lard is amended by adding a provision that "neither lard, leaf lard nor compound lard shall contain any added coloring matter.

Honey, as defined, is entirely the product of the work of bees operating upon the nectar of flowers and other saccharine excretions of plants and contains not more than 25 per cent. of water, not more than 8 per cent. of sucrose (cane sugar), not more than a quarter of 1 per cent. of ash and not less than 60 per cent. of invert sugar.

THE VAST OIL FIELDS WHICH LEAD TO GREAT WEALTH

It is of local interest to note that one of the most prominent oil experts and business men of the Pacific Coast is, for a short time, a guest at the Oriental Hotel. We refer to Mr. A. J. M. Hosom, of Seattle, Wash., president of the Colonial Oil Co. This gentleman is making a business trip through Eastern Canada, awaiting the more settled business conditions that will exist on the American side of the line when the Presidential elections are over. This company is registered under the laws of Canada and about half its directorate is composed of Canadians of highest standing in financial circles of the Dominion, a fact which will be borne out by reference to Bradstreet's or R. O. Dun & Company's commercial agencies. A list of the directors may be had from Mr. Hosom, Mr. Colquhoun, or at this office.

To indicate the regard in which Mr. Hosom is held among prominent business men—where he is known—men who have associated themselves with him in this enterprise, we append the following estimate of his business ability and integrity, made by Mr. E. H. Thomas, managing editor of the Post-Intelligencer, the leading daily newspaper of Seattle. "I know so many men whose business judgment is more to be relied upon than that of Mr. Hosom, and anything that has his approval as a safe and sound business proposition has always secured the co-operation of the careful investor, and for this reason, I and some of my friends are associated with him in the Colonial Oil Co. His interest in investments in farm and coal lands in British Columbia has been good and immensely profitable, and the plan and scope of his organization of the Colonial Oil Co. has novel features which commend it to that class of financiers who are seeking to make the most of such an enterprise."

Some three and a half years ago, Mr. Hosom conceived of a novel, yet practical plan, as it has since proven to be, of collecting large bodies of oil lands from a number of oil fields where oil is known to exist. He said, we will have one big oil company on the Pacific Coast based on many thousands of acres in California, British Columbia and the State of Washington. His company expects to prevent the loss of any of its money, by putting its eggs in a number of baskets. To select these lands and get reports of them by reputable engineers was a task that probably not more than one man in a thousand would care to undertake, and he turned down over 300,000 acres as not suitable for his company. His explorations and those of his engineers were covered by steamers, railroads, launches, canoes and horses and often on foot, the cost running into thousands of dollars and over three years of time. But his enthusiasm, faith in action, sure of his plan, that his company would not lose its money which occurs so often in single oil fields, has claimed the attention of a large number of wealthy men from coast to coast. Mr. J. A. M. Hosom, of Vancouver, B.C., the millionaire oilman of Canada, has been a heavy stockholder in this company, and has since become its treasurer. Mr. E. H. Crandell, one of the strong factors in the financial circles of Calgary, Alberta, was a member of the Board of Directors of the Colonial Oil Co., and a large stockholder in the company. Last August, Mr. Crandell advised Mr. B. H. Silver, 1st Vice President, to come to Calgary during the process of harvesting a bumper wheat crop, that he and his friends would organize a pool and take another large block of the Colonial Oil Company's stock.

Mr. Silver is now in Calgary, Mr. C. A. Thurston, President of the First National Bank of Glendive, Montana, as well as 2nd Vice-President of the Colonial Oil Co., when here last July, said: "Mr. Hosom made a great deal of money for me in coal lands, and I am pleased that he gave me an invitation to join the Colonial Oil Co." Also Mr. E. H. Clark, a millionaire lumberman of Miles City, Montana, with large timber interests on Vancouver Island, said in an interview: "Mr. Hosom is a quiet man, who does things and then lets the people talk. I went into a railroad deal with him a few years ago and he treated me right. About two years afterwards I heard he was buying coal lands. I took an early train for Seattle and called on Mr. Hosom, and asked him if he could use any of my money in his coal lands. He said he could enlarge the railroad out of that deal in about eight months I took down 32 dollars for one. That beats the lumber business. I am going into the Colonial Oil Co. with him for several reasons. He never promises big returns, but delivers larger profits than expected. He has good connections and the confidence of all who trade with him. Mr. Hosom has not said as much, but we expect to see him drill 20 to 30 oil wells in a short time, and then sell out for three or four times the par value of the Company's stock. Mr. Hosom has always had the faculty of surrounding himself with the best of men. It is just as well to me, that I have omitted to state a very important matter in connection with my story. Mr. Hosom, knowing there would not be enough capital on the Pacific Coast available for the Colonial Oil Co., went East some six months ago to look into the financial situation, and being assured that plenty of money was available for his company returned and completed his explorations. He may not go east till after the election."

At $33,000 Too Much.

The advice which Sydney Smith gave Lord Mervyn on the subject of diet was probably sound. "If you wish for anything like happiness in the fifth act of life," he wrote, "eat and drink one-half of what you could eat and drink. Did I say tell you my calculations about eating and drinking? Having ascertained the weight of what I could live upon so as to preserve health and strength, and what I did live upon, I found that between ten and seventy years of age I had eaten and drunk forty-four horse-wagon loads of meat and drink more than would have preserved me in life and health. The value of this mass of nourishment I calculate to be worth $33,000 sterling. It occurred to me that I must, by my voracity, have starved to death fully 100 persons. This is a faithful calculation, but irretrievably true."

Half Holidays.

"No man ought to be asked to work more than eight hours a day," said the reformer. "Look here," replied Farmer Cornelius. "You course you're entitled to your opinion, but you mustn't come around us farmers in the busy season with a proposition to make every day a half holiday."

CATS SHARE DEATH OF GAS SUICIDE

Springfield, Nov. 1.—Lying between her two pet cats, which had been asphyxiated by the illuminating gas fumes, the body of Mrs. Adelaide E. Ingraham, 59 years old, was found at her home here to-day.

Mrs. Ingraham, who came here from Portland, Me., some years ago, had notified her attorney of her suicidal intentions, and had made every provision for the distribution of her property. At one time it was said she was well to do, but that her possessions had dwindled lately.

Mrs. Ingraham's attorney, upon receipt of the letter saying she was to commit suicide, hastened to her house with a policeman. After breaking down the doors, they found the woman's body in a room between two cats, which has been her only companions.

"HUMAN HEARTS."

The powerful and impressive melodrama "Human Hearts," presented by an exceptionally strong company of players, will be offered to the approval of lovers of all that is clean and wholesome in melodrama on the stage at Grand Opera House, on Friday, Nov. 8th.

"Human Hearts" has been firmly established as one of the most original and interesting of modern dramas. The author has long been famous as a playwright but in the present instance, he has surpassed all his former efforts. For ingenuity, strength and brilliancy "Human Hearts" is a marvel of stage craft, done by a master hand in stage melodrama. The author has poured out his entire store of dramatic knowledge in this play. He has produced a work magnificent in possibilities for a melodramatic public. The characters are finely drawn, the dialogue is crisp, the human interest is all absorbing, the comedy charming and the pathos is sincere. Taken on its entirety, "Human Hearts" is probably one of the strongest plays of its kind ever shown on the American stage.

This is a Want Ad

Town

nd There Are a Lot of Important Things

That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished

at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease,

property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right

people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED

through an adequate campaign of classified advertising.

If the matter is left to an agent, or broker,

he must advertise your proposition aggressively—

for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice

at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers.

They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

Weak, Tired Folks Given New Vigor

Strength Returns, Health Renewed, Vitality of Youth Re-created.

Exhaustion and Bodily Tiredness Every Day Being Turned Into Vigor and Ambition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From Chobeco, Pt., N.S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous, and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings around my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when springtime arrived I was in the 'blues.' I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

CITY AND DISTRICT

PACKERS HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Deer and Wolves Killed.
Reports received by The Times last night from the Winch party at Ketchikan Lake, stated that this hunt club had already killed six deer and two wolves.

Barbers to Hold Banquet.
The local Barber's Union held a meeting last night in the labor hall. It was decided to hold a banquet on December 5th, the 25th anniversary of the organization of the Barbers' Union.

Power Committee in Toronto.
The Power Committee of the City Council leave this morning for Toronto to interview Hon. Adam Beck in reference to the power question, now agitating the city.

A SMALL FIRE.
About 11 o'clock last night the Fire Brigade had a call to the residence of Solomon Isaacs, at 576 Aylmer street, where a small blaze had got as far as the $200 damage mark when the Brigade arrived and stopped its progress.

P.C.I. vs. T.C.S. To-morrow.
The T.C.S. rugby team, who have once defeated the first P.C.I. this season, will play the return game here to-morrow. The game will be called at Riverside Park at 3.30 o'clock and the Collegiate pupils are being given a half holiday for the occasion.

Rev. Dr. Marsh Speaks To-night.
A meeting of the local centre of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held in the Collegiate Institute this evening at eight o'clock. Dr. Marsh will give an illustrated address. He will also present a report of the dedication of Allegheny Observatory, which he attended recently.

Clothes of July and January.
Yesterday well known farmer of Smith was in the city in a garb that intermingled July and January. His exterior attire (and it would be a good guesser who could tell his under apparel) consisted of a pair of fur mitts, a heavy overcoat and a "near" Panama straw hat.

Dr. Wainwright Is Home.
Dr. A. G. Wainwright, the Osteopathic physician, has returned from Buffalo, where he and Mrs. Wainwright were called by the death of the latter's cousin who was drowned. The particulars of the accident point to the deceased and a young friend meeting death by the upsetting of a canoe. Mrs. Wainwright will remain in Buffalo until the recovery of the body.

Canadian Club Banquet.
Members of the Canadian Club are reminded of the address to be given at their meeting this evening by Mr. E. C. Cressman, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

SOWING HIS WILD OATS REAPING A HARVEST OF SORROW

How many young men can look back on their early life and regret their misdeeds. "Sowing his wild oats" in various ways. Excesses, violation of nature's laws, "wine, women and song"—all have their victims. You have reaped but what about the seed you have sown? What about the harvest? Don't trust to luck. If you are at present within the clutch of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering the result of a mispent life—DRS. K. & K. ARE YOUR REFUGE. Lay your case before them confidentially and they will tell you honestly if you are curable.

Address all letters as follows:

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.

Dr. Cressman is a most interesting speaker. Extra seating capacity has been provided in anticipation of an unusually large attendance. A full report of the proceedings will be contained in Wednesday's issue.

Looks Like McAnally.

It now looks as though young Leahy, winner of the Junior event in the Y.M.C.A. Thanksgiving Day race, will be disqualified and the award be made to Tom McAnally of Ennismore. The family record shows Leahy to be under eighteen, but the registry shows him to be nearing nineteen.

Dead From Broken Heart Wound.

Our readers will remember that on Tuesday last, Mr. Alexander Stewart of Otonabee, shipped from a hay mow and fell on a broom handle. The latter penetrated his body. On Sunday as a result of his wound, Mr. Stewart passed away. The late Mr. Stewart, who was a well known farmer and horse dealer, is survived by a wife and two sons.

Collegiate Institute Won.

One of these funny jollies! who think it is the quintessence of wit to fool a newspaper, called us up Saturday night and informed us that the P.C.I. had lost the rugby game at Lindsay on Saturday. From his voice and manner of speaking he presented a respectable white man. His report, in the haste of making up was taken literally. The truth of the matter is that the Collegiate boys won by a score of 8 to 5.

Students Volunteer Movement.

A convention under the auspices of the Student Volunteer Movement of Ontario and Quebec will be held in the city on November 29th, 30th and December 1st. The Murray street Baptist church has been chosen as the most suitable place in which to hold the conference. On Friday, Nov. 29th, a special train will convey the students of Toronto to the convention and there will be others from Montreal, Ottawa and Kingston.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES.

A pool tournament will be launched within a few days. All members interested in the above sport are requested to attend a meeting of the players in the Y.M.C.A. parlours at 7 p.m. sharp to-morrow evening, to make final arrangements. Much indignation has been voiced in regard to the contemptible purloining of the pennant which was won by the canoe boys last summer at Lake Chemong, from the hall of the Y.M.C.A.

Archdeaconry Convention Opens.

Rev. Jas. E. Fleming was preacher at the opening of the 15th annual conference of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough, held last night in St. Luke's church. The regular business session will be opened to-day when matters appertaining to the church will be considered. Rev. W. H. Griffith Thomas, M.A.B.D., of Wycliffe College, will address a public meeting in the school hall, at 8 p.m. The conference continues on Wednesday.

Local Banker's Father Dead.

The sympathy of the community will be extended to Mr. E. C. McLeod local manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia over the death of his father, Mr. M. W. McLeod, ex-post-office inspector, at Winnipeg, yesterday morning. Mr. McLeod was 46 years of age and a resident of Peterborough. He was born in New London, P.E.I. in 1847, coming west in 1882, and since that time had resided in Winnipeg.

An Ungallant Youth?

At yesterday's police court two young lads were charged with committing certain pranks, to wit, the removal of a maid citizen's variegated steps on Halloween. P. C. Sills, possibly to the tune of the "Rogues' March" gathered the boys in. When questioned by the Magistrate, instead of doing like Sir Galahad or Lord Bruin de Bump would have done in days of old, one of the lads "gave away" the names of the girls with him. No wonder Chivalry died when gunpowder came in. The boys pleaded not guilty.

Fairweather vs. C.G.E. Co.

An order has been made at Osgood Hall in the case of Fairweather vs. Canadian General Electric. Motion by defendants for an order changing place of trial from Belleville to Peterborough under C.R. 529 (6). Order made. Costs in the case. Notice of trial to stand for Non-Jury Sittings at Peterborough if plaintiff so elects. The case concerns a civil action which is being instituted by Mrs. Edna Isabella Fairweather, nee Rogers, widow of Henry Fairweather.

FELL IN DRUG STORE AND SEVERELY HURT

As Mr. John Trotter of 120 Elm street, was making his exit from Kent's drug store at the corner of George and Hunter streets, yesterday afternoon at 3.35 one of his crutches, used as he is crippled, slipped on the floor and Trotter fell heavily, bruising one of his legs. The damage seemed to be in his hip. Mr. Geo. Ross, clerk, in the store, quickly telephoned for Comstock's ambulance, which was quickly on the spot. As usual in such accident cases, a crowd quickly gathered about the scene. P. C. Bullard very properly kept the gathering crowd from entering the shop. A stretcher was brought in and the man, groaning loudly, was gently placed thereon with a roll of blankets beneath his knees. Dr. Sutton, his physician, was sent for and attended Mr. Trotter at Nichol's hospital, where he was taken. Later the Times called up Dr. Sutton last night to enquire how Mr. Trotter was progressing. We were pleased to find that the injuries of the sufferer were not as bad as thought before he underwent medical examination. It was ascertained that no bones had been broken, but that Trotter had sustained a severe bruising about the hip! He will probably be discharged from the hospital in about a week.

Long Courtships.

In no country in the world are courtships so abnormally long as in Denmark, where engagements commonly last from fifteen to twenty years. In fact, there recently died there, at the age of ninety-nine, an old man who had been courting for seventy-five years and who was married on his deathbed.

SEALING TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Three Rivers, P.Q." will be received at this office, until 4.00 p.m., on Monday, November 25, 1912, for the construction of a Public Building at Three Rivers, P.Q.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of Mr. Chas. Laford, Architect, Three Rivers, P.Q.; R. L. Deschamps, Esq., 105 St. Francois Xavier St., Montreal, and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

R. C. DESROCHERS, Secretary.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, October 2, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.—30898.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole need of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Land Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

THE SCIENCE OF EUTHENICS.

Which Deals With Race Improvement Through Environment.

With the growing interest in questions of racial hygiene, to which thoughtful men and women have come to attach great importance two complementary sciences are rapidly developing—eugenics and eutheics. Eugenics is the farther advanced in the systemizing and extending of knowledge in the domain which it covers.

The younger of the two, however, appropriates a large body of knowledge already acquired in closely related sciences. Its ends are nearer than the material, but its independence of aim gives high promise of what it may accomplish in the future.

Eutheics deals with race improvement through environment. It studies the hygiene of the present generation, while eugenics deals with race improvement through heredity for future generations.

Eutheics teaches us that diseases themselves are seldom inherited, but the power to resist disease may be inherited, and unless this resistance is present a child is liable to fall a prey to the ever-present microbe.

Heredity and environment taken together produce a child's characteristic health, and as heredity is nothing more than stored environment, every child has a chance to add to that store, so that her child's health can be better than his parents.

A bad inheritance often can be overcome by a good environment.

A mother, whose child has tuberculosis inheritance, should take great precautions to prevent him from contracting the disease.

Cow milk is the source of fully one-half of the cases of intestinal tuberculosis in children—a disease, which, if contracted under one year, nearly always is fatal.

Next to food comes fresh air. The child should take all his naps out of doors, and at night a window should always be open, but without too many moving currents of air.

As the child grows up he should have outdoor games, because such amusements bring appetite, health and sleep.

The next important thing is to prevent contagion. A child should never be kissed on the mouth, no matter by whom it may be.

All children should be taught to be clean—to prevent all diseases, but especially tuberculosis. The finger nails and hands should be kept especially clean. He should never use a drinking cup that another has used or even a glass that has been fingered.

Three Methods of Derision.

There are very few allusions to derision in Latin authors, but one of these is interesting. The birds have a curious custom of snapping their bills, making quite a sharp noise. Young and old birds, both during and after the breeding season, constantly do this. In the writings of Persius there is a reference to this habit. "There are," he says, "three favorite ways of deriding a man—by putting the hands behind the head like asses' ears, by putting out the tongue like a dog and snapping the fingers against the palm of the hand like a clock's bill." The first two methods of mockery are plain, but what was the cause of the last—Notes and Queries.

A Cutting Rabuka.

In some parts of Scotland it is customary for a bride to bring a dowry to her husband, no matter how little. One couple who had experienced the strife of wedded bliss for some years were having the usual row, when the husband taunted the lady with the paucity of worldly goods with which she had endowed him.

"Ava" said he. "When ye marryt me a' ye brought was a cask o' whisky an' the auld Bible."

"W. I. Jock," was the response, "gin ye had paid as much attention to the book as ye did to the whisky ye would have been a member o' the gospel the noo."

Gentle Sermon.

"What a brilliant conversationalist Mr. Jenkins is! Do you know him, really, it's an education to listen to him talking."

"Yes," said gentle Mrs. Smith. "I have met him."

"You must have found him very entertaining. Why, he can talk cleverly and wittily for an hour at a stretch."

"Then when I met him," said Mrs. Smith, with a sweet smile, "it must have been at the beginning of the second hour."

Madrid's Night Watchmen.

Madrid still has the medieval night watchmen. They admit little comers to the apartment houses at night, but no longer sing out the hour or the condition of the weather. They still go by the name of "paseos," which means "paseos," and their cry is "paseos, paseos."

Court Scores Cheap TheatresIn opening the new Juvenile Court in Montreal Judge Choquet scored the moving picture shows as being the cause of the moral ruin of many chilwith what regret I have noticed the bad influence of moving picture shows upon children. In every case, without exception, the children brought before me, whether Protestants or Catholics, were in the habit of attending these shows, and I have found in several cases that this had been the cause of their downfall. The evil is greater than might be suspected. The majority of these moving picture shows are not what they ought to be. I have no doubt but that they are one of the principal causes of the moral ruin of children, and it comes necessary, therefore, to regulate them with the utmost severity. I also think it necessary to act with more severity against youthful cigarette smokers, and above all against those who sell to them."HOW TO MAKE MONEYVarious Ways for a Boy to Earn chinery Attending to Western TradeImplement, implement, implements everywhere and none under cover! This strikes a person at almost every station in the vast agricultural area of the West. Where does all this machinery come from? When the Made-in-Canada train was at Regina, Mr. T. H. Race, the official lecturer, accompanied by the Secretary of the Board of Trade visited the various implement yards and made an estimate of the value of machinery awaiting distribution. Here is what they found:American implements $2,000,000.00

Canadian implements $0,000.00
Enormous TradeA booklet issued by the Regina Board of Trade says "Regina is the largest point of distribution of agricultural implements in the world."
In view of this statement the above figures are even more significant, in that they probably represent the relative expenditures on American and Canadian machinery throughout the West. At every stop of the Made-in-Canada train the percentage of American implements was very large. Typical of numerous stations along the line may be mentioned the sign of an American firm prominently displayed over a yard of farm machines at a new settlement west of Maple Creek.
The town was born only this year,
but its principal trade, so far, is the distribution of farm machinery. The enormous revenue in the West from agricultural machinery is illustrated by the Secretary of the Regina Board of Trade who stated that last year $35,000,000 worth of implements was delivered from that point, the freight and customs paid being $15,000,000.Hint to CanadiansThe agents for United States manufacturing concerns are selling farm machinery in car load lots to many towns, which indicates that the Canadian manufacturer of implements is not taking the proper advantage of his opportunity. In this connection the Telegram adds: "The Canadian manufacturer is blind to the necessities of Western Canada and the signs of the times if he does not realize that it is his duty to get into the West with branch factories and offices and end the stupendous folly of undertaking to maintain long distance control of the Western Canada market. The time has passed when a manufacturer having his factories
at London, Hamilton, Toronto or Ottawa can hope to dominate a market through the medium of agencies as against the aggressive methods of the American manufacturers. He must get into the West, establish branch factories and melt this American competition on the ground."FOREIGNERS IN BRITAINOf 1,811 aliens naturalized in

Willing to Give Financial AidOther towns and even transportation villages throughout the West are giving much thought to the establishment of local industries. Winnipeg, already has a dozen thousand employees, whose annual wages amount to nine million dollars.
There are few municipalities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta but are willing to aid, financially, the establishment of some local industry.
London owns 160 acres, which will eventually be distributed as free sites for factories. Souris is completing a power plant, from which it is hoped to supply cheap power to factories.
Saskatoon proposes to pipe water for ten miles, partly, at least, for the encouragement of industries. The list might be extended indefinitely. Municipalities know that industrial development would very materially promote mixed farming, by establishing a home market for farm produce, such as milk, cream, eggs and meats.WORKERS ARE NEEDED"What we want in Canada," said stretches of land yet untitled in our West, and we want artisans and laborers to supply the rapidly growing generally to accept the new order of things in the celestial kingdom by removing the traditional queue and ar-appearance will permit, it is natural that the women should follow. Shanghai advises tell of a general tendency on the part of Chinese ladies of the present day, the "new women," to appear not only in the garb of fashionable Europe, but to adopt the Western mode of dressing their hair. The old manner of parting the hair done to the head is rapidly giving way to the modern European method of parting and arranging it in fluffy style. However, the practice of parting the hair known as "pouffing," which is necessary when they dress the hair in the old Chinese style in order to show the rather hard lines, the head of these Oriental women is found to be surprisingly soft and wavy.Nacey

THE COLONIAL OIL COMPANY.

IT is recognized by Men of Prominence in the Industrial and Financial World to-day that no business offers greater opportunity for big returns on money invested than does Oil.

The Colonial Oil Company, owing to the fact that its holdings includes 26,000 acres of carefully selected Oil Lands in different sections, from Alaska in the North to California in the South, as well as in British Columbia, thus making it an International Corporation, are vastly better equipped to get satisfactory results than is a company who are operating in one field only.

The Lands of this Company have been favourably reported upon by the most eminent Experts in the World---Men whose names carry weight in the Oil World, and to whose opinion great value attaches. On the reports of Redwood, of London, England, large amounts have been spent in development of Alaska and California Oil Lands. The Lands owned by this Company in Alaska are on tide water with perfect facilities for transportation, and have been specially reported on by Sir Bovington Redwood of London, the leading Oil Authority. To those unacquainted with the Oil situation as it exists to-day we submit the following facts:---

GASOLINE--Supply and Demand.

Before the advent of the Gasoline Engine, Gasoline was a nuisance to the oil interests, but now there are probably some millions of engines turned out for motor cars and almost innumerable other uses, with hundreds of daily accessions to the list of engines, consuming hourly immense quantities of gasoline throughout the world; the cause of the high cost of gasoline is evident. These facts known to all manufacturers of engines and dealers in oil. The supply is short and will continue so until more oil of light gravity is taken from the earth.

In Alaska Crude Oil is being refined that yields 36 per cent of gasoline and 28 per cent of coal oil and from this field the main gasoline supply of the world will undoubtedly be obtained. The Oil of British Columbia and Washington are also of light quality containing a high percentage of gasoline, while the Oil obtained from California is mostly of heavy quality suited for fuel purposes.

The British and United States Navies have experimented with the heavy oils for fuel to replace coal, and in point of efficiency find the oil far superior to coal. These navies would have adopted oil several years since only that there was some doubt about securing a supply for a term of years. The United States Geological Survey reported that in California alone there was enough oil bearing area discovered to supply the navy for twenty-five years! At present the U. S. torpedo boat destroyers are using fuel oil only, as are the two Dreadnoughts--the "Nevada" and "Oklahoma" now under construction. The super-dreadnought "Pennsylvania," recently authorized, will also burn only oil.

The British Government sent Mr. J. D. Henry, the leading authority on British Colonial Oil subjects, to prospect the colonies. According to Mr. Henry, Canada has large supplies of Oil absolutely untouched. Some 200 to 500 miles above Athabasca Landing, considerable tracts have been surveyed for drilling purposes, and work will be started this summer. Mr. Henry also speaks specifically of British Columbia as an Oil-bearing country, and says that quite a lively search for oil is being conducted along the coast.

In view of the immense importance of the question, not only to Canada, but the whole Empire, and seeing that the navy can be made more efficient and independent by a proper and adequate supply of oil fuel, any opportunity for developing new Oil fields in Canada will be watched with the greatest interest. But when Oil is recognized as a fundamental necessity for self-defence, the possible fields should be thoroughly developed at all costs, and it is important that every facility should be afforded to those seeking it. Lack of money in such an enterprise should not be allowed to stand in the way of accredited companies.

POPULARITY.

Oil is now the most popular investment before the public, and the present wave of its popularity is largely due to the fact that the leading navies of the world have tested it and proven its efficiency over coal--the British navy's test showing a speed of 10 per cent over coal. Two Dreadnoughts of equal tonnage, the one burning oil, will travel ten miles to gain a vantage point, while the enemy burning coal will only reach nine miles of the distance. While it must be remembered that oil is a speculation, it does not require a strong, analytical mind to determine that the profits earned in other new oil fields is most likely to occur in the Colonial Oil Company's fields outside of California, and the Company feels assured that its California operations will always be able to finance and extend its exploitations in the new oil fields. The Company owns 6000 acres in California.

Popularity in oil is due also to the increasing demand for automobiles and auto engines, and a loud cry is being made everywhere against the present high price of gasoline. The makers and owners of automobiles are demanding a greater supply of gasoline at a cheaper figure and are giving both moral and financial support to creditable Oil Companies.

PROFITS

The profits in Oil production are very great, as will be shown by the following figures:--The cost of oil after the well has been drilled ranges from 5c to 10c per barrel. The values of oils at the wells vary greatly in the different fields--the fuel oil of California ranges in price from 40c to 50c a barrel--about 34 barrels equalling 1 ton of best steam coal under boilers, while the high gravity paraffin oils are worth as much as $2.00 per barrel at the wells. But the value at the wells only represents about one-fourth of its real value, which lies in the bi-products, and belongs to the refiner. This lets the cat out of the bag, and reveals the secret of some of the great oil fortunes that have been made. The Colonial Oil Company, with its different fields carrying both the high and the low grades of oil, expects to take all the profits from its oils for itself.

To produce an article at a cost of 10c a barrel and sell it for 50c to $2.00 a barrel, crude, is a nice business, and has made fortunes for all well managed companies. But to a company which can refine the crude oil and make two dollar oil worth eight dollars a barrel it is a very interesting business. The scope of the Colonial Oil Company places it in a position to grasp the opportunities described herein and with the men whose names are furnished herewith to direct its affairs, its prospects are unusually bright.

FIELD OF DEAD BODIES

London, Nov. 5.—The Turkish army occupying the line from Tiberias to Irbid was repulsed to-day by the Bulgarians on the eastern flank according to a news agency despatch from Sofia.

FIELDS COVERED WITH BODIES.

Athens, Greece, Nov. 5.—The fighting between the Turks and Greeks around Janina was of the most stubborn character. The fields round the city are covered with bodies, and the road from Janina to Salonika is strewn with war material thrown away by the retreating Turks.

The Greeks have captured a large number of prisoners and four-ton pieces of field artillery.

THIRTY MILES OF WOUNDED.

London, Nov. 5.—A correspondent retreating with the Turkish army telegraphs that for thirty miles he passed wounded men either lying on the ground or being transported on bullock carts, while there painfully dragged themselves along. They had no food and there was not a habitation within twenty miles.

The Turkish hospitals consist chiefly of bearer companies and the transport wagons carry no nourishment for the wounded.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION IN REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION

The Party Who Defaced The Collegiate Institute on Halloween Night is Known to the Police—Will the Board Prosecute

The Board of Education met last night, Chairman Mr. John Crane presiding. There were also present: Trustees R. Fair, B. F. Ackerman, V. Eastwood, L. M. Hayes, W. H. Hill, Dr. Morrison, Dr. Barnham, Col. Miller.

The Board was invited to send delegates to attend a Provincial conference to be held in the City Hall, Toronto, on Friday, November 8th, to discuss the question of caring for feeble minded children. The Chairman and Dr. Morrison were named the Board's delegates.

John Lashar, janitor of South Central School, asked for an increase in salary by reason of increased duties. No action was taken.

The scholars of the Central School through their principal, asked that a portion of their playground be converted into a skating rink this winter. This was referred to the Property Committee with power to act.

The St. George's Choral Society wrote expressing their appreciation of the use of the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall, but asked that the fee of $5 a meeting be changed to a lump sum of $50 the season. On motion of Col. Miller and Dr. Barnham, this request was acceded to, the society to remunerate the janitor.

Trustee T. H. Adams resigned his position on the Board, being about to leave the city.

Miss McQuarrie resigned from the Public School teaching staff.—Accepted.

Mr. G. T. Collins, mathematician in the Institute tendered his resignation.—Accepted.

The Revolver Incident.

The two Collegiate Institute boys mixed up in the recent revolver incident in school, were on motion of Trustees Hays and Eastwood reinstated, the boys having been severely reprimanded by the Police Magistrate and suffered suspension from school.

New Trustees Appointed.

Moved by W. H. Hill, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that "whereas Mr. T. B. Adams' resignation as a member of this Board is accepted, and it is necessary that some other duly qualified person should be elected by this Board in his place.

Therefore be it resolved that Dr. J. A. Middleton be hereby elected a member of this Board in the place of the said T. H. Adams and to hold office for the remainder of the term for which the said T. H. Adams was elected."—Carried.

No Fever in Schools.

Inspector Mowat reported that the cases of scarlet fever in South Central school did not originate in the school. For the past twelve days the school has been found quite free from fever of any kind.

Guilty Party Discovered.

Col. Miller spoke quite strongly of the shameful behavior of the Collegiate Institute on Halloween night, and said so far as he is concerned, no stone should be left unturned to discover and prosecute the guilty party or parties, even should it take twelve months to do so.

Chairman Mr. John Crane here offered that the detective department had reported the discovery of the culprit.

The Board approved of the action of the chairman of the Property Committee in this connection, and instructed the Property Committee

GENERAL EUROPEAN WAR LIKELY TO BREAK OUT AT ANY MOMENT

Alarming Reports From The Balkan States—British Warships on the Scene

London, Nov. 5.—The disagreement of the powers over the terms of peace becomes hourly more apparent. Austria and Italy are working together, and have evidently resolved to demand substantial territorial concessions in Albania. The Balkan League planned before the war the creation of an autonomous Albanian. Moslem Albania, however, threw in its lot with Turkey. Austria and Italy are now in favor of the creation of Albanian as an autonomous Turkish Province under Austrian and Italian protection, which means the first step towards Austrian annexation.

BRITISH WARSHIPS WORRY GERMANY.

Turkey's prayer for mediation by the powers has been unsympathetically received. England's action in hastening a powerful fleet to the Mediterranean is to-day arousing uneasiness throughout Germany.

The real danger of the moment lies in the possibility of Italy, Austria and Germany presenting concurrent demands which the other powers cannot concede and which they cannot withdraw without loss of prestige.

ADRIANOPLE SHORT OF FOOD.

There is a momentary lull in the war. The Bulgarian armies are pausing for food, rest and ammunition before attacking Tchatalja. The Adrianople garrison is making sorties in an attempt to force its way through the besiegers. This almost proves that the garrison are in a desperate state for food.

Nazim Pasha is re-assembling his forces in the last ditch, and the Anatolian reserves are being hurried forward day and night to the front.

Military opinions here are sharply divided as to the possibility of successful resistance behind Tchatalja lines. Some experts describe them as fatigued and ill-equipped outposts. The Bulgarians take them more seriously, as is shown by their pause at a moment when every hour is valuable.

Foreign warships are rapidly arriving at Constantinople.

To secure a report from the police and submit same to the Board.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of a number of accounts.

Report of Building Committee. Gentlemen.—Your Committee has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the tender of Messrs. R. G. Sturgeon & Co. of $9,870.00 for the heating of the two new schools, as accepted. This is the lowest tender.

Your Committee also recommend that the solicitor be instructed to draw up the necessary contract and that their cheque be returned as soon as the bondsman are approved by the Committee and have signed the necessary Bonds, and that the cheques of the other tenders be returned to them forthwith.

Tenders for the plumbing have not yet been received owing to a change in the specification but will be considered shortly.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED.

Report of the Committee.

At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, Mr. John Robinson, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Sheehan were united in marriage by the Rev. Father O'Brien. Mr. Patrick Allen supported the groom, and the bride was supported by Miss Theresa Crowley. After a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will reside in the city.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Emma, four months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hamilton, 372 Burnham street, passed away on Monday night.

The funeral will take place this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Fresh westerly to south westerly winds and mild.

WOODROW WILSON PRESIDENT

Woodrow Wilson was elected President of the United States yesterday and Thomas R. Marshall, Vice-President. The following was the result at 8.45 p.m.:

|-----------|-----|
| WILSON | 842 |
| TAFT | 4 |

This ensures the election of Mr. Wilson by a huge majority. Ideal weather for the election prevailed throughout the United States yesterday which resulted in the polling of an exceptionally large rural vote where the contest is regarded as close. In fact, in every section where the result was believed to be in doubt, the heaviest vote on record was polled both in rural and urban districts. The only states from which a slight voting is reported are those on the south, where a Democratic victory was always conceded.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION HOLD THEIR ANNUAL BANQUET

Last night the Peterborough Retail Merchants' Association held their annual banquet in the National Hotel. Mine host Denison, with his proverbial knowledge of how to cater to such gatherings provided a spread fit for Lucretia. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. Thos. Barrie, of Barrie's Limited, supported by Mr. Cameron, the George street sartorial expert, secretary of the Association. About 60 sat down at the well appointed tables. After the good menu had been regaled to the various departments of the Interior, President Barrie called "order," and said he had never made a public speech in his life. The association had not made the progress it had in the past year. There was talk of a co-operative society; this would be neither a benefit to the merchants nor the community. The association now had an efficient secretary.

Mr. Trower, general secretary of the association, expressed his pleasure at being present. Regarding the inactivity of the local branch, there are some of the old guard who know that the Retail Merchants' Association is the only hope of the mercantile community. If the merchants could only get it into their heads

THE ALBANIAN PEASANT

HE IS PERHAPS THE FIERCEST INHABITANT OF EUROPE.

The Half Mohammedan and Half-Christian Mountaineer Who Lives in the Rocky Country on the Confines of Turkey in Asia Has a Passion For War and Will Fight on the Slightest Pretext.

Those familiar with conditions in the Ottoman Empire see tremendous danger in the recent outbreak in the Persian district of Albania, where Christians were butchered by Mohammedan marauders, aided by Turkish troops. Of all the peoples of the Moslem world the Albanians are the most fanatical followers of the Prophet and it is said by travelers in the south of Europe that if the worst came to the worst the Sultan could take refuge in Albania today and defy the world, says a recent writer.

All over southeastern Europe one hears of the strange customs among these Albanians. When we planned a tour into the province, it was to have embraced the Sea of Scutari. To go further, however, meant becoming involved in the most repellent custom ever met with in Europe. In the Caucasus-That you have to drink hospitality with the peasant hosts, all from one and the same glass, and in Turkey one is frequently compelled to share the luncheon of some filthy individual; but in Albania, to credit those claiming to have ventured into its fastnesses, you drink blood with your host and in this wise.

You meet your host on the neutral boundary line. He is in the milky white suit of an Albanian lord, the tall white fex throwing in relief the long hair, straggling at each side of the brow, and the fierce fiery eyes that pierce one's soul with their lustre. No pity, no sympathy, nothing but greed and fiery hate and bigotry can one read in those flashing pupils. The host takes his knife from his belt and out a gash in his left hand, somewhere on the back. As the blood trickles he lets it flow into one of the small Albanian drinking cups, brought at Cattaro or in Montenegro, from the traders. Then you, too, must do the same, and to the mixed-bloods in the cup, wine from the village taverns is added. He takes a gulp, you take a gulp, and you are sworn "blood brothers" and are safe anywhere in the bounds of his clan.

Time and again, be this as it may, for there are some Albanians who deny it just as there are Sioux who would tell you they no longer hold the Sun Dance, on the in the Balkans an Albanian will be seen to dart and throw his arms about some other white-clad Albanian in the most affectionate of greetings.

What is my brother? he will explain and the meaning is involved in the blood brotherhood. Unless one drinks the blood, it is stated, a Christian may bind the Albanian by the most solemn oath before taking him as guide at a laborious sum and then, once the notions enters his head, the Albanian may deliberately shoot you down in some lone trail in the mountains, for if the Moslem deem the occasion good he has no hesitancy in breaking any oath made to the infidel.

Facts about the fanatic upland Albanian are hard to obtain.

Another custom laid to the door of the mountain Albanian is that which obtained among the early Goths and Vandals and this regards the children. When a babe is born in Albania, it is claimed and we heard these claims over and over in the Balkans, the father exercises the right to judge if it shall live or die; and since of the sleek, expensive and hardy weed out the majority, these seem little likelihood of Albania becoming over-populated.

Some forgotten wave of emigration, in the centuries past, married a little band of Albanians on the Dalmatian coast, near the city of Zara and in the time when Volker Wanderung were the order of the day and the coast of the Adriatic swarmed with pirates these folk withdrew a little ways into the interior where their town of Erioz is now built.

But by bit civilization found its way down among the Dalmatian archipelagoes and to Zara, where the marauding trade has brought wealth and civilization. But the Albanians profited only indirectly by this and as the Filipinos for years had the Spaniard before him as example so here the Albanian, profiting by a milder rule, has sought his destiny and not wholly without success.

These Albanians are of the Roman Catholic faith, splendid types of manhood, tall, erect and as haughty as an Iroquois and above all trustworthy. They are the brethren of the Albanian who has allied against his kin and aided the Turk and on whom Sultans have at times called for defence against invaders. Along the Montenegrin border, an officer at Cetinje tells me, frays between these two sects, developing into feuds of interminable length, are the order of the day and the very slightest error in judgment on the part of the border patrol may result in a dozen deaths.

Spotless white flannel, short trousers, reaching to the knees, short-cut coat, open in the front and the tall fez, as with the Moslem, is the regulation attire of the Christian Albanian, save where civilization has spotted him.

Under the open coat a shirt is seen and in bold relief against the white the broad leather belt of bullets, brass-capped missiles, "ever ready to do deadly work" as the Albanian says.

Couple this with the long rounded face, the high neck and the broad chest of the Albanian and you have a living impersonation of unknown, latent strength.

Authorities set the coast line of Albania at 280 miles in length, but not an acre of the almost 19,000 square miles of the province is over 100 miles from the sea.

Curious Facts About the Eye.

A very curious fact is the impossibility of moving your eye while examining the reflection of that organ in a mirror. It is really the most movable part of the face. Yet if you hold your head fixed and try to move your eye while watching it you cannot do it—even the one-thousandth of an inch. Of course if you look at the reflection of the nose or any other part of your face your eye must move to see it. But the strange thing is that the moment you endeavor to perceive the motion the eye is fixed. This is one of the reasons why a person's expression as seen by himself in a glass is quite different from what it is when seen by others.

How She Knew.

Apricots of the servant maid difficulty I heard a good story the other day. The wife of a very well known Irish official was in want of another nurse, and among those who applied for the position was a good-natured looking girl of about seventeen. "You tell me," said the official's wife, "what you are very fond of children. That is all very well in its way, but do you understand anything about the duties of a nursery? Have you any experience of children?" "Yes, mum," was the reply. "Sure, I used to be a child wanst myself."—London Teller.

A Oak's Capacity.

Should you wish to get the capacity of a oak you can do so in the following manner: Take the measurements from the burghole to the bottom of each end of the oak in inches. Average the two measurements. Multiply this figure by itself twice. Then multiply the product by .00236, and the remainder is the number of gallons. Example: 31 inches, 33 inches (average 32 inches). 32x32x32=32,768, which multiplied by .00236=77.52. The contents, therefore, are sixty-one gallons and a fraction.

Effragant.

Mrs. McTaggart—Hotel Dinna fash (jazz)! McTaggart! Twa a bad shillig I gave him!
The McTaggart—a bad shillig! Ma coincidence—do extravigance! Wuman, had ye no bad asseption?—Sydney Bulletin.

His Confidence.

"Well, George," she called from the top of the stairs at 11 a.m. "what was it this time? Did your lodge meet, or was it necessary for you to stay in town to discuss business with somebody who had to catch a midnight train, or did you drop in at the club and get into a friendly little game with some of the boys, or was it an extra rush of work at the office?" He along to the naval post for a moment and, blinking, looked up at her. Then he endeavored to maintain his lips and said:
"Mary, if I didn't have confidence in you I'd think you were a magnificent one of me—honey I would."

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 20,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

Brown and Jones were discussing the question of who should be head of the house, the man or the woman.
"I am the head of my establishment," said Jones. "I am the bread-winner. Why shouldn't I be?"
"Well," replied Brown, "before my wife and I were married we made an agreement that I should make the money in all major things, my wife in all minor things."
"How has it worked?" queried Jones.
Brown smiled. "So far," he replied, "no major matters have come up."
A Mean Thrust.
"Have you ever placed yourself in the hands of a beauty doctor, Mrs. Brown?"

Billiards in India.
In India billiards flourish in a remarkable manner. Every native who is in the position to please himself has a table for the use of his friends and himself. Nearly all the native rulers have billiard rooms in their palaces, and more than a few play quite a good game.

Breed of the Vikings.
The breed of the Vikings found in modern Gothland has been examined and proven to be a mixture of pure and pure blood, so that Sweden must have had pure blood at least 1,000 years ago.

Slowly Monks and Nuns.
In the sequestered province of Nam there are 168,000 monks and nuns connected with the temples of the native religion.

Dropping in the Oil.
When oiling clocks, typewriters, sewing machines and all small intricate machinery where a small drop of oil is required to be deposited on an inaccessible part of a machine use a piece of braided picture wire of the necessary length. Unroll the end for a depth of an inch and dip it in the oil.

A Whale's Spouting.
The whale does not discharge water, but only its breath. This, however, rushing up into the air hot from the animal's body has the moisture condensed to form a sort of rain, and the colder the air, just as in the case of our own breath, the more marked the result. When the spout is made with the blowhole clear above the surface of the water it appears like a sudden jet of steam from a boiler. When affected, as it sometimes is, before the blowhole reaches the surface a low fountain as from a street fire plug is formed, and when the hole is close to the surface at the moment a little water is sent up with the tall jet of steam. The cloud blown up does not disappear at once, but hangs a little while and is often seen to drift a short distance with the wind.

SINOPSIS OF CANADIAN HOME WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 16 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $5.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a torrens homestead in certain districts. Price $5.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

SALUTED HIS BRAVERY.

The Fine Tribute Castellar Paid to Amadeus of Savoy.

The numerous experiments tried and rejected by the Spanish nation during the last century included the short lived government of 1871-3, when a very worthy prince, Amadeus of Savoy, second son of Victor Emmanuel, undertook the difficult business of being king of Spain. Amadeus had to contend not only with the Republicans and with those who desired the restoration of the Bourbon dynasty, but also with the country's rooted prejudice against "the foreigner." In a book entitled "The Secret History of the Court of Spain" are given instances of that bravery that won for the young Italian king the admiration, at least, of his Spanish subjects.

On a hot evening the king and queen were returning to the palace after listening to some music in the gardens of the Buen Retiro. Suddenly a vehicle opposed the passage of their carriage by crossing just in front. The coachman checked the horses and prevented a collision, but just then a shot was directed toward the royal party.

At this the king sprang boldly to his feet and exclaimed: "Here is the king! Fire at him, not at the others!"

But no further attempts were made at assassination, and the retinue reached the palace in safety.

To the king the late hours of the court were particularly disagreeable. At 10 o'clock in the morning he rang for his breakfast at 8. Astonishment was on the lady's face; it had never been customary for their majesties to be served before 11 o'clock! Be Amadeus, to avoid friction, adopted the habit of going to a cafe for his early meal.

Thus the maids, who sally forth in Madrid with baskets on their arms, would often return to tell their mistresses how they had brushed against his majesty as they did their business in the market place.

In one of these early peregrinations Amadeus noticed that Castellar, the famous leader of the republican party, raised his hat to him. Surprised at this sign of respect from the enemy, the young man stopped and said that he wondered that one of Castellar's opinions should salute royalty.

"My salute was not to royalty, sire," replied the orator, with the grace of the Castilian, "but to the bravest man in Christendom."

Patetic Yearning.
"I wish I were an orphan," said little five-year-old Beatie to her mother, who passed much of her time visiting charitable institutions.

"Why, dear?" queried the mother.
"Cause I'd see you often," replied Beatie, "for you are all the time going to orphan asylums."

One of a person to health killed by an accident will furnish enough available tissues for making perhaps 10 grafts—each one of which might mean health and happiness to some one.

"Let a healthy young woman meet accidental and instantaneous death," says Dr. Park. "It would be possible to use no inconsiderable portion of her body for grafting, or other justifi-cable surgical procedures."

The arteries and nerves could be used in the fresh state, and the forever after preservation, for suitable transplantation or repair work people. So also could the thyroid, the cornea, and especially the bones.

"All the teeth, if healthy, could be transplanted. With the thin bones, especially, plastic operations—particularly on noses—could be performed on 50 people."
"The exterior of the body could be made to supply any amount of normal skin for grafts. The kidneys could also be easily utilized." Dr. Park believes that the time will soon come when the time will the art of flesh and bone grafting

Surbank and his disciples to-day ply the art of budding and grafting in the orchard.

TRIUMPH OF SURGERY
Quite Possible to Graft Pieces of Dead Bodies on Living Subjects Flesh and bone from the dead can be used to patch the sick bodies of the living.
This is the assertion of Dr. Roswell Park, a noted professor of surgery in the University of Buffalo. He says that one could graft such a

AN ALPINE TRAGEDY.

He Won a Wager and Then Lost His Life Through Pure Recklessness.

There is a regrettable modern tendency to disrespect the difficulties of some of the great Alps, especially those whose ascents have appealed to popular favor. The Wetterhorn, or Storm peak, that huge rock emulated sentinel of the Grindelwald giants, is the most numerous example of this," writes George D. Abraham in The Pall Mall Magazine. "Truly even on mountains familiarly breeds com-tempt. It has been lightly named 'the Ladies' peak,' but with far too terrible frequency a fearful revenge has been exacted; its death roll is equalled by few of the Alps."

The following tragedy of 1908 is typical of many others. A young English lady, aided by the best of guides, made one of the earliest as-cents of the season and innocently left a saken handkerchief fluttering in the summit breeze. This was discovered through the large telescope at Grindelwald, and a Swiss workman, rouged by the sight, waged forthwith that he would bring down the trophy single handed.

"He won the wager, but lost his life in the winning. Common sense prevailed to the extent of taking a companion as inexperienced as himself, and fortune smiled upon them until they almost reached the foot of the Great Couloir on their return.
There the young workman untied
from the rope and, waving the trophy of success in his hand, started to glissade direct down the snow slope to the glacier."

"The friend's example and advice to follow the rope and guide by the rocks at the side of the couloir were utterly disregarded. At express speed he rushed downward until suddenly he saw the end of the couloir overhanging and jagged. The guide, who was some hundreds of feet below, it was too late. With a shriek of warning to his friend he dashed outward over the edge and space and eternity. The text of the narrative were recovered.
In his right hand the unfortunate victim of his own folly clutched the handkerchief; he brought it down to Grindelwald."

Queer Presents to Royalty.

The list of strange gifts to modern monarchs contains some curious items.
King Edward, shortly after his coronation, received a registered packet from an admirer, addressed to "His Majesty the King of England, House of Parliament, England," containing a gigantic prize potato, which the sender begged him to accept. Another strange present to his late majesty was the mummified hand of an Egyptian princess, which the king kept on his writing-desk at Buckingham, and used as a paper weight.

The Kaiser, too, was greatly amused seven years ago when a letter was delivered at the palace in Berlin containing a handkerchief for 100 marks and an anonymous note begging the Emperor to use the money for the purchase of warm underclothing.
"For" was the donor, "I saw your majesty at review yesterday, and it seemed to me that you were not so warmly clad as you should be."

Chimneys.

Chimneys are modern — that is,
chimneys with fireplaces and flues.
None of the Roman ruins show chimneys like ours. There are none in the restored buildings in Herculaneum and Pompeii. If Roman architects complained that their decorations were smoked up. A kitchen in Rome was always sooty. Braziers were used in the living rooms. The chimney of antiquity consisted of a hole in the roof. The wealthy Romans used carefully dried wood, which would burn in the room without soot. The modern chimney was first used in England in the fourteenth century. The oldest certain account of a chimney places it in Venice in 1347.

Too Inquisitive for Dumas.

A person more famous for inquisitiveness than correct breeding once took the liberty of questioning Alexandre Dumas rather too closely about his genealogical tree.
"You are a quack, Mr. Dumas?"
"And your father?"
"Was a musician."
"And your grandfather?"
"A negro," hastily answered the dramatist, whose patience was waning.

"And may I inquire what your great-grandfather was?"
"An ape, sir!" thundered Dumas greatly. "An ape, sir! My pedigree commences where yours terminates!"

Poison in War.

The use of poison in war was once considered not only permissible, but commendable and was defeated by no less an authority than Wolff.
There are reported instances of wells, springs, ponds and streams being poisoned as a military measure. Even in our time instances are numerous of the intentional depletion of drinking water supplies by throwing the bodies of animals into the stream or pond.

Largest Gold Nugget.

Men have found a mass of native copper weighing 430 tons, and they have discovered a chunk of pure silver weighing one and one-half tons, but the largest nugget of gold that has yet been seen weighed only 100 pounds. And gold seekers are informed that larger finds in the future are unlikely.

East Indian Tea.

In India the natives, when brewing
tea, frequently use a silver ball filled with the leaves through which the boiling water may flow.

married people to live with their relatives are various and very diversified,
but no reason on earth is strong enough to make it a wise proceeding to imagine a bride and bridegroom coming back from their honeymoon not to the dream home, but to the house of a relative. True, they may have their own furniture and things, but the romance and glamor which should surround the early days of married life are lacking. Instinct of perfect harmony, a discordant chord at the very start of wedded life—and the discord is simply bound to increase so long as no proper individual home exists.

It stands quite plainly to the most diffident thinker that there cannot be two homes in one. One or the other must go to the wall. At the same reckoning, there can be but one master and one mistress in every household. It is ridiculous to expect any thing else.

Most newly-married people have ideas of their own about doing things about the sort of life that they want to live. They cannot allow out these notions while they make their abode with relatives. They may try to do so, and thereby cause friction and anger—or they must sink their ideas and run their lives in the groove made for them by the people with whom they live.

Husband and wife cannot be all in all to each other while they live with the relatives of either party.
Take, for instance, the case of a young couple living with the husband's people. Imagine a newly-married man committing all her early marimonial mistakes beneath the eyes of her husband's relations. The husband is chagrined that his wife should be seen making a mistake; his people ply him for having wed such a foolish woman. And so on, ad infinitum.

No married people must begin wedded life together and alone; they must have a home to themselves. It is better that they live in a two-roomed flat by themselves than in a mansion with relations, so far as possible happiness is concerned. Newlymarried people must fight their earlywedded mistakes together, must bear
the full weight of matrimonial responsibilities, must learn to be all in all to the other from the outset. This can only be done in a home which is peculiarly theirs—a home which carries in its atmosphere the influence of their wedded life widening and beautifying day by day.

For certain men and women who want to get the best possible result from their marriage will make any sacrifice rather than start wedded life by living with relatives. Though often done with the very best intentions in the world, it is always a mistake from every point of view.—T. B. B.

Just About Boys

A boy soon learns that his father expects him to be a man, that his mother is content if he will always be her baby.

If a boy is quiet every one wonders what he is up to now, and if he is noisy they know.
Send a boy on an errand, and when he reaches his destination he is accompanied by four other boys and a dog.

"Wonder," every healthy boy thinks as he gets up from dinner, "if mother has anything in the house for supper."

A boy likes the playing the most that involves the hardest work, and the work that requires the least exertion.

A boy's curiosity is aroused by a refrigerator the name as a girl's is aroused by bureau drawers.

When a mother scolds her son and the boy's father agrees with her, this makes her so mad she forgets the boy and goes after the father.
Until a boy is 25 he thinks his efforts to entertain girls are a failure unless their squealing and laughing
can be heard in the next block.
It is every girl's opinion that by becoming to and her brother by eight or 10 years, he can be induced

YOUR OWN HOME

Newly Married People Had Better Not Live With Relatives

Young people who are about to get married are often forced to decide the question—shall they have a home of their own, or shall they make their home with relatives?

It is a question to which common sense can give only one answer—Don't!

The most disastrous mistake that a newly-wedded couple can make is not to start married life with a home of their own. To try to make a home in the home of relatives is courting trouble and unpleasantness. It does not matter what else may be sacrificed
at the beginning of matrimony, there must be a home—a new home, a home of their own from all others upon earth.

Women's Ailments Caused by Neglect

Proper Treatment Will Quickly Bring Back Robust Health and Good Spirits.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated, and other and more important reason is they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted—the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root. Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect—pains in the back and side, shortness of breath, and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, constipation and pain are prevented and perfect health returns. Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier. The finest complexion renews, the most certain regulating medicine known. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers. 25c. per box, for $1 postpaid. The Ostrachman Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

More Local Houses.

Mr. R. Gordon has taken out building permits authorizing the erection of three brick veneered dwellings on Prince street. The houses will be of five-roomed variety, and will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000 each.

A Norwood Girl's Success. Miss Anna Kelly, of Norwood, won the gold medal at the head of the graduating class of the New York City Training School for Nurses. Her average percentage in theoretical and practical work for her two years' course, was ninety-six.

Domestic Inspector Here. Mr. J. K. Barrett, of Winnipeg, Man., Domestic Inspector of Beveries was in the city yesterday. In company with Mr. Harry Phelan the general collector of inland revenue, Mr. Barrett made an inspection of Calcutt's Brewery and found everything very satisfactory. Mr. Barrett leaves to-day for Lindsay.

Oddfellows Field Day.

The local brethren of the triple knots will hold a field day on the evening of November 28th. The three degrees will be put on, and for the first time in Peterborough, the new full canonical degrees will be conferred. A large representation from Lakeside, Millbrook, Pontypool, Avers, Madoc and Norwood will be present.

Model of Royal Edward.

To-morrow an interesting sight may be seen in the store window of Messrs. J. C. Turnbull & Co. This is a perfect model, twelve feet six inches long, of the steamship "Royal Edward," sister ship of the "Canadian Northern," belonging to the Canadian Northern Steamship, Ltd.

The steamship "Royal Edward" is approximately 357 feet long, 12,000 tons net, and has a horsepower of 18,000.

"Fensation" and a number of scows have gone into winter quarters at the Government wharves. "Bob Hall" and "J. B. McCall" will winter at Peterborough.

Late Mrs. McCaffrey's Estate. An equity of $800 in the property at 16 South Drive, $30 cash in bank, and $170 in household goods is the inventory put in of the estate of the late Laura McCaffrey. Mrs. McCaffrey, it will be remembered, was one of the victims of the canoe disaster at Otonabee, when her husband, her children and mother-in-law met a tragic end by drowning.

Local Price for Peas. A Norwood produce dealer came to the city to sell a consignment of peas. To his sorrow he found that Peterborough prices for that commodity were $1.25 per bushel. He was surprised to discover the prevailing local price as $1.70 per bushel ruled at Norwood and Hastings. Possibly the prices in these places may have been inflated by a buyer anxious to complete a car load.

References to Bradstreet's Agency. In our full page advertisement of the Colonial Oil Co. in yesterday's issue, an omission, and a very important one, was made by the printer. This omission consisted in leaving out the fact that the financial standing of the directors of that big company could be ascertained by a reference to the reports of Bradstreet's Commercial Agency, the most reliable index of any business man's status.

Y.M.C.A. Model City Officers. At a meeting held Monday night of the Council of the "Model City," in connection with the Boys' Department of the Y.M.C.A., the following officers were appointed: Mayor, Wm. C. Carothers, (previously elected); City Clerk, Claire Arnott; Chief of Police, Max Patterson; Chairman of Board of Education, Keir Sturgeon; Council Members, Alvin Pidgeon, Librarian, George Green; City Solicitor, Douglas MacDonald; Chaplain, Fred McNeely.

When the Duke Speaks. At last night's banquet of the Retail Merchants' Association, one of the guests, who had possibly leaned over the family coat of arms, previous to his dinner, had got a broad black band diagonally across his head. This gentleman not having the thousand eyes of a fly could not see through his chin, and did not realize the trick of fate. However, the black smudge looked, to a short-sighted man, like the watered silk decoration of a Duke of the Realm. However, a nearby diner heard him distinctly say, "I tell you, sir, if you want to boom your business, advertise in The Times."

TO REMOVE SALLOWNESS, BLOTCHES OR WRINKLES. (From Family Physician).

Do you realize that beneath that coarse, muddy or discolored complexion there's an exquisitely beautiful skin of youthful tint and delicacy? If you could only bring this complexion to the surface, discarding the old one! You can—in the easiest, simplest, most natural manner, imaginable. Just get an ounce of ordinary marcolized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, removing it mornings with warm water. The wax assists Nature by gradually taking off the lingering particles of dead and half-dead surface skin, causing no discomfort whatever. Ordinarily it takes from a week to ten days to complete the transformation. Cutaneous defects like pimples, freckles, of course, disappear with the old skin. Nothing else that I know of will accomplish such wonderful results in so short a time. Lines and even the deeper wrinkles often appear at an early stage. In such cases nothing is better than a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxatiles in 4 pt. witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.

Get Fifty-Four Golden Eyes.

Messrs. R. Tivy, T. Woods and Chas. James have returned from a successful duck shooting trip at Gussons' Narrows. Whilst there the party occupied the cottages formerly used by the late Judge Weller. For the first few days, the hunters were thwarted from all attempts at shooting by inclement weather. However, they succeeded in securing 54 ducks, shot over decoys, all of which were "whiteheads" or "goldeneyes."

The black ducks were conspicuous by their absence. The bluebirds only began to come in last Saturday and the party secured none of that variety.

Lindsay Secures Another Factory.

Mr. W. Redkins, Lindsay's Industrial Commissioner seems to be making good. In less than $3,000 a year and office "fixings" as the agreement for the new furniture factory, which he has leased for Lindsay, was signed yesterday and the preliminary arrangements completed. The company which is incorporated to manufacture office furniture, specialties and supplies, has deposited one thousand dollars with the Commissioner as evidence of their good faith. They are purchasing the old Sylvester plant for $20,000 cash, which has been paid, and are to have the factory in operation by February 1st. They agree to employ forty men each year afterward.

New Trial For Ellis.

It now seems that a fresh development has come to light in the case of Ellis, the condemned Lindsay murder. It seems that a report has reached the attention of Hon. Col. Stansfield, in which testimony the convicted man lived, that Ellis had sought to marry Edith Porter, the daughter of his dead wife, before their marriage, and the girl whom the defense tried to show at the trial, had written to Ellis to tell him of the threats of the Porters against him. This intention to tell to have brought from Lindsay, direct and definite threats against the life of Ellis. At the time bearing that such had been made, but as he had been unable to locate the man who had given him the information, this was not put in evidence at the trial. It is understood that this report may form a basis of an application for a new trial by Ellis' counsel.

Family Cheesemaker Killed.

A sad accident occurred last Friday whereby Mr. Cecil Reed, cheese maker of Family Township, lost his life. It seems that Mr. Reed and his mother had returned home from a drive. The former jumped out of the buggy to open a gate leading to their property. He called to the horse to come along. The animal drawing the buggy in which the old lady sat, started at a sharp trot. Reed, noticing that the reins had fallen and hearing for his mother's safety, grabbed for the lines. He missed them, however, and fell, striking his head on a boardwalk in the lane. The horse stopped on arrival at the barn. Mrs. Reed, who sustained no damage, thought her son would be along, but on his not arriving she went to where he had fallen by the gate and found him unconscious and bleeding from a wound in his head. Medical aid was summoned but in vain. Death was due to concussion of the brain. He was buried in St. Luke's Cemetery, Downsview, on Monday.

Local Archdeaconry Meeting.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough was in session yesterday at St. Luke's church. The following clergy are in attendance, viz: Venerable Archdeacon Warren of Toronto, President of the Archdeaconry; Rev. J. E. Penning, Newcastle; Rev. C. W. Holdsworth, Havelock; secretary, Rev. Wm. Burns, Hastings; Rev. Rural Dean De Lora, Havelock; Rev. J. H. Kidd, Blackstock; Rev. C. H. Brooks of Gravelton; Rev. Prof. Griffith-Thomson, Wadsworth College, Toronto; Rev. Canon Allan, Rev. C. R. Spencer of Millbrook; Rev. E. F. Hookley, Kilmount; Rev. Canon MacRae, Havelock; Rev. Canon Lindsay; Rev. Canon Daniel, Port Hope; Rev. Chas. Carpenter, Campbellford; Rev. H. Earl, Otonabee; Rev. C. E. Pratt, Wadsworth; Rev. Canon Sprague and Rev. H. M. McKee, Cobourg; Rev. W. C. H. Wright, Havelock; and the five clergy: Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. R. B. Grobb, Rev. F. J. Price, Rev. Love Story in Court.

The yellow-eyed monster jealousy, caused a local man to be defendant in a police court case yesterday. It seems that a young lady has, with the usual custom of some of her sex, been keeping "two strings to her bow." A year ago the complainant in the case began paying attention to the girl. After a time his love seemed to wane and the defendant began to worship at the same shrine. When the complainant saw the affections of his former love beaming towards his successor, cupid took another shot and hit him in the heart, ker-plunk! He was not going to see the original owner of his heart if not his hand, disturbed by any rival. On Oct. 17th, he watched the hated rival and the lady enter Aunt's home where she lived, and enter the dining room. Here was an evident handicap. He possibly remembered that the nearest way to a man's heart is through his "tummy." That dining room looked too suggestive of wedding bells in the future. He entered by the rear door and started an altercation. The new lover it seems is athletic and landed on his physiognomy twice, making him bite the dust as it rose from the carpet. The result of the case was that the defendant was fined. The defendant seems to think that complaint, whether from love's dream ruddy awakened or otherwise, is hardly competent to tell a concise and correct story of the affair.

THREAT TO ABANDON CAPITAL MADE TO THE BIG POWERS

In the Matter of Intervention—Experts Declare Turks Cannot Stop Bulgarian Advance on Constantinople—
Turkish Troops, Without Food, Retreated in Disorder

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—The threat of the Turks to abandon Constantinople entirely, which was made by the Ottoman Foreign Minister to an Ambassador yesterday, is believed to have been intended to stimulate the action of the powers in the matter of intervention between the belligerents.

In the opinion of close observers, the military position of the Turks does not warrant a belief in their ability to stop the Bulgarian advance toward the capital if King Ferdinand of Bulgaria really desires to capture the city. The Turkish headquarters staff has decided to take up its position immediately behind the town of Tekalta and to await there the coming fight with the Bulgarian troops.

The left wing and centre of the retreating Turkish army are said to have made their retirement in good order, but the troops forming the right wing were in a state of panic and demoralization. The achieved considerable success in the fighting, but finding themselves without food, fled to the south, abandoning everything.

Supplies at Tekalta.
It is hoped by the Turkish staff that the flight of the fugitives will be stopped at Tekalta, to which place many train loads of bread have been despatched since Sunday. The Turkish soldiers place much of

THE POWER QUESTION HYDRO OR SEYMOUR?

Fortunately the ratemakers will have an opportunity to pass upon the power question before any bargain can be consummated by the City Council.

The Committee of the Council which waited on the Hon. Adam Beck will report in favor of submitting a by-law to the ratemakers, providing for the borrowing of $118,000 to pay for the distribution system. The by-law will be voted on at the municipal elections in January. If the by-law is turned down the new council will then no doubt deal with the Seymour Power Company. In the meantime the ratemakers will have time to carefully consider the question in all its bearings.

REPUBLICAN PARTY NOW IS THIRD PLACE IN POLITICS

New York, Nov. 6.—United States Senator Dixon, chairman of the Progressive National Committee, gave out the following statement last night at Progressive National headquarters here:

The election returns to-night show that more than 4,000,000 voters have cast their ballots for the Progressive party. They have elected for the war. Some of our most enthusiastic leaders had hoped that possibly this might have been 10,000,000. It is evidently 10,000,000.

The result of to-day's balloting makes the Progressive party the dominant opponent of the Democratic party. The result of to-day's balloting makes the Progressive party the dominant opponent of the Democratic party. The result of to-day's balloting makes the Progressive party the dominant opponent of the Democratic party.

TAFT SAYS VICTORY MEANS AN EARLY CHANGE IN TARIFF

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 6.—At 11 o'clock last night President Taft issued the following statement from his brother's home here:

"The return of the election of Governor Wilson to the Presidency. This means an early change in the economic policy of the Government in reference to the tariff. If this change can be made without halting prosperity, I sincerely hope it may be."

"The vote for Mr. Roosevelt, the third party candidate, and for Mr. Debs, the Socialist candidate, is a warning that their propaganda in fundamental changes in our constitutional representative government has found a ready response."

"While the experiment of a change in the tariff is being carried out by the Democratic Administration, it behooves Republicans to gather about them the support of the people. The vote for Mr. Roosevelt, the third party candidate, and for Mr. Debs, the Socialist candidate, is a warning that their propaganda in fundamental changes in our constitutional representative government has found a ready response."

LONDON GLAD WILSON WON

Great Britain Not Surprised At The Result In United States—Pall Mall Gazette
Sees It Sign of Healthy Nation

London, Nov. 6.—The Presidential election resulted much as had been anticipated in Great Britain, although the public was prepared for the possibility of none of the candidates obtaining sufficient votes and of the choice of a President being thrown into the hands of Congress.

The evening newspapers to-day all speak very highly of Woodrow Wilson and of his policies and politics. The Free Trade Westminster Gazette says the people of the United States are clearly ripe for new men and new measures. It concludes: "The United States thus joins in the universal movement against the artificial raising of prices by a tariff."

The Evening Standard says: "Woodrow Wilson will command confidence in his own country and the world outside. He is a public man of a much higher type than some of those who have occupied the White House. The Democrats did a good stroke of business for their party when they chose him."

It continues: "They had the sense to see that the great body of respectable citizens of the United States were heartily tired of the sordid squabbles of party managers with the accompanying chicane, intrigue and self-seeking."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Woodrow Wilson is the type of citizen whose aloofness from politics has left America's affairs to become so largely the prey of corruption and obsequy."

It continues: "The promotion of Woodrow Wilson to the Democratic leadership and the evolution of Theodore Roosevelt as the head of a new party are in reality two symptoms of the real contest should be between two men, who are so much superior in character and outlook to the common political level."

Negro Tells of His Murders
Tells of Three Murders, Five Assaults, One Hundred In-

Tampa

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 11.—For five hours Saturday Robert Anderson, the negro "killer" who terrorized Tampa for two months recently, detailed crimes which he committed, including three murders, five murderous assaults by shooting and nearly 100 incendiary fires.

The negro was captured in Jacksonville, after having escaped from the officers here, and was brought to Tampa late Friday night. He at first behaved meekly, but finally gave in, after several hours' questioning by officers, and made a full confession of all his crimes.

| Votes in Electoral College | 531 |
| Necessary to election | 266 |
| Secured by Wilson (Dem.) | 399 |

| States carried by Taft | 1 |

New York, Nov. 6.—Overturning big Republican majorities in States never before captured by the Democrats in a Presidential election, the Wilson-Marshall Presidential ticket was swept into office yesterday on the wave of a victory that carried with it State offices, Congressional seats, and the control of a number of legislatures that will have the opportunity to oust Republicans from the United States Senate, and add to the Democratic strength in that body.

Second only in interest to the victory of Governor Wilson and his running mate, Governor Marshall of Indiana, was the strength shown by Col. Roosevelt in Illinois, Pennsylvania and other States. On returns received up till three this morning from States where the result was reasonably certain, it appears that Governor Wilson would have almost, if not quite, 400 of the 531 votes in the Electoral College, and that Col. Roosevelt would have nearly 100. President Taft had received 15 votes of Vermont.

NOOSE AWAITS MURDERER MURDERER MURDERER

Paramour of Mrs. Bailey Found Guilty in One Hour

Shreveport, La., Nov. 5.—Less than an hour's time was consumed by the jury Wednesday evening in the case of Albert L. Watson, the self-confessed slayer of his friend and partner, C. C. Bailey, in finding the accused guilty of the murder, which was the outgrowth of an illicit passion between Watson and the woman, culminating in a murder pact. The woman's trial will follow.

The most important of the testimony secured was that of Sheriff J. P. Flournoy, who told of the securing of a written confession from Watson, the day after his arrest. Watson had been informed that Mrs. Bailey has broken down and told of the murder pact between her and Watson, and the man on trial, then wrote the full story of the crime.

In that confession, however, Watson told also of the poisoning of his own wife in the State of Texas, as part of the murder agreement, and arguments are under way this afternoon as to whether or not this confession shall go to the jury as a whole.

C. J. Northcutt, who lived near the town of Metairie, where Bailey was killed, testified to conflicting stories told by Watson before the arrest, his first claim being that a negro had killed Bailey as he slept, and that he fired several shots at the negro as he made his escape.

Northcutt was one of the first men to reach the scene of the killing. Watson first declared he did not know where the ax was, but later admitted to Northcutt that he had already handled the weapon, and this was one of the circumstances which first directed suspicion toward the murderer. Watson brought Bailey to town and placed him in a sanitarium for treatment, where he died a few hours later without regaining consciousness.

A GENUINE SERVICE
"I believe," says an old subscriber, "that every time The Youth's Companion enters a home, it does so as a genuine service." That describes the purpose of the publishers exactly. The paper is not filled with mischievous or idle thoughts to fill an idle hour. It provides healthy pastime, recreation that builds up, it is to the minds of eager and impressionable young people what sound athletics are to their bodies.

At a cost of less than five cents a week The Youth's Companion opens the door to a company of the most distinguished men and women in America and Europe. Whether they are revealing the latest discoveries in science, or describing great industrial achievements, or telling of their wanderings in strange corners of the world or feeding the imagination with rare stories, they are giving Companion readers the best of themselves.

Seven serials at least will be published by The Companion, in 1913, and nearly 200 other complete stories, in addition to some 50 special contributions, and a treasure-box of sketches, anecdotes, expert advice as to athletic sports, ideas for handy devices round the house, and so forth—four hours of companionship with the wise, the adventurous and the entertaining. Announcement for 1913 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address on request.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.50 for the fifty-two weekly issues for 1913 will receive as a gift The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, the most exquisite novelty ever offered to Companion readers; also, all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1913 free.

MURDER THEORY ABANDONED

Police Say John Grindall Did Not Meet With Foul Play

CLUB AND DINED HAT
Officials May Be Able to Show That Body Drifted Down From West End.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Detectives are still investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of John Grindall, whose body was found floating face downwards in Ashbridge's Bay on Saturday last. While those in charge of the case refuse to discuss it from any point of view, it was learned this morning that little credence is attached to the theory of foul play.

It will be recalled that the autopsy revealed the presence of a bruise, the size of a silver dollar, on the back of the man's head. This, in conjunction with an abrasion on the forehead and the peculiar manner in which the dead man's coat was enveloped around his head, brought about a postponement in the inquiry as to the cause of death.

Yesterday morning, two brothers, in company with a relative from Detroit, visited the bay at the foot of Leslie street where the body was found, and discovered a dingied in that, and a club which had been torn away from a nearby willow tree. The club, which was about two inches thick, fitted into the dingie in the hat. The two articles were taken to the Police and will likely be produced at the adjourned session of the inquiry on Monday evening.

C.P.R. CHIEFS SAY
STRIKE IS BROKEN
Montreal, Nov. 6.—Vice-President McNeill, of the C.P.R., when asked as to the progress of the strike to-day, stated that the strike was practically over.

Not a man, he said, had gone out at Montreal.
Toronto, Nov. 6.—The C.P.R. employees at a meeting held in this city to-day, refused to obey the strike order.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is all very well to begin the Christmas shopping early, but it is a little too much to expect many to follow the example of our own good Queen Mary, who is already hard at it.

According to the war news from the Balkans the town of Khandan-gorahank has fallen. When it fell we bet the noise it made was similar to that of a tin football dropping down the back stairs.

A few days ago the man who established the first saloon in Kansas City was sent to the poor house. It is safe to say that he will feel at home there in the company of those who were formerly his best customers.

Teddy Roosevelt, the old war horse that used to paw in the valley and sniff the battle afar off has gone to the discard along with other things that were once held in high esteem. The modern general now goes to the front in an automobile.

In a Baltimore police court a large mirror has been placed before which drinks and disorders are brought to order that they may obtain an idea of what a horrible example looks like. This is a suggestion to our local police authorities, for which we make no charge.

"A fool and his money are soon parted," remarks our George street contemporary. But did you ever stop to think what awful starvation there would be in the channels of trade if the fool refused to part with his money, and yet you are constantly sneering at him for letting it go.

Our local contemporary, the Examiner printed a paragraph the other day to the effect that President Taft was a vocalist of no mean ability. If this is so, the following lines by our junior renoster, would have been in order on the eve of the election:

What is the Salt Creek saying, brother, the whole day long,
For ever amid my musings, I hear its weird, weird song?
'Tis but the Wilson wave, Bill, beat for about your door,
And the voice of the people you've buncoed mingling with its roar.

A ROMANCE OF A MINE.

Every mining claim is rich in hopes and romance though the majority of them have little commercial value, but the story of the mines at Granby Bay, 70 miles north of the City of Prince Rupert, is as interesting as a fairy tale. Three years ago several copper claims known as the Hid-

LAUGHS WITH JOY!
NO MORE INDIGESTION

Montreal Man So Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since.

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day: "I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous Pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, P.Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhose Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

den Creek claims were bonded by one of the biggest mining men in the west. Experts and engineers were sent in to investigate and on their report it was decided they were not worth operating. To-day another company has 500 men working on the development of those same claims and have blocked out 12,000,000 tons of copper ore, on which there is a net profit estimate of little over $4 per ton, or nearly $50,000,000 profit, on the ore in sight. The Bonanza claims; also located on Granby Bay, were under option by a well known mining syndicate, who sent in experts to look it over. In June last they abandoned their option. A week later new discoveries made the property worth a fabulous sum. Granby Bay is to be one of the biggest mining camps in British Columbia, and this is only one of the many new big industries in the district opened by the G.T.P., and contributing to the prosperity and development of the new City of Prince Rupert.

GOOD YEAR'S WORK IN AGRICULTURE.

Ottawa.—Not as much is heard of or known of the Agricultural Department at Ottawa as should be. After all is said and done it is one of the most important branches of the government, for agriculture is Canada's basic industry and the progress and prosperity of the Dominion depends upon the progress and prosperity of the farmer. Hon. Martin Burrell, the Minister of Agriculture, is a poor advertiser. He is a modest man, too modest some day for a politician. He works night and day and talks little.

Since he came into office he has worked many reforms looking towards the advancement of agriculture. He has initiated many schemes for the betterment of the farming industry. He found a department which was in a rut. There was no other department at Ottawa where the whole service was so plainly marking time. The agriculture department has many experts, yet initiative was discouraged and dry-dog seemed to have set in.

Mr. Burrell has wakened up the department, he has infused a new spirit in every branch of the service and has succeeded in inculcating his own energy and enterprise into the department.

Hon. Sidney Fisher, the former minister, had a paternal way of taking every stray department under his wing. The result was that the department was loaded up with work which had nothing in the world to do with agriculture. Census and statistics came under the administration of the Minister of Agriculture; copyrights and patents, the archives, public health, and a half dozen other branches were showed in this department.

The first thing Mr. Burrell did was to re-arrange these services. The census and statistics branch was transferred to the department of Trade and Commerce, where it more properly belonged. The archives branch naturally fits in with the work of the Secretary of State, and its was transferred to this department. Patents and copyrights will likely be transferred this session to the department of State, and the public health branch will also likely be taken from the department of Agriculture.

MOTHER A PRISONER AND SHERIFF SHOT

Farmington, N.H., Man Shot Peace of 300 at Bay for Several Hours Until Stupified by Liquor.

Farmington, N.H., Nov. 13.—After shooting a mother, Winifred Glidden, 22 years old, kept her terrified prisoner for two hours in their home here to-day, shot and desperately wounded Deputy Sheriff Herman J. Pike and kept at bay for several hours an armed body of police and 300 citizens who besieged the house in the belief that the young man had murdered his mother.

Glidden was crazed with drink. Not till the fumes of the alcohol drove his senses and sent him off in a drunken stupor was the mother freed from the momentary fear of death. Then she secured his rifle, shotgun and revolver, the brothers gained entrance, and Glidden was handcuffed and taken still stupefied, to the police station. Deputy Sheriff Pike was shot in the forehead above the left eye. Physicians found that the bullet could not be extracted without an operation, so he was placed on a train late this afternoon and rushed to the Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston. There surgeons operated at once and removed the bullet. Late to-night Pike lay hovering between life and death. Citizens Surrounded House.

Farmington and the neighboring countryside were stirred to a high pitch of excitement by the events of the afternoon. Word was sent around that Glidden had shot and killed his mother and that Pike was dying, and men came from far and near to join the cordon circling the house where they thought a madman was murdering his mother. Glidden is widely known in this vicinity. He has worked in several of the saw mills, but of late has not devoted much time to work. A pleasant young man when sober, he grew morose and bitter when drinking, and his spells of drunkenness have been increasing of late.

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That Cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

A TWISTER OF WORDS

DEAN SPOONER OF OXFORD IS VICTIM OF MANY STORIES.

The Celebrated Educationist Whose Name Has Become Affixed to the Mental Disease Which Consists in Muddling Up Phrases Is the Butt of Scores of Fictitious Stories of Funny Transpositions.

Probably few men have had so many wholly apocryphal tales about them as Spooner, the learned but timid Dean of New College, Oxford. It is inevitable that at a university, as in wider fields of life, someone will be made a butt, and Spooner, perhaps owing to his nervousness, soon came to fill this position.

It was just a position which had formerly been occupied by Cowley, who was, however, more respected, than his successor owing to the real wit which he undoubtedly possessed. Yet it is said that when, on a certain occasion, a series of choice Spoonerisms were recited to him, he was much amused thereby, and remarked: "Fifteen years ago they used to tell all these about me."

Be that as it may, generations of undergraduates have exercised their ingenuity in fabricating examples. Most people, indeed, at some time or other have unwittingly made a Spoonerism, which, as nearly everybody knows, consists of a transposition of the initial letters of two or more words in the same sentence.

How did Dr. Spooner first obtain his unenviable celebrity? Some of the best-known examples attributed to the head of New College are supposed to have been made at table or in the college chapel. The best known anecdote of all is the one which refers to the hymn, "Conquering kings their titles take," which the dean is supposed to have solemnly given out as "Conquering kings their titles take," then, narrowly noticing his error, he have altered the line to the famous expression, "Kingdoms kings their titles take."

This was the first and original Spoonerism, and around it numberless others, good and indifferent, have sprung up, all, of course, ascribed to the individual who is alleged to have perpetrated the first.

One of the quaintest mixups put down to him is a phrase he once used in a sermon. Speaking of the vague, half-formed wish so often experienced in the mind, he said: "We all know what it is to hold a half-warmed fish in our bosoms." On another occasion he gave out the following text: "Borrow may lure for a joy, but night cometh in the morning." He then, he spoke of the wicked men whose words were "as ears and sparrows."

One Sunday when he was not officiating in the service, he was surprised to find someone occupying his pew in chapel, and addressed him sternly with: "Are you aware, sir, that you are occupying my pew?"

At the table he rarely "opened his mouth but he put his foot in it"—metaphorically speaking, of course. Once when he wanted some fish he said to have sacrificed a luncheon party by asking a lady to pass the fish bones. Those who know the dean would understand at once that he was merely asking for "The fish bones."

At the same luncheon he is said to have asked his neighbor to have "some of this stink put," pointing to an ornamental dish of pink jelly. Let us heartily hope that the dean, who is said to have been "hatching a posty snipe," was an old hand at such a moment or two to translate this into "snatching a hasty pipe."

His poetical description of a gipsy encampment as "a they sent pitched in a lot of great," was even more complicated. Of course, he meant "a gipsy tent pitched in a grove of peace."

His description of his baggage to a railway porter as "two bags and a bag" was simpler.

To a relation who was about to start on a bicycle tour he remarked: "You will not forget to boil your teale before you start."

Again, returning tired from a long walk, he observed: "I must have walked ten miles as the fly crows."

Just as there are numbers of people daily perpetrating Spoonerisms of speech, so there are many unconsciously doing their utmost to perpetuate the memory of quaint little Dr. Spooner. For instance, the actor who said, "Stand back, my lord, and let the person cough!" (instead of "cough pass") may have made a solitary slip, as in some persons "lapses" language amounts to a veritable infirmity.

An excellent clergyman was the delight of the more frivolous among his hearers, because he was never known to preach a sermon without introducing a reference to "faraway big tree," or dwelling on the fact that "Many are called, but few are chosen," ending the text with the impressive exhortation: "Be ye therefore of the chosen chosen."

"Spoonerisms?" said a friend of the writer. "My wife nearly startled a local grocer out of his wits with one some months ago, and he has always eyed her suspiciously ever since. We had just settled down in the suburbs when he called, asking for our custom, and inquiring whether he should tell his vanguard to call every day. Now, we have dealt at the store for years, and my wife tried to tell him so. But what she really said was: 'No, thanks, please don't. I steal at the door.'"

A good Spoonerism went the rounds quite recently. A fine, dignified old lady descended to her kitchen, where fish were being grilled. She sniffed disparagingly at the aroma reached her, and cried out: "Oh, dear, what a ball of smerrings!"

Business Principles.
Dolly—No. Simpson, the cashier of the bank, proposed to you last night?
Polly—Yes, and I promised to marry him.

"Did he ask your father's permission?"
"Yes, he said he would ask papa to endorse my promissory note."

Generous.
"You said that when we were married you would refuse me nothing."
"I'll be still more generous. I'll not even refuse you nothing. I'll give it to you."

TALK MONKEY LANGUAGE.

African Natives Can Almost Speak With the Apes.

It is the firm belief of Mr. James Stewart, the Scottish surveyor, who has returned home after spending over three years in darkest Africa, that many of the natives can almost speak the monkey language.

Mr. Stewart traveled through Liberia and parts of the Upper Congo with a party of surveyors, and during the whole of their arduous march they killed their dinner every day. Sometimes they traveled at the rate of 30 miles daily, sometimes the forests were so dense and the obstacles so numerous that they made no more than a few miles.

"During one of our marches," he said, in relating further experiences to a reporter, "we had to plow our way through a marsh that rose up above our knees. The boggy nature of some of the country was such that we were splashed from head to foot, and it was the most tiresome walk we had in the whole of our journey."

For miles the marsh stretched on all sides, the carriers told us that it had never been fully explored, and the only way to get our destination was to go through it as quickly as we could. We went through it—but not quickly. Added to the inconvenience and acrid condition of the marsh was the terrible smell of rotten and rotting vegetation. We lost one or two of our packages at this stage, for they fell off the heads of our carriers, who stumbled against submerged trees.

One of the men disappeared, too. He was in the rear, and had only a light load, but suddenly he was missed from the caravan, and we had to search for him. The natives spread out in a semi-circle, and did a complete tour round us, sweeping the marsh for a radius of about 300 yards. They never found him.

"It was when we were going down the river that we made the acquaintance of the monkeys. We could hear them in the forest, chattering to each other and calling plaintively, almost like human beings. At first I could hardly believe they were monkeys; I thought they were tribes of natives, and some of their cries were like those of children who had been frightened."

It was the weirdest thing to see them swinging along one of the boughs of the trees, hand in hand or grasping each other's tails. They would swing together in this fashion, forming a bridge right across the stream, and then our carriers would get quite excited. They were very fond of monkeys. As we approached the animals the natives would whip their paddles and sit quiet, while the best marksmen would hold a gun so that he could have a good aim. As a rule, he would bring down one of the monkeys with a screech, and as soon as the result of the shot was seen some of the men would jump overboard and swim to the body hanging at the back of the boat in great glee.

I am convinced that most of these men knew the monkey language, if there is such a thing, for their conduct proved it. More than once I have seen a carrier and a companion go off to the bush carrying a gun, walking until they were within sight of some of the animals. Then one would sit down on his haunches and put his fingers to his lips and nose and make a cry which were certainly good imitations of the cries we had heard from the forest. In a little while one or two monkeys would come hopping along towards the spot, also calling and when near enough the carrier who had the gun would fire and another monkey would be added to the larder.

How to Grow Tall.
A man's organs and those of his bones which are not subjected to pressure grow continuously until he is forty years old; that is to say, the heart should become stronger, the capacity of the lungs increase, and the brain should develop steadily until the fourth decade of life. Also one should wear a larger hat at the age of forty than at thirty.

A man ceases to grow tall, however, at the beginning of the third decade, because after that time the downward pressure exerted by the weight of the body while in the erect position compresses the vertebrae or small bones in the spine, the discs of cartilage between them, the pelvis, and the thigh bones, and the pressure overcomes the natural elasticity of the discs and the growth of these bones.

However, a British scientist contends that were man a quadruped, and therefore freed from the downward pressure produced by his weight upon his spinal column, he would continue to grow to height for ten years longer than he does at present, since it has been found that bones not subjected to compression increase up to the fourth decade.

Brothers in the Lords.
There are at least two cases of brothers sitting together in the House of Lords. The Marquis of Lonsdale's voice and vote are counteracted by those of his brother, Lord Fitzmaurice; while Viscount Hardinge has since 1910 had a brother in the person of Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, though the latter up to the present has made few, if any, appearances in the chamber. The two veteran Canadians, Lord Strathcona and Lord Mount Stephen, are cousins, and it is scarcely an exaggeration to say that half the House is related by marriage. The peers who have sons in the elected Chamber would also make a long list.

People Who Do Not Read Books.
There is a story of an educated man and an author who believed and maintained that "The Heart of Midlothian" was written by Gladstone. The literature man is astonished to find that people can be happy and refined, witty and wise, without books at all.

He should remember that Dickens rarely read anything except his own novels. That Millais never opened a book and that Prince Bismarck is said to have been chiefly happy with Vi-doco. Books are not the measure of all things.—London Saturday Review.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Having bought a dog that he admired, a man of obstinate will undertook to buy a dog collar. The dog had a neck nearly as big as his head, and the dealer advised the man to buy two collars.

"What for?" said the man. "He's got only one neck, so I guess he can get along with only one collar, can't he?" "Maybe so," said the dealer. So the man went away leading the dog by his new collar and chain.

In less than a week he brought the dog back. "I'm afraid I can't keep him," he said. "He's too obstinate. I can't keep him tied up. His neck is the biggest part of him, and he is as strong as an ox. Therefore it is a clutch for him to slip his collar off."

"That was why I wanted you to take two collars," said the dealer. "Put both on and fasten the chain to the back collar, and he can tug all night without getting loose. He may commit suicide, but he won't get loose."

Artificial Hales or "Sun Dogs."
An experiment which illustrates in a very curious manner the actual philosophy of the formation of hales or "sun dogs" is performed as follows: Take a solution of alum and spread a few drops of it over a pane of glass. It will readily crystallize in minute, flat, octohedrons, scarcely visible to the eye. When this pane of prepared glass is held between the observer and the sun or even a candle (with eyes very close to the smooth side of the glass) there will be seen three different but distinct and beautiful hales, each at a different distance from the luminous body.

Chesapeake Bay.
Few people fully appreciate the great size of the Chesapeake bay. It is the largest indentation on the Atlantic coast, and it has often been called the Mediterranean of America. On its bottom the waves of the world could easily bust. It is 200 miles long, and in some places it is forty miles broad. It has an area of over 2,000 square miles, and it shoots off into great rivers with an aggregate length of thousands of miles.—Baltimore American.

Reducing a Pound to Nothing.

In what form and lightest on the scales? A British scientist has attempted to tell how to make the pound, but it isn't the easiest thing in the world either to prepare the pound of lead or place it in position for the proof. He says that making 1,000 small balls of the pound of lead the weight remains the same though the surface is greatly increased. Then reduce the small balls into 1,000,000 balls, with the surface enormously increased, but the balls still weigh the one pound in the scales. But this scientist says that if these 1,000,000,000 particles further are reduced to one twenty thousandth of an inch each, they will rest in the atmosphere just where they are placed. This for the reason that that pressure of light from the sun exactly overcomes the forces of gravitation. To make the lead bits smaller, however, the scientist says that the sunlight seizes them and buries them into space.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within five miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $8.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homesteaded entry (including time required to clear homesteaded pasture) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead first and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and root house worth $300.00.

LIVED UP TO THE TEXT.

It Made a Deep Impression on Little Julia, and She Did Her Best.

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares."

The foregoing quotation is from chapter xii, verse 2, book of Hebrews, and it is introduced here because it constitutes a vital part of this story. Julia is ten years old, and she goes to Sunday school. It appears that on a recent occasion the Sunday school teacher had considerable to say about this matter of "entertaining angels unawares." Anyways, it made a deep impression on Julia.

A few days after the lesson Julia's mother left her in charge of the house for a few hours. When the mother returned she went to a particular cupboard to extract therefrom a half dollar. In this cup is kept the family pig money, and Julia's mother knew that she had put 50 cents there—there she had gone out. But the half dollar was gone. There was an expression of anxiety on Julia's face, and mother scolded mischievously.

"Did you take that money?" asked the mother, somewhat severely.

Julia broke into tears. "I gave it to a man that came to the back door," sobbed the little girl.

"Gave it to a man?" exclaimed the mother.

"What for?"

"I thought he might be an angel unawares," replied Julia.—Kansas City Star.

IT WAS NAPOLEON.

The Boy Finally Recognized Him and Won a Compliment.

One afternoon the boy of Tunis while visiting in Paris was conducted to the gallery of battle pictures. They first showed to him Philip Augustus at Bouvines.

"That's Napoleon I, isn't it?" said the boy.

"No," said M. de Nolhac, "that is not Napoleon I, but quite the same, a great warrior."

They passed to St. Louis, who, on the bridge of Taillebourg, was battling like the Archangel Michael himself.

"That's Napoleon I?" queried the boy with a wink of the eye.

"No," said M. de Nolhac.

They arrived at Henri IV, who was carrying bread to the besieged Parisians.

"Napoleon I?"

"No; that's Henry IV."

The boy was richly disappointed. They stopped before the picture of Louis XIV and XV, and passed quickly to the wars of the empire. They stopped before the battle of Austerlitz.

"Napoleon I?" said the boy.

"Yes," said M. de Nolhac. "How your highness has recognized it! How admirable that is! Ah, truly, your highness knows the history of France marvellously well."—Cris de Paris.

ODDITIES IN CLUBS

Some Curious Associations That Were Born in London.

FREAKS IN NAMES AND AIMS.

The Abduction Club Was Formed For the Purpose of Carrying Off Heiresses by Force and the Burly Club to Promote the Use of Abusive Language.

One of the most extraordinary clubs London has ever known, says the Standard, was the Fighting club, the members of which were supposed to be wholly absorbed in thinking of their sweaters. Each would hold in his hand a bit of ribbon, a lock of hair, a purse or some other article belonging to the object of his affections, and from time to time he would address this article in terms of endearment, no other speaking being allowed. On initiation the member had to compose and recite a poem in honor of his lady, and at the meetings a fine was imposed upon the member who did not sing five times within a quarter of an hour.

Again, there was the abduction club, organized in 1785 by some well connected Irish youths, who banded themselves together to abduct heiresses and good looking young women of gentle birth. As there was a large membership, many forced marriages took place in consequence of their exploits. The club became eventually so serious that a special act of parliament was passed making abduction a capital offense.

The members assisted each other by providing relays of horses and carriages whenever necessary. The wealth of the two sisters Kennedy, daughters of Richard Kennedy of Rathfriland, in Waterford, caused the attention of the members to be drawn to them. Gerald Byrne, grandson of Mr. Gregory Byrne, and James Strange Villard were drawn in the lottery, and the abduction took place on April 14, 1778.

The principals were arrested, tried and condemned, and they were executed in the following May, notwithstanding the fact that ministers of the court of Vienna, grandees of Spain and French nobles implored their pardon. The club was introduced into England in 1770, but disbanded in 1802, when twenty-nine members were arrested.

The No Nose club was founded by a postman who was an unwilling follower of the Egyptian fashion of snub noses. When the members died together and a young pig, the favorite dish, was the principal item on the menu the meat was always cut off.

The Club of Ugly Faces was also founded by a postman who boasted an enormously large nose. Another member had a chin of the size and shape of a shoe horn, another a huge mouth and a fourth very large, protruding eyes. No one was eligible for membership who had not some facial malformation, and all members on initiation had to make a speech in praise of Asop, whose portrait hung over the mantelpiece of the clubhouse.

The Burly club had its meeting place near Billingsgate fish market, and the membership was limited to cutmen, carmen and watermen, who need to meet once a week to exercise the art of abusive language in order that they might not lose the reputation they had gained. Any member found guilty of courtesy or politeness was promptly fined.

The Split Parting club was limited to membership to men who agreed to split themselves to the utmost in order to increase their possessions. One member is reported to have had his garments so darned that there was not enough of the original material left to show the texture. The members presented so starved an appearance that it was said there was not an ounce of fat among the lot.

The Everlasting club was limited to membership to a hundred, and the members divided the day among themselves in such a way that there were always some present upon the premises. The great fire of London put an end to this institution, as the premises were burned down, and the only member on the premises was nearly burned to death because he refused to leave until he had emptied all the bottles on the table. The fire for lighting the members' pipes was never allowed to go out, an old woman being kept solely for the purpose of attending to it. During the fifty years of its existence the members smoked fifty tons of tobacco, drank 80,000 bottles of ale, 1,000 pipes of port and 200 barrels of brandy in addition to other liquors.

The Man Killing club was limited to membership to men who had killed opponents in duels. The conversation at the gatherings was confined to bullets, wounds and slaughter. The president was said to have killed half a dozen men in single combat, and the seats at dinner were arranged according to the numbers the members had slain. At banquets a side table was provided for visitors who had only drawn blood. The club had not a lengthy existence, as nearly all the members were executed.

Snigger clubs have been long in existence, and one existed recently in London. The club had for its motto "Death is the cure for all ills," but, as set forth in its book of rules, candidates for membership had first of all to show that they had a substantial reason for wishing to die. A would be candidate who presented himself with the weight of ten or more years of unhappy married life was received with open arms. Lots of fortune, incurable disease and a record of ill luck were also excellent qualifications for membership.

Ignored the Hint.
The midnight stillness of the darkened parlor was punctuated by a crash just overhead.

"Who-who-what was that, dad-and-dadling?" exclaimed the young man.

"Merely father dropping a hat," she replied as she snuggled a little closer.—Philadelphia Record.

Too Much Soothing.
"What is this thing?" asked the man at the lunch counter.

"A sandwich of course. What did you think it was?" said the girl behind the counter.

"I thought it was a mustard plating," New York Mail.

PRICE, TWO CENTS.

ENGINEER'S REPORT ON THE ROMAINE STREET SEWER

Faulty Construction Work Said To Have Caused The Trouble—Ald. Butler Thinks Consulting Engineer Should Pay The Damages—City's Board of Works
Meet in Busy Session

Last night the City Engineer reported to the Board of Works on Ald. Butler's "White Elephant," the Romaine street sewer. In part his report read that last spring the sewer was obstructed by sand, and that there were leaks in four manholes.
Sand could not be removed owing to the sinking of the manhole at Aylmer street, and open joints. Pipes were found with open joints letting in sand. It was found necessary to construct three new manholes. Rods and ropes with chains were dragged through, and all pipes found open laid in cement and leaks in manholes stopped. The sand was not entirely removed, but a fair run of water is now passing through. It is now found only necessary to operate the pumping station for an hour or two a day. It would be advisable next season to remove the remainder of the sand and also some 30 feet of jointed rods which were left in the sewer and could not be removed.
All repairs have been done in a substantial manner, and Mr. Hay expressed confidence that the parts repaired will not give further trouble.

To Ald. Butler, the City Engineer considered the trouble with Romaine street sewer had been caused by faulty construction; continuous pumping forced out the caskets, thus opening the pipe joints, letting in sand. The Aylmer street manhole sank for want of a substantial base.

Ald. Johnston thought it queer that Engineer Chipman could not have laid the sewer as substantially as it had been repaired.

Ald. Butler said the Aylmer street manhole had been badly constructed.
Sand taken out of the sewer excavation had been mixed with the cement used in the building of this manhole.
Such sand is too fine and has no binding qualities.

According to Ald. Butler, the experts sent here by Mr. Chipman to superintend the work were college men taking advantage of their holidays
to gain experience in sewer construction.

To Ald. Johnston, Ald. Butler replied that in his opinion the poor construction of the sewer excavation was due to carelessness. Mr. Chipman may be conversant with sewer work himself, but the men he sent were understood very little about it.
It had been distinctly understood in this connection, that Mr. Chipman wanted no interference on the city's part, and that he was to be held responsible for laying the Romaine street sewer. Last spring, however, Mr. Chipman tried to shoulder the responsibility for the sinking of the Aylmer street manhole on the City Engineer and street commissioner, when his own men was at fault in leaving the work in an unfinished condition. Then Mr. Pardoe, Mr.

Chipman's man, had accused the city foreman, Mr. Neary, of breaking a pipe when putting in the protective sheeting. Finally, however, he (Mr.
Pardoe) admitted that he was to blame himself. Ald. Butler regretted the unfairness of Mr. Chipman in saddling local men with his own responsibilities, and offered that he
(Mr. Chipman) should be compelled to pay the cost incurred by this city in repairing the faulty construction of Romaine street sewer.

Ald. Butler contended that two men should be kept continuously employed giving close attention to our sewer system, keeping the pipes flushed clean, etc.

The City's Board of Works met last night, Ald. Butler presiding.
The other members present were Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Graham, and Johnston.

The sidewalk on James street, between the track and Maria street will be repaired, pending new concrete work next spring.

The sidewalk on Bethune street, between Perry and Lake, will be repaired.

A temporary walk will be laid adjacent to Mr. Elliott's double house on Rink street.

The Chairman reported that he had agreed to repairing the boundary road of Otonabee, east of Down-er's Corners, near the Burnham property, at a cost of $100; the township to pay half of the expenditure.

The Board received from the C.P.
R. an agreement, allowing for the extension of Simcoe street across their tracks, and giving the city sufficient railway land to provide for a 66 feet highway from the present end of Simcoe street eastward to the city's water front property, and a 66 feet highway southward along the river's edge. This agreement was accepted.

J. T. Chapman's petition that crossings on Downie, Smith and Downie and Dublin street need repairing was referred to the City Engineer for immediate attention.

The engineer reported that the provision of drainage across George street south from Overend property, petitioned for by R. Can. H. Co., is not practicable at present. This matter was referred back to the engineer for further investigation.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS.
The city engineer reported that a considerable amount of wooden walks had been torn up on Halloween night, entailing considerable expense to the city for repairs. No less than fifteen streets, the majority of which are in East City, suffered from degradations in this respect. The damage done this fall was greater than at any Halloween night the past fifteen years. In 1913 the city will see to it that special police protection will be provided to assure the city against similar damage to sidewalks.

MORE POLES GRANTED.
The Bell Telephone Company's request for permission to erect poles on north side of Smith street was granted.

COST OF PAVEMENT.
The city engineer reported that the cost of paving Chambers street was 97 7/8 per square yard, a total cost of $663. In comparison during the past twelve years macadamizing this street cost from 45c to 65c per sq.
yard; but this was not real macadam work, which would cost $1.75 per sq.
yard, and require frequent repairs
during a life of say 10 years.

TO GRADE STREET.
Prince street will be graded.

CONCRETE CROSSING.
On motion of Ald. Johnston and Graham, a concrete crossing will be laid across George street at the Demunion property.

TO REMOVE TREES.
Mr. F. Adams, Robinson street, was granted permission to cut down
three trees opposite his property, under the supervision of the city engineer.

Mr. F. J. R. Mitchell, of London street, will also be allowed to remove three trees, under the engineer's supervision.

A SIDEWALK MATTER.
The sidewalk, north side Dublin street, will be laid on motion of Ald. Graham and Johnston, between the tracks.

MAY SUE CITY.
Mr. Chas. Nispan's threat to sue the city unless the water is diverted from off his property on Bolivar street was removed and no action taken. The city engineer reported that the water is only in evidence in spring and fall, and runs in its natural channel.

On motion of Ald. Johnston the city will purchase the necessary quantity of 34 inch pipe with which to lay a drain beneath the G.T.R. tracks at Romaine street, the railway's men to do this work as provided by the company.

SNOW PLOWING.
Tenders will be invited for snow
ploughing as last year.

SERVIAS PREMIER THROWS DOWN THE GAUNTLET TO AUSTRIA

Balkan Allies Will Ask For Partition of Turkey in Europe
And to Leave Constantinople to European Powers

Paris, Nov. 7.—Balkan allies will ask for the partition of European Turkey, leaving the fate of Constantinople to the decision of the European powers, according to Premier Pachitch of Serbia, in an interview to-day, with the correspondent of the Temps in Belgrade. The Serbian statesman continued:
"Serbia wants the Port of St. Giovanni de Medua, Alessio, and Durazzo on the Adriatic Sea, which the Serbian Empire possessed in the middle ages, and by which she was territorially related to the rest of Europe."

AS TO AUSTRIA.
Serbia has not received any proposal from Austria, but assuming that Austria has no territorial desires, Serbia is quite willing to favor economic and commercial expansion for Austria.

The Premier concluded by saying that the Balkan allies desire Turkey to treat directly with them concerning peace, and not through the powers.

WOULD GIVE IRISH NO REPRESENTATION

Proposal to Keep Them Out of Westminster Pending Contributions.

London, Nov. 7.—Only one amendment to clause 19 of the Home Rule Bill, which provides that Ireland shall be represented at Westminster after the measure becomes law by 32 members, was discussed in the House of Commons to-day, thirty-five other amendments being guil-lotined.

Amid cries and uproar, Felix Carron proposed, in effect, that no representation should be given Ireland until she could contribute to the imperial exchequer, or until such time as local Parliaments had been granted to England, Scotland and Wales.
For the amendment there voted 213 and against 212.

WAR MORTALITY ENORMOUS

Physician Describes Appalling Toll Disease Will Claim

London, Nov. 7.—Frank Gerard (Clemow, M.D.), physician to the British Embassy at Constantinople, and a noted authority on diseases and epidemics, in an article in the Lancet states that the mortality of the war in the Balkans will be made enormous, as much by disease as by fighting. The arrangements for the sick and wounded on both sides, he says, are exceedingly inadequate and all the help of the Red Cross and the Red Crescent organizations will be more than needed. The sufferings of the non-combatants will be almost as great as those of the soldiers.

The pestilence refugees in Constantinople are only too certain to be ravaged by starvation and disease.
Typhus and smallpox are the most to be feared, and if cholera, of which there is serious danger, is added, the horrors will be enormously increased.

SCUTARI GOVERNOR REMAINS DEFIANT

Seems Demand of Montenegrins
That He Surrender.

Reika, Montenegro, Nov. 7.—The Turkish garrison of Scutari fired on a steamer on Lake Scutari, on board of which the Austrian military attache and a delegation of Monten-egrins were conveying a demand for the surrender of the town. The shot was flying the white flag as the time.

The commandant at Scutari has since apologized for the firing by his troops, declaring that their action was attributable to over-enthusiasm.
In reply to the Montenegrin demand for surrender of Scutari he declared he was fully prepared to defend the city, which could withstand a three month's siege.

Sharp fighting is going on to the south of Scutari near the Bana mountains.

TIME—5.15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

CAUSE OF WRECK—Probably fog and high speed of vessel.

PASSENGERS ON BOARD—55 First cabin, 149 second cabin, and 710 steerage. Total 914.

RESULTS OF ACCIDENT—Vessel may become a total wreck and possibly topple over, but the company officials are hopeful of pulling her off later to-day. All first and second cabin passengers were taken off and landed at Quebec with 200 others. Several hundred steerage passengers are still on board and storm prevents their removal.

Quebec, Nov. 7.—Only 420 passengers of the Royal George arrived here at 3.30 this morning on board the ferry boat North.
This includes the entire first and second cabin list and some of the steerage.

Another ferry boat tried to reach the Royal George, but ran aground on the Baupoint flat, owing to the strong north-easterly gale. The balance of the passengers are expected to be brought here this afternoon. It is reported that the Royal George will become a total wreck, as she ran her full length on the rocks while going at full speed.

This afternoon the Canadian Press received the following wireless message from the Royal George:

"Royal George ashore, rocky bottom, damage all under water Leaking slowly in several places. Plates badly torn up in stove-hold. Four boilers blown out. Made unsuccessful attempt to get boat off early this morning with tugs and engines."

WALL STREET DEMOCRATS OUT TO KNIFE THE PEERLESS ONE

New York, Nov. 7.—The haste of leading Wall street Democrats to renounce Wm. Jennings Bryan for consideration by President-elect Woodrow Wilson for appointment as Secretary of State, and their action in issuing statements that Col. Bryan has personally announced that he would not accept a Cabinet appointment, are not borne out by the facts.
Bryan was telegraphed at Lincoln
the fact that certain persons were quoting him to that effect, and asked for a statement. He replied, and said as follows: "No one is authorized to speak for me, and I would not, of course discuss the subject at this time."

There was little doubt among the best informed politicians here to-day that Bryan will be the Premier of the new Administration. It was his personal attack on Murphy, Belmont and Ryan that swung the Baltimore convention to the New Jersey Governor. His friends here said it was certain that no one Democrat in the country would have such popular support for a Cabinet position as Hy-man's. His appearance on the stump during the recent campaign was the signal for demonstrations eclipsing
even the torrid campaign of '96,
they said.

THREE YOUNG BURGLARS ARE IMPRISONED FOR LONG TERMS

Toronto, Nov. 7.—The speed of Detective Older in following a trail ended in the arrest last night of Alexander Peak and a charge in the Police Court against him of assaulting and robbing John Cameron of his watch and chain. Peak and Cameron, according to the authorities, were parading the town together until suddenly the former turned upon the latter. Detective Older took up the trail, and followed a man whom Cameron pointed out. Peak ran.
The chase lasted several blocks, and long Queen, through a hotel and finally ended on Simcoe street.

"Not guilty," said Peak. He will remain on remand for a week on bail of $1,000.

During the past four days Detectives Cronin and Mitchell have connected three young men with several small burglaries, and in court all admitted their guilt. They are William Stargess, Albert Sutton and Albert Tyler. The latter was guilty of but one offence. Stargess and Sutton broke into two other places.
They received 23 months each in the Central Prison.

BOURASSA MAY RUN WITH NAVAL MATTER THE ISSUE

Montreal, Nov. 7.—That Mr. Henri Bourassa, Nationalist leader, would contest the Hochelaga election against Hon. Louis Coderre, was insisted this morning by prominent Nationalists. Mr. Bourassa admitted the possibility but said he was not prepared to make a definite announcement.

With the retirement of the Liberals,
on advice from Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday, it was felt that the by-election might be dropped, allowing the newly appointed Secretary of State to take Cabinet office without an election fight.

"But now you are going to see the hottest campaign ever," stated the Nationalist this morning. The Nationalists are determined to obtain some pronouncement on the naval question.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It looks as though the case of the sick man of Europe is hopeless.

In their demand that the Dominion parliament shall grant them the right to control their own streets, Ontario municipalities should have the backing of the Ontario government.

The Turks have long enjoyed the reputation of being desperate fighters but the large number of them that have been captured by the Bulgarians proves that they are very poor fighters.

Sir George Ross utters an important but wholesome truth when he declares that the action of the U.S. government in connection with Panama canal tolls resembles the action of a trustee who has proved unfaithful to his trust.

It is greatly to the credit of Queen Wilhelmina of Bulgaria that wearing a crown has neither enlarged her head nor dulled her womanly instincts. With women of humbler birth a crown works from morning until night in the Sofia hospital ministering to the sick and wounded in the Balkan war.

If this is as much of a "Democratic year" as the Democrats claim, the U.S. senate as well as the house of representatives will have a Democratic majority. There will then be no excuse for any failure of the Democratic party to carry out the reforms which it has promised.

London has placed mirrors at dangerous street crossings, so that drivers approaching the corner, on either street, are warned of danger. This is waste of good money, because crowds of women desiring to see how their skirts hang will marshal themselves before the mirrors and shut out the landscape.

Shareholders of the Bank of Ottawa will be gratified to learn of the appointment of Mr. Russell Blackburn to the directorate, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late H. F. McLachlin. Mr. Blackburn is one of the younger generation of financiers and is a most successful business man.

The decision of the C. P. R. to sell its lands hereafter to settlers only is one that must win approval everywhere. While it will retard the process of turning land into cash, it will result in more advantageous terms to the real improver of the land than if the land were sold in large areas for future development and profit. The removal of the middleman from the West will help immensely.

OUR SHOW MACHINERY COMBINE

At last the report of the Board of Inquiry, appointed to look into the alleged existence of a shoe machinery combine, has been made public, and we find that the United Shoe Machinery Company is a real combine, and is consequently illegal. The company, it appears, manufactures shoe machinery, which machines are covered by patent, and which it does not sell, but leases. If the manufacturer who uses these machines should wish to install some machines of other make, not manufactured nor approved by this company, he finds that while he is perfectly free to buy any machine he wishes, he must be prepared to part with all the machines leased from the United Shoe Machinery Company, if he installs any others. This, the board, declares, is not in accord with Canadian law, and the company must amend its ways. It is significant, however, that a report by a minority of the board of inquiry states that the leases of the company have been declared legal by the Privy Council. The case excites but a languid interest amongst the public, as it seems taken for granted that in any case the shoe, which are produced will be neither cheaper nor better. But is this the only "combine" or is it the worst combine? Is this the only combination of wealthy men which seems to be more interested in making money for its stockholders than in using its power to benefit the public? We wish we could say or feel that it was.

TRYING TO FRIGHTEN SIR JAMES

The Separate School trustees of Ottawa have asked Sir James Whitney for an appointment to discuss new regulations. The Orange Sentinel, which appears to be well informed on the subject of bilingual schools, says that he can hardly refuse to hear what they have to say. But it is difficult to conceive that they have any argument that will lead the Premier to modify the regulations. The violence of these trustees has been so noticeable that Sir James cannot afford to make any changes in the regulations. If he should he will be regarded as amenable to force and that would be an entirely new role for him.

He has behind him at least seven-eighths of the people of the Province in the course he has taken. The protests are made in the name of about one-tenth. It is inconceivable that the Premier will disregard the settled convictions of so large a majority to placate a truculent minority which is demanding special privileges which are disastrous to Ontario as an Anglo-Saxon province.

The pressure that is now being applied to secure a continuance of the old conditions is just what was to be expected. No doubt the Premier and Minister of Education had the foresight to anticipate these objections, and are prepared to carry out their policy regardless of the fanatical outburst of the new regulations have occasioned.

Nobody has been able to frighten Sir James Whitney up to the present time. We have no fear that the trustees of Ottawa will be able to do so.

Stops a Cough IN ONE NIGHT

CATARRH AND WEAK THROAT NOW CURED WITHOUT SWALLOWING DANGEROUS DRUGS

By Breathing the Soothing, Healing Vapor of Catarrhose. All Throat and Catarrhal Trouble is Quickly Cured.

It's simply wonderful to think how quickly a bad throat or Catarrh can be cured with Catarrhose. Its rich balsamic vapor is carried along with the breath into the innermost recesses of the lungs, bronchial tubes and chest, making it impossible for the germ of any disease to live. These organisms in the chest are at once destroyed—phlegm is loosened and ejected from the throat, old-standing coughs are removed.

"I suffered from an irritable, weak throat for three years. I had a severe cough, pain over the eyes, constant bad taste in my mouth, and noise in my ears. It was chronic Catarrh. Nothing gave me permanent relief till I used Catarrhose. In one hour it relieved, and in a few weeks drove all trace of Catarrh from my system."

"TIMOTHY A. SALMON, 'No. 8 Lopez Street, Kingston, J.C.' REMEMBER THIS: You breathe Catarrhose and it will cure any throat, chest or bronchial cold. Large size, guaranteed, costs $1.00, and lasts 100 days. Small size, 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations and insist on 'CATARRHOSE' only. GREAT AUDIENCE IN "ELIJAH"

Majestic Opera Company Gives Superb Performance Last Night

As predicted by The Times, there was a large audience last night at the Grand Opera House to witness the extraordinary performance in many ways of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," in operatic form, by the Majestic Opera Company of New York. It was a superb performance for the quality of the vocal presentation, for the splendid work of the orchestra, and for the artistic conception of the stage arrangements. Ever since The Times first announced to the public that Peterborough was to be visited by this great company of artists, public interest has increased. The public is already familiar with the broad essentials of "Elijah." In oratorio form or through selections by church choirs, its main features have given delight to people all over the world.

It is a matter of more than ordinary interest, therefore, when this great work is presented in the new form of grand opera, and those who gathered in the Grand Opera House last night to witness the presentation by the Majestic Grand Opera Company, they were repaid.

The work deals with some of the clearest events in the life of the prophet Elijah in the period of 940 B.C. He is shown on the plain of Gilead, at Cherith Brook, raising the dead to life in the widow's house at Zarephath, declining to the temptations outside the temple of Baal and the ruin of the Israelite's temple, and finally in exile in the wilderness, to be caught up to heaven in a chariot of fire as the curtain falls.

The whole performance was magnificent in its conception as well as in its details. The Times congratulates Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, on the great success achieved.

Some of Mr. Bourassa's friends are advising him not to make the mistake of entering the field, but his younger followers are always spoiling for a fight.

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 90 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

THRIFT BY MOTOR CAR.

South African Banks Have Hit on a Novel Device.

The banks in South Africa have a fleet of motor cars traveling the country districts, each of which is fitted up with all the necessary adjuncts to carry on an ordinary banking business. Each car contains a safe, a desk, at which two men can sit and shelve for the books. As an illustration of how anything in the nature of an innovation can spread if it meets a public demand the motor bank could not be surpassed. It is not yet twelve months since the first car set out on its travels into the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, and to-day there are some two dozen cars constantly traveling different parts of the Union engaged in this calling.

The pioneers had, as is often the case with pioneers the world over, to encounter great opposition. The Boer farmers were suspicious of the scheme. They had read and heard of confidence tricksters, and they felt doubtful as to whether these new-fangled young men in the motor cars did not belong to this fraternity. The name of the bank in gilt lettering on the car, and the production of duly constituted authority to receive deposits and transact other banking business was not sufficient to dispel the mistrust, and the pioneers returned from their first essay practically defeated.

Then the bank in question gave over the conduct of the operations to the local manager of the Johannesburg branch, and this gentleman, accompanied the next car that went out, that was beginning to appear as a forlorn hope. The manager was known to some of the farmers, and his interpreter was a shrewd man who knew Boer nature. The first farmer who was won over to making a deposit started the campaign on a satisfactory basis, and since then there has been no looking back. For a long time the trading stores have acted as banks to many of the less prosperous farmers.

The storekeeper reaped little if any benefit from this, and they were the first to come forward and point out the benefits to be gained by their customers if they would do business with the banks in town. Besides the Transvaal and Orange River Colony the motor banks visit the native territories. They are everywhere well received to-day, and though doubts were at first expressed as to the safety or otherwise of cars that were traveling in the way of young bachelors, there has never been any attempt at interference.

The cars have certain days for traveling certain routes, and the journeys are so arranged that each car reaches a village or point at night which is in railway communication with town, and the money received during the day is sent down by train.

Nearly all the business consists of depositing money, and many Boers, to whom the idea of entrusting their cash to strangers on tour would have seemed sheer madness a little while ago, are now anxious to increase their deposits as much as possible. It is claimed that this new plan is inducing the young men to practice thrift, and for this reason it is also welcomed by the older people, who look askance at the many temptations now cast in the way of young bachelors to spend money carelessly.

Blackwood and Scott.

An offer of "The Tales of My Landlord" was made by Scott through the medium of Ballantyne. The terms were fairly stiff, but things were coming to a head when Blackwood, a man of letters and no ready even to go, ventured a criticism which caused Scott to write to Ballantyne the following by no means urbane note:

James.—I have received Blackwood's impudent letter. G—d—his soul! Tell him and his coadjutor that I belong to the Black Huns of Literature, who neither give nor receive criticism. I'll be cured but this is the most impudent proposal that was ever made.—W.B. However, "The Black Dwarf," the first of the proposed series, was published by Blackwood, but by a connection with such an agency as was afforded by "pleasure James" was not likely to last, and suddenly, and without warning, the work was taken out of his hands and Scott was launched upon the path that led to the trials and tragedy of his later life.

Cure for Loss of Memory.

There is a cheap cure for the sudden lapse of memory. You have but to take three deep breaths and the memory returns. The late Canon Fleming put the cure to good purpose. He came up from Bath to Chamberwell to preach. At Paddington he injured his wrist. Next day he walked from Paddington to the church. Sick with pain when he stood up in the pulpit and the hymn was being sung, he had forgotten his text and his sermon. He stood in agony until he remembered the cure, of which he had once heard. He took the three deep breaths, and the memory returned. The moral is, breathe freely.—London Chronicle.

General Booth's Stick.

The walking-stick of General Booth used on the last walk he ever took has a little history of its own. At a meeting in Paris some time ago a notorious Russian anarchist was converted by the general's eloquence, and soon after the latter's return to England he received from his convert a piece of string, with the request that a knot might be tied in it to show the length of the walking-stick the General usually carried. The string was knotted accordingly and returned to Paris, and a little later this stick arrived in London, a present from the grateful convert and the work of his own hands.

Observes the Sabbath.

Rev. Alfred Waller, vicar of St. Paul's, Southend, Eng., has allowed neither postmen nor milkmen to come to his door on Sunday for a quarter of a century. The household cooking is all done on Saturday.

The Change of a Word.

"Ranking" did not suggest chastisement originally. It was unknown to Johnson. In his sense, to "rank" meant "to punish" or "to treat long term with severity." Rapid motion seems to be the root idea of the word "rank," which is not merely representative of the sound of the act, as "snap" and "crack" are. The low German "paken" or "pesseren" is to run and spring about quickly, is close to the original meaning; hence a "ranking pace," a "ranking breeze" and a "ranker" in the sense of an active and sturdy person.

WASTE TURNED TO USE.

Story of a Sausage Factory and its Worthless Juice.

A simple illustration of how apparent waste may be utilized is shown in the story of a sausage factory on Long Island. In the manufacture of this German delicacy the juice is pressed out of the cabbage and, as the vegetables are about 60 per cent water or juice, the waste was more than one-half. This juice was allowed to go to waste.

It was an industrial chemist who collected this juice and discovered that it contained much decomposed vegetable matter. There was an organic acid in the juice that seemed worth recovering, and by concentration and distillation the acid was obtained and refined. Today this organic acid forms an important factor in the tanning of skins and in all textile manufacturing.

At first thought it would seem as if the sausage industry was too small to be of importance in recovering such an insignificant byproduct, but there are some on Long Island upward of twenty such factories, and each one uses some 2,000,000 pounds of cabbage. From each factory there are recovered annually 80,000 gallons of juice, or, in all, 1,600,000 gallons of waste. Multiply these figures by ten and we begin to get an idea of what this factory economy means, for there are similar factories around Chicago, St. Louis and many other large cities. —George Ethelbert Walsh in Leslie's.

BATTING IN BASEBALL.

The Style of Bats Used by the Sluggers Varies Greatly.

Heavy hitters of the past and present have always been of widely different opinions regarding their bats. Dan Brouthers, the veteran slapper, expressed the feelings of most players when he said the bat makes little difference to a batsman as long as it feels comfortable and the owner looks upon his favorite stick with something like affection.

It can be well added that the style of the bat sometimes has little to do with its hitting, whether it be the choice effect invented by Willie Keeler or the crook that was Sam Crawford's stock in trade. Young players make the mistake of copying the style of some great batter and of using a club that is as nearly a replica of the great one as possible.

It used to be said of Larry Lajoie that he could "hit the ball a mile with a toothpick," and Hans Wagner was not particular about the ball he used so long as he could get a ball off the shoulder. As a matter of fact, most of the hard hitters make their long drives from bats that would not have been strikes had they been allowed to go to the catcher. Unless one stands fairly well back from the plate it is difficult to get the shoulders into a drive made from a perfectly pitched ball.—New York World.

Richardson as an Editor.

The first reporter of France was Louis XIII. The national library possesses the manuscripts of thirty-six articles written by that king. Almost all are accounts of his military operations. These articles were published in the Gazette de France. The "copy," however, did not go directly to the printer. Louis XIII wrote in admirable French, and he had vague notions of orthography. His articles were corrected and often entirely rearranged by a secretary named Lucas, who copied them, sending to Richardson the new manuscript. Richardson arranged it in his turn and often introduced additional corrections. At the siege of Corbie the king wrote a few lines eulogistic of the cardinal, but afterward crossed them out of his article. Richardson wrote them in again, and so they appeared in the Gazette de France.

Where the Fish Bite.

A traveling salesman while in Chicago was invited to a party given by a friend. During supper stories were called for, and he told the following: Two fishermen were fishing one day in a lake. After nearly all day one of them threw his line far out and pulling in, he got a strike. After fishing awhile he finally landed a fine fish.

"Oh," said he, "Mike, this is the only place in the lake to fish; we will just mark it." And he cut a notch in the side of the boat.

They all laughed, and the story telling was resumed.

There was one Englishman who kept laughing all the time during the rest of the evening until time to go home, when he came up to the traveling salesman and said: "I was just thinking of the story you told. It was such a funny story. I don't believe I ever heard such a funny story before. Just think, if they had got the wrong boat they would have never known where to fish."—Machinist Monthly.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 30,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the oil reach the value of this one product of the Sunbelt State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

Solid Gold.
For many years the term "Solid Gold" has been a commercial misnomer. Some of the ancient Roman jewelry as well as that of the Renaissance period was indeed made of pure gold. Worked up by hand with the greatest of tools, but when the old day there had been a constantly increasing employment of alloys, for the reason that the harder the gold the better the quality and the more secure, therefore, was the object of the game it contained—Argenteus.

The Hard Part First.

Itching Palm Oil.

"Palm oil," a synonym for "graft," is not at all a novelty in this sense. Middleton wrote that "palm oil will make a paralytic rot." The sixteenth and seventeenth centuries revealed in varieties of the metaphor. Greene speaks of rubbing palms with the "oil of angels," a humorous allusion to the coins named after the angelic figure stamped upon it, and "oil of angels" seems to have been quite a common joke in England. Another writer has a reference to "anointing" an ecclesiastic in the first "with Indian oyle." Both "anointing" and "greasing" were frequently used to mean bribing, even without special mention of the hand as the part greased.

To Cure Swelling.
"At a banquet," said an editor, "I once heard Jerome K. Jerome make a speech on swelling. I remember that it ended with these words: 'To cure swelling it is advised that a piece of soap be dropped into the mouth of the sworer. The oil in the soap will lubricate the pharynx and other Latin parts of the throat. This remedy must be applied with caution; otherwise the sworer will arise and lubricate the floor with the person who dropped in the soap.'"

THE HORSE BREAKERS.

Australia's Experts Are Experts and Their Work is Marvellous.

In a country so dependent upon horses as Australia it is inevitable that the figure of the horse breaker should loom large and should command special attention in the bush, where he plies his arduous and somewhat dangerous trade in full view of a community in which every man is more or less a horseman.

The Australian horse breaker, says W. H. Ogilvie, writing in Bailey's Magazine, travels from station to station on horseback, leading a packhorse which carries his blankets, and, belonging to some of the smaller articles of his trade, such as mousing bits, patent bandstalls, hobbles, surcingle, or "toadie," as it is called, is supplied by the station on which he works.

Arrived at the station on which he is to work, he is given help in unstrapping the three-year-old colt or broken in, it is much to the credit of the breaker that he turns out as pleasant a back as he does, and that, generally speaking, he is quiet enough for any one to ride on the trainer gives him over. As the breaker is paid by the head, he naturally tries to get through his work as quickly as possible, but the time he must keep his horses in hand depends to a great extent on the horsemanliness of the men on the station.

If these men are good riders, or even fair riders, they will take the colts from him in a few days, or at the latest in a week; but if they are timid, or reluctant to risk their necks on an unknown quantity in horseflesh, he may have to ride the same horse himself for nearly a month, and, of course, really bad horses always delay him.

Of the courage and resource of the bush horse breaker a volume could be written. His best work is not always done in the glare of publicity. It is not so hard to ride a buck-jumper, for instance, before a cheering crowd of stockmen, ready to applaud every clever move of the rider, but to take courage—cool, confident courage—to ride the same horse alone in the bush, when a fall may mean being dragged in the stirrup or kicked, with no one at hand to assist or to applaud.

Yet nearly every day the horse breaker rides a colt out into the bush alone, trusting to his superb horsemanship to pull him through. He comes home after perhaps a battle royal with his mount, but no one guesses the danger that he has faced alone.

One hears sometimes of the horse breaker whom no horse has ever succeeded in throwing from the saddle. Such tales may be received with caution. The very best rider is sometimes caught napping, and just as the most sure-footed horse may one day trip and fall, so the most accomplished of horsemen may be thrown. We have yet to meet the breaker who has never been caught off his guard.

Preventing a Collision.
When warships are steaming in line formation through fog it becomes necessary to prevent some marking by means of which the vessels may maintain their places in line and at the desired distance from each other. The usual method adopted by British fleet when caught in a fog is the halting of a buoy in the water behind each vessel. This buoy makes a flapping noise, which is easily heard by the lookouts on the ship following as well as bearing a watch discernible to the eye.

A Footstool Church.
Mr. Raymond Unwin told a story relating to the building of St. John's Church, South Square, Westminster. The architect, he said, was reported to have worried Queen Anne about the design. Her majesty, at length losing patience, kicked her footstool over and remarked in anger, "Build it like that!" The architect fulfilled the royal wishes, and the church was built, as it stands to-day—with the corners protruding upward like the four legs of a stool.

The Change of a Word.
"Speaking" did not suggest chastisement originally. It was unknown to Johnson in this sense. To him a "speaker" meant "a person who talked long stops with agility." Rapid fire then came to be the root idea of the word "talk," which is not merely representative of the sound of the act, as "snap" and "smack" are. The low German "patttern" or "spatters," to run and spring about quickly, is close to the original meaning; hence a "speaking pace," a "speaking breeze" and a "speaker" are the same of an active and sturdy horse.

IN ANCIENT CATHAY

CHINA HAS THE MOST WONDERFUL CIVILIZATION EXTANT.

Without Patriotism or National Feeling She Presents a Remarkable Solidarity and Many Things We See as New Are Very Old With Her People—System of Manners is Now Obscured and Forgotten.

Western ideas of China and its people have been modified considerably by the increased knowledge of the race which has been one of the results of the revolution. There is little doubt that with the republic firmly established and increasing contact with the progressive methods of the occident China will occupy a noble position among the nations of the future. The latent strength is there. Amazing possibilities of wealth and of power are contained within the bounds of this mighty territory. Chinese civilization is one of the oldest on earth and the only one which has continued uninterruptedly till the present day. It has not always been a stagnant nation. Changes in the fundamental form and character of the Government have swept over China at frequent intervals with an intensity rivaling that displayed in the late revolution. China, through 4,000 years of unbroken history, has hardly touched her wealth. Living on the products of her own labor for forty centuries, her material riches are to-day almost intact. Her civilization is the development of an attitude of reverence for the past, harking back to remote ages and great teachers instead of purposefully looking toward the future.

The Chinese and accomplished people of China include arches in architecture, carving in wood and modeling in bronze and other metals, painting with unrivaled colors, printing, paper from wood pulp, the mariner's compass, gunpowder and guns, books, astronomy, codified laws, civil service examinations, bank notes and coins and hot-air pipes for heating houses. The possession of all these luxuries before they were dreamed of in the west. Her mighty rivers, some of them 3,000 miles in length, have been so "canalized" by thousands of miles of artificial channels and is a perfect network of waterways. Here is found the longest canal in the world—800 miles in length and built at the dawn of the Christian era. No nation can match her stupendous public works, her myriad walled cities, her great wall, 1,600 miles in length and from 30 to 35 feet both in thickness and height, climbing mountains and spanning rivers, using in many important passes double-built 3,000 years ago. Ethics, philosophy and the principles of government and religion have been discussed calmly and exhaustively by Chinese scholars from the days of Confucius and Mencius, 600 years before the time of Christ. Millions of printed volumes constitute a splendid body of literature. The writer and the scholar are received with honor by the highest in the land.

Prized with a superficial knowledge of this ancient civilization, the traveler in China is profoundly impressed and puzzled by her complete reversal of the greater number of our manners and customs. The explanation is to be found in the peculiarly diverse conditions of evolution, in the tendency to hearken to the voice and the teachings of the past instead of probing the mysteries of the future, in an innate sense of reverence, and a fatalistic belief in inevitable retribution and the existence of an omnipotent force, in the peculiar and extensive sense of filial obligation, and in that ingrained dignity and self-respect which exacts the most ceremonious politeness in social relations. No people are more potently influenced by the unseen world. The constant attitude of looking backward to the great teachings and the great men of remote ages has made the Chinese an intensely conservative people and no one can wonder that their civilization, wrought-out through centuries by themselves, uninfluenced from the outside, differs so widely from the civilization of the west, evolved under radically divergent conditions.

This is the land whose cities have no lights, no plan, no sewers, and no sidewalks. Strictly speaking, there is neither public spirit, patriotism, nor much national feeling, in spite of the apparent solidarity of her revolutionary movement. The people are and always have been intensely democratic. There are no killers and no so-called "nobles." Of course this has reference to the Chinese who have come little in contact with foreigners; the vast majority of the nation whose horses are pictured sitting on their haunches instead of wearing them. Every province, every city, every hamlet is distracted, and in the hamlets some respected citizen is chosen as head man in his hold responsible for the good conduct of his people. If any crime is committed he is held till the culprit is found. It is not often that anything, except criminal cases, come before the official courts.

The ceremonial usage of China has been regulated by the Le-ying, or book of rites, and have come down the ages unaltered. The constant theme of the classical literature is the character and conduct of "the superior man," a type of the audibly virtuous and hypocritical prior. His virtues, his honor, his social relations, his manner in public and private are carefully defined. His is among his highest qualities and must be maintained at any cost. Ceremony in his very existence. And these ancient writings permeate and potently influence the farthest recesses of China. The very character in which the classics are written is worshipped. Agents of literary societies collect every piece of paper, every bit of wood or stone on which is written or printed a character and, after burning them, the ashes are carried in solemn official procession and cast into the water as an offering to the god of literature.

RUSSIA PREPARING FOR WAR ARMY ON WAR FOOTING

Several Hundred Thousand Soldiers Who Should Have Been Released Will be Retained Until the Spring at the Cost of Millions of Dollars--Best Way to Prevent War

Berlin, Nov. 8.—Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy will not intervene in the Balkan situation so long as their special interests are not affected, and unless they are requested to do so by the belligerent nations. The determination was reached during a series of conferences held here between the Marquis di San Giuliano, Italian Foreign Minister, the Imperial Chancellor, and the German Foreign Secretary, at which the Austrian Ambassador was also present.

Cologne, Germany, Nov. 8.—It is reported in Sofia, Bulgaria, that the Porte has proposed to Bulgaria to begin peace negotiations without the mediation of the powers, according to a despatch to the Cologne Gazette.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The Russian Government has decided to retain all the time-expired soldiers of the Russian army in active service with their regiments until next spring. This places the Russian army practically on a war footing, as the order affects several hundred thousand men, whose places would, in the ordinary course, have been taken by the same number of recruits who have just been called up.

It is announced that Government has taken this step as the best means of preventing war, and it is thought that THIS CAN ONLY MEAN THAT THE GOVERNMENT FORESEES THE POSSIBILITY OF COMPLICATIONS ARISING OUT OF THE BALKAN SITUATION.

The retention of the time-expired men will entail a cost of many millions.

WANT TO BORROW $10,000 FOR AN INCINERATOR

City's Property Committee Will Recommend Council To Submit a Bylaw in January to This Effect—Complaints Lodged Against the Garbage Collector

The City's Property Committee met last night with Chairman Ald. Duncan presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Graham and Brown. Held and Brown of Toronto, submitted a plan for an incinerator to cost $6,500. This is needed for the disposal of garbage.

The Committee will recommend that Council submit a by-law to the people to authorize borrowing of $10,000 with which to purchase and install an incinerator. The Committee offers that the acquisition of such an incinerator would obviate the need of a dumping ground the rent of which some $450 would take care of the interest of the debt thus incurred. Ald. Brown doubts if an $8,500 incinerator will meet all the city's requirements in this connection.

Sanitary Inspector Spence reported that Downer, the garbage collector, refuses to collect ashes on the plea that the receptacles are too heavy for one man to lift. Chairman Ald. Duncan replied that it is up to the collector to put on sufficient help to handle his work.

Inspector Spence said he had notified Downer that he must live up to his contract in respect to ashes. The committee heartily endorsed Mr. Spence's action.

Complaints are also lodged that Downer does not remove some garbage that is not left to suit his convenience and yet is readily accessible to him. Inspector Spence had notified Downer that in all such cases he would employ a cart to remove the garbage refused by him and charge the cost of same up against Downer.

The City Solicitor will be instructed to notify Downer that he must

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The Russian Government has decided to retain all the time-expired soldiers of the Russian army in active service with their regiments until next spring. This places the Russian army practically on a war footing as he order affects several hundred thousand men whose places would in the ordinary course have been taken by the same number of recruits who have just been called up.

TYPICAL SCENE IN TURKEY, WHERE MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN ARE FLEEING BEFORE THE BALKAN ARMIES

GROUP OF REFUGEES FLEEING FROM TURKEY

RUMORED THAT GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY MAY BUILD A NEW PASSENGER STATION

The Company Requires More Yard Room—City May Urge Construction of Union Station at Once

The Times yesterday was informed that the Grand Trunk Railway were preparing to build a new and more modern passenger station, which they propose to erect on their property near the present station building, which will in all probability be turned into a freight office. It is known that the company has for some time been short of yard room for its cars, and has been obliged to place much rolling stock on the tracks in East City and other places removed from their common centre. More property will be acquired, so that there will be no danger of congestion so far as yard room and tracks are concerned. The new station will, we are informed, cost in the neighborhood of $75,000, and will be one of the finest in Ontario, outside the larger cities.

The Times would call the attention of the City Council and Board of Trade to the above, with a view to having the C.P.R. join with the Grand Trunk in the erection of a Union Station to be used by both roads in common. This would not only prove of incalculable advantage to the travelling public, but it would mean a good deal to the local shippers and business men. It would also result in a considerable saving to the railways as well. No time should be lost in taking this most important matter up, and the people will look to Mayor Bradburn to take the initiative.

SULTAN'S YACHT ALL READY TO LEAVE IN GREAT HURRY

London, Nov. 8.—The Standard's Constantinople correspondent telegraphs:

"The wild rush of a demoralized and hungry mob of soldiers into the doomed city is adding to the general terror. Many Turks have crossed the Bosphorus, and many Europeans are seeking refuge aboard steamships."

"The Sultan's yacht is waiting with steam up to take him to Brusa, an Asia Minor. The Imperial Treasury has already been sent away. Twenty warships of the powers are now in the Bosphorus."

NORTH DAKOTANS LYNCHED SLAYER

Steele, N.D., Nov. 8.—George Baker, in the county jail here, charged with the murder of his wife and father-in-law, Thomas Glass, was taken from the jail early to-day and lynched. It is the first lynching in North Dakota within a decade.

ALL ARE SAFE

Quebec, Nov. 8.—The ferry boats Pilot and Pelaris into this afternoon succeeded in getting to the Royal George and all the storage passengers were removed. They will be sent to Montreal by special trains this afternoon.

The extent of the damage to the boat will not be known until divers can examine her bottom. Should it be found necessary to abandon her, the loss would be about two million.

CHANGES ON STAFF OF PROTESTANT HOME

There has been important changes on the staff of the Protestant Home. Mr. Nathan Taylor, who has efficiently filled the position of Superintendent for the past three months, has been obliged to resign on account of ill health.

Miss Lancaster, of Buffalo, N.Y., has assumed the duties of matron. There are at present 23 inmates in the institution.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Robert Neal.
Mr. Isaac Eastwood yesterday received a telegram carrying the sad intelligence that his sister, Mrs. Robert Neal of Central Ontario Junction, had passed away. Mr. and Mrs. Eastwood left during the morning to attend the obsequies. The late Mrs. Neal, who was 59 years of age, as been ill for some years. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and three sons, one of whom lives in Calgary, and one daughter, Mrs. Beatty of Coldwater. The deceased was a member of the Methodist church. The funeral will be held to-day, and interment in the cemetery on the 12th line, Roden township.

TURKISH FORTS CAPTURED CONSTANTINOPLE IS NEXT

Victors Want to Make a Great Day of It By Announcing at One Time the Fall of Adrianople, Tchatalja, and Constantinople--Facts That Strengthen Belief in Their Overwhelming Success

Vienna, Nov. 8.—Informal negotiations for the surrender of Constantinople have been already entered upon, according to the correspondent of the Reichs Post with the Bulgarian army. He adds that the Bulgarians hope the fall of the Turkish line of forts at Tchatalja will be simultaneous with the taking of the Fortress of Adrianople.

The Reichs Post is represented at the front, with the Bulgarian army, by Lieut. Wegener, who has sent the most reliable news of the progress of the campaign. Lieut. Wegener's story should be read with the despatch from the London Chronicle's Constantinople despatch which stated that the Sultan's yacht had steam up ready for flight, and that the court treasures had already been moved; also with the Constantinople despatch that seeing Turkish soldiers had set fire to Silivri, a place behind the Tchatalja forts, which suggests that these had been abandoned.

Athens, Nov. 8.—The Greek army, commanded by Crown Prince Constantine, occupied Salonika, the Turkish stronghold in South western Turkey in Europe, to-day.

IMPORTANT FACT GIVEN ON THE LIQUOR QUESTION TO QUEBEC COMMISSION

Series of Strong Facts Presented in the Form of a Memorandum—Request Made that No Licenses Be Issued to Women, and That There Should Be Not More Than One License For Every 1000 Men of Age

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The license commission appointed by the Government of the Province of Quebec, to make an investigation of the liquor question, met here recently. The commission is composed of Judge H. Carroll, A. G. Cross and Auguste Tessier, with Alfred Broome as secretary. The commission is not hurrying its work of investigation, and at its last session in the City of Quebec, a month ago, it announced that it desired to go into the question thoroughly and did not expect to hand in its report for sixteen or eighteen months.

At the previous session of the commission there was much disappointment on the part of those who came to hear arguments and facts, pro and con. They found that while the advocates of prohibition or semi-prohibition were there in force, yet instead of arguments and facts, the speakers simply made speeches, containing nothing but general and sweeping assertions. This was unfortunate. What is badly needed are official facts on this much-discussed subject, so that they can be weighed and digested, and a correct judgment formed of the conclusions to which they lead.

At the recent session of the Dominion Alliance, the Anti-Alcoholic League and other organizations made an attempt to submit a comprehensive series of statistics or other facts to support an adequate outline. They confined themselves to making certain demands or suggestions.

Views of Other Sides.
After a petition was read from the French Chamber of Commerce favoring special licenses for beer and light wines, and after L. T. Marechal, K. C., had presented the case for the Montreal hotel proprietors, Father Ladislas led in presenting the views of the other side, none of the speakers of which by the way demanded outright prohibition. Father Ladislas suggested that there should be a better application of law by proper officers, a better supervision as to the quality of liquors sold, and he further contended that drunkards should be condemned to hard labor. By imposing work on them, Father Ladislas said, the state would pay them and thus their families would get support. To overcome the objections of labor unions, the imprisoned drunkards could be put on public works, thus providing their families with support.

Not All the Evils.
Bishop Farthing of the Anglican church started out by admitting that drink did not cause all of the evils claimed for it. Bad housing and other results of the system, he said, undoubtedly drove men to drink. What Bishop Farthing was opposed to was the excesses in drink, but he believed that there should be absolute equality among rich and poor in the sense that they should both be able to get the liquor they desire. The liberties of the people should not be struck at. Nevertheless, he thought, it was desirable that there should be a strong control of the trade so that excess should be minimized.

None for Women.
Madame Beique, president of the Federation of St. John Baptist Association, urged that no licenses be

FIRST GUN IS FIRED IN LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN

Last night the first gun fired in the open, was aimed against the ramparts of the liquor interests, in the present local option campaign, in the Sunday school of Knox church. Rev. Mr. Keith, the pastor occupied the chair. There were about fifty people present. The meeting opened with a hymn, which was heartily sung. Mr. Keith led in prayer. St. James Brotherhood choir gave vocal selection in good voice and harmony.

Mr. Keith said the meeting was convened to discuss temperance legislation, and local option. The press, he heard from a friend he met in Toronto on Thursday, gave a wrong impression of local option in Owen Sound.

Rev. Mr. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church was the first speaker. He thought he would find many people who did not quite understand the local option. He expected to find many people with red noses in the audience. He was aggressively disappointed at this matter, however. He believed in local option for Peterborough and the country at large. Drink is an enemy to good health. Paul told Timothy he should take a little wine for his stomach's sake. This however, he qualified by a humorous and contradictory story about a minister, who, when sick was ordered by his doctor, liquor in his milk; when he recovered, the minister asked to know who owned the cow.

MAGICAL EFFECT OF NEW FACE PRELIER

(Woman's National Journal)
To maintain a clear, rosy, youthful complexion, there's nothing so simple to use and yet so effective as ordinary macrolin wax, which you can get at any drug store. Just apply the wax at night as you would cold cream; in the morning wash it off with warm water. If you've never tried it you can't imagine the magical effect of this harmless home remedy. The macrolin in the wax causes the worn-out skin to come off in minute particles, a little at a time, and soon you have a new, healthy, and glowing complexion. The fresh young underlain now in evidence is so healthy and girlish looking, so free from any appearance of artificiality, you wonder why you had not heard of this marvelous complexion-renewing secret long ago. To get rid of your wrinkles, here's a formula that is wonderfully effective: 1 oz. powdered azarite, dissolved in 1 pt. witch hazel. Rub the face in this and you will be simply astonished at the results, even after the first trial.

THE LIBRARY TEA A GREAT SUCCESS

Yesterday afternoon the drawing room of the Y.W.C.A. was crowded with the guests at the Library Tea, which was given by the Girl's Auxiliary. The guests were received by Mrs. Norris, President of the Board, Miss Grace Reinhardt, president of the Auxiliary, and the Executive—the Misses Crane, Collins and Roberts.

The tea room, where coffee and punch were served by Mrs. Jardine and Mrs. Harvey, was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums and palms and the girls of the Auxiliary were delicious in looking after the wants of the numerous guests. Many of the ladies of the city availed themselves of this opportunity to assist in the excellent work of building up new library for the Y.W.C.A. and to spend a very enjoyable hour. Miss Dorothy Allen and Miss Florence Scott rendered a couple of vocal solos which were much appreciated.

The girls are to be congratulated on the unequalled success of their tea.

A STREET CAR WITHOUT RAILS.

An innovation calculated to greatly cheapen the cost of the trolley car system is the railless tramway now on trial in the city of Dundee, Scotland. There are no tracks, and the cars have control over the full width of the roadway. In order to provide a complete circuit for operating purposes, two trolley poles are used and the overhead equipment is of the usual kind. The cars used are comparatively light, weighing only three and one-half tons, and they accommodate only twenty-eight people, but it is estimated that the cost of construction is reduced to one-fourth of that of an ordinary street railway.

Whether the use of such cars is feasible is a matter that remains to be demonstrated, but it seems that their chief availability would be on well paved streets within city limits, for in suburban districts on roads more or less rough the wear and tear would be great and there would be little comfort in travel.

The reduction of cost, however, is so great that if the cars work well in Dundee they are sure to come into use in other places, hence their introduction into some of the cities of Canada and the United States may be regarded as a strong probability, because the cheapening of transportation systems is just as much of a desideratum here as in Scotland.

A MISSION OF MERCY.

War is always horrible, but the present war, with centuries of hatred oppression and reprisal, heightened by religious difference between the combatants will be particularly ghastly. The more advanced nations have the opportunity through the agency of the Red Cross Society of doing much to mitigate the sufferings of wounded men and non-combatants. It is to be hoped that the opportunity will meet with enthusiastic response. Thus may be won a real victory against the devilish forces let loose by war.

It is not yet sixty years since the conditions which surrounded British armies in relation to the wounded and diseased were as bad as those now visible in the Turkish and Balkan forces. It is hardly possible to compute the service rendered by Miss Florence Nightingale as the pioneer of the Red Cross movement, and also, by the way, the extent to which her vision was considered unadvisable sixty years ago. The Victorian idea of a lady was largely that of a woman given to tears, smelling salts, faintings and hysteria when confronted with any of the realities of life. Nursing, in particular, was not even considered a respectable occupation, so much had silly convention obscured one of woman's noblest prerogatives.

Miss Nightingale changed all that, and was instrumental in at least cutting in two the horrors of war. But they survive in European Turkey without much modification. The Moslem is apathetic towards suffering, his own as well as other people's, but especially other people's. The Red Cross, however, will carry the true banner of civilization and plant it farther and more firmly than any army corps. Its army must be well equipped in science, self-sacrifice and money. That power does not have to borrow money to carry on its truly holy war. It should be poured into the treasury without stint, and will be, if our humanitarianism is not a sham and a delusion.

FACTS ON LIQUOR QUESTION

granted to women, and that there should be not more than one license for every 1000 men of age.

Mr. Robert Johnston, representing the Presbyterian Church, urged in favor of separating the sale of liquor from that of groceries, and he made other suggestions. Mrs. F. H. Waycott, vice-president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, spoke briefly along similar lines, and Mrs. David Scott urged that the state should make provision for the families of imprisoned drunkards. Rev. T. E. Bourke, representing the Methodist Churches of Montreal, argued that liquor should be sold within certain restrictions and that the law should carefully guard the character of liquor sellers. The forces he represented, he said, recognized that the City of Montreal was not favorable to prohibition. Even Mr. Roberts of the Dominion Alliance said that his and kindred organizations were not demanding total prohibition, but wanted certain modifications in the law, so as to minimize certain evils.

No General Statements.

In contrast to the general observations of these speakers was the series of facts laid in to the consideration in the form of a memorandum. What surprised everyone was that in this comprehensive memorandum on the operation of prohibition and local option laws there was not a single general or unsupported statement. Every fact given was taken from official reports and returns and after each fact the authority for that fact was cited, chapter, verse and page.

Open and Frank.

The memorandum came openly and frankly from the brewing industry of the Province of Quebec. When it is considered that the charge can be made that the brewers are simply pleading for their own interest—a charge which no doubt is fully anticipated—the opponents of prohibition must have a strong case if the brewers are thus willing to put their imprimatur on a memorandum and let their case be considered purely on the merits of the facts submitted. After all, however, it is not a question of who submits the facts. The only question at issue is whether the facts are correct and impartially presented.

The memorandum begins by reciting the conditions whence the prohibition movement originated. Citing from the official reports of the time it shows how, in 1853, the demand for prohibition in Ontario arose from the widespread use of whiskey, gin and brandy, and from the abuses and objectionable features of the saloons. It shows that a practically negligible factor; the liquor consumed was almost wholly ardent spirits, containing an excessive percentage of alcohol. The memorandum goes on to say:

"The census of 1852 gave Toronto a population of 30,775 and York County in all a population of 48,944. Police Magistrate George Curran, of Toronto, testified that in 1857 there were 280 licenses in Toronto. A by-law adopted early in 1858 established the maximum number of licenses at 175, including hotels, inns, taverns, saloons, confectioneries, etc.

But later in the same year the council established Canada's first retail liquor licenses. This was not only a large but an inconceivably enormous number compared to the small population. The sharpest competition resulted and many of the saloons became nothing more or less than gambling joints, dives for the purpose of immorality and prostitution and rendezvous for criminals.

Case Agitation.

"The testimony of officials revealed that it was these features that caused public agitation. The liquor sold was what was referred to frequently in the testimony as ardent spirits—that is to say, whiskey, gin, brandy, etc. The quantity of beer then produced in Canada was negligible, the quantity of whiskey distilled in Canada was great. In 1855 there were six distilleries in Lower Canada producing 608,694 gallons a year, and in Upper Canada 112 distilleries producing 2,011,382 gallons a year; in 1856 the six stills in Lower Canada produced 618,786 gallons and 197 stills in Upper Canada produced 2,346,057 gallons. By the next year, 1857, there were 14 distilleries in Lower Canada, producing 936,824 gallons. The number of stills in Upper Canada had been reduced to 34, but they were producing 2,218,732 gallons in 1857. In the year 1858, a bulk of 2,547,701 gallons of proof spirits were distilled in Canada were.

"At the same time large quantities of spirits were imported. In 1857 there were imported 25,591 gallons of brandy; 59,976 gallons of gin; 21,725 gallons of rum; 313,551 gallons of whiskey, and other quantities of other liquors.

"A Farewell of Quebec testified that 'About three-fourths of all the criminal cases where spirits are freely used as a common beverage are directly attributable to the agency of those drinks. Police Magistrate (Garnett) of Toronto stated that, 'Regular taverns that is, houses of accommodation for travelers, are necessary for public convenience; but saloons, recreances, etc., are places kept merely for the purpose of drinking, and usually gambling and other vicious habits.' George L. Allen, governor of Toronto jail, likewise was a great distinction between hotels and what he termed 'grogeries.' 'It is a notorious fact,' he testified, 'that many of the saloons, recreances, etc., are kept open all night for the accommodation of the very worst classes of society, both male and female. In these places all sorts of crime are hatched, and their perpetration determined on at hours when all decent members of society are at rest.' Saloons Abuses.

"Thus it is clear that the objections of that period when prohibition agitation was first started, were directed against the abuses of the saloons as well as against the nature of the liquor sold; this latter fact is referred to in the testimony again and again. One of the principal industries of the Province of Quebec, in 1852, in the Province of Quebec, 1,065 saw mills, and in Ontario 1,567 law mills. The Province of Quebec was a roving set of men and when they came to a city with their savings, they were surrounded with temptations, and were frequently tempted to get drunk and commit crimes. The continuance of this practice made a deep impression upon the public mind.

Toronto Conditions.

"The idea of well regulated saloons was unknown then. But since that time conditions have vastly changed. Toronto, for example, has now a general population of approximately 400,000, with a considerable transient population besides. Yet in the entire city there are only 110 licenses less than one-fourth the number that prevailed fifty years ago. The population of the city was not 50,000. These licenses, as well as licenses elsewhere are surrounded with the strictest regulations; the abuses and practices that were common half a century ago are practically unknown now. Where then also the liquor sold was hard, containing fifty per cent. of alcohol, a great part of the patronage now calls for beer, which contains only three to four per cent. of alcohol. This one fact of itself has wrought an immense change.

"Notwithstanding these great changes, however, the prohibitionists are advancing the same old arguments and making the same singular demands that they did fifty or sixty years ago, when there was some justification (not for total prohibition, which as will be seen, has failed wherever tried) but for improvement of conditions.

Vast Changes.

"Among the vast changes that have taken place in the last fifty years has been that of the character of the cities and the population. A half century ago Canada was largely rural and its population largely agricultural; there were then only a comparatively few industrial establishments, and these were scattered. Toronto had but a few small factories, and Montreal's largest establishment—a manufacturing steam engine plant—did not employ more than 267 men; some of the largest factories in that city employed only from 50 to 75 men. To-day, Montreal, Toronto and other cities are great industrial centers, with many and enormous industrial establishments; the modern, municipal and sociological problems are entirely different from those of former decades. Yet apparently oblivious to this remarkable transformation, the different demands and needs of the urban populations of to-day, the advocates of prohibition are making precisely and unchangedly the same old arguments that they did in the year 1857, although without the same grounds for justification.

The above extracts give a clear idea of the tone and treatment of the memorandum submitted to the license commission. These extracts are, however, only the beginning; and it will be necessary to take up instalments of the memorandum in further articles. For the better information of both sides in Ontario, it is perhaps better to quote liberally rather than give an inadequate selection summary of the facts contained in this important memorandum.

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions, in these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other, Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

SOME BIG PENSIONS.

Drawing a State Allowance of $750 For Sixty-One Years.

A feature of Government service, which undoubtedly has a great attraction for many people, is that one is sure of a pension after a stipulated number of years' service, or if ill-health or old age compels a retirement—that is, of course, providing the character of the worker has been satisfactory.

At the present time the state is paying 4,079 people pensions which total $3,519,000 per year. These pensions cover all branches of the Civil Service, the greatest number of pensioners being those of the English and colonial prison departments. There are no fewer than 1,522 pensioners being paid to former wardens, clerks, matrons, storekeepers, gatekeepers, foremen, etc., in our prisons. The pensions range from $6 per annum paid to a former assistant-warden after one year's service to $1,000 to a commissioner after forty-one years' service.

In several instances the pensioners have been given after only four years' service. In one case, however, of the abolition of certain departments; but as a rule a pension has not been granted, except in the case of ill-health, under twenty-five to thirty years' service, and in many cases between forty and fifty years' service has been given to the state before receiving a pension.

Then there are 450 pensions, totalling $350,000, paid in connection with former services in public offices in Ireland, while 222 former employees in public offices in Scotland are receiving $100,000 per year.

Among the miscellaneous pensions which are paid by the state might be mentioned $3,000 per year which is paid to Sir E. Thorpe, who, after thirty-one years' service as Principal Government Chemist, retired at the age of sixty-three. Then $4,000 superannuation allowance is paid to Mr. R. O. B. Lane, K.C., the well-known Metropolitan police magistrate, while a superannuation allowance of $1,000 is made to Sir C. R. Wilson, former General Director, who also receives a pension of $4,500 a year as late Secretary and Controller-General of the National Debt Office.

Altogether there are thirty-two pensioners in connection with the diplomatic services, whose yearly allowance ranges from $200 paid to Mr. F. R. Elliot, former chaplain at the Athens Legation, to $8,000 paid to such ex-Ambassadors as the Rt. Hon. Sir E. M. Durrant, Sir E. H. Egerton, Sir F. C. Lascelles, Sir H. Rumbold, and the Rt. Hon. Sir O. S. Scott—men who have rendered the country valuable service in the diplomatic world.

Perhaps the most curious item in the bluebook giving particulars of pensions drawn by ex-Government servants which has recently been issued is that concerning a stockbroker of Sierra Leone, who, since April 1st, 1884, has been drawing a compensation allowance of $300 a year after twelve years' service at a salary of $500 per annum. He, however, is by no means the only pensioner on the Government books. Sixty-one years ago there was a moneyer's apprentice in the Mint who was then nineteen years of age, and his particular department of work being abolished, he was granted a compensation allowance of $750 a year, which sum he has been drawing ever since.

Australia's Kipling.

Lindsay Gordon, the poet of Australia, has been compared with Rudyard Kipling. Adam Lindsay Gordon was born in the Anzures, October 19, 1859. At the age of seven he was sent to Cheltenham on the very day the college opened.

After a year he disappeared, and we see him again six years later as cadet of the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich. He was the friend and fellow of Gordon of Khartoum. At the end of three years he left. Then he was sent to the Royal Grammar School at Worcester. Up to then he had filled in his time learning French poetry, and frequenting boxing saloons and racing stables.

He signalled his connection with Worcester by stealing a mare and riding her at a steeplechase. Then he had another year at Cheltenham when, as a result of actions that perturbed a good Puritan home, he was shipped to Australia. There, trained by the South Australian Police, he became a good horseman.

Finally he failed, and died in poverty. But fame has followed his death, and now every Australian home knows his work, because he sang the normal life of a new community.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Science change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University at that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flat. Encyclopedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., O.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge: Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not un-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Library and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia."

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

SHE MAKES IT WORTH WHILE.

English Woman Breeds and Trains Eskimo Dogs For the Market.

Throughout the world there are many men and women who find employment in raising something better out of the ordinary in plant or animal life. Just at present there is a Mrs. Scott who conducts a dog farm at Grove Park, one of the suburbs of London. Her specialty is Eskimo dogs which she breeds and trains for the market. Although the market for this sort of the canine family is not very large, yet it is sufficient to make it worth while to this lady, due to the manner in which she trains the dogs for Arctic explorations.

Eskimo dogs are absolutely essential when journeying in the Arctic regions. Good Eskimo dogs can be obtained in Greenland, or in Alaska, but they cannot be exported from the former place except by special permission of the Danish Government, and Alaskan dogs are not classed in the good variety.

A great trouble with ordinary Eskimo dogs is that they have no breeding and no discipline. They will obey the master with whom they have been brought up, but when they start after fish or other game, even their master can control them only by the exercise of brute force. The desired dogs for arctic exploration are those that will obey orders given by a white man; dogs that are broken into harness and are not afraid of work, dogs that have learned team work.

It is just this kind of dogs that Mrs. Scott raises for the market. Her kennels have only pure-blooded animals of carefully selected stock and from earliest puppyhood she trains them in how to eat and how to work. When she gets through with an Eskimo dog the animal is not nearly so ferocious as one that just "grows up" in the surroundings of an Eskimo village. They adapt themselves quickly to new masters and they have acquired good eating manners, so that they are not so likely to attack the cupboard or fresh game.

Mrs. Scott feeds her animals no meat except pemmican and dried fish brought from Norway; a large part of the diet is a specially prepared biscuit. Her trained dogs are specially desired by Arctic and Antarctic expeditions and she has supplied many of these with dogs from her kennels.

"Saw Him In Prison."

A Glasgow magistrate, presiding as one of the city police courts, asked a prisoner one question too many. The prisoner, who was charged with breach of the peace, pleaded guilty, and before pronouncing sentence the magistrate looked at him closely, and asked:—"Where have I seen you before?" Prisoner—"I don't know, your honor." Magistrate—"Now, look at me and tell me where you have seen me before." The prisoner looked into the magistrate's face and replied—"I think it must have been in prison, sir."

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 30,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

THE COPIED CRIPPEN

A Grosse Murder is Reported from Vermont.

A murder that in some of its gruesome details recalls the Crippen case, was committed at Vermont. The victim of the crime, a girl of sixteen, named Doris, was found in the parlor of the Red 66 recently. The body was mutilated and the murderer evidently tried to get rid of it by cutting it up. For some reason he abandoned the work. It seems, and was taken the body out into the street at a moment when no one was about. The girl was employed of a newspaper boy to deliver papers, and was murdered while out on this duty. The police have found traces of blood leading from the spot where the body was found to a villa about twenty yards further along in the same street. This villa belongs to a lawyer who is at present in the south of France, and is left in charge of a valet named John Carson. Suspicious traces have been found on the walls and floor of the kitchen of the villa. The valet left Vermont early this morning saying he was going to New to join his master.

EDUCATION IN BERLIN

Controversy Between the "Classical" and "Modern."

The long-standing controversy between the supporters of "Classical" and "Modern" education has resulted in the establishment of commercial schools and colleges in Berlin where in the classical, especially Greek, can be entirely dropped. The Minister of Education has now come forward with an edict applying to all higher Government schools and aiming generally at wider and better acquaintance among the scholars of classical authors and particularly at reducing the time and attention given merely to grammar.

Ty and His Mother

There are two ways for boys to become successful men—the first by being dutiful and living well, and the second by succeeding in some profession or any branch of manly sport or calling.

This is the philosophy of Mrs. W. M. Cobb, mother of Ty Cobb, the world's most famous baseball player. The little Southern woman's children seem to have taken naturally to baseball, for another son, Paul Cobb, is just now making good in the Western league with the Lincoln team.

Mrs. Cobb is not too enthusiastic about baseball, but the recognition as the means through which her boys are making their names in the world. Also she knows that they are making higher salaries than they could by any other legitimate occupation.

"I am not so proud of Ty for the name he has made for himself as I am that he grew up, left home and went hundreds of new friends and at last remembered me," said Mrs. Cobb. "Every opportunity that he gets he sends me some little greeting and he likes to run home whenever he gets a vacation."

DUPED THE PEOPLE

Amazing Mission of a "Bogus Count" Who Promised Financial Miracles

An amazing story of a pretended count who duped large numbers of people on the strength of a bogus "mission" which was to work financial wonders in Italy, Asia Minor, and Abyssinia, comes from Paris.

The adventurer's name is Cognel, but he was also known as the Comte de Bellefond de Gourner. Some time ago he founded what he termed the Franco-Italian Mission to exploit certain "concessions" in the countries named. Many people were duped by his plausible address, including, it is said, two wealthy bankers who furnished a large part of the money which enabled the "mission" to start in semi-regal state for Italy. Cognel persuaded his dupes that he had the support of the Italian Government, and that King Victor Emmanuel had appointed him a Commissioner to look after the Colonial interests of Italy in Abyssinia. The mission has a royal time in Turin, Milan, Rome and Naples. Cognel held an official reception, called on the editors of all the principal newspapers, was received by the Archbishop of Milan, and generally seems to have fooled everybody with whom he came in contact. At length the funds supplied by the French bankers began to run low, and Cognel was about to abandon the game and flee, when a wealthy young Italian named Bertolotti turned up from Brescia, and was caught in the adventurer's net. He invested 10,000 francs in the mission, and this enabled Cognel to get as far as Rome, where he had the audacity to call on the Prefect of the Eternal City, on the Military Commandant, General Foro, and other important persons, most of whom seem to have been hypnotized by him.

General Foro, however, was not to be deceived so readily. He happened to know something of Abyssinia, and after hearing one of Cognel's eloquent addresses, quietly pointed out that if the orator had ever been in that country he would not talk so hopefully about its prospects. Cognel was wise enough to take the hint, and he cleared out of Rome without delay. Later on, inquiries were made about him, and he was arrested on board a steamer bound for Salonica, but with his usual address he managed to give his captors the slip, and was not heard of again until he turned up at Granville as a high official in the French colonial service, and the director of a school for training colonial officials. Every day almost, says the "Daily Telegraph," some fresh sensation turns up about this extraordinary man, as to whose exploits the humble efforts of the German tailor known as the Captain of Koepnick, which amazed Europe a few years ago, sink into complete insignificance.

WRITES OF DEATH

Masterlink Thinks It Should Not Be Prolonged in Agency.

M. Masterlink writes of Death, and in the course of it he enters an eloquent plea against efforts to extend life beyond its "natural term." "As science progresses," he says, "it prolongs the agony which is the most dreadful moment and the sharpest peak of human pain and horror, for the witnesses, at least—all the doctors consider it their first duty to prolong as long as possible even the most excruciating convulsions. Who has not at bedside, twenty times wished to throw himself at their feet and implore them to show mercy?"

One day M. Masterlink believes this prejudice will strike us as barbarian as a relic of the times when humanity was convinced that any known tortures were preferable to those awaiting us in the unknown. Doctors defend it by pleading that there is scarcely even a certainty that a case is hopeless. But in the majority of cases delay can give but a few days, or at the utmost a few months of a life that will be the real life, but much rather an extended death."

On one point doctors are beginning to yield. "They are slowly consenting when there is no hope left, if not to death, at least to dull the last agonies." But still many of them hesitate, "and like miners, measure out drop by drop the clemency and perch which they ought to lavish." All our knowledge, therefore, "only helps us to die in greater pain than the animals that know nothing."

MRS. GENERAL OEOG BINGHAM
Formerly Mrs. Samuel Sloan Channing of New York, who is again before the public by reason of an unique garden party, whose lavish magnificence surprised England's elite, and whose list of guests caused much comment because they included almost every person ever reported engaged to the fascinating widow.

DANCER AS A SPY

A Russian Beauty Who Won Her Way to the Authorities

A great sensation has been caused in St. Petersburg by the news that Mme. Krasnaka, the famous Polish dancer, who formerly appeared at the Imperial theatre, has been arrested at Oranienbaum on a charge of espionage. By her talent and beauty the dancer won such high favor that she was enabled to exercise great influence in the capital, especially in art circles. It was due to Mme. Krasnaka that a Polish committee was formed to erect a statue of Chopin at Warsaw. Some time ago it came to the knowledge of the Russian authorities that secret communications were being made to Japan and Germany. In connection with this affair several officers of the General Staff were arrested, but all were able to establish their complete innocence. However, as a result of the inquiry, the authorities obtained information which led to the dancer. She was closely watched. The police swooped down on her house unexpectedly, and documents and letters were seized which are now occupying the attention of the authorities.

DETECTED BY CIGARETTE SMOKE

A Case Which Smatters of Sherlock Holmes Fiction

Something in real life that might have been taken from Sherlock Holmes (England) magazine, who, however, grew stern enough to sentence Tom Taylor, his prisoner, to three months' hard labor. He had stolen from a box which formed part of the stolen property. So he just followed the scent, and came upon the smoker. In reply to the charge, Taylor, on whom nearly all the stolen articles were found, said, "It's quite simple. I broke in about half-past two last morning."

One applicant had written from a workhouse saying he was an old housekeeper who had been driven out
of work through the increasing number of motor-cars. The man said he was still capable, and begged for a chance
of "getting off the rates." He will probably be engaged, for more old men
are still wanted.

GREY WHISKERS AND BALD HEADS

A Pathetic Answer to a Theatrical Advertisement in London—Real Life Drama

Outside the Clavier Hall, Hanover Square, on Monday, were waiting in the pitiless driving rain, long lines of aged men, most of them bearing visible marks of long and bitter struggles with fortune. They did not look like aspirants for dramatic honors, yet they were there in answer to an advertisement for "clean old gentlemen with grey beards or bald heads," for the wordless drama, "The Miracle," by Max Reinhardt, who is a believer in realism. He did not want young men who would have to make up to represent aged beggars, but the real article, hence the advertisement and the pitiful array of veterans which furnished the answer.

Glimpsing over the crowd the thing that struck the observer most was the pathetic attempt to hide the poverty that had impelled these aged folk to come, some of them, miles, in search of a brief engagement at $7.50 a week.
Frocks coats that had long seen their best days, silk hats of patterns of a generation ago, and which no amount of brushing and rubbing would ever make glossy again; trousers which had been carefully pressed in hopes of hiding their shabbiness, boots worn and patched, but brightly polished—all these bore evidence that the wearers were not of the toiler class, but would be decent if they could.

Here were human documents if you liked. Dramas of real life were here in dozens. See that bent old veteran of seventy or more. He should have had no need to be here. For years he worked hard in business, and amassed a comfortable competence, on which he retired thirty years ago. But he is ruined. He has lost his money in a concern which failed, and here he is eager for the opportunity of earning $3.50 a week.

Look at that grey beard, still upright and alert despite his years. He was once an Army officer, and saw service all over the world. Another had never been in a theatre in his life, but misfortune had driven him to seek admission in one at a time when he had the advantage of youth. The more venerable a man looked the greater his chances of being engaged.

It was the younger men who suffered. One who was being rejected because he did not look sufficiently venerable begged for further consideration. "My beard is not much today, but I have just had it clipped. Give me a chance," he pleaded. He was told he would be taken, but hidden to leave his beard untrimmed and uncut.
Another was walking away hopelessly when he suddenly turned and said desperately: "I'm an old professional. I've often sung in 'Faust,' and—I want a job." The management relented. But many others had to depart bitterly disappointed.

One applicant had written from a
workhouse saying he was an old
housekeeper who had been driven out
of work through the increasing number
of motor-cars. The man said he was still capable, and begged for a chance
of "getting off the rates." He will probably be engaged, for more old men
are still wanted.

LANGFORD IN AUSTRALIA.

Sam Langford, the Nova Scotia
colored heavyweight, is to fight five fistfights in Australia under the direction of Hugh McIntosh. Langford's opponents in Australia will be Peter Polk and Porky Flynn. He may also fight Johnny Thompson, who is also travelling to Sydney on the same boat.

CIRCLING THE GLOBE

Three Young Englishmen Seek Adventure and Pleasure in Long Ride Because he was "bored to death by civilization and desired to get out of it for a time," Mr. Peter R. Hawker, a young Englishman, started on a trip around the world after giving the matter one night's consideration.
One morning, when feeling particularly disgusted with the tameness of life in London, he happened to meet a large man, a stranger, with a friend and the latter jokingly suggested that he should purchase one of the cars exhibited for sale and go round the world. When Mr. Hawker got out of bed on the following morning he had made up his mind to take his friend's advice, and he went straight round to the garage and bought one of the cars which he had inspected the previous day.
The car is a large 12-horse-power machine, and is the identical one which landed in victory in the Grand Prix of 1908. Its three petrol tanks have a total capacity of 100 gallons, which makes it possible for it to travel
about 1200 miles without refilling.

Mr. Hawker chose his route by way of Moscow, Di-Prepa, Paris, Berlin, Moscow, across the wastes of Siberia,
over the sandy plains of Northern China and the Gobi Desert to Peking, crossing thence to Japan, motorizing through the Southern Islands, and then taking steamer for San Francisco, back to London via the American Continent and the Atlantic Ocean.
His companions on the trip are his friend Mr. Harvey Bathurst, and his mechanic, Mr. Allen. The trip is expected to take some seven months.

FOR NEXT OLYMPIC

Germany Taking Time by the Forelock—Study New Methods

The next Olympic meet will be held in Berlin in 1916. It is not to be expected that there will be much public interest in it for three years, or until a comparatively short time before the meet is held. But it may be confidently asserted that the winners at that time will be those who now make adequate preparation for that far off event. Germany, always thorough in her actions, has already taken steps to ensure a good German showing at the contests. In addition to voting a grant of $25,000 in financial support of the enterprise, she is sending Karl Diem, president of the German Amateur Athletic Union, to study the American methods which resulted so admirably at Stockholm.

Game But Tiny Jockey

The smallest jockey who has ridden on Canadian tracks since the days of the late Charlie Phair, is little Snider, who is apprenticed to J. G. Vernon and who tips the scales at 75 pounds.
He can curl up and go to sleep on a racing saddle. He had a lead at Vanderbilt this summer, but in the very next race almost put a couple of rough-neck riders over the fence for knocking him down. He is a Toronto boy.

DEATH OF McHENRY.

The growing death of Myron E. Mc-Henry, the "man from Freeport," has brought forth many eulogistic references to the dead reinman's ability when race driving, and the critics one and all agree that McHenry was the peer of all pilots of trotters and pacers.
It was in October, 1908, that McHenry drove Dan Patch to the best pacing record in 1904, the performance outlasting anything previously done by a "side-wheel" horse.

MARRIAGE OF COUSINS

Evidence Against It Has Been Gathered by Lady Elderton.
Food for thought for cousins who contemplate marrying one another, is to be found in a little brochure just published entitled: "On the Marriage of First Cousins," by Miss Ethel El-derton, a co-worker with Professor Karl Pearson at the Galton Laboratory for National Eugenics, London University. The guiding principle in forbidding marriages between near kin, such as uncle and niece, aunt and nephew, or grandparent and grandchild, is their resemblance. Miss El-derton accordingly set herself to determine whether cousins are as much alike as any of these pairs of relatives.
From nearly six thousand pairs of cousins she endeavored to measure the degree of resemblance in health, intellect, success, temper, and temperament. The likenesses are found to be greater in intelligence and health, and least in temper. Roughly speaking, the general resemblance between cousins is about half that between brother and sister, and practically the same as that shown by statistics of uncles and nieces and of aunts and nephews. "If the undesirability of marriage between certain degrees is founded on the closeness of resemblance between individuals," says Miss Elderton, "the law which forbids the marriage of uncle and aunt with niece and nephew should also restrict the marriage of first cousins." The offspring of cousin marriages appear to be particularly liable to be deaf mutes.
There seems little doubt that if there is any deaf mutism in a stock, a cousin marriage, even when both parties are free from the disease, is most dangerous to the offspring.

BISMARCK IN A TENDER MOOD.

A Pathetic Incident of the Franco-Prussian War.

Bismarck is always thought of as the Iron Chancellor, who cemented
the German states into one empire with the blood of German soldiers shed in three great wars. But a French army surgeon, Dr. Czerniecki, in a volume of reminiscences from which Forest and Stream quotes, most unexpectedly presents him as a man who felt and deplored all the horrors of war. The surgeon met the statesman at Reims during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870.

"You are taking part, sir, in a terrible war," began Bismarck to the young man. "What a beginning for your career! What awful sight!
With suffering!"

"It is not you or these poor muni-cipated fellows that I should like to see here," Bismarck continued, earnestly.
"But your senators and deputies! They would then see what war is!"

This idea that the war had been forced upon the two nations by politicians was ever with Bismarck, according to Dr. Czerniecki. He referred to it again on going over the battlefield where, seated on some straw and propped up against a pillar of the church, was one of the French soldiers, a very young man.

He was terribly wounded. A shell, striking him like the lash of a whip,
had carried away both his eyes and the bridge of his nose, leaving the skull bare. The wound was covered with a dressing. He lay there, calm, silent, motionless, in dumb resignation.

Bismarck stooped in front of him
and asked the surgeon about the case.
"There is war for you, M. de-seigns the Senators and deputies!" he said bitterly. Then, turning to one of his suite, "Please bring me some wine and a glass."

He filled the glass to the brim and took a sip. Then, gently tapping the poor fellow, "My friend, will you not drink something?"

The wounded soldier roused himself,
Bismarck very tenderly and slowly gave him the wine and, rising again, almost solemnly drank what was left in the glass.

"What is your name, my boy, and where do you come from?"
"Reims, from Reims."

"I am Bismarck, my comrade, and I am very proud to have drunk out of the same glass with a brave man like you."

Stretching his hand over the horribly mutilated head, Bismarck gave mute benediction and passed on.

SWEET REVENGE.

Mark Twain Proved That His Old Time
Chum Was a Liar.

When the great man "arrived" the associates of his boyhood days who used to laugh at the idea of his ever
"amounting to anything" retired unobtrusively to the background. But when the opportunity arose to make an example of some such chaps, old friend surely no one could rise to the occasion more effectively than did Mark Twain on the occasion described by Albert Bigelow Paine in Harper's Magazine.

He came to Keokuk to visit and was offered $5 a week and board to remain.
He accepted. In the same building was a book store in which a young man named Edward Brownell clerked.
He and Sam Clemens became great chums.

Sam read at odd moments, at night,
in bed, voluminously—until very late sometimes. One night Ed Brownell, peering upstairs to his room on the fourth floor, poked his head in at the door.

"What are you reading, Sam?" he asked.

"Oh, nothing much—a so-called business book. One of these days I'll write a business book for that matter."

"No, you won't, Sam," he said. "You are too lazy ever to write a book."
A good many years later, when the same Mark Twain had begun to stand for American humor, the owner of it gave his "Randolph Islands" lecture in Keokuk. Speaking of the unreliability of the liars, he said:

"The King is, I believe, the greatest liar on the face of the earth except one, and I am very sorry to locate that one right here in the city of Keokuk
in the person of Ed Brownell."

SOME WORDS BEGINNING WITH M.

Most persons aspire the initial letter of "humble" nowadays and write
"a humble" just as they write "a humbus" or "a humming bird." But there are very many who would not naturally sound an h in "humble," or in "humb," "hospital," "homage" or even "humor." Before the nineteenth century nobody did, though it is clear that the aspirate had become regular by David Copperfield's time, from the fact that Dickens harps on Uriah Heap's "umblie." The insistence on the h is comparatively modern. Medieval men not only did not "shit" for "shit," but wrote it so, and the Bible has an "Hebrew."—London Standard.

EVICTED IN PARIS

Apparently Large Families Are Not Wanted by Landlords.

Paris was deeply interested and not a little indignant on reading the pathetic story of a family of eleven who could not find a roof to cover their heads within the walls of Paris. "Too many children," was the common answer given to the head of this family
by all the landlords he questioned, not one of whom would accept him as a tenant. As a last resource the married couple had to turn to the charity of a well-known philanthropist. M. Un-land, the father of eight sons and one daughter is a day laborer. His wife earns about 80 cents a week by her sewing. The youngest is not yet two years old.
The Unland family has lived, for several years in one of the poorest quarters of eastern Paris, and their landlord has never had to complain of any delay in the payment of their rent. Nevertheless, on account of the number of children, he refused to sign a renewal of their lease.

For a month the man and his wife sought right and left for a new apartment. Everywhere they met with the same refusal, and at last, when the order came for eviction, they were without any prospective dwelling place. Their co-tenants sympathetically arranged a temporary modus vivendi. But this could not last long, and was only possible by utilizing the landings on the staircase for the beds of four of the children. A few days ago this arrangement had to come to an end. M. Unland, however, had noticed the "Wealthy League," an association formed to resist the arbitrary application of the law concerning tenants and landlords, and it was decided that Unland, his wife, and family, and his furniture, should be led in column procession to the Department of the Interior, where an appeal was made.

MAYOR NATHAN'S ESCAPE

He Touched an Electric Discharge
and Fell to the Ground.

Signor Nathan, the Mayor of Rome, while paying a visit of inspection to the great hydro-electric plant recently erected by the Municipality of Turin
at Chiomonte in the valley of Susa, inadvertently touched a discharge,
and was struck to the ground by the violence of the shock. Luckily his hand was partly gloved, otherwise the consequences might have been fatal.
Signor Nathan was assisted out by members of the Rome Town Council accompanying him. Medical aid was quickly on the spot, and the burns on the left arm bandaged. The mayor sufficiently recovered to put in an appearance subsequently at a banquet. Councillor Giovanni, who was standing close to Signor Nathan at the moment of the shock, was slightly burned on the foot.

"Funny Way of Making Love."

Frederick Beary was summoned at Portlinton on two charges of drunkenness and also for assaulting the police. Sergeant Kenny stated that the defendant had been kicking up a row at a house and smashing the windows. He was told defendant went to the house because he was in love with a girl who lived there. (Laughter.) The Chairman: That is a funny way to make love. Defendant was fined $10 or two months' imprisonment for drunkenness.

"Sweet Lavender."

The growing of peppermint, lavender, camomile and other medicinal plants, a little known but valuable English industry, has been hard hit by the recent storms and floods which have devastated the low-lying counties of England.

The English oils of peppermint and lavender are exported to all parts of the world, where they bring larger prices than other varieties because of the peculiar delicacy of their flavors and aromas.

TURKISH ARMY MAY REVOLT IF SULTAN LEAVES CAPITAL

Alies Elated Over Surrender of Saloniki, Adrianople Forts and Tchatalja and Reinvigorate. They March on Remaining Forts

London, Nov. 10.—The end of the Balkan war seems to be reasonably near after a month of very hard fighting. The latest development brought about by the surrender of the great fortress of Saloniki, with its garrison of 25,000 men, leaves only three centres, Scutari, Monastir and Janina in the western field of operations in the hands of the Turks, while in the eastern theatre of war two of the forts guarding Adrianople have fallen into the hands of the Bulgarian besiegers and another Bulgarian army is actually behind the eastern end of the Tchatalja lines outside Constantinople. The Serbians and Greeks at the same time are marching victoriously through Macedonia and Albania.

Turk Army of Raw Recruits.
A dismal picture of the Turkish situation at Tchatalja is sent from the Turkish position by a correspondent of The Daily Chronicle under date of Thursday. He says the line is held largely by raw recruits hastily mustered from the capital. "They are making frantic efforts to put the defence in order against the Bulgarian advance," continues the correspondent. "Attempts are being made to weld together the disintegrated atoms of what was once an army. The few officers available are working like slaves."
"Hordes of Stamboul with prophetic and the sacred green flag are attempting to revive the spirits of the troops and restore Turkish military prestige by preaching a holy war. They are entreating the religious chiefs to rise up and exterminate the infidel invaders. The soldiers make answer, 'First give us bread.'"
The last train from Tchatalja was so packed with troops and refugees that many persons suffocated in the cars. People are clinging on so thickly that nothing of the train could be seen but the smokestack of the engine. The train had to go slowly in order to avoid decapitating soldiers who were sleeping on the tracks.

WILL GUNNER ADMIT GUILT

Rumor Persists in New York That They Will Withdraw Their Former Pleas—Council Denies It

New York, Nov. 10.—The rumor persisted in and about the Criminal Courts building to-day that the four gunmen indicted for shooting down Herman Rosenthal desired to withdraw their pleas of not guilty and enter pleas of murder in the second degree. Their counsel denied, however, that any such move was contemplated, and District Attorney Whitman would make no comment. The prisoners themselves, "Lefty Lewis," "Whitey," Lewis, "Dago Frank," and "Oyp the Blood," had nothing to say. They trudged stolidly into the court room to await the completion of the jury, five of whose members were in the box when the adjournment was taken yesterday.

NO MAN CAN FORETELL WHERE BOLT WILL STRIKE

London, Nov. 9.—The hopes of Conservative Unionists that Bonar Law would somewhat amend his tariff program in his speech at Liverpool have been disappointed.
In point of fact, he said nothing particularly new, except promising that the next Unionist Government would introduce a redistribution bill giving Ireland its proper proportion of members in the Imperial Parliament.

BULGARS TAKE PORT KAVALA

Sofia, Nov. 9.—A local newspaper reports the capture by the Bulgarians of the Turkish port of Kavala on the Aegean Sea, and of the city of Giumurghina, 75 miles southwest of Adrianople, the Turkish garrison of Kavala, finding their escape cut off, surrendered.

LOOKS VERY GLOOMY FOR THE DYNAMITERS

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—For the first time in public since his arrest, 10 months ago, Orin E. McManis, related at the trial of the 45 accused "bomb plotters" to-day his experience as a hired dynamiter.
He directly accused Herbert S. Hookin, now secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers of inducing him to do dynamiting under pay of the union.

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE DARK CABINET HASTILY CALLED

Feeling Grows That Austria Has a Secret Understanding With Balkan Allies, But Serbia is Intent on Punishing The Albanians for Helping Turkey

London, Nov. 10.—The wildest rumors are circulating throughout London concerning the war developments. It is universally admitted that the prospects have to-day materially darkened. A Cabinet Council was hastily summoned to Downing street on Friday afternoon to consider the situation.
It is believed that the Bulgarian troops may enter Constantinople within 48 hours, unless held back. Their approach will probably be the signal for a massacre.
Charles "Hand" message to the Daily Mail declares that Adrianople has fallen, but that the news is being concealed by the Bulgarians for diplomatic reasons. The news receives some credence here, Mr. Hand being a correspondent of experience and high reputation who has been singularly right in former statements.

A Secret Understanding.
Many diplomats assert that Austria's seeming opposition to Serbian claims is merely blague (bluff), and that a good understanding has already been secretly reached between the Balkan League and the dual monarchy. They forecast a fresh grouping of the powers with Austria and the Balkans in close alliance, Austria thus releasing herself from subservience to Germany.
Thus view, while widely held in generally well informed quarters, is not supported by the apparent evidence. Albania still remains the real bone of contention, and Serbia is relentlessly resolved to punish the Albanian Mohammedan population for their opposition during the war, by resisting the creation of an autonomous Albanian State.

USING SACRED GREEN FLAG

Last Desperate Effort to Stir Up Holy War Against the Victors

Athens, Greece, Nov. 10.—Capitalization of the Turkish fortress of Saloniki, as well as Fort Karaburun, was signed last night, according to official despatch received by King George of Greece. Twenty-five thousand Turkish troops surrendered.

Belgrade, Serbia, Nov. 9.—The league of the Balkan nations is utterly opposed to making Albanian an autonomous State as desired by Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, said Premier Pashitch, of Serbia, in here to-day.

The Premier laid emphasis on the fact that the allied Balkan States were working in complete harmony on all questions. He declared that they demand the complete disappearance of the Sovereignty of the Sultan from European Turkey and the division of the territory among the victorious nations belonging to the Balkan League.
The partition of Turkish territory he said, had already been arranged along broad lines by the allies. The only questions left open for discussion being those relating to the destiny of Constantinople, Salonika and the Dardanelles.

CANADIAN YOUTH NEED NOT SALUTE OLD GLORY

Newark, N.J., Nov. 10.—J. B. Beets, Assistant State Commissioner of Education, has upheld the refusal of Leokadia Temple, formerly a pupil at Cedar Grove Public School, to swear allegiance to the American flag, and ordered that young Temple be removed back in the school from which he was recently expelled.

Young Temple is a son of Frederick Temple of St. John, N.B., and for some years was manager of an insurance company in Montreal.
"The salute of the flag and the pledge of the school assemblies are not mandatory by law," the assistant commissioner said. "Therefore, the boy breaks no law. Of course, the Board of Education of Cedar Grove has the right to pass rules for its schools. But such rules must not infringe upon anyone's rights. The boy's citizenship must follow his parents' until he is of age to choose for himself."
"It is within the boy's rights to refuse to pledge allegiance to any flag or Government but his own."

Borley's comet may be seen in the early morning through an ordinary pair of opera glasses.

MAP SHOWING THE TERRITORY COVERED IN THE PRESENT WAR BETWEEN TURKEY AND BALKAN STATES

A NEW LEADER

The Globe, the Hamilton Times, the Windsor Record, and other Liberal newspapers are calling for a Dominion Convention of Liberals. The cause is not far to seek.
The Laurier trade policy to which Sir Wilfrid Laurier obstinately clings has been rejected at a general election and at two by-elections since. The Liberal navy policy is unpopular. What is the use of going to certain defeat at a general election? A convention will mean, however, the resignation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who has a good record in the past as a leader and the adoption of possibly Heart's Bourassa, whose naval principles go quite as far as Sir Wilfrid's, but whose trade policy is more sensible. Besides, he is younger. He Ontario Liberal is equal to the job except George Graham, and he is already an old man. The French dominate the Liberal party in Canada. It is between Lemieux and Bourassa for the leadership to succeed Sir Wilfrid.

KINGS WILL LEAD ARMY INTO THE TURKISH CAPITAL

Belgrade, Bulgaria, Nov. 9.—It is said that King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and probably also the other Balkan Kings, will lead the army which enters Constantinople, and that they will be accompanied by Bulgarian, Serbian, Greek and Montenegrin contingents.
While Bulgaria has declared her intention not to remain in the Turkish capital, even the entrance of an invading army is likely to cause a revolution of feeling in Russia against Bulgaria and possible complications. With the arrival of the conquering army the Sultan must necessarily leave for Asia Minor, and his Government will probably accompany him.
The Turkish capital is so far quiet and the arrival of the Italian battleship Emanuele Filiberto and the Austrian cruiser Aspera to-day has had a soothing effect. The foreign embassies are well protected.

EUROPEAN POWERS DIVIDED INTO TWO SERIOUS CAMPS

Danger Threatens Rest of Europe Over Conflict of Interests in the War Zone—Peace May Be Deferred

A greater danger than the Balkan war now threatens Europe. The powers now forming the Triple Alliance (Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy), and those composing the Triple Entente (France, Great Britain and Russia), are divided into two distinct camps as to the policy to be followed when peace between Turkey and the Balkan allies has been brought about.

Absolutely ignoring the threat of Austria-Hungary that she will not tolerate the Serbian occupation of Albania, or of a part of the Adriatic Sea the armies of King Peter continue their advance thru the country which they have been practically ordered to keep out of. They are also making their way to the Adriatic coast, which can have only one object in view, namely, the seizure of one or more ports.
Austria-Hungary is known to have the support of her allies in the stand she has taken. The attitude of the powers composing the Triple Entente is not yet so clear. Russian popular feeling, however, will force the Government to take the part of the

BRITISH BULLDOG

Four More British Battleships Rushing to Constantinople

London, Nov. 11.—All powers continue to send naval reinforcements to Constantinople and other Turkish ports. In addition to the four battleships and a number of cruisers already there or on their way, Great Britain to-day despatched from Malta four more battleships and two cruisers Shannon, which is at Gibraltar, has been ordered to prepare to sail. The decision to send additional battleships from Malta was taken yesterday, and their departure so quickly caused somewhat of a surprise.

P. C. I. WON BOTH GAMES AT RIVERSIDE PARK

Peterborough's Collegiate Institute certainly raised young men not only of brains but of brawn. On Saturday afternoon the Grove School of Lakeside, rugby team, composed of four players of the high school of the village, drove to the city in buses. The visitors, who were a husky bunch of Canada's best west to Riverside Park direct. Here the field was a semi-liquid mass of mud. Some three hundred spectators were present. The gate receipts amounted to $10. The first game began about 2 o'clock, between the P.C.I. second team and the visitors. The Lakeside aggregation was too weak in action and held work for the locals who won out by a score of 18 to 0.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the Senior P.C.I. team went up against Lakeside. Here was a pretty game. The home boys in their play showed thorough training and knowledge of the scientific points of the game. At half time the score stood 15-5 in favor of the P.C.I., whilst the game ended with an increase in their favor of 15-5.

Canada is now the only civilized country which is without a cheap parcel post.

There seem to be any number of Liberal candidates running at Hochelaga, but they are all running the other way.

Some nervous people are saying the war in Southern Europe is a sign of the approaching end of the world, but the landlords are asking for their rents just the same.

Dr. Friedmann, of Berlin, Germany professes to cure tuberculosis in all its forms by injecting living bacilli which has been rendered "benign." Presumably the converted bacilli act as missionaries to the bad bacilli in the blood and convert them. This is a branch of missionary work which is worthy of encouragement.

The Times invites its readers to send in letters for publication. That is an important feature in eastern newspapers which is pretty much lacking in Canadian newspapers. The writer should send in his name for publication as well, not because it is always necessary, but because a letter is of very much more value when it is accompanied by the full name of the writer.

A citizen, in speaking of the approaching tag day in aid of the Children's Aid Society, thus forcibly expressed himself to The Times: "Every one of these 'tag days,' regardless of the excellence of the cause which it is designed to promote, degrades and demoralizes all who have anything to do with it. They are utterly detestable from every point of view, economic as well as moral, and they are permitted only in towns where the municipal officers are either too stupid to know their duty or too vicious to perform it."

THE DEFECTIVES IN THE POPULATION.

It may be true, as a speaker asserted before the International Congress of Hygiene, that 10 per cent. of our population is inherently defective. This condition, of course, makes these unfortunate a burden on the remaining 90 per cent. of the population, but that the defective ones should be eliminated from society as the speaker urged, is a proposition that requires much thought before reaching a conclusion. If he means by the word "elimination" the getting rid of the 10 per cent., it cannot be done.

At present methods are being employed to cure those among the defectives who are curable or whose condition is susceptible of improvement, but those who are not curable must remain a burden on society during their lives. We can do away with animals that are useless or dangerous, but we cannot deal so summarily with human beings.

Efforts, however, should be made to prevent the perpetuation of the inherently defective and the course these efforts should take is a serious problem for the sociologists to grapple with. Until something better can be suggested, let persons about to marry examine carefully into the mental and moral traits of the men and women they know and make their own choice accordingly. It would also be well for parents to give their children proper instruction on this point, and do all they can to discourage marriages which are likely to result unhappily.

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE IN MASSACHUSETTS.

The fact that the actuary of the Massachusetts savings bank life insurance system is able to make a substantial reduction of the rates for straight life and twenty-payment life insurance policies, the latter already much lower than those of the incorporated companies, indicates the success of this plan. The Massachusetts plan is different from State insurance, for it simply permits the savings banks of the State to do a life insurance business, if they choose, upon a schedule of premium charges established and approved by State authority and subject to supervision and regulation by the State.

As a matter of fact the plan provides life insurance at cost, for all business is done over the counter, with no expense for agents and with the expense for administration reduced to a minimum. At first the sentiment of the bank trustees generally was against the plan, and not more than one or two institutions were willing to undertake the experimental work. The public viewed the scheme with suspicion and was slow to respond, but what was considered a bad fad is now believed to have come to stay in Massachusetts.

Its possibilities are now recognized because cheaper life insurance has been demonstrated to be possible, and it is confidently believed that there can be still greater reduction.

WHAT DO PROTESTANTS THINK OF THIS?

Editor Morning Times. Sir.—There are many good Liberals who are still unwilling to believe that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was faithful to his trust. What do they think of his course during the last session of Parliament, when he refused to agree to the extension of Manitoba's boundaries, unless he agreed to establish Separate Schools? Was he actuated by pure motives, or was he the tool of Archbishop Langevin of Manitoba? Let those Protestant Liberals, who pretend to admire Sir Wilfrid, answer the above if they can.

UNCLE SAM IS TO SET UP SHOP

United States Will Furnish Everything for Shop at Panama

Washington, Nov. 11.—Beginning the execution of its extensive plans for the permanent projects for the operation of the Panama canal, the canal commission has awarded a contract to the United States Steel Products Company for seven million pounds of structural steel work to cost $410,000. This commission's plans are for works separate entirely from the canal construction, and include all the facilities that the government is to provide for the repair of ships, the up-keep of the vast canal machinery itself, the handling of coal and liquid fuel for shipping, and permanent offices buildings and accommodations for the small army of employees which will be required to operate the canal.

Only the Beginning. The present contract covers ma-

Anemic Mothers Here is Relief

You can Enrich Your Worn-out Blood and Quickly Renew Your Health With Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are a Real Cure. "I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head was not aching. If I bent over, dark spots would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Elsie S. Spry, of Putnam, N. Y., and containing her interesting statement she says: "Work of exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that I fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that if that was the case, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as far as going upstairs is concerned, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as well as any person ought and as for distress, which used to frighten me so much before, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways, too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health. Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Bitterroot, 25c per box. All druggists or the Cataractine Co., Kingston, Ont."

chine shops, forge shops, steel storage sheds, paint and oiler shops, planing mills, foundries, coke sheds, boiler houses, round houses and gas houses.

This is only the beginning. Among the other facilities to be supplied are 1000-foot piers for commercial use at Balboa, two wharves and one pier at Cristobal, besides a mole and breakwater, to be followed by other plans should the traffic justify it. There will be a covered dry dock at Balboa 1000 feet long, capable of accommodating any vessel that could pass through the canal locks. A smaller dry dock at Balboa will handle vessels up to 350 feet in length.

Going Into Business.

The government is going into the business of supplying merchant vessels with fuel, water and other supplies. The commission, according to the Canal Record, plans to locate the main coaling plant on the Atlantic side, capable of handling and storing 200,000 tons of coal, one-half of which will be kept under water where it has been found to better retain its gaseous contents.

There will be a lesser coaling plant on the Pacific side at Balboa, capable of storing 100,000 tons of coal under and above water. Recognition of the rapid development of oil for coal as a marine fuel, the commission has planned to erect four steel tanks of 40,000 barrels capacity each and contracts already have been placed for their construction. The main repair shops for merchant vessels will be located at Balboa. They will be on a large scale, covering a ground space of 525,000 square feet.

THE WEST RIDING CONSERVATIVES MEET

Owing to the appointment of Mr. O. Southwell to the district magistracy at Lindsay of the Greene Music Co., of Peterborough, he was compelled to resign the secretaryship of the Conservative Association here. Mr. Frank Adams was appointed in his place at a meeting of the executive in Mr. Burnham's office Friday night.

W. J. Howden, reeve of North Monaghan, was appointed treasurer in Mr. Lind's place. Mr. Howden having resigned through ill-health, the 2nd vice-president, Mr. Heller, was moved up. Mr. L. M. Hayes, 3rd vice-president, to Mr. Heller's place, and Mr. T. T. Harold Woods, chairman No. 5 ward Milburn, Smith, becomes 3rd vice-president. Mr. C. E. Moore, Smith, takes Mr. Howden's place as chairman of his sub-division. Mr. Kendrick, president, was in the chair. There was a large attendance.

Lindsay Police After Stabber. The police of Lindsay are hot on the trail of a man who stabbed a Bulgarian at a Grass Hill lumber camp. It seems that Filip Stomach, an Italian, and Nick Stomach, a Bulgarian, have been engaged in certain work on a partnership basis, during the past summer.

Stomach with two compatriots, Gani Tomanoff and Tonia Tomanoff decided to go to the aid of their native land. This made necessary a separation of the partnership and a division of the money.

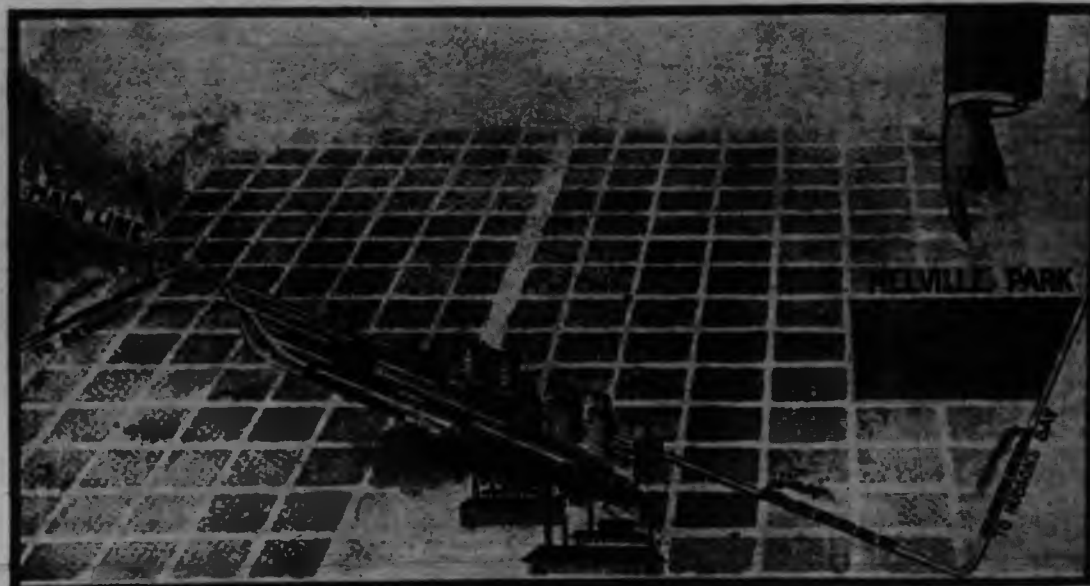

Early on Friday morning Nick Stomach went immediately followed by Filip Stomach, the Italian. Stomach is said to have attacked the Bulgarian with a strong broad knife over a foot long and cut him to the bone on side of his head, as well as numerous cuts about the face. Stomach secured $105 and took to the bush, although he was without either coat or shoes. Constable Thornbury and Chief Chilton, left on the morning train for the scene of the robbery.

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate this ad. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quite the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

HOLIDAY FOR THE EYES

A Rest of a Day Once a Month is Necessary

Everybody should give his eyes a day's holiday at least once a month. An experienced house-surgeon of a well-known London eye-hospital gave this advice in a lecture. "In the present age," he said, "we experience far more eye-strain, owing to increased reading habits and multitudes of glaring lights, than our forefathers did, and we suffer more from headaches. Therefore, give your eyes a holiday as frequently as possible. Give them a day's absolute rest and the relief the next day will be most refreshing. When taking an eye-holiday a room with green wall-paper is a good place to rest in if one cannot get to the country amid Nature's green fields and in the green rests the eyes more than in any other color."

ANGRY SAMOAN WOMEN

Armed With Whips and Sticks They Attacked a Male Critic

The latest news from the South Seas brings a story which illustrates in a fashion at once comic and serious the chief difficulty of the German empire-builder in Samoa. To wit, the readiness of the German settler to interfere with the native community. The white population of the German colony is about five hundred; as there are already about eleven hundred natives, the natives are in a majority. As a native girl nearly always speaks English and refuses to learn German, the frequency of these misalliances causes particular disquiet in colonial circles in the Fatherland. In April last a German settler named Michael took it into his head to express these truths in a letter to the colonial newspaper, adding that quite apart from race considerations the Samoan women made inefficient and unworthy wives. Seldom has an author had a more gratifying proof of his power to arouse interest and inspire action. The very next morning a deputation of several hundred Samoan women of various shades waited upon him armed with whips, sticks and gardening tools. The police were just in time to rescue Michael by taking him into custody. But the dusky amazons scored in spite of the police, for the authorities had to bundle their calumniator out of the island as the only means of preventing serious trouble.

Ticket to Albert Nyanza
It is now possible to book from London through to the Albert Nyanza Lake in Central Africa. The only break in the railway or steamer journey is a march for 100 miles. This takes five days, and the travellers together traverse 5,000 miles of the African Continent.

LACROSSE IN THE COMMONS.
Speaking of lacrosse players, there are several famous players in the house besides Ben Hughes, Richard Blain, member for Peel, comes from Brampton, and Brampton has always been famous for its lacrosse teams. Dick, in his early days, was the backbone of the team. Then there is W. M. Martin, the member for Regina. He was also a lacrosse player of note in his day, and his day was not so long ago, for he is only thirty-five now—and at Toronto University he starred on the varsity team.

Street Car FareA feature that surely must distinguish the street car system of Germany from that of any other country is the practice on the part of a large percentage of passengers of giving the conductor a "tip." The average fare on German street cars, including those of the capital, is two cents; but it is a moderate estimate fully one-third of the passengers hand the conductor another cent. This is usually done by ladies, though it is common enough with the men, the idea probably being that of securing the support of the conductor in case of trouble.
That the gratuities amount to a considerable sum in the course of a year is shown by a trial in Hamburg, arising out of a dispute between the company and one of its conductors, in which the court assumed the gratuities to amount to nearly $100 each year. The court wisely decreed that the income from tips must be considered as part of the conductor's salary, and that the company was liable to pay it.Get Our Prices for Natives of the NileNews comes from the Sudan that the flood water of the Nile is starting to come down from the Abyssinian hills.

The "night of the drop" has already been celebrated in Upper and Lower Egypt, and the first water from the Blue Nile will soon reach Khartoum.
The "Night of the Drop" is a great festival among the natives, for it is believed that on this night a drop from heaven falls into the Nile and comes to its rise. This superstition has been handed down from the times of the ancient Egyptians, who said the drop was a tear from the goddess Isis.
Thousands of natives spend the night on the banks of the river anxiously watching the sky, in the hope that their future happiness will be assured to them by a glimpse of the drop in its descent into the river. It is at this time of the year that a remarkable spectacle is to be seen at Khartoum.
The city is situated, as most people know, at the junction of the White and Blue Niles, the former of which comes from the Central African Lakes and the latter from the Abyssinian hills. When the flood water of the Blue Nile joins the main stream, it does not amalgamate with it, but for a very long distance one can see the muddy, dark red water from Abyssinia flowing side by side with the white limpid water of the White Nile.THE KAISER'S HABITSWhen the Kaiser is away on his

Dollars Worth Annually From
the States"Winnipeg is paying from $1,000.00 to $1,200.00 a day for milk from Minneapolis and St. Paul."This statement by the Hon. George Lawrence, Minister of Agriculture, is an indication of the great possibilities
there are in rural Manitoba, for mixed farming. Another estimate places the value of cream, butter and milk, imported by Winnipeg at over a million dollars a year, or twenty thousand dollars a week. This opportunity for dairying has been recognized by the prominent men of Winnipeg, who have formed what is known as the "Million of Manitoba" League, whose aim is to bring the population of Manitoba to one million. The present population is four hundred and sixty thousand, which means that if the object of the league is realized, over five hundred thousand additional settlers will be brought into the province, chiefly for agricultural pursuits. The Provincial Government also recognizes the possibility of encouraging mixed farming, particularly stock raising and dairying.

LONDON, ONT.JEWISH MEMORIALTo Perpetuate the Memory of the Late King EdwardThe East End Jewish Memorial to King Edward VII. is to take the form of a beautiful stone drinking fountain, with bronze figures, to be erected in Whitechapel Road outside the London Hospital. The height of the fountain will be sixteen feet. The general scheme is a pylon, at the base of which is the drinking fountain. On one face of the pylon will be a medallion bearing a portrait of the late King, and on the reverse a similar medallion bearing the following inscription:
EDWARD VII.
Rex Imperator.The pylon will be crowned by a figure of peace bearing an olive branch as an emblem of the character of the King and his reign. On either side above the water-basins will be groups, one of them emblematical of justice, and the other of liberty, under whose protection figures of boys will be shown engaged in the pursuit of learning and industry. The memorial will cost about $5,000. A large proposition of the money has been subscribed in small sums by East End Jews, but Lord Rothschild, the Chief Rabbi, and a number of leading Jews have also contributed.QUEEN WILHELMINATo Satisfy Her Appetite, It is Said, She Has Six Meals a DayQueen Wilhelmina of Holland is said to have the heartiest appetite of all the crowned heads of Europe.
Her Majesty has a weakness for lamb and beef steaks grilled. She has no fewer than six meals a day. In the morning she drinks coffee and eats several slices of black bread and butter. The queen breakfasts at 10 o'clock. Warm pastry and cream figures in the breakfast menu. Her Majesty also drinks a couple of glasses of sweet strong Tokay. The queen has another meal at 3 o'clock, and at half-past four tea and sandwiches are served. Her principal meal is at 5 o'clock in the evening. It assumes the dimensions of a banquet. The last meal of the day, composed of wine and meat, is taken at 11 o'clock.INDIA'S SACRED MONKEYS.An Intruder Into Their Jungle Retreat Get a Good Scare.In various parts of India monkeys are regarded as objects of worship.
One of the principal monkey temples is at Madras. Such veneration is shown there to Hanuman, the monkey god, that visitors may not enter the court of the temple without removing their shoes.On one occasion an English officer, in passing up the country near Madras, chanced to stroll into a monkey jungle when his boot had "got to" for the night. He had not advanced far before he heard a terrific uproar all about him, and he was not a little alarmed to behold a whole army of the largest monkeys he had ever seen making toward him from all quarters.Some jumped on the ground before him, others swung by the branches over his head, and many closed up the path in his rear. Several females had young ones clinging to them, but this fact did not seem to render them less agile than the others.The Englishman knew not what to do. He yelled at the top of his voice for assistance. To his intense relief, each time that he yelled the monkeys retreated a bit. This encouraged him to persevere in his shouting, but he observed that when he himself began to retreat the monkeys would again begin to close in upon him.Then he stood still and gave one tremendous shout, whereat the monkeys went back again. This time the man had gained fully twenty yards and was about to repeat the call when there appeared a new figure upon the scene in the person of an aged, decrepit woman bobbling through the midst of the animals.This aged person shook two or three of the monkeys by the paws as she passed. No sooner had she come within hearing of the Britisher than she opened upon him the vials of her wrath for disturbing the sacred animals in their retirement. She bade the intruder depart, and that quickly, an order which he lost no time in obey-ing. The monkeys all seemed impletely to obey the old woman's bidding, making way for the man's retreat.The old woman, it appeared, was employed by the Brahmans to supply
the monkeys with their food each day.
They were worshipped by all the people in the country round, who brought offerings of rice and sweetmeats to them continually.—Harper's Weekly.A TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE.It is a Very Impressive and Most Wonderful Spectacle.One of the most beautiful and interesting sights to be seen is an eclipse of the sun. It is quite a remarkable fact that the sun is 400 times as broad as the moon and at the same time is about 400 times as far away. So as they appear to be the same size.A total eclipse of the sun is a very impressive and wonderful sight, says Harold W. Clark in Farm and Home.As the time of the total eclipse draws near the darkness increases.
About ten minutes before totality the darkness can almost be felt. Men's faces show a copper color, which makes them look ghastly. Birds cease their songs and go to roost. The flowers close, and an awful stillness reigns upon all the face of Nature. The temperature falls and dew appears. Then away to the west we see the shadow of the moon coming with almost terrifying swiftness. It comes at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour and possesses men as so suddenly that they are startled.Looking at the sun, we see it wholly covered by the moon, but surrounded by a brilliant light that flashes out all around it. This is the corona and is seen only during total eclipses. The eclipse lasts only for four or five minutes, and then the shadow of the moon passes on, and we can see the sun again.If we should ever be so fortunate as to get a chance to see a total solar eclipse we should count ourselves lucky indeed. It would be worth going many miles to see.Played "The Devil."The name now so universally heard in literature is frequently to be met with in Dorset, but the novelist's family is commonly held to belong to the branch brought into distinction by Nelson Hardy. That the stock possessed only for four or five generations of mind is proved by an anecdote concerning Mr. Hardy's grandfather told by Mr. Alfred Pope, a member of the Dorset Field Club, at a recent meeting of the society. At the time may have been overlooked amid a mass of more sensational news in the daily papers, I will repeat it. About a century ago, Mr. Hardy's grandfather was crossing a lonely heath one midnight in June, when he discovered
he was being followed by two foot-pads. He halted a horse and on to the path, sat down on it, took off his hat, stuck two fern fronds behind his ears to represent horns, and then pretended to read a letter which he took from his pocket by the light of the glow worms he had picked up and placed round the brim of his hat. The men took fright and bolted on seeing him, and a runner was sent ahead in the neighborhood that the devil had been seen at midnight near Ovenhill Pond.—Wilkinson's Review,

IN OLD ENGLANDThe Sport, Expensive and Exclusive,
Has Flourished for a Little Less Than Two CenturiesAuthorities differ with regard to the date in which fox-hunting first became an amusement in England, but we must take it that it was not at all generally followed until about the middle of the eighteenth century;
though the Charlton, and afterwards
the Goodwood, were in existence in the reign of Charles II., and the Bridgewater hounds very soon afterwards, besides others. We read, indeed, that King James, in the year 1605, was accustomed to hunt as a pastime in the course of the long journeys which were undertaken at that period. A writer tells us that "five hares in baskets being carried to the heath made excellent sport for His Majesty, Sir John Harrington's hounds, with good months following the game, the King taking great pleasure in the game."One of the earliest packs of foxhounds in the western part of England, was established by Thomas Furness of Stapleton, in Dorsetshire, about the year 1730, and it appears that these hounds were subsequently sold to Mr. Boyce of Stratford, in Yorkshire. The Duke of Beaufort and Rutland, the Marquis of York and Fitzwilliam, were amongst the earliest owners of celebrated packs, whose reputations have been jealously maintained ever since they were first established.It has been stated that there are 904 packs of hounds in England and Ireland, but Mr. Sargent, who has been at great trouble in compiling an accurate list, allows for "hounds not returned," and estimates the whole total at 360.Malton Mowbray may be considered the metropolis of the foxhunting world, for Leicestershire, rich in glorious grazing grounds, has for a century been looked upon as the premier country.Rights of HuntingAlthough there is no statute book laws which govern the rights of hunting, there is in England an unwritten law on fox hunting which is perfectly well understood and respected. Thus, every master knows that he may not dig a fox which has found a sanctuary in an earth or drain in a neighboring country; he may use a terrier, or employ almost any other means which ingenuously can suggest, but the soil must not be broken. It is greatly to the credit of all concerned that fox-hunting disputes in regard to rights, limitation of country, or otherwise,
so seldom arise; when they do they are referred to the Master of the hounds Committee.Expensive SportIt is difficult to lay down any rule, or, indeed, even to provide an estimate of the expenses which will probably be incurred in "hunting."
Dolores Radcliffe, writing in the year 1884, put his expenses for hunting three days a week, or seven days a fortnight, in Dorsetshire, at the sum of $10,000 per annum. To hunt four days a week it will be necessary to keep fifty couple of hounds, and for two days twenty-five couple will be found a sufficient number.

You May Have Catarrh And Not Know It

HEAD AND THROAT BECOME DISKASED WITH CATARRH FROM NEGLECTING COLDS AND COUGHS

Catarrh is Treacherous—When Fully Developed is a Horror—Note Its Symptoms.

"Is your breath bad?"
"Is your throat sore?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Is your voice raspy?"
"Does your nose stop up?"
"Do you spit up phlegm?"
"Have you nasal discharge?"
"Do you have an itchy feeling?"
"Have you pain across the eyes?"
"Is your throat irritable, would you sleep with mouth open?"
"Are you subject to sneezing fits?"
"Do your ears ring and hum?"
"Are you hard of hearing?"

If you have any of these indications of Catarrh, cure the trouble now—stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhona," a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balance and healing medication on every spot that is tainted by catarrhal germs. There can be no failure with Catarrhona—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from the very first day's use of Catarrhona," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westlake, Pa. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh, ear noise, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhona cured quickly."

Get Catarrhona, use it, and you are sure of cure—beware of imitations and substitutes. Large size Catarrhona, with hard rubber inhaler, lasts two months, and is guaranteed. Price $1.00, at all dealers, or the Catarrhona Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Up till the latest advice received, their bodies had not been recovered. The drowned children were two and a half and four years old respectively.

Fairweather Damage Suits Postponed.
The law suit for $10,000 damages against the Canadian General Electric Co., for death of her husband by drowning last winter at Nassau dam, brought by Mrs. H. I. Fairweather, has been put off until early in December. Mrs. Fairweather is a daughter of the well known civil engineer, Mr. R. B. Rogers. It will be remembered that Mr. Fairweather lost his life by drowning whilst in the employ of the defendants.

Hunters Having a Good Time.
Word was received on Saturday from Mr. Charles McClelland, the Waterloo street jeweller, who is out deer hunting in New Ontario at Kiwananda. Mr. McClelland noted that his party is having a good time and getting lots of deer, partridges, rabbits and fish. They had not, at the time of writing secured any moose. The party is fortunate in having a former chief of Mr. T. Hooper's for cook. On Thanksgiving Day they had, out in that wild country a dinner fit for Epictetus. The party leaves for home on Thursday.

Eighty But Wants a Wife.
Mr. Ed. LeClair, whose age has seemingly exceeded the allotted period handed out to mankind by some ten years in the city, a guest at a Hunter street Hotel. This old gentleman, who for years, has been employed as "handy-man" out in the shanties in the back country, was in a local barber shop yesterday. He remarked in conversation that he had been a widower for some years and was now looking for a wife. He remarked that the French blood in his veins impelled him to always be true to the fair sex.

Ex-Reeve of Smith Mart.
The ex-reeve of Smith, Mr. R. A. Scott sustained a severe injury on Saturday whilst assisting at a threshing bee at the farm of Mr. W. J. Cox, North Monaghan. The accident was occasioned by Mr. Scott being caught in a rapidly revolving belt from the power operating the threshing machine. He was hurled violently to one side. His side struck a pulley and a bad bruising was the result. Dr. Scott was telephoned for and attended the injured man. Mr. Scott was able to drive later to his home.

Bobsygon Man's Body Found.
Mr. James McMullen, received notification last week concerning the recovery of the body of his son William who was drowned in the Le Pas district, north of Winnipeg. The body was found near the shore, and was buried where found, as the circumstances did not permit of any other course. The young man wore heavy laced prospecting boots, and it is thought that he would have reached shore had it not been for the boots. They also had the effect of keeping the body down after death. It was unfortunate that the news of the discovery was so long in transmission, as the delay kept the father in suspense, for he believed that his son being a strong swimmer he must have reached shore alive.

Lucky Turn Saved Two Horses.

On Saturday evening, between 7.30 and 8 o'clock a team and wagon belonging to E. Campbell, Nassau were standing in front of Hunter's grocery at the corner of George and Brook streets. Holding the reins, as he stood on the George street pavement was a small boy. A big auto passed by and the team became frightened, not stiff, but very much the opposite. They started off as though the last peak of oats in Canada was a reward to the first horse reaching the top of the Brook street "Court House" Hill. The small boy had the reins dragged from his hands. The steep ascent of the hill seemed like a level either track to these craved horses. On attaining the apex of the hill, the horses providentially turned south instead of continuing their flight east. Had they kept on their course straight east, enough but a miracle or an enbelle rancher's wish would have saved them from annihilation when they reached the descent last. In the wagon were a family of five—two men, one woman and two children. This morning the wagon was empty.

WEDDING BELLS

Garvin-Warnock.
On Saturday afternoon, St. Andrew's church, King street, Toronto, was the scene of a pretty wedding. The bride was Miss Amelia B. Warnock (Katherine Hale) of Oak, daughter of the late Mr. James Warnock, became the bride of Mr. John W. Garvin, formerly of this city.

The ceremony was conducted by the pastor, The Rev. T. Crawford Brown in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends. Dr. Anderson resided at the organ. Mr. J. B. Warnock brought his sister in and gave her away. She was wearing a travelling suit of smoky velvet and plumed hat to match, and she carried a satin and chiffon muff and bunch of violets. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Garvin left for New York. On their return they will reside on Glen road.

Macdonald-Ross.
On Wednesday, November 8, at St. Andrew's Church, Lindsay, the marriage took place of Miss Helen Campbell Ross, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, to Mr. Gordon Scott Macdonald, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Macdonald of St. John, N.B., the ceremony being conducted by Rev. James Wallace, M. A., B.D. The bride entered the church, which was decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums, on the arm of her father, and wore a beautiful gown of ivory duchesse satin.

The entire bride being of maiden lace, heavily embroidered with pearls and rhinestones, the long square train falling from the side of the draped skirt. The veil was arranged in an elaborate style with a band of pearls and orange blossoms, and she wore the groom's gift, a diamond and platinum ring. The maid of honor, Miss Jessie Ross, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid, Miss Queen H. Macdonald, sister of the groom, and Miss Edith Ross, cousin of the bride were gowned alike in graceful gowns of gold colored crepe de chine with touches of pale blue and pink, the bodices being draped with lace. French picture hats of black panne velvet were worn. All carried bouquets of gold chrysanthemums, and wore the groom's gift, gold bead necklaces. The best man was Mr. Neilburn Sylvester of Lindsay, and the ushers were Mr. Stanley Macdonald of St. John, N.B., brother of the groom; Messrs. F. Holmes Hopkins and J. M. Macdonald of Lindsay and Mr. L. T. Higgins of Toronto. During the signing of the register, Miss Grace Hamilton of Toronto, sang D'Hardot's "Because," while Mr. H. Robinson of Lindsay, played the wedding music. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Ross wearing a handsome gown of an unusual shade of deep green moire antique, garnished with lace and touches of pale blue. Her hat was of black velvet with shaded plumes. Mrs. Macdonald, mother of the groom, was beautifully gowned in blue and carried two-toned chrysanthemum draped with Mechlin and Chantilly laces. The bride travelled in a smart velvet suit of navy blue and black, a small smoky velvet hat and very handsome sable fur.

PETERBOROUGH'S FEEBLENESS
Dr. Morrison, member of the Board of Education and Mr. Monat, Inspector of Public Schools for this city, have returned from the convention which was held in Toronto to discuss the problem of caring for the feeble-minded children of Ontario. Dr. Morrison is authority for saying that as far as he knew, there are about 150 feeble-minded children attending the Protestant Public schools of this city.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO,

TUESDAY, NOV. 12, 1912.

PRICE, TWO CENTS.

CHURCHILL EXULTS IN NAVAL POWER SECURED BY AID OF DOMINIONS

Expects to Hear in a Few Days Announcement From Canada of Immense Consequence to Empire—Sixth Battle Squadron in Commission Next Year
—Germans Appreciate Frankness

London, Nov. 11.—Winston Churchill who responded for the naval forces at the Guild Hall banquet, said: "The year has witnessed important naval developments. The fleet has been reorganized upon a complete symmetrical plan. An entire new squadron of very powerful ships has been placed in full commission; we have recruited the largest number of sailors and stokers of any year in modern times, and nearly three times as many men have been recruited in each month upon the average of the present year. Before the end of the session I shall submit to Parliament proposals for improving the pay of officers and men of the royal navy. This, it may be hoped will further stimulate our already buoyant recruiting."

(Cheers.)
"We had not proposed last year to create a sixth battle squadron until 1915, but by various administrative arrangements it will be possible to bring that squadron into existence, fully manned, on mobilization with active service ratings. This will increase the margin of security to which I have on several occasions referred in the commonsense."

(Cheers.)
Plain Talk Effective.

"No harm has been done during the year by plain speaking on naval questions. On the contrary, the effect has been extremely good. The Germans are a nation with robust minds and a high sense of honor and fair play. They look at affairs in a practical, military spirit. They like to have facts put fairly and squarely before them. They do not want them wrapped up lest they should be shocked by them, and the relations between the two countries have steadily improved during the year. They have steadily improved side by side, with every evidence of our determination to maintain our naval supremacy. The best way is to make these arrangements thoroughly healthy and comfortable, is to go right on and put an end to this naval rivalry by proving that we cannot be overtaken."

(Cheers.)

Dominions' Fine Response.
"But after all, what has made this year memorable in the history of the navy has been the spontaneous simultaneous movement of the great dominions of the crown towards effective participation in imperial naval defence." (Applause.)

EUROPE NOW FACING A CRISIS BY AUSTRO-RUSSIAN OUTBREAK

London, Nov. 11.—Europe is facing one of the most critical weeks in her history. It may end in a war in which the whole of Europe will be involved or it may be remembered as a week in which diplomacy succeeded in solving problems that appeared insoluble to many.
The Bulgarian army is on the point of entering Constantinople and this will be resented by Russia. At the same time the Turkish capital is threatened with massacre from within.
On the other side of the Balkan peninsula there is an acute conflict between the aims of Austria-Hungary and Serbia which if it is not arranged might start in a general European outbreak.

The most hopeful sign of the present time is the fact that moderate influences are being brought to bear by Germany, the close ally of Austria-Hungary.

Boat Ship Hit Turkish Mine.

London, Nov. 11.—A despatch from Malta to the Post says a rumor is prevalent that the British cruiser Sarbaham has met with an accident. One report has it that she struck a Turkish mine.

A Malta despatch to the Telegraph however, says that the report being circulated regarding a mishap to a battleship is without foundation.
Twenty British battleships are now in Turkish waters. Ships are calling at Malta in unprecedented numbers.

WIFE OF ERSTWHILE CLOWN AND GIRL SHE IS ACCUSED, WITH HER HUSBAND, OF SLAYING

Mrs. Charles N. Conway, known on the stage as Beatrice Ryall, who is the wife of an erstwhile clown, was arrested with her husband in Indiana, charged with the killing of Miss Sophie Singer, the Baltimore girl, who was found dead by her back in the lodging house where they were staying in Chicago.

THE LIBERAL LEADERSHIP

The demand for a general convention of the Liberal party on the eve of the assembling of Parliament has all the appearance of a threat. It is a vote of want of confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and doubtless will so be considered by him. It will serve to hold him down in his attack on the Borden policy at the opening of Parliament, and may precipitate his resignation to cause us.
It is no doubt good policy to reconsider the Liberal programme before it is too late. Once it had been re-affirmed in Parliament the party would appear ridiculous in case of subsequent change. Borden and his kind have been utterly routed by the Conservatives. It remains to see if Bourassa can compel the surrender of Sir Wilfrid. The latter's retirement will mean the victory of the former.

APPALLING CONFLICT IMMINENT UNLESS AUSTRIA STOPS THREATS

Press and Public in Russia Believe Trouble Must Come Unless Vienna Changes Its Attitude—Germany Doing
Its Best For Settlement

Vienna, Nov. 11.—There is much excitement here over the possibility of war between Austria and Russia, which is talked of. The report that mobilization is imminent, however, is officially denied. On the contrary it is said that Austria will wait until the war is ended before opening formal negotiations with Serbia.

Count Von Berchtold, the Austrian Foreign Minister, had a conference with the Emperor at Budapest on Saturday. Afterwards he summoned a special conference at the palace, at which General Aussenberg, the Austro-Hungarian Minister of War, General Schoena, chief of the general staff, and the Hungarian Premier, M. Lukacs, were present.
The Emperor later received in audience the German Ambassador. It is also announced that Archduke Franz Ferdinand will shortly visit the German Emperor at one of his shooting boxes, and that much significance will be attached to the meeting.

Trying to Appease Disputants.
London, Nov. 11.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail learns that the threads of the Austro-Serbian crisis are now in the hands of the German Secretary of Foreign Affairs, Herr Von Kiderman-Wascheter, who is working on a formula designed to appease both Austria and Serbia.

Press and public opinion in St. Petersburg, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from the Russian capital, consider a conflict between Russia and Austria imminent, if Austria continues to threaten Serbia.

END OF HOME RULE BILL BRITISH CABINET DEFEATED

FALLON AND WRIGHT GET EIGHTEEN MONTHS

Two Young Men Who Beat Up and Robbed Old Man From Smith, Found Guilty.

Yesterday afternoon, at 2.30, W. Fallon and Albert Wright, were charged with assault and robbery committed on the person of James Kennedy of Smith. Mr. Gordon appeared for Wright and Mr. McElderry for Fallon. County Crown Attorney Wood acted for the prosecution. The first witness was Mr. Kennedy. He was in the city from Smith, on Thanksgiving Day. He met the prisoners as he came out of a Hunter street hotel. He asked prisoners where Johnston's livery was situated. They took him to Simcoe street. He remembered being struck. He had $7 when he went to the livery. He was knocked down and on recovering went to the police station. He next saw prisoners that night under arrest. He had no doubt but that the prisoners were the men who beat and robbed him.

To Mr. Gordon, he said he was drunk. He left the hotel at 9 or 10 o'clock. He did not know which way he went to Simcoe street. He was knocked down on Simcoe street. He felt them take his money. He had about $9.20 when he got to town. It was between 9 and 10 he counted his money; he had three one dollar bills and quite a lot of silver.

To Mr. McElderry, it was next morning when he identified prisoners. P. C. Reid testified, he met last witness at 9.05 and saw prisoners walking with Kennedy on Hunter street. He next met Kennedy at Simcoe and Aylmer streets. Kennedy said he had been robbed by two men, described by him. Witness met prisoners in a George street hotel and arrested them, at 10.45. Defendant's pockets had been turned inside out. He arrested prisoners because he had previously seen them with Kennedy, and they answered Kennedy's description of them.

P. C. Brown was present at the examination of prisoners' pockets.
Mrs. Gibbs, next witness, lives on Bethune street. Thanksgiving Day night, returning home by Hunter street, she saw Kennedy on his knees crawling towards the pavement. She saw Al. Wright running. She heard, "Come back, Al." Ray Wright was with her and others and ran after his brother, Albert.

E. Lowes, saw Fallon with Kennedy and Wright join them. He saw the two prisoners run, when Kennedy was down. Wright met him and said he was up against it for violence.
To Mr. McElderry, witness said he and Fallon had quarrelled during that day but made friends after 10 o'clock that night. Witness said he had served time behind the bars.

Mrs. J. Thompson saw Wright run that night when Kennedy was down. She saw Albert Wright on the grass with Kennedy.
For the defence, Fallon went into the box. He said he had been in a George street hotel that day. He had been playing pool and drinking with Pierce until about 10 o'clock. He and Lowes had quarrelled. Kennedy asked him the way to Smith Wright and Kennedy went out. He and Lowes were bad friends yet. His (witnesses') jail record was only two years and six months in sentences.

Albert Wright denied having seen Kennedy that night. Witness said he had only served six months in Central prison and thirty days in the local jail.
His Honor Judge Huyshe after an eloquent plea for clemency by Mr. Gordon, gave the prisoners a heart to heart talk and sentenced them to eighteen months in the Central prison.

Government Will Continue in Office For Present on Account of War Crises

London, Nov. 11.—The British Cabinet was defeated to-day by a vote of 228 against 206 on an amendment proposed by the Unionist party to a financial clause of the Home Rule Bill while it was under discussion in committee of the House of Commons.

The Government is now faced with three alternatives. The Cabinet can resign, it can drop the Home Rule Bill, or it can bring forward a motion to recommit the bill and obtain the opinion of the full House on the vote which was taken to-day after it has given due notice of its intention to do so.

The general opinion is that the Government will move for the recommitment of the bill and will resign, in view of the fact that the division was unexpected and occurred on Monday, when many of the supporters of the Government had not returned from their week-end vacations.

There has been considerable opposition by members on the Ministerial side of the House of Commons to the financial provisions of the Home Rule Bill. Some 70 Liberal members have given votes to their objection to the Irish Parliament being given control of the Customs, as they argue that such control would enable the Irish Parliament to introduce protection.

Calls For Government to Resign.

The Conservatives leaped to their benches when the result of the vote was announced, screaming, "Resign! Resign!"
The total vote in the House to-day was only 434, or about two-thirds of the full membership of 670.

AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

A Good Audience Sees Alice Lloyd in Favorite Play.

The Opera House last night was well filled with an appreciative audience to witness Alice Lloyd in "Little Miss Fix-it." This charming lady has scored a coast to coast triumph last season, which has been repeated this season in the East. The comedy is sparkling and bright throughout. English theatre-goers enthusiastically chose her as the most popular of all its sweet-singing comedienne, and her coming to Peterborough proved to be one of the delightful treats of the season. The management of the Grand Opera House are deserving of great credit in securing the fine class of attractions which Peterborough is waiting are now under consideration.

HARD RAPS AT CRITICS OF LORDS BOBS AND BERESFORD

"No harm has been done during the year by plain speaking on naval questions. On the contrary the effect has been extremely good. The Germans are a nation with robust minds and a high sense of honor and fair play. They look at affairs in a practical, military spirit. They like to have facts put squarely before them. They do not want them wrapped up lest they should be shocked by them, and the relations between the two countries have steadily improved during the year. They have steadily improved side by side with every evidence of our determination to maintain our naval supremacy."—Mr. Winston Churchill.

BUCKHORN BRIDGE MATTER AGAIN UP

Department of Railways and Canals has placed the claim against the County of Peterborough for $3,000 in connection with the Buckhorn Bridge, with the Department of Justice for collection. This is an old matter arising from the support of the county, that the late Laurier Government had taken the bridge off the County's hands altogether.

EDITORIAL NOTES

President Taft, it is said, was only supported by the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the Republic. His defeat, therefore, was to be expected.

If all the straw votes taken during the Presidential campaign were baled up The Times believes that the country would have a sufficient supply of hay to last for several years.

Although it is about six weeks to Christmas, it is not too soon for advertisements to do your Christmas shopping early—early in the day as well as early in the Christmas, shopping season.

The University of Southern California has instituted a chair of automobile science, being the first university in the country to recognize the importance of the motor car as a subject of technical study and investigation from the engineering standpoint.

The Rev. S. T. Bartlett, general secretary of the Epworth League, addressing the Hamilton district League according to the Herald, said that all Epworth Leagues should support Mr. Rowell's ban-the-bar policy. This means that all Epworth Leagues should support the Liberal party in this province. Attempts of this sort to rally religious organizations to the support of one or the other of the political parties must tend to disrupt the organizations.

GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the Outlook, recently gave some reasons for his change of view upon certain subjects. He said: "For years I accepted the theory that we already had popular government; that this was a government by the people. I believe the power of the boss was due only to the indifference and short-sightedness of the average decent citizen. Gradually it came over me that while this was half the truth, it was only half the truth, and that while the boss owed part of his power to the fact that the average man did not do his duty, yet that there was the further fact to be considered, that for the average man it had already become made very difficult instead of very easy for him to do his duty." If it is a fact that our present system has made, or is making, it difficult for the average man to do his duty, it is time we started to make it easier. Are you helping?

UNIQUE POLITICAL SITUATION.

A most peculiar political situation developed last week in the New South Wales house of assembly, says the Ottawa Citizen. The Labor government found itself confronted by an equal number of Liberal members, the number on each side being forty-five. As it was impossible to carry through any legislation, and as it would have been fatal to elect one of their own number as speaker of the

the house, they were forced to do what could hardly be any better—elect a speaker from the Opposition. The result has been that the elected speaker has been using practically autocratic power, blocking legislation almost as much as an Opposition majority could do. At present matters are at a standstill, no remedy being in sight except a general election.

By a strange coincidence, almost the precisely same situation exists in the Tasmania house. There are fourteen Liberal and fourteen Labor members in the house. The result is that Mr. Norman Cameron, an independent member, is able to exercise equally autocratic power, since his vote alone keeps the Liberal government in power. As a consequence, in both cases democracy is robbed of its power, and a practical despotism takes its place.

Both these cases offer an excellent argument in favor of direct legislation. It has often been argued that representative government lends itself to the possibility of such deadlock and despotism, but the extremity has invariably been considered as very remote. Here, however, are two instances to prove the validity of the argument. The more direct the legislative function becomes, and the more questions are submitted to the people, the less danger there is of situations that render all legislation either ineffective or necessarily compromised. In both the parliaments referred to, the process of legislation has been practically suspended as the result of the deadlock.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

WERE LOYAL TO CANADA.

Sir,—A trio of political tricksters have gone to their righteous reward. Taft has gone after his two little goats, Messrs. Fielding and Patterson, and that great goat and his two little goats came pretty nearly making a goat of this Canada of ours. But, despite a certain section of our people who were quite willing to throw our country into the arms of the great republic, the vast number of our people were more loyal to our country, who were more loyal to our country and its best interests than were the reciprocity more favorable to another country and its interests than to their own, which is not to their credit.—Yours, A Loyal Canadian.

Kingsport, Nov. 11.

CARE OF THE FEEBLE MINDED.

Sir,—I see by the papers that the city fathers of Belleville are considering a move to provide for feeble minded children. I think, Mr. Editor, that a similar move to protect the feeble minded should be inaugurated in Peterborough. I do not happen to know of many feeble minded children, but a walk down George or any other leading street of this city will convince any intelligent man that there are a whole lot of feeble minded persons in Peterborough. When one sees, as one can any night, feeble little girls of fifteen or sixteen years of age, walking along at 9.30 or 10 o'clock, acting very much and evidently looking for attention, when they ought to be home studying their lessons, it is evident that some stringent, if only moral, pressure should be brought to bear on their feeble minded parents.

Protect the Oris.

MAKE OUR OWN BINDER TWINE

An Industry That Should be Encouraged in Western Canada—Use the Raw Flax Fibre

The farmers of Western Canada are now busy harvesting a crop which it is estimated will yield two hundred and fifty million bushels. Think for a moment of the enormous quantity of binder twine that will be sold! Yet with the existence of such a market comparatively little of the twine is made here. Our needs are really supplied by the United States. Tens and tens of flax fibre, which some day will be perfected as a raw material for the manufacture of binder twine, are going to waste on the prairies every season, all because no one can make profitable use of it in Canada. There is not even the inducement to save this raw material for the purpose of manufacturing. Such a condition exists chiefly of an unequal competition in the binder twine trade between Canada and the United States and older and more powerful industries

MEN WHO DON'T EXERCISE

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS

Nothing so sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brist and Vigor, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork are the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock. In his concluding letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well."

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked bright, my color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The distressing languor and feeling of dizziness passed away, and I had regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort, and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box, five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or by mail from The Catarthos Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Can.

have not only absolutely free access to the Canadian market, but also practically monopolize the valuable supplies of raw materials in the Philippine Islands. Time was, when the greater part of the binder twine business of Canada was carried on by Canadian manufacturers. To-day, an overwhelmingly large share of this business is in the hands of the so-called Harvester Trust, which does not make a pound of twine in Canada, but sends it from mills located across the line.

STOCK AND THE DAIRY

Development of These Industries Along the Calgary-Edmonton Line

Possible: a part of the West offers better facilities for mixed farming than that along the railway from Macleod north to Edmonton. There is little or no dairying, however, until one strikes Nanton, where there is a new creamery which is producing 1,000 lbs. of butter a week, having increased from 500 lbs. in three weeks. The people all through this territory are devoting more and more attention to dairying, stock raising, and the growing of coarse grains. They are also keen along the line of industrial development. The trip from high River to Edmonton reminds a person of Ontario. The rolling land, dairy herds, horses, streams, patches of bush are attractive and offer exceptional opportunities for mixed farming. This applies especially to the district between Calgary and Edmonton. In some cases the early frost of last year which caught the wheat was a blessing in disguise and compelled some farmers to look to other avenues of industry that they might not see the necessary financial returns. At Langdon one farmer fed his frozen wheat to hogs, and in that way obtained $1 a bushel for it. R. B. Wellsheimer who farms 160 acres has gone into stock raising, sells no grain but feeds it to his hogs, then obtaining good returns from his farm. Further evidence of mixed farming is seen in the large number of cans of milk and cream at various stations. Cartwheels loaded a large quantity of milk to Calgary at $3.25 per hundred lbs., in winter and 1.50 per hundred lbs. in summer. One farmer has stables for 114 head of dairy cattle, having a barn and equipment costing $2,000.00. Two other farms have 50 dairy cattle each. Dairy ships large quantities of milk, butter, cream and eggs. As many as 200 cans a day of milk and cream are sent to Calgary. A large quantity of hay is shipped from Didsbury, Olds, Innisfail, and adjacent points to British Columbia.

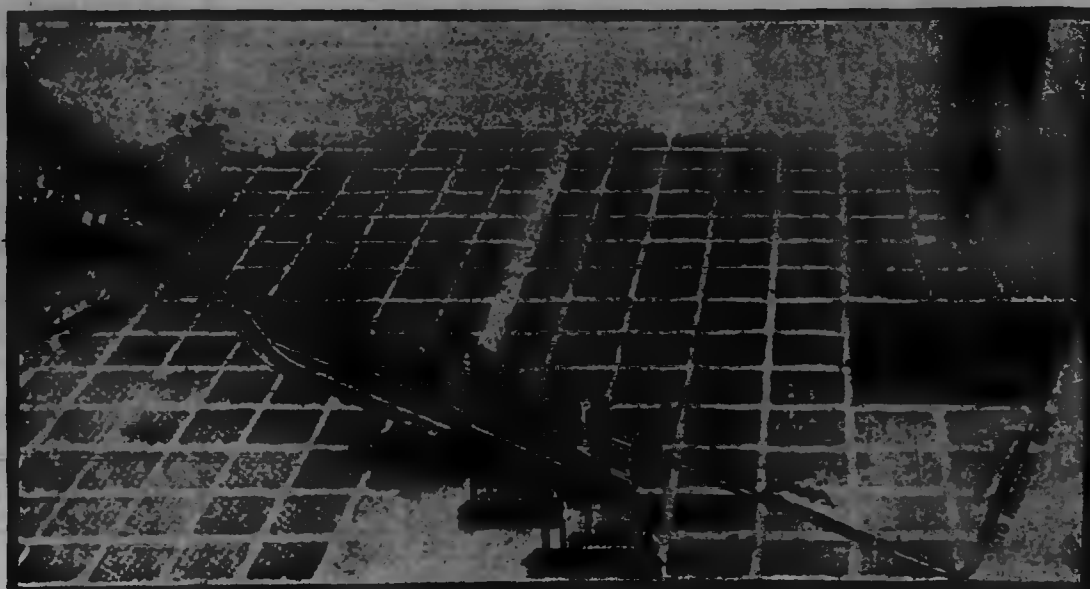

Intensive Cultivation. The scarcity of cheap labor, which has long been a problem in every line of business in British Columbia, is bringing about a remarkable change in the agricultural conditions of the province, but particularly in the lower Fraser Valley. The large farms are giving place to the small, and there is a tendency to look upon intensive cultivation as the only profitable method.

LIBERALS ARE NOT UNANIMOUS

Is This The Meaning of Call For Convention of Party?

The Times no doubt hit the nail on the head in yesterday's issue when we referred to the troubles in the camp of the Liberal party. The World asks if the party behind Mr. Rowell on the policy of abolish the bar and behind Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the question of the navy and reciprocity? The question is suggested by significant articles in The Windsor Record, Hamilton Times and Toronto Globe. The Windsor paper asks these pertinent questions: For instance, does the Liberal party in Ontario stand united on the Laurier policy of a Canadian navy, with ships built in this country and manned by Canadian men, under the control of the Canadian parliament? Also, does the Liberal rank and file stand shoulder to shoulder on the question of wider markets?

Then, again, are the Liberals in this province lined up to a man behind Mr. Rowell and abolition of the bar? Can the Liberal party afford to rely on the so-called temperance element? And says the truly Liberal Hamilton Times, "These are questions that none but a Liberal convention can properly answer, and were they answered to the satisfaction of the rank and file they would go into the coming fight in a whole-hearted manner, knowing what they were fighting for and fighting under a plan of campaign calculated to bring them success. With a policy definitely defined, the Liberal fighting machine, whereas, if they went into the battle not knowing what they were contending for they would be little better than an irresponsible mob."

P. G. Inwood, secretary of the Reform Association of Ontario, was asked by The Sunday World regarding the question of getting the party together on the issues mentioned. He said, speaking for Ontario Liberals, and not for the national party, that the articles in the three Liberal papers were merely the expression

THE BOOTH MEMORIAL
A GRAND SCHEME

The members of the Salvation army are now actively engaged, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in securing the necessary funds towards the establishing of a memorial in Canada to the late General William Booth. It has been decided by the leader of the army in this country that a new training institution should commemorate the life and work of the honored founder of the organization.

This is to be erected in the City of Toronto, the centre of all Salvation Army operations in the Dominion, in which the young men and women who offer themselves as officers could be thoroughly and efficiently trained for their life's work.

It is the intention to provide accommodation for 125 persons, including class rooms, lecture rooms, libraries, sleeping rooms, dining rooms, kitchen, hospital, bath, swimming pool, gymnasium, offices, etc. The expenditure necessary is estimated at $250,000 and while this may appear a very large amount, the money would be well spent, as it will be an investment securing very beneficial results for the future.

At the moment, the army is handicapped in their training operations, inasmuch as the accommodation of the present training college is considerably overtaxed; the idea, therefore of the memorial is not only one of sentiment but of necessity. The local representatives desire to enlist the practical co-operation of all the officers of the late General, who was truly a benefactor of humanity, and of whom in his lifetime it was said "The poor thy clients, and Heaven's smile thy fee."

The inventive brain has fashioned some weird devices to lessen the drudgery of learning to play golf. A well-known amateur, who suddenly woke up one drive, hit on the idea of fixing a rubber band around the wall of a disused room, and spent many hours of gauntlet in driving balls against it. And it proved a cure for a fault which was largely a loss of confidence. In-door golf is not a new thing, but nothing like the same systematic instruction has before been attempted—at the Westend Golf School, London, for instance, where recently opened. Dr. J. H. Wallace, speaking at the Imperial Health Council at Carlton Hall, under the auspices of the women's Imperial Health Association, said that the cause of dental disease was the soft and sticky nature of the foods commonly consumed by children. "When certain foods of a starchy and sticky nature lodge in the teeth," he added, "they ferment and decay the enamel and the underlying enamel. Unless such foods are eaten with a corresponding amount of food of a fibrous or firm and cleansing nature, the result is a general ill-health and concomitant emaciation in children prevent the perfect development of the jaws, and this is largely the result of the softening, which has resulted in the foisting on children of all ages of foods which are rich with a high percentage of chum." Mr. Ralph J. McFarland, president of the association, said that out of 78,000 school children in the city, 60,000—more than three-fourths—are in urgent need of dental treatment.

The unmanned motor-boat was towed from the shore, and then the captain gave a succession of orders which Herr Wirth carried out by means of the electric apparatus and the apparatus above the receiver on the board. In this way he received the motor, then stopped it, drove the boat ahead or astern, to starboard or port and the boat was steered by the figure on the water, such as the letter "2" and the figure "3." The boat which cruised backwards and forwards at a constant velocity of from two to two miles from the apparatus whereby it was controlled, executed each order with absolute precision and without any delay or fault.

It still is only the beginning of the work, but the invention is probable as because it has only just emerged from the laboratory, and has not undergone many practical tests.

An extraordinary affair is reported from the West of Ireland. The Royal Mail car from Killoclab, County Galway, to Ballyvaughan, was held up by a party of masked men, all of whom, it is declared, were armed. A reveler was painted at the driver, who quickly dismounted and fled for his life. The car was then driven seven miles in another direction by the masked men, and when it was afterwards discovered by the roadside it was found that several mail-bags had been torn open and letters were strewn about the roadway.

Russia insists upon a school of law, purely against the grain of the practical necessities of the country. There are lawyers enough as it is, and there will be two "philosophical" faculties, mental and natural science; but the fourth faculty, of political science, is to give the glory of the University to the new seat of learning its characteristic note. Those who object to this, say that it is like putting in before the walls are standing; but the masons, they say, made the German colonies, think otherwise, and say that the new seat of learning, colonial university will soon be an established fact, and that nothing that the public spirit and munificence of the Government can do to ensure a success will be left undone.

NO PARLOR TALK ON BALL FIELD

It Was Tried Once and Failed, Says
Joe Kelley, Ball Players Being Only Human

"You can try to refine and civilize baseball all you want," remarked Joe Kelley, the Toronto manager, "and you can make a parlor game out of it by giving the umpires power of life and death, but you can't kill off the players' tongues unless you use an axe. Baseball can be made a gentlemanly game, all right, but you can't get the Lord Chesterfield stuff into it, no matter how much the writers and the managers may talk about the progress toward perfection. The public can't hear the talk that still goes on and it's just as well the public is out of range."

"Years and years ago, I well remember, two ball clubs tried to play a polite and courteous game, just to see how the thing would work. The old Baltimore and the Boston clubs were real ball clubs both of them—held a conference one afternoon. There had been a lot of talk and newspaper criticism about rough house work and bad language, and we wanted to show press and public that we could be good, decent people, at least."

Gave It a Trial
"We agreed to try out the polished conversation and the golden rule for this occasion. The first half inning went by something lovely. Even when Tim Lincecum called a strike on Tom McCarthy that was a strike over his head, there was no outbreak. Says Tom, very gently: 'Wasn't that ball a trifle high, Mr. Umpire?' And says Tim all courtesy: 'I fear I may have erred in judgment, Mr. McCarthy. Kindly overlook it if you will.' And in out half when Jack Doyle went down to second in a cloud of dust, and Tim said 'out!' Jack jumped up, red in the face, yelled: 'What the —' and caught himself in time. 'Pardon me,' says Jack, 'but I honestly thought that Mr. Long failed to touch me.' And says Herman Long, equally polite: 'I am under the impression I did touch
Mr. Doyle, just as nice as you could find it in a book of etiquette.'

Something Happened
"And in the very next inning the blow-off came. Three on and two gone, with Hughie Jennings batting.
Babe made a dash for home on what he thought was a passed ball. The Boston catcher recovered, but as he dove for the put-out Jennings wandered against him and knocked him
ten feet away. 'Out for interference!'
yelled Murray—and then everybody arrived at the plate all in a bunch.
"You Irish loafers!" shrieked Reitz.
'What am I out for?' You red-headed devil! roared the Boston catcher at Jennings. 'I ought to knock your block off and for two cents I'd do it.'
"You're a piece of stale cheese," marveled Jennings, "and this umpire is a pre-arranged robber." After that Jennings drifted back to normal."

The King's Pigeons

Just recently King George has completed a magnificent new pigeon loft in place of the old one standing at San-dringham. King George's original loft was a cottage with an aviary attached to one of the lower rooms in which the birds could take air when not at liberty, but the new loft has been designed by Mr. J. Walter Jones, the Sandringham schoolmaster, who is the trainer of the Royal pigeons; and there is most excellent accommodation for the birds. The loft is divided into three parts: one part is set aside for stock birds—that is to say, the pigeons that are kept to breed the racers. The largest part of the loft is for the racing pigeons that have to fly in competition; and the other portion is for the youngsters.

The new Royal loft is in the form of the letter L, twenty-eight feet one way and twenty feet the other, while the centre of the "L" is filled in by an aviary twelve feet wide. There are thirty-six nest boxes in the old bird loft, and sixteen in the stock-bird loft, so that accommodation is provided in the new Royal pigeon loft
for fifty-two pairs of racing pigeons.
The interior of the new pigeon loft is seven feet from floor to ceiling, and the roof is flat, and in order that when the birds arrive home from training and racing, there may be no time wasted the entrance is fitted with an electrical appliance that not less at once when the birds have entered.

There is no doubt that the accommodation of King George with the sport of pigeon racing, like the association of the late King Edward, has done much to give an impetus to the sport.
It is only further evidence of the interest the King takes in his subjects' pastimes, and it can be truly said there is no more honest pastime than pigeon racing, because it requires much study to breed and produce birds endowed with such a high degree of intelligence as racing pigeons.
Not only must their intelligence be developed and improved, but also their physical properties must be brought to the best possible state of perfection.

GHOSTS OF THE LIVING.

A Case That Throws Light on the Problem of Apparitions.

It is not at all necessary to resort to the supernatural as the only sufficient explanation of apparitions. In truth, there is one insurmountable obstacle to regarding them as supernatural manifestations, and that is the simple circumstance that the ghosts wear clothes. It is quite conceivable that there really may be ghosts of persons,
but nobody who gave the matter a second thought would contend for a moment that there can be ghosts of clothes. Nevertheless apparitions are always clothed and sometimes in garments of such modern cut that they were unknown at the time the person seen as a phantom lived on earth.

Aside from this, there is the interesting and by no means unimportant circumstance that houses are sometimes haunted by apparitions not of the dead, but of the living. I know of one case in which a gentleman entering a drawing room at 4 in the afternoon saw seated on the sofa a young lady with "reddish gold" hair,
who appeared to be reading a book.
There were two other persons in the room, one seated beside her on the sofa, and the visitor was surprised to find that they did not offer to introduce him to the young lady—did not,
in fact, seem to see her. Later a guest at a week end party saw the same apparition in the same house, and it was seen a third time by one of the servants.

No light was thrown on the strange affair until, a year afterward, the wife of the son of the family arrived from Australia to pay a first visit to her husband's relatives and was immediately identified by the servant as the figure she had seen. The two visitors who also had seen the apparition subsequently made the same identification.

Since it is incredible to suppose that a person can be in two places at the same time—so that a lady can be both in Australia and in a house thousands of miles from Australia—it is a legiti-mate inference that phantasms, whether of the living or of the dead, are devoid of objective reality, are, that is to say, always and only hallucinations.
—Metropolitan Magazine.

A Clear Case.
"You claim that the wheel of the defendant's car passed over your stomach," said the defendant's attorney to the plaintiff on the stand.
"Yes, here is your open-faced watch, which you testify to having carried in your vest pocket at the time, and the crystal isn't even cracked. How do you account for that?"

"Why," said the plaintiff, "the car was going so fast there wasn't time for the crystal to break, sir."

Expectations.
"I gave her a plush album on her wedding anniversary. It was one I had bought for the house for some time, but it looked like new."
"Well?"

"Now she has found that I have an anniversary soon."

"Well, no doubt you expect her to reciprocate."
"Reciprocate is not the word. I'm afraid she will retaliate."

The American Collector.
"You can assure me that this old master is genuine?"
"Oh, yes, my very dear sir. The proof is perfect. Why, I can point out to you the very street in which the poor old master lived."

"And you are sure he was an old master?"
"Surely. Why, my very dear sir, he was more than ninety when he died."

"It's like that,"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

She Hated It—Sure.
"I hate factory," she said.
"Of course you do," he replied. "Because you're a girl?"

Then she drew a long, deep sigh and permitted him to press her cheek against his own.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Two Views of It.
Parson—Do you take this woman for better or for worse? Bridegroom—Well, I can't exactly say. Her people think it's for better, but mine think it's for worse.—Life.

Obedient to the Limit.
Husman—Shir, sir? Yes, sir.
Will you have a soft frosted or a stiff biscuit?
Customer—Soft frosted. The doctor says I must avoid starchy things.—

tellect is gradually rising?"
"No. On the contrary. Never before were there as many writers of popular songs as there are today."—Chicago

What to Take.
The sky is blue and cloudless, too.
The sun is bright and yellow,
But take no chance; take instead
Your tried and true umbrella.
—Detroit News.

It Just Lapsed.
"Yes, I was once engaged to a duke."
"And what cruel obstacle came between two loving hearts?"
"Oh, nothing particular. We just let the option expire."—Washington Herald.

THE CLEVEREST WOMAN

Some Facts About Madame Curie
One of the Discoverers of Radium

Madame Curie, one of the discoverers of radium, who has been called the cleverest woman in the world, has been seeking, through a London house agent, a "little house in rural England not far from London, with a garden
in which a little girl could play."
These were all the particulars "the cleverest woman in the world" gave the man of business of her requirements. It seems the doctors have ordered change of air for the paralytic little girl in question—a small person who is the apple of her mother's eye, and of far more account than all the radium in the universe.
Madame Sklodowska Curie is still a young woman, being not much over forty. Her features are distinctly Polish, but her forehead is wider than one is accustomed to see in a woman.
She is tall and well built, and her manners are a trifle distant—some call her austere. As in the fitness of things, her hair is her "crowning glory," and it is arranged in a large roll behind her head, absolutely in-cost of tongs or origami. Again and again has society, especially Parisian society, tried to lure her into its circle, but the more it coaxes her the farther she flees from it, and now society is getting tired of pursuing,
and leaves her alone.

Throat Becomes Diseased Through Neglecting Cold

Then Catarrh Sets In, Causes Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing Catarrh disease consists in using Catarrhons is now freely admitted. Catarrhons is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough remedies contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhons you take no drugs—yes employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhons's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhons seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhons inhaler—it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhons, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchitis or catarrh of the throat. The dollar size of Catarrhons contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhons Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

police court. John Stewart, of Belmont township, who is charged by his wife with insanity was remanded until Wednesday for trial. It may interest those not acquainted with the law on such cases to learn that a man charged with insanity cannot be committed to an asylum except on the testimony of two physicians, and even then the magistrate has a veto power over the medical testimony.

Some Fine Salmon Seized.
Capt. Carson, of the Ontario Government fishery patrol steamer Maud has returned to the city after laying up that boat at Lock No. 4, Kirkfield, on Saturday. He, in conversation with The Times yesterday noted that the new C.P.R. line from Orillia to Peterborough is a splendid connection and makes quick time. The Captain noted that a few days ago the Maud seized one thousand feet of nets off Woodman's shoals. Thora Island, Lake Simcoe. The nets which are now held under seizure at Peterborough, contained fifteen salmon trout, one of which weighed 18 pounds.

Fined for Selling Liquor.
It would seem that in some local option municipalities it is actually local option on his part whether the man with the shirt gets his artificial liquid joy or not. It seems that he can get it in Millbrook anyhow, as Barney Page, proprietor of the Southern Hotel pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping liquor for sale in a dry district on the 23rd of October 1912, to wit: The information was laid by G. F. Morrison, Provincial License Inspector and Mr. H. A. Ward appeared for the License Department. Two detectives employed by the Government, searched the premises of Mr. Page and found a quantity of beer and whiskey in the bar. He was fined $100 and costs, $5.00.

Did Bulgarian Die in Swamp?
Chief of Police Chilton of Lindsay and County Constable Thornberry have so far been unsuccessful in the search for "Dago" the Bulgarian, who as noted in a former issue, a few days ago, stabbed a fellow countryman near Grass Hill. After the affray the Bulgarian who did the stabbing took to the swamp, and the officers made a diligent search and inquired of farmers within radius of five miles, but no trace of the man could be found. One of the man's shoes and his socks were found in the swamp. Chief Chilton is of the opinion that the fugitive has perished in the morass, as it is filled with water. The bread knife which the assailant used in the stabbing was found in the lot of land on Brock street, which they were contemplating securing as a site on which to erect a synagogue.

Lindsay Man Accidentally Shot.
On Sunday morning Mr. Thomas Hunter, an employee of the Local Leather Co. of Lindsay, left with a lad named Cleland, in a row boat for a duck shooting trip. They had secured one duck and landed at Green's Point, a few miles north of the town. On leaving the point, Cleland entered the boat first, followed by Hunter, who was to do the rowing. Hunter's gun was in the bottom of the boat with both hammers cocked. He disturbed the gun discharged the contents of one barrel in his thigh, evidently cutting an important blood vessel. Young Cleland bandaged the leg with rope as best he could, laid a passing motor boat, and they started for Lindsay. But Hunter died before reaching the wharf. Mr. Hunter is just two years out from Scotland, and was 35 years of age.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Thomas Campbell.
There passed away at the family residence 521 Gilmour street, yesterday afternoon, November 11, Mrs. Thomas Campbell, aged 60 years. The deceased lady has been in rather feeble health for some time, but her illness did not take a serious turn until about three months ago, when she became worse, gradually sank, until she came as above.

Mrs. Campbell leaves a family of two—Mrs. George E. Porter, Lancaster, Pa., and Mrs. W. D. Campbell of this city. Her husband predeceased her about 20 years ago, in Kewee, where the family resided until after Mr. Campbell's death, when they moved to Peterborough. Of a kindly and sympathetic nature, the deceased was esteemed and beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was a consistent member of Charlotte street Methodist church.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but will be announced in to-morrow's issue.

Charles H. Hindley.
Yesterday morning the death of Mr. Charles H. Hindley, representative of Messrs. Rylands & Sons, Manchester, Eng., occurred in his home at Lakeside and thence down to Buckhorn.

All ladies interested in the Tag Day campaign, to assist the Children's Aid Society, are asked to meet in the Council Chamber to-morrow afternoon to string tags in preparation for Tag Day next Saturday.

Yesterday the balmy southern breeze waited a reminder of the "perfumes of Araby" as far north as Brock street. That is, if the "perfume of Araby" is distilled from ancient saurkraut and venerable pig-pens. The smell came from the subterranean fumes of the dump at the foot of Charlotte street.

only arrived in the city last Wednesday from Belleville and caught a cold on his arrival. Dr. Young was called and on Saturday morning Mr. Hindley was removed to the hospital.

A consultation between Dr. Young and Halliday was held when the case was pronounced as hopeless. The late Mr. Hindley, who was 35 years of age, has been identified with Rylands & Sons, Limited, for the past twenty years, and he has been in Canada since September, his territory being from Quebec to Bowmansville. He was a member of the A.F. & A.M., Caledonian Lodge, No. 204, of Manchester. Surviving him in England are a widow and one child and a number of brothers and sisters in the vicinity of Manchester. The firm's Western Ontario representative, Mr. Thos. Bilsbury, and a close friend of the deceased remained in constant attendance on Mr. Hindley to the last.

BULGARIANS ARE RESUMING ATTACK ON TCHATALJA FORTS

A Quarter of a Million of People Outside Constantinople
Are Dying for Want of Food

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 12.—The situation of the Bulgarian troops investing Adrianople and the Tchatalja line in front of Constantinople is the subject of many rumors to-day owing to the absence of any official despatches from the front. It is known for certain that the Bulgarian troops have opened their attack on Tchatalja forts, but no details of the fighting have been received.

The Bulgarian and Serbian troops engaged in the siege of Adrianople are working in heart co-operation. Clashes with the Turkish garrison of that stronghold occur daily. Some of the Turkish troops taken prisoners during the sortie of the garrison declare that the conditions in the city are desperate. The population, they say, is on the verge of starvation, and it is thought the Turkish garrison will be starved out in ten days at the utmost. Bread, meat, and sugar have been selling lately at exorbitant prices, and the supplies even of these commodities are now exhausted.

Large numbers of Turkish irregulars have been pillaging the villages around Adrianople. The Bulgarians have now succeeded in repressing the looting and establishing proper administration.

A Quarter Million Within Starving.

London, Nov. 12.—The danger of massacre and looting in Constantinople appears to have abated. None of the correspondents of the London papers mention it this morning. The epidemic of cholera is now causing greater fear.

A Daily News correspondent says that there seems to be a quarter million people dying from sheer starvation outside the city walls, which soon will be surrounded by a pestilence-stricken famished horde. Even now the people are fighting with the soldiers for handfuls of grain. Every effort is being made to transport the refugees to Anatolia, by which means only can a ghastly catastrophe be averted.

CODERRE'S OPPONENT

Head Estate Dealer Will Run

Against Navy Constitution.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—A surprise was sprung at the nomination here in the bye-election of Hochelaga to-day. Until this morning everything indicated that Hon. Coderre was to be re-elected by acclamation, but an independent candidate elected in the person of Mr. Leopold Doyon, ex-Labor leader, ex-grand trunk conductor, and now a real estate agent. Mr. Doyon declares he is opposed to an emergency contribution and wants the naval issue to be submitted to the people by a plebiscite, and will fight on this platform.

YOUNG SOCIETY GIRL WHO ENJOYED SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT.

MRS. D. HERBERT
HOSTETTER

Copyright 1912 by E. J. B. L. Co.

A visit to Princeton followed by two weeks' flirtation and then a busy honeymoon is the experience of Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter, Jr., the twenty-year-old niece of Mr. Field Galt, of St. Louis, who is a member of the National Democratic Committee. Following a trip from St. Louis to New York, Mrs. Hostetter was invited by her nephew, Field Galt, Jr., a student at Princeton, to visit the New Jersey college. There she met Mr. Hostetter, and love at first sight developed into an elopement. Mr. Hostetter is a nephew of the late Mr. Theodore H. Hostetter, manufacturer of bitters. Mrs. Hostetter is a daughter of the late Judge William Brown, of Chicago. Both are wealthy in their own right.

THE SPANISH PREMIER SLAIN IN MADRID BY ANARCHIST

Madrid, Nov. 12.—The Spanish Premier, Jose Canalejas, was assassinated to-day.

Martin fired four shots at Premier Canalejas as he was entering the Ministry of the Interior to attend a Cabinet meeting. Two of the shots struck the statesman behind the right ear and he fell dead on the spot.

The assassin is a young man of 28 years of age and is believed to be an anarchist.

Turned Revolver on Self.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—The assassination of Premier Canalejas took place at half past eleven this morning in the Puerta del Sol, in front of a book stall at the corner of Carreras street, near the entry to the Ministry of the Interior.

Martin fired four shots from his revolver at close range and three of the bullets struck the Premier, who fell on the sidewalk and died immediately.

Some bystanders seized the assassin and handed him over to the police. He then turned his revolver on himself and shot himself, from which he died.

It is said to have been closely connected with anarchists but it is not known whether his crime was premeditated or whether it was committed on his own initiative.

Political ferment always exists in Spain.

Started Row With Vatican.

The project introduced by Senor Canalejas for the separation of Church and State in Spain caused a rupture of relations between that country and the Vatican. These

BIGELOW WHO KILLED COLLERAN IS INSANE

Toronto, Nov. 12.—"We find that the prisoner is unfit, by reason of insanity, to stand his trial."

This was the brief verdict returned in the Criminal Assizes by the jury called to pass on the case of David Bigelow, charged with manslaughter. The accused, who conducted a restaurant at 499 1-2 Parliament street, got into an altercation, on July 12, with Walter Colleran, a boarder. He tried to eject Colleran, and in the conflict, struck the latter in the jaw, breaking his neck.

Since being confined to jail, he has rapidly developed insanity, and the question for the jury to decide yesterday was whether, because of his insanity, he is able to stand his trial.

THE LIBERAL POSITION

Mr. Rowell is saving the Liberal party from going to the bottom. He is striving might and main to do what Sir Wilfrid Laurier should have done in regard to the naval policy of Canada. It is useless to talk of Sir Wilfrid's navy, which was only to go to war when the Canadian Parliament had taken the occasion into consideration. Sir Wilfrid instigated Egypt. He said that in that case Canada would not have joined in the war. Such a policy is no better than Bourassa's. In fact it is worse, since it means expense without reason. What could a little power like Canada do with an independent navy? In so far as Bourassa is right. The Liberal leadership in Canada, however, is involved in the confused opposition to the Borden policy, which is so admirably and favorably endorsed by the Liberal Government in Britain.

Sir Wilfrid gives every sign of being overwhelmed. Who is there to take his place?

RUSSIA IS MORE WARLIKE BUT CRISES IS DELAYED

Germany Is Urging Austria Not to Take Any Arbitrary Action Until a General European Conference Has Met and Considered Whole Situation

London, Nov. 12.—The deadlock in the political situation brought about by the Balkan war continues. Neither Austria-Hungary nor Serbia has given way on a single essential point in regard to the future of Albania and the proposed occupation of the state of the Servians of a port on the Adriatic Sea.

Despite this and the further fact that the Russian press is daily intensifying the warlike tone of its support of the Serbian cause, some of the European chancelleries take a more optimistic view of the state of affairs. They assume that yesterday's conference between the Austrian and Serbian statesmen at Budapest have tended to relieve the crisis.

MARRIAGE QUESTION

Member for West Peterborough Asks in First Question on the Order Paper
for Next Session.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—Mr. J. H. Burroughs, M.P. for Peterborough, has asked in the first question for the order paper for this coming session. They are on the marriage question, so, apparently, it is far from a dead subject, despite the decision of the Privy Council.

Mr. Burroughs will ask:

(1) What portions of Canada are solely under Federal control and jurisdiction?

(2) What are the laws in respect to marriage in these districts?

Wait Till the Conference.

The great powers not directly interested in the outcome, but more particularly Germany, are making strong efforts to reconcile the two antagonists, and it is believed that Germany has at least induced Austria-Hungary not to press her objections to Serbia's aims until the end of the campaign. Germany has pointed out that the whole question of the Balkans can then be settled by a European conference in which the Balkan nations will have a voice.

When Archduke Franz Ferdinand, the Austrian heir to the throne, meets the German Emperor shortly the plans for this European conference will be drawn up in outline. This view coincides with that of Great Britain, as Premier Asquith explained in his speech on Saturday.

The authorities at Vienna take pains to point out that the military conference being held at Budapest just now are not incongruous with Austria's love of peace. They explain that plans and precautionary measures have been considered but will not be carried out unless Serbia should violate Austria's interests.

BRITISH TROOPS MOBILIZED BY ORDER OF WAR OFFICE

London Garrison Is Included in the Training Order Issued
By War Office

Aldershot, Eng., Nov. 12.—British troops at the Aldershot military camp which have been ordered to hold a practice mobilization, are virtually always on a war footing. The command is the most extensive in the British Isles, and the troops of the London garrison are attached to it.

The various arms are represented by 24 battalions of infantry, 24 batteries of horse and field artillery, 2 regiments of cavalry, engineers, army service corps, and medical corps.

Frequent mobilizations are carried out, and the whole army corps participate with the troops from other commands in the autumn manoeuvres in September.

The camp is about 35 miles from London, and the London battalions are despatched there by rail-road in case of mobilization.

C. P. R. STRIKERS ARE RETURNING TO WORK

A Settlement May Have Been Reached as the Condition Is Considered as General.

North Bay, Nov. 12.—The strike of freight clerks, freight handlers, and baggage men of the C. P. R. was terminated yesterday, when many of the strikers reported for duty and asked for their positions. It is reported here that the settlement is general all over the C. P. R. system, but on what terms, if any, is not generally known at North Bay.

The strikers reported to Assistant Superintendent Williams and asked for their positions. Most of them will be reinstated it is said, but in some cases where their positions have been filled with a promise of permanency the old men will have to wait until vacancies occur.

YOUNG MOTHER FOUND GUILTY

Finnish Girl Wept Bitterly at Story Of Her Crime
—Killed Her
Baby

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Matilda Hamilla, the Finnish woman charged with taking the life of her newly born baby, on August 22nd, was found guilty this afternoon in the Criminal Assizes, of manslaughter, with a recommendation for mercy.

Seated in the witness box in the big court room where she could hear every word, Matilda Samilla, the young Finnish woman facing a charge of murder in the Criminal Assizes, listened while her former employer, Mrs. Hallis, 6 Park place, told the story of finding the dead body of her child and of the conduct of the prisoner on the preceding day.

The unfortunate girl is only some 23 years of age, of quiet, passive appearance, with good-natured, attractive face. She wore a blue cloth coat and cheap little black cloth shoes with a tight blue silk neck cloth.

She heard the story, but did not understand the words, for she speaks scarcely a word of English, except the most general phrases. An interpreter was therefore called, who translated the questions and answers as they were given.

Pink satin, with cream lace and wore a black picture hat with plumes. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Eva Sullivan, of Toronto, who wore golden tan Panama dress and black hat with plumes.

The groom was supported by Mr. Jack Lynch. After the ceremony a reception was held, after which the happy couple left on the 8.50 train for western points. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman will reside in Peterborough.

PRESIDENT GETS $75,000 YEAR

And Enjoys Powers Greater Than Most Constitutional Monarchs

The President and Vice-President of the United States are elected for terms of four years by the State Electoral College, whose membership is based upon the Congressional apportionment. This is revised by Congress after each decennial census. The President's annual salary is $75,000, having been increased from $50,000 by the Act of March 4, 1909. In addition the Chief Executive is allowed $25,000 annually for travelling expenses. His official residence is the White House at Washington.

The President of the United States is the responsible head of the Federal Administration. Possessing important legislative powers, he enjoys a position of power and responsibility superior to that of most constitutional monarchs.

His constitutional powers include the right to make treaties, by and with the consent of the Senate, to appoint ambassadors and foreign ministers. Inasmuch as he may refuse to receive representatives of foreign powers, the President may involve the Nation in a foreign war. He negotiates all treaties with foreign states, but consent of the Senate is necessary to ratify such.

Commander-in-Chief.

The President is Commander-in-Chief of the land and naval forces of the United States, with far-reaching powers as to their disposition and control.

May Remove From Office.

The President's power of removal was recognized by the first Congress and was undisturbed until 1867, when, by the Tenure of Office Act, Congress declared the power of removal to be vested in the President and the Senate.

THE BOOTH MEMORIAL

Co-Operation of the Citizens of Peterborough Requested.

Captain Watkinson, officer in charge of the Salvation Army work in Peterborough, desires to enlist the hearty co-operation of the citizens of this city, in connection with the above scheme.

Commissioner D. M. Ross, of Toronto, who is in charge of the Salvation Army operations throughout the Dominion, is asking the East Ontario and Quebec Division of the Salvation Army to raise $50,000.00 of the $250,000.00 which is the estimated cost of the proposed memorial.

Peterborough is asked to contribute $5000.00 which we feel is a reasonable request, and no doubt the citizens will submit in a practical way their esteem and appreciation of the life and work of General William Booth, who has been the greatest world wide benefactor of humanity of the last century. Also we feel sure that the nature of the proposed memorial will appeal to all.

BRAKESMAN LOST A FOOT YESTERDAY E'N

Frank Fountain, Whist Competition
Car at G.T.R. Station, Badly Injured.

Yesterday evening about 5 o'clock, Mr. Frank Fountain, a brakeman on the G.T.R. had one of his feet smashed whilst making a coupling on the tracks near the cattle loading station near King street. It would seem that the unfortunate man whilst doing to make the coupling was riding on the cow catcher of an engine and shipped just as the engine reached the car to be coupled and the foot was caught and smashed. Belonging to Fountain was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Here Dr. Seton and Dr. Morgan were in attendance. It was found necessary to amputate the foot. The injured man at 8 o'clock was just coming out of the hospital and was reported as doing nicely.

PROFIT IN DAIRYING

A Saskatchewan Farmer Who Makes Money Out of Cows.

Mr. B. H. Thompson who farms
twelve hundred acres at Boharm Sask., has given a practical illustration in dairying, which for three years has been an important department on his farm. He has specialized in the Holstein breed, and has had the distinction of winning the Grand Challenge Prize for Saskatchewan with one of his animals this year. This achievement will help him to get a ready sale
for his fancy stock which alone promises to bring in over $2,000 this year.
The actual supplying of milk and cream for the market returns Mr.
Thompson another $2,000. In fact this year Mr. Thompson has a herd of eleven dairy cows which will earn for him through their yields of milk and cream $200 per head. This means that he will receive an income of $4, 200, which will simply be an extra because Mr. Thompson is essentially a grower of grain. His twelve hundred acres is divided as follows: 800 acres producing grain and hay; 200 acres for dairy pasture, and 200 acres in fallow. This teaches that even in the best wheat districts dairying can be made to pay very profitably.

ROBBED SOLOMON'S TEMPLE

Shelkha Who Are Accused Have Been Sent For Trial

The Shelkha of the Mosques of Omar and other officials, including an Armenian, who are accused of aiding and abetting a party of explorers in the alleged removal of priceless relics of Solomon's Temple from the hill on which the mosque stands, have been sent, under an armed escort, to Beyrout to undergo trial by a special court. The arrests are in connection with excavation work by an English syndicate, at the head of which was Captain Parker, brother of the Earl of Morley, to find the treasures of King Solomon, which were supposed to have been indicated by a cryptic message in the Talmud. Rumors that sacrilege had been committed led to a riot and the excavations were abandoned. Captain Parker's work was carried on with the approval of the Turkish Government. The Englishmen emphatically deny that anything has been taken away.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Finally, but with much reluctance, the Sultan admits that the Bulgarians are the boys who put the key in Turkey.

In bleak Ontario the best that the people can say of the month of November is that it has only thirty days.

Ten states where woman suffrage has been secured are as follows, with dates: Wyoming, 1890; Colorado, 1893; Utah and Idaho, 1896; Washington, 1912; California, Kansas, Michigan, Oregon and Arizona, 1912.

The Hon. J. R. Stratton is reported to have recently said: "Sir Wilfrid Laurier will carry the country next time, sure." When the Hon. James uttered these words he was holding his hat with both hands and looking straight at the living in the crowd.

From Mr. Bourassa's address to the McGill college students, wherein he said that Canada should do nothing for imperial defence except to develop her own resources, it must be inferred that when that nice French republic is established on the banks of the St. Lawrence it will not have any navy.

HON. MR. BURRELL'S SUCCESS

Results are already being shown, following the vigorous campaign pro-secuted by Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, during the past summer, in the interests of the sheep industry. Mr. Burrell found when he took office that this industry which has been steadily declining in Canada, had been largely neglected by the department. Little effort had been made to improve conditions or stir up interest. So rapidly has the industry been declining that there are actually less sheep in Canada today than twenty years ago, and this despite the fact that agriculture generally has made enormous strides. In 1891 the total sheep population of Canada was given as 3,048,678, in 1901 2,510,230, and in 1911 it had further declined nearly another half million to 2,106,000. Many reasons are assigned for this falling off, but at the bottom of them all is the fact that the industry was not given the encouragement it should have and no effort was ever made to improve marketing conditions.

The first thing Mr. Burrell did was to secure the co-operation of the Dominion Sheep Breeders' Association, and with their assistance a careful survey of the possibilities of sheep-raising has been made in the provinces of British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. It was found that in the Maritime provinces, where the soil and climate are particularly adapted to the growing of sheep, there was a general and admitted need of new blood to rejuvenate the stock.

The farm flocks had, as it were, "run to seed"; and in recognition of the demand it was decided that the introduction of high class breeding rams, together with a limited number of grade ewes, would meet the most urgent requirements of that part of the Dominion.

In British Columbia there appeared a definite lack of flock material, the ewe stock of the province not having increased in proportion to the demand of home-grown mutton and lamb. The markets of Victoria and Vancouver have developed in the farmers a faith in sheep raising, and their desire to increase and improve their flocks became at once evident to those in charge of the work.

In order to meet the demand, both east and west, a large number of carefully selected grade ewes and pure rams were purchased in Ontario and shipped to the four provinces during the month of September. A few Cheviot rams were purchased in the United States to meet the special requirements of the hill country in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

These sheep amounting practically to eighteen hundred head, including both rams and ewes, were sold during the current month by public auction at the following points:—British Columbia: Victoria, New Westminster and Vernon; Nova Scotia: Yarmouth, Bridgewater, Inverness, North Sydney and Truro; New Brunswick: Moncton, Sussex, St. Stephen, Fredericton and Bathurst; Prince Edward Island: Summerside, Hunter River, St. Stewart and Melville. The sales were well attended and proved very satisfactory.

In order to make the sales more effective, Mr. Burrell is arranging to carry on an educational campaign in the districts where the sheep have been sold and in other localities where the people manifest any definite interest in the industry. Arrangements have already been made for this work through Dr. S. P. Tolmie, representative of the live stock branch in British Columbia, and through the appointment of James A. Telfer to act as an instructor in sheep breeding and management in the Maritime Provinces.

TURKS NOT NUMEROUS

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—We have noticed in your paper the last few weeks, and also other Canadian papers, account of the treatment the Christians are receiving at the hands of the Turks during the Turkish and Bulgarian war, which the Turks in this country do not believe is true, and is very much misrepresented.

The real Turk religion is Mohammed and the Koran, and we are not taught to kill women and children as has been stated lately, and we would like to have you correct the matter through your paper. In the first place the different foreign consuls in Turkey would not allow these things to go on without interfering. In this country at the present time there are hundreds of Turks who, at the best of my knowledge, not one of them has been charged with murder, and I think you cannot find any other foreign nationalities who have as good record.

PRESIDENT GETS $75,000 A YEAR

ate. Since 1887, when the Act was repealed, the power has not been questioned. This through his control of office, the President has obtained the extra-legal position of head of the party to which he owes his election.

Though the President's power of direction over the executive departments was not clearly recognized by the early Congress, President Jackson, in his struggle with the United States Bank, through successive removals of Secretaries of the Treasury, who refused to advocate his policy, definitely established this control over the various executive departments. General control over the administration is exercised through the issuance of ordinances of executive regulations.

The Power of Veto.

The constitutional prerogatives of the President are the veto power; the power to lay before Congress communications relative to the state of the nation and to recommend such legislation as he may deem expedient; and the power to summon Congress in extraordinary session and to adjourn it in case the two houses fail to agree upon a date of adjournment.

When Appetite Fails And Digestion is Bad

There is Danger Ahead for the Man That Neglects Nature's Warnings

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious, and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What a hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made me a new man. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidence of health and vigor. I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly convalescent man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterum are purely vegetable—35c per box, 5 boxes for $1.50, all drug stores and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Cataract Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

by Congress, except a motion of adjournment, must be submitted for the President's approval. Failing to receive such, a two-thirds vote is necessary for enactment.

The President has full power to grant pardon, reprieve or commutation of sentence for offences against the United States except in cases of crimes punished by impeachment.

Cannot be Arrested.

No court or magistrate has jurisdiction over the President's person. He cannot be placed under arrest for any cause whatever, but is subject to impeachment by the Senate for treason or other high crimes or misdemeanors. Upon the expiration of his term of office, he becomes liable for wrongful acts committed while in office.

Forty-two Years Residence.

Constitutional qualifications for the Presidency are citizenship acquired by American birth, fourteen years' residence in the United States and an age of not less than thirty-five years.

Vice-President a Militiaman.

In case of death, impeachment, resignation or disability preventing the exercise of his duties, the office of President devolves upon the Vice-President. His salary is $12,000 per annum.

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES CANADIAN PEACHES

Large Increase in Shipments—Recent Export by Department of Trade and Commerce Gives One More Example of Value of British Market.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—One more illustration of the great and increasing value of the British market to Canada is given in peach export figures for the past season. The practicability of shipping Canadian peaches to England was first tested by the Department of Trade and Commerce in 1910. The experiment proved successful and succeeding shipments have found a ready market. This year the weather conditions were regarded as unfavourable and peach exporters were in some doubt as to the likelihood of the Canadian peaches reaching the British market in good condition. The results have, however, been most satisfactory, and prospects are good for a very large trade with Great Britain in Canadian peaches in the future.

The peach shipments for the past three seasons were as follows, showing a notable increase for the present year:—

1910—3,743 single layer cases.
1911—3,934 single layer cases.
1912—8,443 single layer cases.

NEW HARBOR AT HALIFAX

Eastern Gateway to Share in Larger Plan for Development of Canada's Ocean Ports—Fine Ocean And Rail Terminals

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The announcement of the Government's intention to commence at an early date extensive terminal and harbour improvements at Halifax, is of importance to all Canada. It is a notable step in the working out of a policy of national trade development.

The Government realizes that if Canada's median channels for the benefit of Canadian channels for the benefit of Canadian commerce, the great seaports of the Dominion must be so equipped as to provide ample and safe accommodation for the largest ocean-going ships and the expeditious handling of cargoes. It is this realization which has prompted the Borden Government to embark upon the gigantic task of extending the harbour facilities of both coasts. Contracts have already been let for important works on the Pacific coast; provision is being made on a generous scale for the harbor needs of Montreal and Quebec. The same is true of St. John, and the climax of the general scheme is now being reached in the comprehensive plan for the creation of a great still water harbor at Halifax, with ample ocean and railroad terminals.

Over Mile of Docks.

The Halifax scheme, as outlined by the Minister of Railways, Hon. Frank Cochrane, is as follows:—

"Docks are to extend for one and a half miles from the Lumber Yard to Point Pleasant Park, and will consist of six piers, 1,250 feet long and 500 feet in width, with capacity sufficient to dock at least thirty ships. There will be one bulk-head loading pier 2,000 feet in length, at which the ocean greyhounds will land. This pier will be equipped with immigration building, sheds and a grain elevator.

New Union Station.

A new Union passenger station will be erected at the end of Hollis street which will be of ample size and suitable architecture. These terminals will be approached by a double tracked railroad, which will branch off the main line at the Three Mile House and extend southerly through the low divide between Bedford Basin and the head of the North-West Arm. It will then skirt the Arm in such location as will do the least damage to property in that vicinity, avoiding all level crossings, and, for the most part, passing through deep cuttings, so as not to mar the beauty of that district, and, finally, reaching the terminals by passing under the lower end of Young Avenue.

Ample Tracks.

The street in the residential district, where the railway is submerged, will be carried over the cutting on artistic bridges in keeping with the present surroundings. At the terminal ample tracks will be provided for the economical handling of business for the wharves and Union Station; also proper facilities for the housing of engines and the care of passenger cars."

Carefully Matured.

This scheme is the splendid result of months of careful consideration and study by the Government at Ottawa, based upon the reports of expert engineers who have gone thoroughly over the ground. The plan as outlined has been enthusiastically received and endorsed by the business men of Halifax, irrespective of politics. Leading Nova Scotia Liberals recognize the national importance of the work as well as the enormous local advantage to be derived from it. The Government is undertaking the work only after a most thorough examination and study by its experts.

This is a Want Ad Town

nd There Are a Lot of Important Things That cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

THE PUBLIC TO BLAME

Specialization Not the Whole Reason for the British Olympic Team's Poor Showing

The British Olympic Council in a preliminary report attributed the failure of the British representatives at Stockholm, in a great measure to the specialty of the British public.

The report stated that "our failure to obtain better results at Stockholm was due, first, to the failure of the general public of the United Kingdom to take the Olympic Games seriously."

The failure which necessarily resulted in the enthusiasm of individual competitors—and, secondly, to the lack of adequate opportunities for training under the direction of trainers acquainted with the best scientific methods.

"To supply this lack a very large expenditure would have been necessary, and there were no funds from which this expenditure could be met."

"The United Kingdom is to be adequately represented at Berlin money must be found for such an expenditure, and, if the British public is not willing to provide this money, the British Olympic Council must decline to be responsible for sending out a team."

"It was not mere 'specialization' which enabled Sweden and the United States to do better than the British Empire. Sweden won all three places in the modern pentathlon, and obtained more points than any other nation in the whole games, by sedulously cultivating every form of physical ability possessed by her inhabitants, and her strength and capacity as a nation have been enormously increased in the process."

"She has already engaged a trainer for 1916. A greater attention to detail on the part of this country for the next four years is hardly likely to diminish these national advantages which we already enjoy, and will certainly enable us to give a better account of the athletic ability of the British Empire in Berlin than we were able to do in Sweden."

A CHILD PIANIST

Remarkable Work of a Lad Eight Years of Age

"Solomon," who gave a pianoforte recital at the Queen's Hall, London, does not boast a beard, neither does he wear spectacles, for he is only eight years old, and, for his age, he is perhaps the greatest pianist in the world.

His father, who is a tailor in White-chapel, had a cheap piano, and at this instrument the child would sit for hours playing. Nothing could disturb him. The board school which he attended had a display one day, and "Solomon" played the marches for the children. Those who heard him were so captivated that they took the boy to the home. Mathilde School of Music, which he still attends.

When he first played on a grand piano, Mrs. Mathilde said "Solomon" was a sight to behold. He waved his arms quite in the Beethoven style, and though he had never before seen pedals (his father's piano had none), he drew cries of astonishment from his onlookers.

The child talks, dreams and thinks piano, and his parents and friends look upon him as one of the seven wonders of the age. Incidentally, he is composing an opera!

A VICTORY FOR MIXED FARMING

Alberta farmers who have not made the popular western mistake of putting grain raising to the exclusion of other valuable farm enterprises, are rejoicing this year. Live stock in the Prairie Provinces came through last winter in excellent shape, and the milk yield on the new pastures in the pink of condition. The average loss in bringing the sheep through the winter in Alberta is usually about 1 percent. Last winter it was only about 1 per cent, and the difference means quite a saving in dollars and cents, taking the combined flocks of the Province at about 65,000. These farmers who had frozen wheat, for which the market only offered 40c, brought up hogs to turn the low-priced feed into high-priced pork. They are learning that live stock is the greatest asset of a prairie farm.

OUR PULPWOOD

Sufficient Cut Yearly to Keep One Hundred and Twenty Mills Going

Fifty-six per cent of the pulpwood cut in Canada during the year 1911 was exported to the United States. This is the fact shown by statistics collected by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior.

The total quantity of pulpwood cut in Canada during 1911 was 1,650,237 cords. The quantity exported amounted to 847,929 cords, while the remaining forty-four per cent (732,308 cords) was manufactured in Canada.

The value of this pulpwood was $5,540,592 (an average of $4.39 per cord.) Had the wood been retained in Canada and manufactured here, it is estimated that the value would have been increased to about $18,000,000.

Had Canada manufactured into wood-pulp all the pulpwood she produced, she could have had enough to supply a hundred and twenty-two mills of the average size of those operating in Canada, instead of the fifty-four she now has. Quebec could have supplied sixty per cent more mills than she is now doing, and New Brunswick could have doubled the number of her mills.

The seriousness of the food supply problem of the prairie provinces is being rapidly realized by wide awake citizens. Recently a conference composed of leading railway men, meat packers, representative farmers, and officials of the Provincial Governments was held at Winnipeg to devise ways and means to save the West from an impending meat famine. The moral is that western farmers must devote more attention to mixed farming if there is to be any permanent improvement in the situation. Referring to this the Toronto Globe says:

"The moral for the Canadian farmer is that he should consider the practicability of increasing his production of beef and thus take advantage of a market that is becoming increasingly profitable. There is no danger of glutting the market if the farmers will only by wise breeding and careful feeding keep up the quality of the animals they rear for food consumption. In Ontario there are many farmers who would find this sort of industry a good way to lessen their perplexity over the scarcity of labor, and to help prove at the same time the quality of their farms. There are great undeveloped areas in this Province not adapted for general farming, but admirably adapted for ranching and raising cattle. Many Western grain-growers, who increase the necessity of mixed farming to preserve their farms from sterility, could usefully resort to beef products as a means of accomplishing the desired result. And the Canadian consumer is quite as much interested in the problem as the Canadian farmer."

Without a plentiful supply of meat at reasonable prices it will be difficult to develop factories in Western Canada.

FACTORY AND FARM

Together They Build up the Ideal Home Market

No better example of the interdependence of the manufacturing and agricultural interests is required than Ontario. It is not necessary to go into the enormous industrial expansion in the province in the last two years. This is everywhere evident. But what of the farm? The field crops of Ontario last year were valued at $250,000,000 or an average of $1,000 from each of the 100,000 farms. Five years ago, the value of Ontario's agricultural output was placed at 145 millions, and ten years ago it was not more than a hundred millions. The number of farms to share in that one hundred millions was larger than that now, so that the average income of each farm was considerably less than $1,000. In fact, the average income in 1901 was about $600, according to calculations made from statistics published by the Department of Agriculture. This means that the Ontario farm of today is giving its owner, returns that are at least 160 per cent greater than they were in 1901. The growing value of the output of the farms can only result in one thing, and that is the increased value of the land. Thus, the latest records of the assessment of the rural areas show that the farm lands of Ontario are worth over $100,000,000 more than in the first years of the last decade. To make the comparison still more striking, the assessed rural land of Ontario is worth $10 an acre more than in 1901, and another significant fact is that the area of these lands has extended in the last ten years fully 1,500,000 acres, showing that farming is actually becoming a more widely followed pursuit in Ontario.

What is true of Ontario also applies to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and other provinces. The greatest prosperity is where a fertile farming district is tributary to a good factory town. The one helps the other. The best market for the local farmer is the home market and the best produce for the citizen is from the nearby farms and gardens.

of His Experiments

Mr. Spencer C. Russell, at a meeting of the Royal Meteorological Society, London, described how he obtained records of the actual size of raindrops. He said the experiments had led him to conclude that the most satisfactory results were given by the use of plaster of paris or fine floor placed in a shallow tray to a depth of 1/4 inch. Raindrops during six thunderstorms had been registered, yielding a total of 164 drops divided up into the following sizes: Twenty-five of 5 millimetres, 46 of 4 millimetres, 46 of 3 millimetres, 45 of 2 millimetres, and 15 of 1 millimetre. The largest drops occurred at the commencement of the storm, grading off as the storm progressed. Before a fall of hail a marked increase in drop size was apparent. During the drops collected, independent of rain type, he arrived at the following distribution in size: Two hundred and fifty-seven of 3 millimetres, 223 of 2 millimetres, 119 of 1 millimetre, 197 less than 1 millimetre, 4 of 4 millimetres, 44 of 3 millimetres, and 7 of 2 millimetres.

Ideal of the Stockyards Reaping a Golden Harvest—Makes Easy Living

Packey McFarland certainly must be given credit for his business acumen; while the other boxers have been dicker and waging over matches the clever Chicago boy has been quietly making hay while the sun shines. He is always in condition and seldom has to work hard in preparation for a contest.

McFarland is one of those fellows who always believes in taking care of himself. He is in the boxing game for the sole reason that he can make a better living at it than anything else and naturally he has been successful at it. He has been successful by almost everyone connected with the sport.

True, Packey does not engage in championship contests every week. But he is always open to box anyone in the world of his weight—providing the financial returns are suitable to him. In the meantime he goes around the country taking good care of himself, boxing duels and top-notchers alike—they all look alike to him—always adding to his bank roll. He is a close rival to Battling Nelson in the way of getting money—and doesn't have to take the grueling that was Nelson's lot.

The chances are that if Packey weighed a few pounds less—that is, if he could make 135 pounds ringside—he would walk away with the lightweight championship. About eight years ago Packey was working for a big horse dealer, who used to conduct auction sales every Thursday. It was while one of these sales was in progress that McFarland got his start in the boxing game.

There are all kinds of people who attend the auctions and among them are many bullies. Three of these afore-said bullies started to subject Packey to their jokes one day and as a result they found themselves possessed of badly battered countenances. Thereafter, at the auction sales they did not bother the little curly-haired kid with the iron fists.

Packey started his career as a lumberjack, but he sacrificed his punching power to become boxer. McFarland, early in his career, saw the possibilities of a promising career for a boxer. He set out by himself practice to attain these ends. Therefore, he had to forsake the punch.

NEW TRAINING SCHEME

McGill's Rugby Players Under One Roof Under Coach's Personal Eye

McGill University is contributing the New Idea to football training this season. The boys will live together under the same roof and be at all times under the watchful eyes of coach and captain.

In the past the men have been accustomed to feed together at a training table, but now they are to try out the happy family idea. The premises secured consist of the old Law house on the Molson property which was given to McGill University by Sir William Macdonald. Some twenty-four boys will room in the house. Others will also take their meals at the training table which will be run by an upper cozier.

It is the hope of Coach Frank Shaughnessy that the players will benefit greatly from the "living-in" system. They will be right under the eyes of those who are looking after them. Coach Shaughnessy has some radical ideas and he is going to have the full support of Captain Lee. The new coach has an agreement that he will have absolute control of the men. What he says has to go or the men will have to go. Smoking is one of the things on the table list, and back talk or even mild criticism on the field must not be indulged in by the players. Suggestions can come of the evening chat talk. These chat talks will replace the old signal practice.

Fields Are Not Nearly Exhausted

The rosy prospects, indeed, the almost wonderful success, of the diamond fields in German South-West Africa in the early days of their exploitation some five or six years ago, are gradually losing their magic hue, and the success of the fields is becoming more questionable. The reason is that the surface of the diamond region, which previously supplied large quantities of the gems, have practically been cleared of their rich harvest, and deeper mining, with its attendant greater costs, must be resorted to. The Colonial Mining Company, which in its infancy paid the magnificent dividend of 3,500 per cent. on a capital of about $1,000,000, has long ago come down to less factitious figures. The Kolmanzop Society, which paid 65 per cent. in its first year and 45 per cent. in its second, now announces a dividend for the half year of 15 per cent. The German Diamond Society paid 10 per cent. last year and 5 per cent. this, while the Combined Companies paid no dividend last year. In addition to the need of costlier methods of production is noted a shortage of labor and a high export tax of 33 1/3 of the gross value. For all this, writers on the subject do not consider that the diamond supply is near exhaustion.

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY

J. W. Mitchell, of Manitoba Agriculture College refers to the dairy branch of farm work as a manufacturing industry, declaring the full financial returns were to be obtained from it the work must be done on business principles. Good cows must be first obtained, for a poor dairy cow was an unprofitable investment. A good dairy cow would yield about 6,000 pounds of milk in a year, after testing the yield of over 235 herds throughout Manitoba. However, Prof. Mitchell declared that the average was only 2,500 lbs. It was much more profitable to have only 6 cows to keep and care for than 12 poor ones, and a good cow would yield as much as 12 poor ones.

CINEMATOGRAPH IN WAR.Lloyds Increases Operators' Rates
More Than Sixfold.

With the outbreak of hostilities in the Balkans Lloyds' insurance rates on cinematograph operators proceeding to the front went up from eight guineas to fifty guineas per cent. There was considerable excitement over this practically new industry as a war risk, both at Lloyds and amongst the film service firms in Charing Cross road and Long-acre that are sending operators out on the dangerous work of securing pictures of the fighting in the Near East.

Over fifty men have already left London for their perilous work, and those added to the Continental operators already on the spot, are being covered by their employers against the risk of death by "accident." The premium to be embraced by the premium paid for this insurance is the most six months.

A Thrilling Adventure.

A graphic account of a fatal accident which befell the Bullock Workman expedition in the Himalayas is given in the following despatch sent by Mrs. Bullock Workman to Skardu (Cashmere) by a native runner, and just received by Frederick Burlingham.

"On the crossing of the Bilgah pass, at about 18,000 feet, Mrs. Bullock Workman and an Italian porter named Chenes, who had been with her on her Himalayan expedition, left the caravan in order that Dr. Hunter Workman might take a photo of them from a picturesque standpoint. After the picture was taken, Chenes, who was carrying the rope and his rock-sack stride ahead, taking another route to join the caravan. Mrs. Bullock Workman followed him at about three steps, when suddenly he disappeared from view, carrying with him the rope, and thus preventing his own immediate rescue.

"Mrs. Workman was left standing appalled on the brink of a blue hole in the ice. She called to the other who hurried to the spot. A guide called down into the crevasse, and a faint reply came from Chenes far below that he was still alive.

Sims and Tools.

Mr. Sims Reeves told this story in his Reminiscences:

I was at a party, the party of Tom Tag in company with my excellent friend Tools, who was also a member of the cast. In "The Waterman," a word or two of gag is held to be permissible, and, partly to amuse the audience, partly to establish my excellent fellow-actor, I said to him in a certain scene, in reply to his question:

What Tommy Atkins' Eat.

Man does not live by bread alone, nor does the soldier, for he is allowed 34 pound of meat per day (1 pound if having abroad) in addition to his daily pound of bread, which scale, by the way, was fixed as far back as 1776. The big garrisons, therefore, also have their abattoirs; and at Aldershot, alone from 15,000 to 16,000 pounds of meat are cut up and distributed daily to be transformed into soldier-meat. As a rule beef and mutton alternate, and within recent years the Government has effected a saving of £20,000 by getting cattle from abroad for the troops in lieu of the home-bred animal.

Lamb's Little Joke.

S. L. Benusuan, the eminent London journalist, has just handed out a new joke by Charles Lamb. It occurs in the brief biography of the gentle Elihu by Mr. Benusuan, published in the Pilgrim series.

It seems that the forbears of the writer were at one time merchants dealing in business with the East India House, now remembered because it was the scene of the business career of Lamb. It was Lamb's custom when writing to these people to address them, as follows: Benusuan & Co., Sir, and Madam.

THIS new serial story we are about to run is a bit of Down-East fiction with the chief character one of the brightest and best of women—one who had survived the wreck of her own happiness to be strengthened for helping others to hold theirs. She is housekeeper for the town minister, and is a shrewd, nimble witted and generous member of society. She has much to do in directing the trying love affair between the pastor and a member of another "fold," and the development of story is

Large Hats at Theatres

Herr von Jagow, Berlin's police president, thrives on unpopularities, so the cyclone of indignation now sweeping over his head as a result of his ban on big hats in theatres will doubtless leave him unmoved. The paragon of Anglophobes convulsing the Fatherland has not been diminished by the statement that Herr von Jagow was inspired to issue his decree by impressions gathered in London, where he was struck by the elegant appearance of hatless ladies in theatres. The theatre managers, who are to be held responsible for violations of Herr von Jagow's edicts, and fined 25 for each breach, are no less upset than their lady patrons. Berlin ladies sit in theatre boxes largely for the purpose of displaying ornate millinery effects. A firm of fashionable designers especially to overcome the police president's decree. It is a flimsy thing of satin, jewels and spangles, embellished with a rakish egret or two. It has been named the "Jagow cap," and forthcoming "first nights" are to witness its debut.

SLAPPED HIS FACE

"All's well that ends well," and the frustrated duel between the most famous champion of Teutonia, Mlle. Arrie Ly, and her male antagonist, M. Massani, did not come off, because the two antagonists have been reconciled at the police station.

The reconciliation, however, was not sealed without a hair-pulling process. M. Massani organized a meeting at which he was to speak and give his views on feminism. Mlle. Arrie Ly broke into the meeting, and, while a lady was speaking, she got on the platform and slapped M. Massani. There was, of course, the usual excitement, and all the belligerents were marched off to the police-station, where, after M. Massani had explained that he was making no personal attacks on Mlle. Arrie Ly, but only on her theories, Mlle. Ly was soothed and shook hands with him.

HYDROPHOBIA IN POLAND

An epidemic of hydrophobia has broken out in the industrial district of Russian Poland. In the town of Slonow alone fifty-two persons have been bitten by mad dogs. Recently fifty persons, bitten by infected animals, were brought from the town of Sosnowice for treatment at the Warsaw Pasteur Institute. At Slonowice a girl, bitten by a dog, died of hydrophobia, and in her death agonies hit her mother and several other persons who approached her.

CABLEGRAM TO THE BRITISH RESERVISTS NOW IN CANADA

Major Collins Says Word Has Been Sent Out—Winnipeg
Also Receives Notice

Winnipeg, Nov. 13.—The Telegram says it has become known that reserve men of the British army residing in Winnipeg, to the number of supposedly nearly two hundred, have received notices to hold themselves in readiness for the call to muster. It is reported that the summons has gone out throughout the Empire.

At Fort Osborne, the headquarters of the Winnipeg garrison, it was stated nothing was known of any notices to men in the British Army Reserve to hold themselves in readiness, and little credence is placed in the rumor. The Telegram says that as the men notified received personal instructions in the nature of a confidential order, it is easily understood that no official statement from the military authorities could well be forthcoming, and the sudden departure of the reservists at any time need cause no surprise.

Major Collins said yesterday that there was more than 5,000 British army reservists in Canada, and between 2,000 and 3,000 of them in Toronto.

He also stated that a cable had been received in the city yesterday notifying the reserve men to be in readiness for muster; but he was not at liberty to divulge by whom the cablegram was received.

Confirmation of a muster call for the reservists could not be elicited from the authorities at Military headquarters. "No such official cablegram" has been received here, they said.

CALLED ASQUITH A "TRAITOR" AND WAS ORDERED FROM HOUSE

London, Nov. 13.—The hopes of the Unionists in connection with the Home Rule Bill were destroyed by the Speaker of the House of Commons to-day.

The Unionists desired the Speaker to declare out of order Premier Asquith's motion to rescind the decision of the Committee of the House which amended the Home Rule Bill and defeated the Government on Monday.

Speaker James Lowther said the Premier's motion was unprecedented but was quite in order.

The Premier then submitted his motion, and in support of it said it

GIRL ON TRAIN SHOT MOTHER

Were On Way to New York
For Wedding Gifts

Trouton, N. J., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Elizabeth Meyers is dead in St. Francis Hospital, and her daughter, Miss Gladys Meyers, is being detained by the police authorities as a result of a tragic shooting early to-day on a Pennsylvania railway near this city.

W. R. Outburt, of Lynchburg, Va., also a passenger on the train, is being held with Miss Meyers at police headquarters, pending an investigation.

The Meyers home is at Greensburg, Pa., and the mother and daughter were en route to New York to purchase a wedding gown for the daughter, and gifts for her brother. The brother and sister had planned to have a double wedding next June in Salem, Va., the brother's home.

The two women were in route from the Pennsylvania city to New York, and occupied berths in a sleeping car. After the train had passed Bristol, Pa., Miss Meyers, according to her own story, as told to the police, was awakened from a deep slumber and took her mother for a burglar. She fired her revolver, and the bullet entering the older woman's breast. When the train reached this city the wounded woman was rushed to the hospital. She died soon afterwards without regaining consciousness.

When asked about the shooting the girl could only wring her hands, and say that it was all a horrible mistake. "I was asleep and awakened suddenly

ELOQUENT ADDRESS BY A RETURNED MISSIONARY

Rev. R. B. McAmmond Speaks at District Convention in George Street Church.

There was a good attendance at the district convention of the Methodist church, held in the George street church. Rev. R. B. McAmmond, a returned missionary gave a forcible and descriptive talk on conditions in West China. The reverend gentleman threw a great deal of new information on the causes leading up to the last rebellion and its results. His facts were based upon actual experience during the trouble. In the course of his eloquent and really oratorical address, Mr. McAmmond noted important and permanent changes wrought in the old time customs of former followers of Confucius by the influence of his church. Two instances these changes were the permanent abolition of the former binding of the feet of Chinese women. He instanced a converted Mandarin or Governor, who, finding a woman adhering to the old system, ordered three hundred blows on her back with a bamboo. This whilst neither instigated nor countenanced by the missionaries, had the effect of stopping effectively this barbarous custom in his district. Another evil stopped by Christian influence was the suppression of opium growing. The reverend said that the farmers of his district grow poppies. They were warned by the Government to stop the planting of this deadly (to the Chinese) flower. The farmers, the first year had their poppies uprooted. The same second year. When the third year rolled along, one farmer persisted in raising poppies. The governor simply had his head cut off and planted in his poppy field.

Rev. Isaac Couch very ably filled the chair last night and in a well-worded address, introduced the speaker of the evening.

Lindsay Post: Among the Peterborough people to Lindsay Monday were noticed Messrs. John McCabe, J. H. Green, Chas. Robertson, and H. Hair.

PROMINENT WOMEN ALL OVER THE COUNTRY AID IN WORK TO INCREASE CONTRIBUTIONS FOR WOMAN'S TITANIC MEMORIAL FUND

The work of raising the $100,000 fund for the Woman's Titanic Memorial to be built for those who lost their lives aboard the Titanic is being pushed rapidly ahead. The dollar contributions are being constantly received from all parts of the world, and both poor and wealthy have added to the sum already received. The first dollar was given by Mrs. Taft. Here are shown some of the active women who are working to increase the present fund.

HON. MR. ROCHE KEPT BUSY

New Minister of the Interior is Finding Out For Self Just What Department Should Do

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Hon. Mr. Roche, the new minister of the Interior is perhaps one of the busiest of the Cabinet Ministers of these days. Although a western man, and because of his being quite familiar with general matters which come under the jurisdiction of his department, Dr. Roche is not satisfied to rest upon his present knowledge, and is setting about to master new details and work out new problems of immigration. He has just returned from a trip to the province of Quebec, where he inspected the system and facilities for taking care of immigrants arriving at Quebec and Montreal. It is understood that the Hon. Robert Rogers, while in the Interior, had under consideration a number of important reforms in connection with immigration, and these are being carried to completion by Dr. Roche, and will likely come up for discussion in the House this session.

Another Port Hope Accident.

Port Hope certainly seems ambitious for a distinctive title and presumably "The Accident Town," as hardly a day lately passes by without the press of that pretty little burg recording some mishap where by life or limb is destroyed. The latest accident recorded is that of Dennis McCarthy, who was working on a farm on the Cobourg Road and who fell twenty feet into a silo. He was painfully injured.

LOCAL OPTION IN NORTH MONAGHAN

Council Will Submit By-law at Municipal Elections in January.

The people of North Monaghan will have an opportunity of voting on local option in January, notwithstanding the fact that no liquor licenses are in existence in the municipality, or has there been for a period of 29 years.

A strong deputation appeared before the township council favoring the submission of a local option by-law, which was agreed to by the council. The deputation was introduced by Mr. John Brown ex-reeve. Rev. Mr. White, of Fraserburg, who appeared for Rev. Dr. Marsh (who was unable to be present on account of the death of his father), in a brief address stated amongst other things that one of the main objects was to increase the dry area in the Province. Should local option pass in Peterborough it would prove of great advantage to have it also in force in North Monaghan.

Mr. John McIntosh, ex-reeve, of North Monaghan also supported the request that a by-law be submitted to the ratepayers, and said that although the municipality was without a hotel license for 29 years, he favored passing a by-law.

Mr. H. B. Cowan, President of the Peterborough Local Option Association, made a strong appeal in favor of the by-law, and pointed out the fact that local option law would afford more adequate means of punishment and thus prevent intoxication.

Mr. Joseph Madill, ex-reeve, heartily agreed with the remarks of the previous speakers.

Mr. John Brown, on behalf of the deputation, thanked the council for the reception which had been given them.

Mr. W. G. Howden, reeve, in reply said that the council was heartily in sympathy with the proposal, and promised to have a by-law submitted to the vote of the ratepayers in January.

ST. JAMES' CHORAL SOCIETY

Growth is essential to the life and usefulness of a church. St. James Church is a growing church, as is evidenced in many ways. It is growing not only in the numbers who worship there, but also in the scope of its work. A Choral Society has recently been formed and promises to be very successful. Anyone who has a voice and would like to receive a thorough musical training cannot do better than join the Choral Society. Those also who wish to learn and master the art of singing by note will find this Choral Society to be just what they need. There is a class for beginners and all are invited to join, and as the tuition given is thorough and the fees are low many are availing themselves of this really splendid chance to obtain a sound musical proficiency. Meetings every Tuesday night at St. James Church. Mr. Green is the leader.

BURIED WITH MASONIC ORDERS

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. Charles H. Hindley, who, as previously noted, died in Nichols hospital, was held from the Masonic Hall under auspices of that body. The pall bearers were Messrs. Bro. Robt. Fair, John Crans, Walter Stocker, and A. Dendson, of Peterborough Lodge; F. D. Kerr, of Corinthian Lodge, and T. Ellsbury, of Caledonia Lodge, Manchester, who is connected with the same firm as the deceased. Rev. Jas. Price, late of Manchester, led the religious service and the services of the Order were conducted by Worshipful Master Dendson and Kerr. There was a good representation of the Commercial Travellers and business men who knew and respected the deceased. The floral offerings included designs from the A. F. and A. M., Sons of England, St. George's Society, Robt. Fair & Co. and staff and Miss Lundy.

RUSSIA DECLARES AGAINST WAR IN SUPPORT OF SERVIANS

Russian Foreign Minister Tells Servian Minister of His Country's Attitude—First Saw German Ambassador—Russian Papers are Furious—Premier Predicts
a Compromise

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—Russia does not intend to go to war over the question of Serbia obtaining a port on the Adriatic Sea, according to Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian Foreign Minister.

M. Sazonoff informed M. Popovitch, the Servian Minister here, that this decision had been reached as the result of conversations between the German Ambassador to Russia and himself.

The Novoe Vremya and other newspapers denounce the Russian Government's policy as one of vacillation and surrender.

Premier Kokovoff expressed the opinion to-day that the dispute between Serbia and Austria would be settled by compromise.

Russian Student Killed by Germans.

Darmstadt, Germany, Nov. 13.—A fatal riot between groups of German and Russian students of the Technical University here occurred in the early morning hours of to-day. One Russian student was killed by a stab in the temple, while a number of German and Russian students were wounded with pistol shots. One of the Germans being dangerously injured.

Will Not Give Friendly Support.

Vienna, Austria, Nov. 13.—A significant despatch from St. Petersburg is published to-day in the Neues Wiener Tagblatt.

It says: "The attitude of official circles in St. Petersburg in their judgment of Austro-Servian relations has undergone a radical change. Foreign Minister Sazonoff has given the Servian Minister to Russia to understand that Russia will take no direct part in the question of a port on the Adriatic, but will leave it to be settled by negotiations between Austria and Serbia, in regard to which Russia is willing to give Servia friendly support, while avoiding any tension of Austro-Russian relations."

The Bulgarian Government has, so far, not shown itself favorable to the idea of entering Constantinople. M. Natchovitch, former Bulgarian Foreign Minister, says Bulgaria wants to have Constantinople and Salonika made free cities. The Bulgarian army, he continued, would halt before Constantinople, and leave the fate of the Turkish capital to the decision of the powers.

GOVERNMENT IS HIT HARD BY THE UNIONIST ROCK

Asquith Has Lost Prestige In Country By Defeat on Home Rule Cause—To Resign in the Spring

New York, Nov. 13.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: The Government is evading the immediate consequences of its defeat in the House of Commons by deciding to remain in office, but the ulterior consequences are not to be so easily disposed of.

From the start the session has been overloaded. Never before has the mother of Parliaments been asked to deal in one session with three measures of such paramount importance as the Irish Home Rule Bill, the Welsh Disestablishment Bill and the Franchise Reform. Enthusiastic supporters of the Government long ago admitted that it would be possible to pass these three schemes only by working Parliamentary machine continuously at high pressure.

Guiltless Out of Order.

The Ministry, being well aware of this fact, drew up a "guiltless timetable" for the Home Rule Bill, and made to bear the crack of the whip. The question now arises, will any Ministerial cargo have to be jettisoned in order to lighten the heavily laden ship, which is seriously damaged after striking a Unionist rock in the stormy Irish Sea last Monday.

The Government has lost prestige in the country but it can still muster a big majority in the House of Commons when slack followers are made to bear the crack of the whip. The question now arises, will any Ministerial cargo have to be jettisoned in order to lighten the heavily laden ship, which is seriously damaged after striking a Unionist rock in the stormy Irish Sea last Monday.

PEACE NEARER LONDON HEARS

Great Powers Move in Harmony—Hopeful of Settlement

London, Nov. 13.—A much more hopeful feeling prevails to-day in regard to the international situation created by the Balkan war. It is still full of difficulties, but the attitude of all the powers in working for a peaceful settlement will, it is believed result in avoiding a conflict.

Serbia, however, has not yet replied to the Austro-Hungarian suggestion that a Servian occupation of Albanian territory or of a port on the Adriatic Sea will not be tolerated. At the same time a Servian army continues its march toward the Adriatic coast, and in one report from Belgrade is said actually to have reached Durazzo.

POPULAR BANKER BACK FROM WESTERN TRIP

Mr. G. C. Wainwright, Manager of Ottawa Bank, Tells His Views to the Times.

Mr. G. C. Wainwright, Manager of the Bank of Ottawa, has just returned from a trip through the West extending over a month, during which time he visited most of the important cities and towns along the line of the C.P.R.

In conversation with a Times' reporter, Mr. Wainwright stated he found business booming and a general air of optimism prevailing. He was much impressed with the rapid growth of the cities and with the class of buildings being erected. Merchants and Bankers are "boosters" for their respective cities and are anxious that all visitors should be favorably impressed.

In most localities the farmers were through with threshing and were busily engaged in drawing the grain to the elevators.

Although late in the season, the trains and hotels were crowded and it is difficult to get accommodation in some cases $6,000 a foot-pace being paid.

MONEY IN BASEBALL

Dickering in Big League Franchises Is a Millionaire's Game

Baseball franchises, especially in the big leagues, are paying investments. The luck of the game and the weather have a lot to do with the profits, but no matter what, somehow or other, one rarely sees a franchise on the market.

A peep at the "price list" of the major league clubs, fairly startling. One, The New York National League franchise, for instance, could not be purchased for $2,000,000. It is estimated that the Giants in a good year, make $250,000. Figured on a ten per cent. profit basis for a sporting proposition, the club would be valued at $2,500,000.

There are only two other cities in the National League where the franchise prices sum up into the millions. One is Chicago and the other is Pittsburgh. Both the Cubs and the Pirates play to enormous patronage and their holdings are about of equal value to those of the Giants. The franchise of the other five clubs are held well up in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

American League franchises are very valuable. Boston in the American circuit, is a big winner, and so are Chicago, Philadelphia, Cleveland and New York.

In the International League, Toronto is about the best proposition, and the Leafs' franchise is probably worth $150,000 if it could be purchased at all.

400,000 PILGRIMS SEEK HEALING

Many Bavarians Throng to the Alt Otting Shrine

The fame of the wonder-working Lourdes, although it attracts thousands of German Catholics who are in a position to afford the outlay necessary to reach the supposedly miraculous healing waters, has not reached the poorer inhabitants of the Bavarian highlands. These people, however, have a holy shrine at Alt-Otting, which for them has no equal as a source of health, and whither they make a pilgrimage every year, accompanied by their half lame, and sick, in the hope that a wonder may be worked for them. This year the pilgrims have numbered no fewer than 400,000, and among them, although perhaps not in search of miracles, were several princes and princesses of the Bavarian Royal family. The place has been a resort of pilgrims since the sixteenth century, when the picture of the Holy Virgin, which is said to possess the power of miracle, was brought there from the Orient.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness and some men publish newspapers in order to thrust greatness upon them.

The thrifty Peterborough coal men are preparing to "relieve" the coal shortage by the easy process of a grain raising the price of what there is in stock.

A Toronto paper expresses some doubt as to whether the Nationalist infant will long survive, should Sir Wilfrid refuse to do its bidding, but our contemporary ought to know that the infant is of a kind that thrives on hot air.

Since Sir Wilfrid Laurier was treated to a mild glide down the political chutes in September, 1911, he has been dreaming dreams and seeing visions of return to power. He probably desires to help Manitoba in its struggle for separate schools.

A stranger recently visited Peterborough and announced himself as a "church worker." He was perfectly honest about it, and after he left town some of the brethren of the churches discovered that he had worked them for more than $250.

The Examiner seems to think that there will be a head-on collision between Mr. Borden and the Nationalist party of Quebec when parliament meets, which may wreck the Conservative party. Contemporary has furnished abundant proof that it has another full-yard-wide guess coming.

THE PASSING OF THE WAR CORRESPONDENT.

At the headquarters of the Bulgarian field forces at Stara Zagora there are one hundred war correspondents who are being entertained by King Ferdinand and to whom are sold out carefully edited news from the firing line, which is a safe distance away. This means, of course, the passing of the war correspondent, which was predicted as far back as the war between Russia and Japan. Mr. Henry A. Nevins, a journalist of experience and reputation, writes from Sofia that the war correspondent is being destroyed by his own numbers.

"No army," he says, "can allow eighty or a hundred correspondents to go running about as they like, and no correspondent can do valuable or distinctive work bordered up with four score others and not permitted to move. The telegraph combines with his numbers to kill him, for it has made censorship essential. No correspondent would complain of this if he realized the enormous losses at stake."

When the fact is considered that a dispatch from Sofia to London is wired back to Constantinople in a half hour, it is evident that every correspondent with the Bulgarian army would be acting unconsciously as a spy for the Turks.

AN ABLE MINISTER.

The re-organization of the cabinet made necessary by the resignation of Hon. F. D. Monk, saw the promotion of Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Interior, to the Department of Public Works. If there is any one portfolio where Mr. Rogers should be at home it is in Public Works, as for over ten years he was Minister of Public Works in the Roblin administration in Manitoba. Mr. Rogers is an indefatigable worker, and as splendid administrative ability, so that he is recognized as peculiarly fitted for the position. Public Works is a portfolio which demands of all things a business man—it is a business department. Mr. Rogers is essentially a business man who will adopt business methods in the administration of this important portfolio.

Not many people know that Mr. Rogers is a Quebec man by birth. Despite his white locks he is one of the young men of the cabinet, being only 48. He was born March 2nd, 1864, at Lakefield, Quebec, the son of Lieut.-Col. George Rogers. Early in life he went west where he engaged in business in Southern Manitoba. He is one of the pioneers of the province. He first ran as a candidate in 1896, when after a spectacular campaign he was beaten in Lisgar constituency by R. L. Richardson, recently Liberal candidate in Mardon. The next election he ran for the local house, and when Premier Roblin formed his cabinet in 1900 Mr. Rogers was made Minister of Public Works, a position which he held until he resigned a year ago to become Minister of Interior under Mr. Borden.

Mr. Rogers, although he does not pretend to be an orator, is a first-class debater and an astute and able parliamentarian. His work last session marked him as one of the strong men of the government. He has been an unequalled success as Minister of Interior, and in the Department of Public Works it is felt he will place it on a sound business basis.

PUBLIC OPINION.

HAS CITY TREASURER RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES OF A CITIZEN?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In Monday's issue of the Examiner appears a letter signed "Ratepayer," in which the writer blames the City Treasurer for accepting the position of secretary of the Peterborough Conservative Association. According to "Ratepayer," Mr. Adams ought to know better than hold office in a political association because he is Treasurer of the City of Peterborough. Now, Mr. Adams fulfills his duties to the city in a satisfactory manner; no suggestion to the contrary have been made. When his day's work for the city is over, it seems to me Mr. Adams becomes an ordinary citizen and as such is entitled to the rights and liberties of one. Why then in his capacity as a citizen of our city can he not if he sees fit, take an interest in politics, and if he wishes, an active interest? I do not suppose his civic duties take up all his working time. In my opinion Mr. Adams, like the rest of us, can employ his spare time as he pleases.

I should like someone to tell me if in the past history of our city it has ever happened that a Liberal has ever held the office of City Treasurer and has in his spare time acted in an official office in a Liberal Association.

Let us be big men—not small imitations. Hold dear our own liberties and respect the liberties of all others.

Fercial G. S. Webb.

OUR CONTEMPORARY REDUCED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see the Examiner has another "fare up," because Mr. Burnham intends to ask some questions when Parliament meets, the answer to which is expected to throw some new light on the question of a marriage law for Canada.

If the people for whom the Examiner speaks imagine that the finding of the Privy Council has settled the matter, they have something more to learn. For it certainly has not. It has only cleared the atmosphere by removing the haze that surrounded the question, and shows the people where they ARE AT.

Now the people know what to do and they are simply going to do it. The shadow of "Coming Events," and a certain intuition that editors sometimes have, has given the editor of that paper the "shiver," and he throws out a hint that if driven to it, some dogs may be unloosed that are now on the string.

We know that Mr. Burnham is a

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience, which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins: "When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but was enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. Today I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

capable man and a very able Representative, and knows what he is doing, and well the Examiner knows it, too. If Mr. Burnham was the silly it pretends to believe him to be, it would in this matter and other matters too, and then proclaim a jubilee.

BUILD GREAT DAM FOR MESOPOTAMIA

Huge Enterprise Seeks to Irrigate 2,000,000 Acres Desert and Make It Worth $100,000,000

Sir William Willcocks, who, in the interests of the Turkish Government, has spent three years surveying in Mesopotamia, has discovered, he thinks, the locality of the Garden of Eden, namely, in the district between Babylon and Bagdad. In the time of our first parents, Mesopotamia must have been a fertile paradise, but now, like many other places, it has been left a desert. But that does not suit the purpose of the Turkish Government, which has opened up an era of reform, and it is going to do for Mesopotamia what the Anglo-Egyptian Government has already done for the country of the Nile, and the lower Nile. The late Sir John Aird was the contractor who built the great dam at Aswan, so as to subside the arid regions around with the fertilizing waters of the Nile, and Sir John Jackson is the man who is to perform the same feat on the Euphrates under a 30-year contract, which will run into something like $100,000,000. At ready, what soldiers call an "advance party," of about 3,000 men, is engaged in rough preliminary work—laying out the camp, to speak of the work, and the staff of the enterprise is now being selected by Sir John Jackson, as assisted by his first-in-command of the constructive army of Mesopotamia. This is Mr. Arthur Noel Whiteley, an other Yorkshireman, who has just reached London from South America where he was second-in-command of another great engineering enterprise—the construction of a railroad 300 miles long, across the Andes, from Arica, in Chile, to La Paz, the capital of Bolivia. Having thus vigorously exercised his genius, Mr. Arthur Whiteley is now about to address himself to what his friends are sure will prove his master piece. He is going to put the speed of the camel to the speed of the Euphrates; but that will only be one of the three great barriers on this ancient river and the Tigris. At first a district of 600,000 acres will be irrigated, at a cost of $10,000,000, after which the value of the land now practically nil, will then be at least $50,000,000. When entirely irrigated it will be worth $100,000,000, estimates that his Garden of Eden will have acquired a value of $100,000,000.

DEPT. "C"

A "GRAND AFFAIR."

Pitt's Deal For the Regent Diamond Was a Celebrated Haggale.

The interesting story of the great Regent diamond, now owned by the French Government, is told by Norman Pearson in "Society Sketches in the Eighteenth Century." Thomas Pitt, the grandfather of the great William Pitt, Lord Chatham, purchased the stone while governor for the East India Company, and sent it to England in charge of his son Robert.

Pitt first heard of it in the summer of 1701, and about December of that year Jamchund, one of the best known native merchants brought the diamond to him at Madras, and offered to sell it for two hundred thousand pagodas. Pitt would not offer more than thirty thousand, so the negotiations stopped. In February, Jamchund came again to Madras, and offered Pitt the diamond for one hundred thousand pagodas. Pitt beat him down to fifty-five thousand pagodas, and raised his own offer to forty-five thousand. Jamchund would not agree to this, and (Pitt) WALKED AWAY.

But an hour later Jamchund reappeared, and offered the diamond for fifty thousand pagodas. Pitt raised his offer to forty-seven thousand five hundred pagodas. Jamchund after long haggling, came down to forty-eight thousand dollars — Pitt closed with him.

According to modern ideas, Pitt's "grand affair," as he called it, conducted by a man in his position, might be regarded as of doubtful propriety. But the company raised no objection on this ground, their only fear being that Pitt's purchase might bring them into collision with the native authorities.

Pitt calculated that when the diamond was cut it would weigh three hundred carats, and be worth four hundred and fifty thousand pounds, which he declared was "as cheap as a neck tie." Some monarch, he thought, would be "the fairest champion" for it; he preferred that it should be purchased for the crown of England. For the English crown he would make some statement; but under no circumstances was it to be sold "to a club of people that shall make more advantage of it than myself, who have run the greatest risk to purchase it."

In 1703 these "rings" began to grow more serious. Never was a man more tormented by a treasure. He was disturbed by the jeweler who cut it, or even by his own agents. Having entrusted it to his son Robert and Sir Stephen Evance he subsequently ordered them to hand it over to his cousin, George Pitt. "About Robert he writes, 'I am not a little jealous to

of my wife, who has always been too bold with me on several occasions, therefore pray take care now that he does not strip me.' Rumors affecting Evance's credit threw him into an agony of alarm. Bitter, too, is his disappointment when he finds that the stone has been reduced by cutting from four hundred and ten to one hundred and thirty-seven carats.

In 1708 it was ready for sale — a "glorious sight," but no purchaser appeared. Pitt grew seriously concerned, his anxiety being increased by the growing fame of the jewel. His movements became uncertain and mysterious; he often went about in disguise, and he redoubled his precautions for the safekeeping of the treasure.

At last, in 1717, the Duke of Orleans, regent during the infancy of Louis XV., agreed to buy it for the French crown. Pitt, accompanied by his sons and his son-in-law, Charles Cholmondeley, carried it over himself to Calais, where it was delivered into the hands of the jeweler appointed to receive it. Pitt, in a letter to his son Robert, wrote: "I cannot help impatient fools meddling with my busy news that they had nothing to do with. The stone was sold for two millions livres (one hundred and thirty-five thousand pounds). I received the third of the money, and the remainder in four payments, every six months with live per cent interest; for security of which I have given jewels, four parcels, one to be delivered at each payment."

Nurses For Dogs.

There are now institutions for training ladies to be canine nurses. They are taught to study the different ailments of the canine pets and have to serve an apprenticeship for at least twelve months before they are qualified to go out to nurse. A good nurse can command a good salary. Only a few weeks ago a lady in Dublin engaged one of these canine nurses at $15 a week, besides paying all her traveling expenses. At most dog shows one notices girls in nurse costumes attending the valuable animals that are on exhibition. An advertisement appeared in a journal only a few weeks ago offering $300 per year and all board for a qualified kennel maid — London (Globe).

This is a Want Ad Town

There Are a Lot of Important Things That must, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property at THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

COW AS PASSENGER

Russian Railway Employees Treated the Director's Service Quite Respectfully

Railway employees in Russia realize that they are working not in the interest of the public, but for the Director of the railway. A characteristic fact was reported from Samara. A cow belonging to the Director of the railway had to travel from Samara to Samara. The railway officials along the line were very anxious about the safety of the animal, and as soon as the cow was placed in a specially prepared truck instructions by wire were sent all along the line. At the station-master at Kibin paid a special visit to the cow, and then telegraphed to the Director of the railway: "Cow passed to the train safely. Health excellent." When the cow reached St. Petersburg and a crowd of railway officials met the train, and accorded her something like a royal reception. Passengers by the train were greatly amused, and they complain that the railway's employees concerned themselves more about the cow than the safety of human life.

RUSSIAN GEESE DISEASED

It is reported from the Russo-German frontier that the German authorities have again discovered some kind of disease among the Russian geese, and, as a consequence, their importation into Germany, which is a very large business, has been suspended. A similar measure against Russian geese a few years ago nearly brought on a war of Customs tariffs between Russia and Germany. The Moscow Vremya suggests that the disease is periodically discovered by the German wholesale buyers for the purpose of lowering prices and the buying up for the German market, by which time the disease generally disappears.

ANGLICANS AT KHARTUM

Great Crowds Will Attend the Consecration of the Cathedral

Plans for the consecration ceremony of the new Anglican Cathedral at Khartum on January 30 next are now completed, and invitations to witness the event are already being issued. As a large number of English Churchmen and their families are expected to go from London to Khartum for the occasion, the committee has arranged for special reduced-rate excursions for parties of fifty or more, which will include stops at Alexandria and Cairo, a voyage by steamer up the most picturesque part of the Nile, and short trips to Gondar and other points in the Sudan where historic associations and characteristic native life appeal to the imagination and interest of the traveller. In addition to the English pilgrims to the consecration of the cathedral, it is expected that Khartum will be filled with visitors from Cairo and the north, for at that season of the year there is usual a considerable exodus, due to the inclement weather of Egypt, to the warmth and sunshine of the Sudan.

MAIL CONTRACT.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Postmaster-General, will be received at Ottawa until Noon, on Friday, the 15th December, 1912, for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years, six times per week, OVER THE RURAL MAIL ROUTE No. 4, from Peterborough, Ontario, to communities at the pleasure of the Postmaster-General.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen and blank forms of tender may be obtained at the Post Office of Peterborough, and at the office of the Post Office Inspector, Kingston.

SEALED TENDERS.

addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Three Rivers, P.Q.," will be received at this office, until 4.00 p.m., on Monday, November 25, 1912, for the construction of a Public Building at Three Rivers, P.Q.

Plans, specifications and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of Mr. Chas. Lalonde, Architect, Three Rivers, P.Q.; R. L. Dandridge, Esq., 160 St. Francis Xavier St., Montreal, and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, showing their corporations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, to the sum per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work as constructed for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

FOR CHEAPER FOOD

Many Serious Riots Have Occurred in the North of France

The strike of the housewives in the north of France has degenerated into serious riots at Montigny, near Lens, and a young man has been nearly killed. A large number of women, accompanied by as many men, paraded the commune, and went from house to house to make them sign a certain paper containing a list of the prices fixed by the committee. Nearly all the bakers submitted, but in the evening some of those who were refusing with his wages, was taken by surprise. The crowd gathered round and wanted him to sign the paper. He did not understand what they wanted, and struck out right and left with his whip.

The crowd then became hostile, and threatened to mob him. He rushed into his house for a revolver, and came out threatening to shoot. A young man tried to wrench the weapon out of his hand, but in doing so a shot went off, and he was wounded in the chest. The mob then became furious, seized the baker, and almost murdered him, rushed into his house, smashed all the furniture, and looted it. Another gang dragged the wagon to a field and burnt it. All the police and gendarmes in the district had to be summoned, and order was restored only late at night.

At Saint Quentin similar riotous scenes took place. Seven or eight hundred housewives, with as many men and boys, marched to the great market singing the revolutionary "Internationale," and attacked the dealers. They upset the stands and pelted the dealers with the vegetables and fruits. The disorder became so great that the police were helpless, and the unfortunate salesmen and saleswomen were driven from the market, pelted with lumps of butter, eggs, cheese, poultry and large chunks of beef.

WEALTHY FRENCHMAN MURDERED

He Had Settled an Income of $3,000 France on His Young Wife

The police of Tours are still engaged in investigating the strange murder mystery which occurred one night last June. M. Guilloin, the murdered man, was married to a young woman on whom he had settled an income of $7,000 a year, and in whose favor he had also taken out an insurance policy. After the murder suspicion fell on the cousin, M. Housard, who has since been arrested, and who, it is alleged, had been at one time in love with Madame Guilloin. After an inquiry of two months, suspicion also fell on the young widow, and she has also been arrested on evidence said to have been given by a lady friend, to whom she is reported to have confessed. The body of M. Guilloin was found on July 16 in a room of a house on the Quai Paul Bert, at Tours. This house had just been bought by M. Guilloin, and was being redecorated. Only one or two rooms were habitable, and these were occupied by M. Guilloin when he came to Tours from Reille-sur-Loire, where he had his country home.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 16 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Land Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Default—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duffin—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to carry homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duffin—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

DISAPPOINTING CRICKET

The Season Spoiled in England by Bad Weather and Weak Teams

This year's cricket season in the Old Country was one of the most disappointing within the memory of followers of the game, although at the outset the prospect was one of exceptional interest. The institution of the three-day test contests, and the meteoric rise of Warwickshire, by the championship last season, led us to expect a season of exciting times, but the dismal weather spoiled everything. In addition to this most important feature, the sporting interest in the Test matches was early dimmed by the disappointing competition of the Australian and South African teams. The unfortunate result in the Australian cricket world robbed the team of several of the Commonwealth's most promising cricketers, while the South African team was weakened by circumstances over which the management had no control. The result was that the last few Test matches failed to arouse any interest, as it was soon apparent that the strength of several first-class English counties, while the Australians, though certainly a better combination, were not up to the form expected.

DRAMA IN VILLAGES

New Germany Will Satisfy the Cravings for the Dramatic

The constantly-growing craving for dramatic entertainment among the inhabitants of small country towns and villages in Germany is now to be appeased in a way worthy of imitation in other countries—namely by co-operation. Under the auspices of the Ministry of the Interior groups of small municipalities are being formed in the various provinces, each group desiring to support financially, if necessary, a stock company of actors who will proceed from village to village during the winter and perform popular plays.

The idea originated with the travel theatre of the Mark of Brandenburg, which was founded by a private society interested in popular drama. They were aided by several wealthy patrons of dramatic art, who also gave financial support; but the venture has proved so successful that these persons now enjoy some small interest of their capital. The high-class nature of the performances given may be gathered from the names of the authors whose plays are included in the programme. Lessing, Goethe, Schiller, Heine, Kleist, and Schlegel are all constantly in the repertoire, which is performed by an excellent company, in which there are no "stars."

The Government is so impressed by the value of this kind of entertainment that it has organized similar companies in the provinces of Posen and Silesia, subsidies being provided by the provincial authorities and all the towns of the provinces being visited in rotation. In other districts these municipalities are following the example.

A ROYAL WEDDING

Princess Ethel, of Parma, Will Marry Archduke Charles Francis Joseph

As a wedding gift for Princess Ethel, of Parma, who is to marry Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, his grandfather, Emperor Francis Joseph, has bought the ancient castle at Brundisio. The huge pile, with its extensive grounds, is a picturesque ruin, and the headquarters of the Bohemian teachers, and stands in a conspicuous position in the (ancient) Roman ruins town of Brundisio, thirteen miles north-east of Prague, on the banks of the River Etsch. The castle will be restored architecturally modernized in the interior, and handsomely furnished. It is to be the country residence of the young people. Princess Ethel was a member of a small family party which gathered recently at Schloss Braun Castle, the Emperor's residence on the outskirts of Vienna, to celebrate Archduke Charles' twenty-fourth birthday. The Princess's gift to her fiancé was a gold cigarette case, suitably inscribed.

BODY IN ICE UNDAUNTED

A Fall of Ice Reveals the Body of a Man

A guide recently came into Kandersteg, from the Loetschenenthal, Switzerland, and brought the news that a fall of ice from the Loetschen Glacier had revealed the body of a mountaineer and a hat supposed to belong to an other man. The guide believed he had solved the mystery of the two Englishmen, Messrs. Cohen and Bencke, who were lost on the glacier in 1896, when they were surprised by a snowstorm and fell into a crevasse.
A later report, however, stated that the body is that of a Swiss who disappeared in 1899. The discovery was due to the abnormal melting of the ice owing to the great heat. The discovery of the body came about as follows:
A guide went with a lady over the Loetschen Pass towards Kandersteg.
Instead of the usual way over the Loetschen Glacier the lady expressed a strong inclination to take another path, and they came across a very little used track, on which they found the body.

ALBERT PLANS MERCHANT MARINE
King of Belgium is Spending Considerable Time Discussing the Subject

It is understood that King Albert has been studying with the most competent authorities the means of creating a Belgian mercantile marine, so that the national flag may carry all the national freight at present conveyed to distant lands by French, British, German, or other foreign ships.
This was the unexpressed aim of King
Leopold II., and his nephew and heir, King Albert, supported it in his first speech in the Senate at Brussels, 1909.
Now he has set his heart upon carrying it out. The difficulty is that the King does not believe in the success of a purely State organization of merchant shipping, and that private capital in Belgium is reluctant to invest in large maritime undertakings, especially as Belgian exporters have so far appeared content with smaller profits by exporting through foreign middlemen and ships, rather than selling their goods direct to distant consumers, and incurring the risks of sea credit. It may be stated that the King is now studying a middle course, thanks to which a national mercantile marine may be created, partly by private effort and partly by State aid.
His Majesty, after holding several conferences on the subject, is now planning a tour to the principal seaports of Europe, and possibly America, as he wishes to become acquainted with the organization of overseas traffic in the great carrying countries.
Meanwhile, he is encouraging as far as possible fishing enterprise abroad, and Belgian missions are to be shortly sent to Brazil and other parts of America, as well as to Mohammedan and the Moroccan seaboard, to study the possibilities and resources open to the enterprise of the Belgian fishing fleets.

FOOD PRICES RISE

Many Complaints Being Made by All Classes of People
The increasingly high prices of provisions is a cause of grave alarm in Belgium. Complaints are heard from every part of the empire, not merely from the poorer classes, but from the population generally. In many approaches of the country crops have been severely damaged by the long drought.
The markets are poorly supplied with vegetables. Housewives are bitterly lamenting the almost two-fold increase of the usual price of vegetables, pricates in particular costing now from $1.25 to $1.50 per cwt., or just double what they cost last year. Moreover, the prices are expected to rise still higher.

NO PATCHES ON MY PANTS

The Presidential campaign in the United States has allowed the political poets to break loose with the usual lavish supply of doggerel. Here is one of these "poems":

Oh! yes, I've heard about the trusts
Of how I'm being "done,"
Of how the wicked Tariff, too,
Is "robbing" every one.
But I am working every day,
And maybe you, perchance,
Have noticed that I haven't got
A patch upon my pants?

They tell me that I am a "slave"
Of "plutocratic" rule;
That I should vote for Wilson, and
The party of the mule
That he will rip the Tariff up
And on the pieces dance;
But, please observe, I do not wear
A patch upon my pants.

Once I was led astray; I think
It was in "ninety-two,
When Cleveland ran for President;
I shouted for him, too;
Thought there'd be work for everyone,
And wages would advance.
He was elected and I wore
Big patches on my pants.

I lost my job, and couldn't get Another thing to do.
I walked the street and everywhere
Soupedhouses met my view;
And there were thousands just like me.

All fighting for a chance
To earn their bread, and every man
Wore patches on his pants.
I will not vote for Wilson; no,
With him I don't agree.
As for his party, well, kind sir,
Once was enough for me.
I've steady work, I have good pay,
And you may note, perchance,
I'm wearing trousers now, instead
Of patches on my pants.

WOMEN WANTED.

One Hundred Thousand Shortage is Reported in South Africa.

White women are wanted in South Africa. At present there is a shortage of nearly 100,000 women in a total white population of 1,300,000, and the view is held by leading authorities from that colony, who are now in London, that it would be very much better for the European population if the sexes were more equal in numbers.
Behind this opinion lies a great problem of the relationship between black and white, and it is clear that South African farmers and colonists generally would appreciate life in the dominion better if they could replace the Xhosa boy in the kitchen by a woman domestic from England. Intending girl colonists are not likely to overlook the fact that they will have a greater opportunity to secure a prize in the matrimonial market in South Africa than in England and other towns. "Women are badly wanted in South Africa," declared a colonial official. "There is a great opportunity for hard-working, strong, young women on the farms and as domestics, while nurses and dressmakers are also wanted."

"At present a large part of the domestic work is done by blacks, but obviously it would be advantageous to find many of the 'boys' other employment. Wages are good, and there is every opportunity to save money."
It was regretted that there were not the same facilities for free passages to South Africa as to Australia and other colonies, but in this matter it was pointed out that the Dominion had to wait 10 years after its creation before it could "boom" the country, whereas the Union has so far only enjoyed two years of life. At the same time, reduced passages were arranged for the wives of men already permanently employed in South Africa, and such is the desire for female servants that applications are entertained from them for advanced passages. Women are, however, warned by the Emigrants' Information Bureau not to go to the colony without first consulting with the South African Colonization Society. There are dangers attendant upon young women going out unaccompanied, and the Colonization Society not only secure berths for emigrants, but they have hostels in many towns for the reception of women new from Britain.

Considerate Judge.
Judges were very considerate in the old days. Lord Brampton, in his Eminences, relates a story illustrating this.

Baron Martin, a famous English jurist of the old school, whose native leniency and sense of fun often placed him at the mercy of the very men he was trying, was once about to sentence an old offender charged with a petty theft.

"Look," said the baron, with an assumption of severity, "I hardly know what to do, but you can take six months."

"I can't take that, my lord; it's too much," said the prisoner, respectfully but firmly. "I can't take it. Your lordship see I didn't steal very much,
after all."

The baron indulged in one of his low, chuckling laughs before replying:
"Well, that's very true, ye didn't steal much," he said. "Well, then, ye can tak' four months. Will that do—four months?"

"Nay, my lord, but I can't take that either," was the reply.
"Then tak' three."

"That's nearer the mark, my lord,"
the prisoner said, approvingly. "But I'd rather you made it two, if you will be so kind."

"Verily well, then, tak' two," said
the judge, with the air of one who is pleased to have done the right thing at last. "And mind, don't come again. If you do I'll give ye—well, as all depends."

The Act of a Gentleman.
In Sir Bunsell and Lady Bancroft's
"Reminiscences," there is a story told by Mr. Charles Collette, which is beautifully and very strikingly illustrative of true etiquette. A young soldier in an English regiment had been promoted from the ranks and given a commission in another regiment. Before joining his new command he was, according to custom, invited to a farewell dinner by the officers of his old regiment, placed, as the guest of the evening, on the right of the colonel, and helped to all the dishes first. It was a fine young fellow, but little used to the ways of the polite world and the manners of other dining-tables than the humble mess of those days in the ranks. The colonel, one of the truest types of gentlemen, did his best to put his guest at ease.

KEEP CARS MOVING

Now Business Men are Urged to Assist in the Movement of Grain

That the business men and manufacturers of Eastern Canada realize the necessity of providing all cars possible for the transportation of Western Canada's grain crop is shown by a circular sent out during the past month by the manager of the Transportation Department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to its three thousand members. After speaking of the danger of congestion this fall, the circular urges all manufacturers to assist in the movement of grain as follows:

"Upon the ability of the railways to move the crops promptly will depend to a great extent the business welfare of the country. Everybody can help by facilitating the movement of any car he consigns or receives, namely, by loading and unloading as expeditiously as possible. Every time the loading or unloading of a car is needlessly delayed the available supply of cars is correspondingly reduced. If a shipper by his own act reduces the available supply of cars
he cannot very well complain of a shortage. Cars are furnished for transportation, not for storage, and every one used for storage reduces the number available for transportation. The annual crop movement nearly, around October 1st brings a car shortage lasting about four months."

during the business of the year there is usually a surplus. By moving as much as possible of your freight inwards and outwards within the next few weeks you will be helping yourself, the railways, and all others concerned."

FACTORY GROWTH

The Census Figures for Canada Show
Increase in Ten Years

The census returns of the manufactures or factories of Canada are now being made public by the Statistics branch at Ottawa. The figures indicate a growth that far exceeds the most extravagant estimates during the recent trade depression. In ten years the number of factories increased nearly 32 per cent.; capital invested, almost 180 per cent.; number of employees, 50 per cent.; salaries and wages, 110 per cent, and products 140 per cent.

THE KING STEPS IN TO PACIFY BRITAIN'S TURBULENT HOUSE

Commons Adjourns Until Monday Following Suggestion
From Speaker Lowther—Say Lord Knollys Conveyed
His Majesty's Command

London, Nov. 14.—The House of Commons this afternoon adjourned until Monday, following a suggestion from King George himself. The proposal was made by the Speaker, who intimated that it would be advisable "for the House to take further time to consider the points at issue" between the two factions in regard to the Home Rule measure. Premier Asquith immediately agreed and moved the adjournment of the House. With the Cabinet was in session after the adjournment of the House, Lord Knollys, the King's private secretary, arrived from Buckingham Palace, and had conferred with the Premier in the Speaker's residence, and it is considered obvious that to-day's procedure was then decided on as the best means of warding off and perhaps entirely preventing a renewal of the riotous obstruction to which many of the Unionists have pledged themselves. A graceful apology from Ronald McNeill, the Unionist member, who hurled the book at Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, during the disturbance, helped to cool the atmosphere to-day. Mr. McNeill acknowledged his act was entirely reprehensible and he extremely regretted his loss of temper. Winston Churchill accepted the olive branch with equal heartiness.

SNOW PLOWING CONTRACTS WERE AWARDED LAST NIGHT

Those For Nos. 3 and 5 Districts Remain in Abeyance—
The City's Board of Works Meet in Business Session
—Must Have Data From Mr. Chipman re
Romaine Street Sewer

The City's Board of Works met last night, chairman Alderman Bullock presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Duffin, Anderson, Graham and Johnston.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company's request that they be allowed to lay a gas main on Brock between George and Aylmer streets was granted.

The Township of Otonabee will be billed for the half of $150, cost of repairing their boundary road, the city to pay the remainder as per a agreement with adjacent townships re maintenance of boundary road.

On motion of Alderman Anderson and Duffin, the City Clerk was instructed to write Consulting Engineer Willis Chipman, and ask for a detailed statement of expenses, etc., in connection with the three street contracts for the Romaine Street sewer, up to the time he handed that work over to the city authorities, and all other information regard to the same.

The two trees in the centre of the road on Victoria avenue, at the entrance westerly limit will be cut down.

Tenders for Snow Ploughing.
The city does the work of removing the snow and slush in No. 1 District—the Centre Ward.

The following tenders for snow ploughing were to hand:

For No. 2 District—North territory—
E. J. Ferguson, $190.00.
E. Fishery, $199.50.
J. P. Francis, $185.00.

For No. 3 District—Northwest territory—
No tender.

For No. 4 District—West territory—
G. Innis, $164.00.

For No. 5 District—Southwest territory—
A. Cummings, $140.00.
John Combs, $140.00.

For No. 6 District—Southeast territory—
R. Nicholls, $162.00.

For No. 7 District—South of East City—
J. P. Francis, $105.00.
W. W. Revo, $135.00.

For No. 8 District—North of East City—
B. Revo, $130.00.
W. J. Clanson, $115.00.

Contracts Awarded.
The following tenders were accepted:

No. 2 District—
J. P. Francis, $185.00.

No. 4 District—
G. Innis, $164.00.

No. 6 District—
R. Nicholls, $162.00.

No. 7 District—
J. P. Francis, $105.00.

No. 8 District—
W. J. Clanson, $115.00.

There were no tenders received for District No. 3.

As Cummings and Cummings tenders for No. 5 were both the same—$140—the Mayor and chairman were authorized to ascertain if one of the men will take care of No. 3 District and the other No. 5 District. Hence the contract for No. 5 District remains in abeyance pending a satisfactory arrangement with these two tenders, if possible.

The following tenders were accepted:

No. 2 District—
J. P. Francis, $185.00.

No. 4 District—
G. Innis, $164.00.

No. 6 District—
R. Nicholls, $162.00.

No. 7 District—
J. P. Francis, $105.00.

No. 8 District—
W. J. Clanson, $115.00.

WHERE ON THE MAP WILL TURKEY BE WHEN THE WAR IS OVER?

MAP SHOWING POSSIBLE DIVISION OF TURKEY IN EUROPE AMONG THE BALKAN ALLIES

As an indication of what the demands of the Balkan States will be, the London Daily Chronicle says it learns that Bulgaria hopes to obtain all the territory which she has conquered, including Thrace and a strip of seaboard on the Aegean Sea, extending probably from Serres to Rodosto, leaving to the Turks Constantinople and the peninsula between Rodosto and the Dardanelles. The allies want the northern frontiers of Greece to be extended to join the new Serbian territory at some point not far from Salonica, taking in part of Albania. To Montenegro would be allotted Scutari. No definite understanding has been arrived at with regard to the destiny of Albania. Presumably the Bank of Northbazar would revert to Austria. Rumania expects a reward for her part in the form of a slice of territory between Serbia and the Black Sea, north of Varna. Rumania, of course, expects to see the Dardanelles free.

Many think that Liberals are Backing Up in Their Policy

LIBERAL NAVAL ATTITUDE

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Letter to Hochelaga Executive Reveals Disinclination to Commit His Party on Question of Naval Aid

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—The prospect of serious opposition to the Canadian contribution toward the naval defence of the Empire is growing daily more remote. There are evidences that wiser and more patriotic counsel within the Liberal party is prevailing and will prevail. Not the least of these evidences is found in the refusal of the Liberal candidate to authorize a contest in the riding of Hochelaga in the bye-election made necessary by the entry of Hon. Louis Coderre into the Dominion Government.

The Opposition leader has sent a letter to the Liberal executive in the riding advising that the election of Hon. Louis Coderre be not contested by a Liberal candidate. The general knowledge that some form of immediate aid from Canada is likely to be proposed to parliament, has been common property since the resignation of Hon. F. D. Monk. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has shared that general knowledge, and in the light of it he wrote to the Liberal executive of Hochelaga as follows:

The Laurier Letter.
"Before his departure for London and since his return to Canada, the prime minister has declared that, after consultation with the admiralty, he would make known his naval policy to the people of Canada. We do not know as yet in what this policy consists, and notwithstanding the resignation of one of his colleagues we do not know more than imperfectly the real causes of this disagreement. The session will open in a few days and the government will then have to acquaint us with the negotiations that have been had with the imperial authorities, the programme agreed upon, and the divergence of opinion between the minister who has resigned and his colleagues. I recognize the desire of the Liberals of Hochelaga to oppose the candidate of the new minister and to show once more their allegiance to the Liberal cause. Our naval policy is known. It has not changed since March 29th, 1909, but would it be opportune to take up the fight before knowing what is the new policy of the government? I have said many times since the last conference at London that I would await the explanations of the government before discussing the naval policy. I am on the floor of the House, when we are in possession of all the documents, we can pronounce ourselves. To make the first in the county of Hochelaga on the eve of the session and without other information than is furnished by the vague rumors appearing in the press for the last weeks would be, to my mind, to prejudice the question."

"It is before parliament that the naval policy may be announced and in my opinion it is there that it must be judged on its merits and combated if there is need. Yours very truly, (Sd.) Wilfrid Laurier."

3 SURVIVORS OUT OF DANGER

Ottawa Hears of Only Two Bodies Recovered in Mayflower Wreck—In Time Boat Sank

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Three commercial travellers from Ottawa are confined to their rooms at the O'Brien House but are not in any immediate danger and are doing well," was a statement reaching Ottawa at noon to-day.

"There is no further word of wreckage being discovered or any more bodies being found."

In Ottawa, these additional facts were ascertained at noon. Had weather been better, the bodies of the three men would have been recovered. The bodies of the three men were found in the wreckage of the Mayflower, which was on the vessel has been found floating near Annapolis.

Reports differ and one at noon says that Harper, one of the Ottawa commercial travellers, is unconscious.

The Mayflower was inspected on May 29th last, and after being found properly equipped, was granted the usual Government certificate. This is not the first time she struck the bottom, as she sunk about fifteen years ago in somewhere near the same locality. There was no loss of life then and she was raised by the owner, Jack Hudson, who lost his life on her on this second occasion.

Say Eyes Were Drawn.
Ottawa, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Harry Bay this morning states that it is now believed eleven persons perished in the Mayflower disaster.

Only the bodies of Captain Parcher and Patrick O'Brien, a passenger, have been recovered, but two search parties which are out are expected to be heard from at noon.

The three survivors, Harper, Peverly and Imack, of Ottawa, have been taken to Cornerbrook, but are in such a terrible condition from exposure that little can be learned from them, save that the vessel went down in ten minutes.

OBITUARY.

Baby Mahoney.
Mary Madeline Mahoney two years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mahoney, 508 Sherbrooke street, died yesterday morning.

The funeral will leave the residence this afternoon and proceed to St. Peter's cemetery.

Mrs. Joseph Brennan.
A former resident of Smith passed away yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital in the person of Mrs. Joseph Brennan, Fairbairn street.

The deceased leaves four sons and two daughters, all at home.

The funeral will leave the family residence on Fairbairn street, and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral. The remains will be forwarded on the 8:30 G.T.R. train to Campbellford for interment.

THE WEATHER.
To-day—Generally fair and a little colder.

SERVIA AGAIN HEARS THAT ADRIANOPLE HAS FALLEN

Allies are Eager to Capture Fortress and the Tchatalja Defences Before Armistice Is Arranged—Adrianople Known to Be in Desperate Straits

Belgrade, Serbia, Nov. 14.—A report that the Turkish fortress of Adrianople has fallen before the attack of the Bulgarian and Serbian allies is current here, but without any confirmation in official circles. The allies are eager to capture the fortress and the Tchatalja forts before arranging an armistice.

Sofia, Nov. 14.—In the past few days the Bulgarians have captured four important forts outside Adrianople, the last one after a particularly desperate resistance. The Turks made repeated attempts to regain possession of this fort, but without avail.

London, Nov. 14.—With the Turkish armies beaten in every battle during the months' war and now behind the fortifications at Tchatalja defending the capital of the Empire, the Ottoman Government has appealed to Bulgaria for an armistice pending the opening of negotiations for peace, according to an official despatch received from Constantinople to-day. What terms if any Turkey has proposed have not been disclosed. They must, however, in the opinion of diplomats, be unlimited if they are to prove acceptable to Bulgaria. With the last defense of Constantinople almost in her hands she is unlikely to consent to any armistice except on conditions giving her full military advantage.

Powers Help Turkey.
Turkey will have the support of the European powers in her request for a cessation of hostilities. The representatives of the various nations at Sofia have now received full instructions regarding the proposal of mediation and they held a meeting at noon to-day to discuss the method to be adopted for making the communication of the Turkish request to the Bulgarian Cabinet.

The armistice asked for by Turkey will only affect the fighting at Tchatalja fortifications while the step the European powers have taken has the object of putting an end to the war in all parts of the Balkan peninsula.

Until the powers succeed in influencing the allies in the direction of peace the fighting at Adrianople, Monastir, Scutari and in other portions of Turkey's once vast European dominion will continue no matter how Bulgaria regards the appeal made by Kiama Pasha.

Powers Help Turkey.
Turkey will have the support of the European powers in her request for a cessation of hostilities.

KINGSTON MEN IN THE RESERVES SAIL FOR HOME TO JOIN CORPS

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 14.—Several Englishmen in the city who belong to the reserve forces of Great Britain, have been summoned to return to England immediately and report to the War Department. Just what significance may be attached to the summons in view of the present crisis in international politics is not very clearly known, but it would seem as if the War Department was preparing to face any situation, however serious.

The members of the reserve forces are at liberty to come to this country, although they are obliged to report through the local divisional headquarters every few months. Fred Porter, one of the men who have been called back to the Motherland, could give no explanation for the sudden call. They only know that their duty is to return and they have already sailed to report for duty. The men are all working men or mechanics, who came to Canada to seek their fortunes.

PREMIER TELLS OTTAWA IT MUST ROUT TYPHOID CASES

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—That he has received numerous requests by word and by writing that the capital should be changed from Ottawa on account of the deadly typhoid epidemic, was what Premier Borden told a civic deputation who asked him that a Federal district be established.

The interview was in private, but it is understood that the deputation were told in pretty plain language that something must be done to change conditions.

The Premier promised that a sub-committee of the Cabinet would be appointed to consider the question of a Federal district, but objected to the plan outlined by the deputation, by which the majority of the commission were to be elected by the city. Mr. Borden said the Government would by this scheme have the responsibility, but not the control of the finances.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Among the other bi-products of the late Dominion election is a fine crop of personal malice and abuse of the capable member for West Peterborough.

The latest news from Constantinople indicates that the Turks are not so panic-stricken or demoralized that they have failed to check their baggage to Asia.

Popoff, the Bulgarian aviator, was brought to earth and killed by Turkish snipers. It was a dramatic incident of the Balkan war, as well as a case of popping off Popoff.

It may be said in passing that "Old Virginia," the "Mother of Presidents," seems to be coming into her own again. At the present moment she is talking most affectionately about her son Woody.

It has been said by a writer in The Times that the local Liberal organ has been sitting on the fence, as regards the moral question. This may be quite true, and judging from the nervous way in which the editor is eating, it is a barbed wire fence.

The young lad in the west who recently tried to make a curiosity of his stomach, and who was forced to undergo a surgical operation in order to have the indigestible collection removed, also swallowed one of the Examiner's political yards, which was the real cause of his trouble.

The City Council of St. Thomas has passed a by-law permitting street cars to operate on Sunday. Those of our readers who are familiar with the Bible (and who is not?) will remember that the original of that same acquired considerable fame by his fault of doubtless. Sunday cars are still in the range of public doubt.

A NATIONALIST RUNS

A Nationalist has come to Sir Wilfrid's aid in Hochelaga. He will oppose Hon. Louis Coderre, and the Borden Government. The Globe calls him a Labourite. He is a real estate agent. However, he agrees with Bourassa and Laurier against the Borden policy of joining in the defence of the Empire. What a triumph it would be for these good people if Canada should say: "No, we will not agree before-hand to the defence of the Empire. We will see what we will do when war breaks out." That is the Laurier policy. He calls it a policy: it is an insult. But does he propose to save the money? Oh, no! He will spend that all right! Only it must not be to help Britain, who has always helped us.

WHY A GENERAL BOOTH MEMORIAL?

It has for ages been the custom for mankind to honor its great men, and to perpetuate the memory of their meritorious deeds by the erection of memorials. In times past this honor has usually been reserved for warriors and statesmen, but it is evident that in these latter days public sentiment also decides in favor of conferring this honor upon others than soldiers and politicians—upon those who do good to common humanity.

This fact has been strikingly manifested by an almost universally expressed desire since the death of the founder of the Salvation Army. From every country where the Army flag flies and the work of the Army is known there has been loud and insistent demand that a fitting monument should be erected to commemorate the good he did to his fellows and the work he did in preaching the Gospel of Christ.

General Bramwell Booth, in response to this forcibly expressed desire, came to the conclusion that the memorial which would be most in accord with his father's wishes and most in harmony with his life would not be the erection of something in marble or bronze, but the erection of an institution in which officers could be trained for efficient carrying out of all branches of Salvation Army activities; hence, a Training Institution.

The citizens of Peterborough will no doubt be interested to know that the Lieut. Governor of Ontario, Sir John O'Brien, invited a number of the wealthiest citizens of Toronto to a luncheon, at which Commissioner D. M. Bass presented the memorial scheme with the result that these gentlemen formed themselves into a Committee to raise a large amount towards the scheme, with His Honor The Lieutenant-Governor as Chairman.

We feel confident the City of Peterborough will not be behind with its contribution next week.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Do you remember when the Examiner prophesied that Borden would delay the "pretended" reference of the marriage question to the courts? Do you remember when he didn't do any such thing, but referred the Laurier bill, and for fear it might not be enough, added several other questions to it? Do you remember what Laurier did? Do you?

Respectfully,
Esquimaux.

DISTRIBUTION OF SEED GRAIN AND POTATOES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of: spring wheat (5 lbs.), white oats (4 lbs.), barley (5 lbs.), and field peas (5 lbs.). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes (3 lbs. samples) will be made from several of the experimental farms, the Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free, by mail.

Applicants must give particulars in regard to the soil on their farms, and some account of their experience with such kinds of grain (or potatoes) as they have grown, so that a promising sort for their conditions may be selected.

Each application must be separate and must be signed by the applicant. Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. Applications on any kind of printed form cannot be accepted. If two or more samples are asked for in the same letter only one will be sent. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early; but the application will not necessarily be filled in the exact order in which they are received. Preference will always be given to the most thoughtful and explicit requests. Applications received after the end of January will probably be too late. Applications for grain (and applications from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec for potatoes) should be addressed to the Dominion Cerealist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Such applications require no postage. If otherwise addressed delay and disappointment may occur. Applications for potatoes, from farmers in any other province should be addressed (postage prepaid) to the Superintendent of the nearest branch Experimental Farm in that province.

Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhose, Which are Breathed to the Farthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Being Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing, medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and the lungs, attacks the trouble at the root disperses the germs of the disease and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhose."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mingles with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essence, whereas, with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through burning the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have tried all the Catarrhose, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhose is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief but will always cure permanently."

Yours sincerely, (Signed)

WILLIAM RAGAN,
Brockville, Ont.

For absolute, permanent cure use Catarrhose. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c, at all dealers, or the Catarrhose Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LITTLE ITEMS FROM BRITAIN

A Handful of Human Interest Paragraphs Gleaned in England, Ireland and Scotland.

An aged horse suddenly dropped dead at Thirsk Station. It had always been terrified at the noise of motor cars, and it is supposed to have died from fright consequent upon the engine of a North-Eastern Railway motor omnibus being set in motion near it.

Widow's Pathetic Message.

A pathetic contribution has been received at the Yorkshire Home for incurables at Harrogate consisting of a purse containing $1.20 in silver, accompanied by the following message: "A small contribution to the home from a widow, the savings of her son, who died several years ago, aged sixteen years."

Killed While at Play.

Geoffrey Robinson, the six-year-old daughter of a Preston labourer, was playing in the street with some companions when a boy who was only four years old tossed a red ball high up into the air. It fell on a heap of paper near which the girl was standing and her fingers caught fire. She was burned fatally.

An Open-Air School.

An open-air school was started at King's Heath, Birmingham, with thirty scholars. The school is designed for little ones who are too weakly to attend the ordinary elementary school. The grounds are divided up into plots allowing each child the delight of its own garden. There are a number of baths and many expedients for combining instruction with healthy amusement.

Septuagenarian Romance.

Mr. William Riding Bradshaw, a widower of seventy-five, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mercer, a widow of seventy-two, were married at the Preston Registry Office. They had been friends for nearly sixty years. The bride was attired in black and the bridegroom wore a frock coat and a bowler hat. They were accompanied only by two witnesses. Mrs. Mercer had fifteen children by her first marriage.

Obedience to Leave Workhouse.

A Chatham paper septuagenarian named William Thomas had ended his life in the workhouse by hanging. The old man was invariably cheerful, so it was related at the inquest, but he dreaded that upon reaching the age of seventy he would be discharged from the workhouse as a "convict" of the penitentiary. He declared he would rather die in the workhouse than take the penitentiary.

Penalty of a Large Family.

Chalmersford guardians have received into the workhouse a man, and his wife and children, who, stated to have been turned out of their home owing to their numbers, had been unable to find another home. The man has been twice married and is the father of eighteen children, of whom thirteen are alive. The guardians have given him every facility to find another home while his wife and family remain in the workhouse.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT

Newspaper publishers and editors generally throughout the Dominion are unanimous in their opinion that the picture entitled "Mother's Treasure," given with The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season, is a most delightful and beautiful subject. Here is the opinion of one publisher: "Mother's Treasure" is a marvel of beauty. The subject is one that will have a tendency to strengthen home ties. We, in the same business, wonder how you can afford to give such value in pictures besides the vast amount of good things in The Family Herald and Weekly Star." Signed, E. W. Richards, The Mirror, Montreal. No home in Canada should be without this beautiful picture. One dollar pays a full year's subscription to The Family Herald and Weekly Star, including the picture, which is ready for framing, also 25¢ by 25¢ inch. It is a big dollar's worth, indeed.

ORIGIN OF THE PEARL

The Pried Gem Only the Brilliant Sarcophagus of a Worm.

Science has discovered the real origin of the pearl to be a worm. Dr. Hugh M. Smith gives some interesting information on this subject in the National Geographic Magazine.

We know that almost any foreign body—a grain of sand, a bit of mud or shell, a piece of seaweed or a small animal—may by its irritation cause the mollusk to cover it with nacre and make it the nucleus of a pearl, but the largest part of the annual pearl crop of the world is due to parasites that normally pass a part of their life cycle within the shell of the pearl oyster.

Minute spherical larvae of marine worms known as cestodes become imbedded in the soft tissues, as many as forty having been found in one Oryzias oyster. As the result of irritation the oyster forms a protective sac about the intruder, and then, if the larva dies, its body is gradually converted into carapace of lime, and the partly mass proceeds to grow with the shell.

If the larva lives it may pass into the body of the strong jawed trigger fishes which prey on the pearl oysters, there undergoing further development. Ultimately it reaches the body of the great ray, which in turn eats the trigger fishes. In the rays the worms attain full development and produce larvae that are cast into the sea and find lodgment in pearl oysters. Thus the cycle is begun once more.

We may literally accept the saying of a celebrated French investigator that "the most beautiful pearl is in reality only the brilliant sarcophagus of a worm."

FAITH OF THE FOREST.

Curious Traits of One of the Savage Tribes of Siberia.

Concerning one of the obscure races of northwestern Siberia a traveler writes: "A few of the traits of these curious people may prove of interest. They show that environment is the strongest factor in determining character. Their intense superstition is accounted for by innate fear of all things they cannot understand. Their shy, distrustful of strangers and dread of their lamas and chiefs are again the result of superstition and isolation. Sedentary and melancholic are stamped on their faces, as is natural to a people who are in constant fear of the gnarl of the mountains, rivers and forests, whose whole time is taken up with propitiating the gods lest evil befall them."

This is a Want Ad Town

and There Are a Lot of Important Things That cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chance to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions, in these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

WATCHING EX-KING MANUEL

The Young Ruyter Does Not Appear to be Convinced with State

The delay of young ex-king Manuel watched very closely, and his latest movements are attributed to a grant count. When Manuel returned to London after travelling all night from Scotland, he was reported to be on the point of returning to his native country to place himself at the head of his loyal followers in a bold attempt to win back his crown. As a matter of fact, Manuel's night journey and no connection whatever with the king's return. He simply wanted to keep an appointment with a certain young lady, who is said to have been company he finds absolutely necessary to his happiness for the time being, and he spent all next day in a tender car with his beloved, while the king had been presiding over an important council of war at his house in London, the game of which were

LITERATURE IN RUSSIA

Books That are Popular Among the Russian Children

Literature of the Sherlock Holmes and Nat Pinkerton type retains its popularity among Russian children. In an interesting report on juvenile reading presented to the Library Congress now being held in St. Petersburg, the following criticism, written by a Moscow schoolgirl, was quoted: "I adore Pinkerton. How brilliant is the picture of this prodigious man, who has consecrated his life to the extermination of criminals, these 'chances of the human race.' Similar characters are said to Sherlock Holmes by youthful readers. Hans Andersen is the most popular author among Moscow children under 12 years old. Grimm comes second. The favorite foreign writers are Mrs. Beecher Stowe, Defoe, Jules Verne, Mark Twain and Verne.

OZONE FOR ALL

Important Innovation for Keeping
"Tube" Air in Good Condition

The jaded city man pining for a breath of really fresh air no longer need rush off to the seaside for his cure. Within a fortnight every station of the Central London Railway will have its own apparatus for mixing electrically produced ozone with the atmosphere at the platform level and in the adjoining "tube," so that its patrons can enjoy the health-giving elements while travelling to and from their offices. Some months ago the Ozone Company, Ltd., equipped the Bank Station with its patent ozone-mixing system of ventilation. The increased freshness and purity of the atmosphere obtained have been so striking that the work of installing similar apparatus throughout the whole system is being rapidly carried out. At the Bank Station 4,000 to 7,000 cubic feet of ozonized air are pumped into the station and the adjoining "tube" every minute from seven to nine o'clock at night. As a result the staid, dampish odor, noticeable in some of the earlier-built "tube" systems has utterly disappeared.

RAILROADS AND INDUSTRIES

They Give a Town Stability and Permanency

It can be safely said that nearly every live Board of Trade and aggressive Publicity Agent in Western Canada to-day is out for every industry possible to obtain. Railroads and industries give a town stability and permanency. And, while it is often declared that agriculture is the backbone of the country, how fortunate indeed that town which has a monthly payroll of $25,000 of railroad and industrial employees, when there is even a partial crop failure. Merchants are able to meet their obligations promptly and there is no set back and struggling for credit for a year, or until another good crop is harvested and normal financial conditions are resumed. Without railroads or industries there is no certainty of any town ever having a large population or needing any increase in the number of businesses necessary to serve the community. Without these industries in nearly every case there is a limit to population as well as to development.—Milestone Mail.

A Sneeze Stuffer

The sneeze-stuffer is the latest name for a handkerchief.

From $200 to $15,000

Rev. W. J. Speers who made a tour of Western Canada spoke of a young Englishman with whom he had talked and who had gone to the west two years ago with $200, and was now worth $15,000. He asked him how he would like to go back to England. "That would be the worst sentence you could pass on me," he replied.

Development of Industrial Life in Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Calgary and Edmonton

Of five Western cities for which census figures are available, namely, Winnipeg, Brandon, Portage la Prairie, Edmonton and Calgary, Winnipeg as might be expected heads the list both in number of establishments and value of products manufactured, though the other cities are also making remarkable progress in factory development.

The following are the statistics by cities for the census year 1911.

Winnipeg — Establishments, 177; capital, $26,024,350; employees, 11,706; wages, $7,614,646; cost of material, $18,484,734; value of products, $52,390,259.

Calgary — Establishments, 44; capital, $18,683,594; employees, 2,123; wages, $1,569,169; cost of material, $4,680,416; value of products, $7,761,418.

Edmonton — Establishments, 40; capital, $8,616,120; employees, 1,550; wages, $1,007,734; cost of material, $2,594,946; value of products, $4,493,304.

Brandon — Establishments, 39; capital, $5,012,115; employees, 830; wages, $571,970; cost of material, $1,040,339; value of products, $2,330,430.

Portage la Prairie — Establishments, 18; capital, $2,768,970; employees, 341; wages, $210,239; cost of material, $1,482,37; value of products, $2,533,624.

Of the Manitoba cities Brandon's increase is quite as gratifying in proportion. From 12 industrial establishments in 1906 and 28 in 1908 there has been an expansion to 29 in 1911, while the volume of her products have increased from $51,237 in 1906 and $9,097,996 in 1908 to $13,204,406, although it would be seen that Brandon's increases in output has not been nearly so great for the past five years as has Winnipeg's, still the increase for the decade has been very satisfactory. Portage la Prairie had four establishments in 1906, 11 in 1908, and 18 in the 1911 census. The value of her products has increased from $600,000 in 1906 to $2,500,000 in 1911, a larger increase than Brandon.

During the decade the number of Edmonton's industrial establishments has jumped from 8 to 46 and the volume of her products from $243,773 to $4,500,000, or over 500 per cent. The volume of her products from $243,773 to $4,500,000, or about 180 per cent. During the past five years alone, Calgary has tripled her output of industrial products.

Calgary has increased her establishments from 10 to 46 since 1906 and the volume of her products from $243,773 to $4,500,000, or about 180 per cent. During the past five years alone, Calgary has tripled her output of industrial products.

TARIFF PLANK OF REPUBLICANS

Their Protective Policy Has Been of the Greatest Benefit to the Country, Says Resolution

At the Republican National Convention in Chicago on June 22nd, the following resolution was adopted:

We reaffirm our belief in a protective tariff. The Republican tariff policy has been of the greatest benefit to the country, developing our resources, diversifying our industries and protecting our workmen against competition with cheaper labor abroad, thus establishing for our wage-earners the American standard of living.

The protective tariff is so woven into the fabric of our industrial and agricultural life that to substitute for it a tariff for revenue only would destroy many industries and throw millions of our people out of employment. The products of the farm and of the mine should receive the same measure of protection as other products of American labor.

Protects Wages

We hold that the import duties should be enough while yielding a sufficient revenue to protect adequately American industries and wages. Some of the existing import duties are too high and should be reduced. Readjustment should be made from time to time to conform to changing conditions and to reduce excessive rates, but without injury to any American industry. To accomplish this correct information is indispensable. This information can best be obtained by an expert commission, as the large volume of useful facts contained in the recent reports of the Tariff Board has demonstrated.

The pronounced feature of modern industrial life is its enormous diversification. To apply tariff rates requires closer study and more scientific methods than ever before. The Republican party has shown by its creation of a Tariff Board its recognition of this situation and its determination to be equal to it.

We condemn the Democratic party for its failure to provide funds for the continuance of this board or to make some other provision for securing the information requisite for intelligent tariff legislation. We protest against the Democratic method of legislating on these vitally important subjects without careful investigation.

We condemn the Democratic tariff bills passed by the House of Representatives of the 62nd Congress as sectional, as injurious to the public credit, and as destructive of business enterprise.

Cost of Living
The steadily increasing cost of living has become a matter not only of National but of world-wide concern. The fact that it is not due to the protective tariff system is evidenced by the existence of similar conditions in countries which have a tariff policy different from our own, as well as by the fact that the cost of living has increased while rates of duty have remained stationary or been reduced.

The Republican party will support a prompt scientific inquiry into the causes which are operative, both in the United States and elsewhere, to increase the cost of living. When the exact facts are known, it will take the necessary steps to remove any abuses that may be found to exist in order that the cost of the food, clothing and shelter of the people may in no way be unduly or artificially increased.

Edmonton — Establishments, 40; capital, $8,616,120; employees, 1,550; wages, $1,007,734; cost of material, $2,594,946; value of products, $4,493,304.

Brandon — Establishments, 39; capital, $5,012,115; employees, 830; wages, $571,970; cost of material, $1,040,339; value of products, $2,330,430.

Portage la Prairie — Establishments, 18; capital, $2,768,970; employees, 341; wages, $210,239; cost of material, $1,482,37; value of products, $2,533,624.

Of the Manitoba cities Brandon's increase is quite as gratifying in proportion. From 12 industrial establishments in 1906 and 28 in 1908 there has been an expansion to 29 in 1911, while the volume of her products have increased from $51,237 in 1906 and $9,097,996 in 1908 to $13,204,406, although it would be seen that Brandon's increases in output has not been nearly so great for the past five years as has Winnipeg's, still the increase for the decade has been very satisfactory. Portage la Prairie had four establishments in 1906, 11 in 1908, and 18 in the 1911 census. The value of her products has increased from $600,000 in 1906 to $2,500,000 in 1911, a larger increase than Brandon.

During the decade the number of Edmonton's industrial establishments has jumped from 8 to 46 and the volume of her products from $243,773 to $4,500,000, or over 500 per cent. The volume of her products from $243,773 to $4,500,000, or about 180 per cent. During the past five years alone, Calgary has tripled her output of industrial products.

SAYS INDUSTRY IS HAMPEREDIf Iron and Steel Plants are to Extend Present Schedules Must be OverhauledIt is generally recognized that iron and steel are the basic industries of Canada. Think for a moment of the great variety of articles into whose manufacture iron or steel enters. The following despatch, therefore, to the Globe, from Rault St. Marie giving a statement of T. J. Drummond of the Lake Superior Corporation is of interest:"In regard to further extensions, I may say that we have had under consideration certain extensions of our iron and steel plant, but we have decided to postpone definite action in the meantime, pending possible consideration and action of the Dominion Government in regard to the iron and steel tariff."The existing tariff in iron and steel is so torn up by special dispositions, exemptions and rebates, that the progress of the industry is retarded, and in many cases made absolutely impossible. Under the existing tariff we are encouraged to manufacture in small lines, giving small tonnage, and thus discouraged in progression into the manufacture of heavier sections, which give larger tonnage. In other cases industries are practically hampered to purchase their pig iron, merchant steel, etc., abroad, and so in one way and another the industry is hampered, and the tariff is in many cases by these exemptions made absolutely illogical and inconsistent."If the iron and steel industry is to go forward the tariff must be overhauled, and such matters as I have referred to must be dealt with in a business sense manner, and especially in connection with pig iron, merchant mill products and structural steel. At present practically one million tons of iron and steel are annually being brought into the country, and the bulk of this tonnage could and should be made in Canada. We placed our case before the Government during the last session of Parliament, and are hoping that something may be done this session, but pending the outcome of what consideration the Government is giving to our case, we can only mark time, and hope that such action will be taken as will warrant us in going ahead with the extensions we have in view."Two Dominion Brewery

LONDON, ONT.KING ALBERT OF BELGIUMPreparations are under way for the departure of King Albert for the United States. He will travel under an incognita, leaving as soon as he can arrange the affairs of his kingdom. The object of his visit will be a study of American industrial methods with a view of providing for Belgium's increasing foreign trade. The trip has long been a characteristic dream of the young King, and is one of the few projects of his father that he is in harmony with. The King will probably assume one of his famous titles for the visit and will devote most of his time to commercial investigation.TROUBLES OF THE EAR.Many of Them Are Caused by Abuse of Some Kind.The best way to care for the ear is to study the things not to do. It is one of the most independent of organs, knowing very well how to take care of itself. If it is duly respected little trouble or none will result. In cases where something unfortunate has occurred a physician should be consulted at once.Almost all troubles of the ear are due to abuse of some kind. The wax seems to worry a great many people,
and in their concern they usually manage to seriously interfere with its functions. In the healthy ear the wax, or cerumen, is a thin yellowish fluid
that thickens into a paste as it dries.
Nature provides for its natural exit from the ear passage by uniting it with the tiny flakes of dead skin which fall outward unnoticed either by seeing or feeling. Thus wax does not accumulate in a healthy ear, which has just enough to make sticky the stiff little hairs that grow in the passage.Instruments should never be pushed into the ear by the inexperienced, not wax of material continually mopped and squeezed into the opening further. Usually such treatment increases an irritation or causes wax.
Hot water is the best solvent for wax, 105 to 115 degrees F. If the need of it is imperative gently syringe the ear with it. Cotton plugs in the ear are useful at times, but should be used no more than absolutely necessary, for they obstruct the canal and interfere with the natural way of casting off wax.—ExchangeTHE SUN AS AN ARTIST.Discovery Upon Which Turn All the Wonders of Photography.There is a wide variety in the pace at which the sun can give a color of change. It is a winter scene may be a month in reaching its ruddiness, a pouch may take only one week to flush into its mantle of maturity, but the most nimble work of the solar ray is in the decoration of fruit and flower. It is not to be compared with what it accomplishes in other departments. When its power was brought to bear upon some familiar chemical it was found that its action was reduced from days to seconds.Upon this discovery turn all the wonders of photography. At first silver nitrate—or lunar caustic, as it was commonly called—was used in the camera. From time to time other substances of greater and greater sensitiveness to light have been produced, every one of them successively giving the solar beam a wider play and more astounding power.Today, with the exposure of a photographic plate, not only are the beatings of an insect's wings caught in the camera, but also the path of a cannonball,
the skyward flight of exploded rock,
and the sinuous glint of lightning.—
Chicago Record Herald.Laugh and Live Long.It has been aptly said that there is not the remotest corner of the inlet of the minute blood vessels of the human body that does not feel some wavelet from the convulsions occasioned by pleasure or laughter. The life principle of the central man is shaken to its innermost depths, sending new tides of life and strength to the surface, thus materially tending to insure good health to the persons who indulge therein. The blood moves more rapidly and conveys a direct impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular mystic journey when the man is laughing from that conveyed at other times. For this reason every good, hearty laugh in which a person indulges tends to lengthen his life, conveying as it does new and distinct stimulus to the vital forces.What Wellington Was Doing.When Sir John Strett, the sculptor, had the Iron Duke sitting for a statue
he tried to induce him to look warlike.
All his efforts were in vain, however,
for Wellington seemed, judging by his face, never to have heard of Waterloo or Talavera. "As I am going to make this statue of your grace," he exclaimed,
"can you not tell me what you were doing before, say, the battle of Salamenca? Were you not galloping about the field, cheering on your men to deeds of valor by words and action?"
"Bah," said the duke in evident scorn. "If you really want to model me as I was on the morning of Salamenca, then do not crawl along a ditch on my stomach with a telescope
in my hand!"Whaling.Walsh Bay, the small British possession in German Southwest Africa, was recently the scene of the unusual spectacle of eight steamers at anchor, surrounded by cutters, tugs and lighters. These were the pioneers to what it is hoped will soon become a heavy traffic, for Walsh Bay has emerged from obscurity and become the base of a considerable whale-fishing industry. A large factory for the manufacture of whale oil and other products of a similar nature is being erected, and considering how successfully the whaling industry has been established along the Natal coast,
the augury for the progress of Walsh Bay is good.THIS new

One Hundred Airmen and Establish Flying SchoolsWith regard to Mr. Haldane's recent statement that the aeroplane for army purpose is still in the experimental stage, it is worthy of note that the French government regards the aero-plane in its present form as sufficiently practical to warrant the downright purchase of some fifty machines, the training of about 100 airmen, and the establishment of flying schools at Versailles, Rheims, Châlons-
sur-Marne, and Vincennes. On November 29 last, the French Army possessed thirty-two aeroplanes of the Blériot, Henri Farman, Maurice Farman, Be-guet, Wright, Antoinette and Sommer types. Since then numerous purchases have been made, including six more biplanes of the Henri Farman and Maurice Farman patterns, half a dozen Nieuport racing monoplane, some Hanriot machines, and one Koechlin.
Although no official figures are available of France's actual strength in the air, it is certain that there are not fewer than 100 Army airmen, either accomplished pilots or in training, while there are now half a dozen naval airmen learning to fly at the Government's expense. The French Government is resolved to continue its "improvements" along these lines, and these who have not yet a awakened to the value of the aeroplane in its present form in modern warfare will doubtless be thoroughly aroused if they attend the next French grand army manoeuvre.
The French War Office has offered a contractor's prize of $10,000 this year.
Every month orders from the various European countries, with the exception of the British, are received by French aeroplane constructors in Paris.

CONFIRMATION OF ESTIMATES FOR HYDRO-ELECTRIC SYSTEM FOR PETERBOROUGH CITY

$32,000 For Ornamental Lighting of Business Section, Largely to be Covered by a Local Improvement Tax—$80,000 For Ordinary Light and Power System
—$8,000 For 700 Tungsten Lamps

The following letter, dated November 6th, from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Toronto, speaks for itself. It was submitted to the City Fathers last night, and referred to the Power Committee:

"Confirming the verbal information to your council at the meeting in this office on November 5th, we would say that we estimate that a light and power system to duplicate the service now given by the Peterborough Light & Power Co. would cost $75,000, or approximately $80,000. The estimated additional cost of installing 700 100-watt tungsten lamps instead of the present number of 200 would be $7,000, or approximately $8,000. The estimated additional cost for the proposed ornamental street lighting on George street, from the C.P.R. to McEwen street, and on Charlotte street, from the G.T.H. to George street, would be $31,000, or approximately $32,000. The total of the three items is $112,000.

"It should be borne in mind that a large portion of this third item of $32,000 would be covered by a local improvement tax on the district supplied.

"We would be very glad to give you any help in our power on the preparation of your proposed money by-law."

The City Fathers intend taking up a by-law in conformity with above understanding with the Hydro-Electric Commission at their December meeting. It will be submitted to the ratepayers at the January elections.

LONDON TIMES REGRETS THE UNIONIST RIOTING

Thinks the Tactics of the Opposition are Mistaken—Balfour and Older Statesmen Hold Aloof—House Broke Up in Good Humor Yesterday

London, Nov. 15.—When the House met yesterday afternoon, profound gloom had come into the light of both parties. The Premier wisely forebore to play Cromwell two days hand-running, and Bonar Law got no chance to make another of his "Don't-sail-his-ear-to-the-pump" speeches. Before the Premier's resolution, which still started defiance from the other party, was called, the Speaker said he had a plan to preserve the old traditions and precedents of the House which was at the command of those who had these matters in charge. Without committing himself to any course of action in advance, the Premier readily accepted the Speaker's suggestion, and agreed to an adjournment until Monday for conference and consideration. He passed a tribute to the Speaker as the trustee of the right of both sides.

The Crowd Expected Fisticuffs.

The House broke up in great good humor at four o'clock in the afternoon, after sitting just one hour. This was a great disappointment to the big crowd that had gathered outside the palace yards, expecting, if not bloodshed, at least a few personal encounters. It was also a disappointment to the lobby prophets, who had said it was just a touch-up when war would break out, before questions or after. As a matter of fact the House has seldom been known to fight longer than a day at any time.

A pleasing incident was Ronald MacNeill's unreserved apology to Winston Churchill for what he acknowledged as "a very bad and unbecoming comment" in discharging a missile, the Speaker's rule book, at the Minister's face. Of course, the First Lord of the Admiralty accepted the apology in the same absolute spirit, and the House glowed at the manly interchange of courtesies between the two honorable opponents. The adjournment serves two purposes. It gives both sides time to cool off, and the Unionists something to crow about at their party convention, which is now in progress.

Times Represents Militant Methods. It is doubtful whether militant methods will be pursued further. The Times speaks of them as mistaken tactics. Arthur Balfour is known to stand aloof, and the sober second thought of the older statesmen is that the young Tory bloods have had their fill.

BULGARIAN SOVEREIGN WHO HAS HELPED HIS GENERALS TO DEFEAT THE TURKS

FERDINAND, TSAR OF THE BULGARIANS.

TO PROTECT THE HOME

A most important measure has been introduced in the Imperial Parliament as an amendment to the Home Rule Bill. It declares that anyone promulgating, or seeking to make operative, the No Temperance or No Prohibition doctrine be guilty of an indictable offense.

The Orange Sentinel thinks that it is quite possible that this measure will pass the Imperial House. If it does it will furnish a precedent for the introduction of a similar measure in the Canadian House of Commons. There are many members of the Orange Association who would prefer an amendment to the criminal code along this line to a federal marriage law. Indeed it is reported that such a measure will be introduced at the next session. There is no change in the constitution required in order to accomplish this, and it may be the line of least resistance from which a satisfactory result may follow.

Mr. Lancaster is credited with an intention to frame such an amendment to the code. It is probable that if he should not do so, a move will be made from some other direction to the same end. We commend to our readers the consideration of this as the step to be taken before moving for a uniform marriage law.

SOCIETY FORMED TO PUT END TO ALL CHRISTMAS GIFTS

New York, Nov. 15.—Mrs. August Belmont, Miss Anne Morgan, and other prominent New York women, are among the founders of a new organization, "The Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving." The society will do its utmost to abolish the "exchange" system of Christmas giving among those who can ill afford it.

"Instead of being a season of true and simple pleasure-making," said Mrs. Belmont, "Christmas has come to be a serious burden to thousands of working girls. The Christmas-giving custom may have originated in the mind of some kind person, but it results in trouble and hurt feelings."

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Jack Johnston, champion heavy weight pugilist, accused of violation of the Mann White Slave Act, was released from custody today before Judge Carpenter in bonds of $30,000.

The securities accepted were Johnston's mother, Mrs. Tiny Johnston and Matthew S. Baldwin, real estate dealer.

Johnston was taken to the County jail last Friday and since had made many efforts to regain his freedom.

"Y." MEETING A BIG SUCCESS

Large Gathering of Representative Men Discuss Raising $3000 By Tuesday

Last night some fifty representative business men and other citizens gathered at the Y.M.C.A. to discuss ways and means of raising $3,000 for that institution by next Tuesday. Mr. E. A. Peck, M.L.A., occupied the chair. He introduced the subject of the evening after the excellent report furnished by Caterer Coleman had been disposed of.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr. thanked those present for their attendance. Mr. G. A. Gillespie, Finance Minister, said the receipts Y.M.C.A. members would only meet the current expenditure and the Y.M.C.A. would have to look outside for aid. He referred to the kindly promised aid of Mr. E. R. Wood, Toronto, who offered to give $1,000 if $2,000 was raised.

Mr. Hainsworth, general secretary, said that no factory in the city can compare with the good work done by the Y.M.C.A.

Ald. Gordon said he had always been a sympathizer with the Y.M.C.A. In the coming campaign, the men who compose the team leaders are all representative men. He agreed with Mr. Hainsworth that the Y.M.C.A. was worth more to the young men of Peterborough than any factory.

Mr. R. Morris suggested that the membership at present 471 could be increased to 1,000.

Mr. Munro said he was proud of the Y.M.C.A. and its work. Mr. M. J. Canam, next to Mr. Bennett, had most to do with forwarding the institution. The Y.M.C.A. is one of the kind things for the young men to be found.

Mr. T. H. Gillespie, representing Mr. McLean, was pleased to see such a representative meeting.

Chairman Peck read letters from the C.G.E. Co., enclosing a cheque for $100. Another from the Gold Medal Mfg. Co., enclosing a draft for $10; the Delaval Supply Co., sent $25 on account.

Mayor Bradburn expressed his pleasure in being present.

The Y.M.C.A. is now going about the right way to interest the public.

Mr. Sheppard, of the Central Association, said the present movement was a step in the right direction. The business before the meeting was of sufficient importance to ensure a successful result.

The Y.M.C.A. is an open door of safety for young men that are strangers.

Lists of former subscribers were handed to the team captains to enable them to select people to solicit. The team captains are Messrs. G. J. Gordon, W. R. Morris, Wm. H. Munro, Alex. P. McLean, J. H. Campbell, Campaign Director, F. S. Sheppard, Provincial Secretary.

DRY DOCK NOW ASSURED

Thirty Thousand Dollars Will Be Voted by Parliament for This Purpose.

The statement appeared in The Times a short time ago to the effect that the Hon. the Minister of Public Works has agreed to ask Parliament for an appropriation of $30,000 for the purpose of building a dry dock in Peterborough.

Yesterday Mr. J. H. Barnham, M.P., received a telegram from Ottawa stating that this amount had been placed in the estimates for the purpose. Work will be started as soon as possible after the appropriation has passed the House.

Have Broken Through Tchatalja Defences and Are Now Near Summer Suburb of the Turkish Capital, 15 Miles From Constantinople

Constantinople, Nov. 15.—Bulgarian troops have reached the vicinity of Kilikia on the Black Sea coast at the entrance to the Bosphorus and within a few miles of the capital. The men belonging to the Turkish life-boat station have left.

The presence of the Bulgarians at Kilikia shows that the entire main Turkish army is in danger of being surrounded.

Bulgaria Reported to Have Made Armistice.

London, Nov. 15.—Bulgaria and Turkey have agreed upon an armistice, according to a special news agency despatch which reached this city this afternoon from Bucharest, Romania.

Have Broken Down Tchatalja Defences.

Sofia, Nov. 15.—The Bulgarians are successfully breaking down the Turkish defensive lines at Tchatalja. The situation of the defenders is critical. Bulgarians are bringing 150 heavy guns to bear on the Turkish positions.

Relations Between Austria and Serbia Serious.

Belgrade, Nov. 15.—The Ministers of the powers presented the mediation proposals to the Serbian Government to-day. No reply will be made until the return of Premier Pachitch. The relations between Austria and Serbia are regarded in diplomatic circles here as serious.

Five Thousand Forks Have Cholera.

Constantinople, Nov. 15.—The cholera epidemic among the Turkish troops holding the line of fortifications at Tchatalja is becoming worse. Constantinople is rapidly becoming worse. Over 500 cases are reported daily and the total number already exceeds 6,000. Whatever hopes the Turks may have had of maintaining the line of defenses at Tchatalja have been dissipated by this outbreak of cholera.

Control Capital's Water Supply.

London, Nov. 15.—The Bulgarian army on Sunday last occupied the town of Dardos, at the Black Sea end of the Tchatalja line, and thus controls the water supply of Constantinople. This, however, has not yet been interfered with.

The apathy and sullen resignation with which the Turks face the series of overwhelming disasters deserves comment. It is true that severe application of martial law prevents the public expression of any criticism or demonstrations of resentment. The great mass of Bulgarians, however, is inclined to bow to the inevitable, and to accept without violent opposition what they regard as the dictates of fate.

WILL CRUSH BIG COAL TO STOVE AND FURNACE SIZES

Ald. Butler's Scheme to Meet Existing Fuel Shortage—An Experiment Heretofore Untried—City Council Will Withdraw Bridge By-laws—Think the Hydro-Electric and Incineration Measures Quite Enough For Public Digestion in January

The City Council met in Committee of the whole last night, Mayor W. H. Bradburn presiding. There were also present Aldermen Gillespie, Morgan, Duncan, Anderson, Graham, Gordon, Duffus, Johnston, Buller and Brown.

A number of ratepayers petitioned for an are light at the corner of Aylmer and Wolfe streets. This is a very dark locality and much travelled by citizens to and from the C.P.R. station. Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee with power to act.

The motion of Aldermen Duncan and Buller was carried.

Regarding Mr. Lynch's complaint of water lying on Elm street, the Board of Works has no funds to water-table or grade this road.

The draining of the water that gathers in the ditch created by the U.T.R. embankment south of Rink street, was referred to the Board of Works. This work would cost, according to the city engineer's report, $112 and is pressed for by the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co. who insist that the nuisance be remedied in preservation of their property.

Ald. Morgan and Johnston took exception to Elm street citizens' petition for road grading, to relieve them of surface water, being turned down by the Board of Works for lack of funds, while the work asked for by the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co. is taken seriously by the Board's chairman, Ald. Buller.

Ald. Butler replied that the Fuel and Cartage Co. are going to see that the city does this work in their own (P.F. & C. Co.) legitimate interests. "These twenty-five adjacent properties are frequently flooded from this ditch, which deplorable conditions have existed some twelve years now."

This matter was eventually turned over to the Board of Works, but not with power to act, however.

Township's Writ Against City.

The City Solicitor reported that he had entered an appearance for the city to the writ issued by the Township of Otonabee and Monaghan, to restrain the city from polluting the river with its sewage, but pointed out that if no arrangement is made with the townships and the action proceeds, it will be a very expensive matter and may result in the city being prevented from discharging sewage into the Otonabee. The solicitor advised that some action should be taken at once satisfactory to the Provincial Board of Health to remove any justifiable cause of complaint.

The writ of summons asks for an injunction to prevent the pollution of the river, and if this is pressed, the city may find itself in a very unfortunate position.

Ald. Gordon offered his regrets that some more definite action had not been agreed upon for substantial to the townships before they had felt the need of legislation to enforce their claims in regard to disposal of this city's sewage.

Ald. Johnston said in line with

ROGERS DAM WILL NOW BE PROPERLY REPAIRED

Work to be Done Under Supervision of Mr. A. J. Grant, Chief Engineer of Canada.

It will be remembered that the high water of last spring washed away the eastern portion of what is known as Rogers dam, leaving a hole some 15 or 20 feet deep. The old dam should not have been taken away. It could have been repaired cheaply. The lumbermen have the right of floating logs and it is necessary to provide a passage. It was decided to repair the dam at a cost of $1,400. This was done, the job being supervised through the Superintendent's department, under charge of Mr. Clem Gordon, former superintendent of repairs.

Mr. J. H. Barnham took the matter up with the Minister of Railways and Canals, with the result that the dam will now be properly repaired under supervision of Mr. A. J. Grant, Chief Engineer of the Canals. Mr. Wells has the charge of the work and will undoubtedly take the job to a successful issue.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The condition of affairs in Turkey is conclusive proof that the dogs of war have not yet been sent to the cannage factory.

Our idea of a confirmed optimist is the fellow who really believes that he can get the best of a long tussle with John Barleycorn.

As a rule the man who spends time and money entertaining friends at a third parlor is the one who lives most about the high cost of living.

The price of drinks has gone up 100 per cent. in Toronto, says the World. This probably means a frightful hardship for the editor and his friends.

Now that the mental strain produced by the naval plans is practically over, we would advise those who like restful effect of humorous writings to collect and read the predictions of an esteemed local contemporary, the Examiner.

During the campaign in Macdonald a Tory asked the audience he was addressing: "Shall a dog drop his bone for a visionary bone?" As the question has not been answered to the present writing, this great family journal assume that the dogs have the matter still under consideration.

A few days ago a paragraph in the Examiner stated that "the Liberal party would approach the next campaign with confidence on the security of its cause. This is such a funeral summons to battle that we move to strike out the word 'security' and insert the word 'death'."

MIXED SCHOOLS

Why should there be Separate schools? It is an answer to the question to say that Separate schools were established under the British North America Act and that therefore they cannot be abolished. They could be amalgamated with the Public schools if the Catholic ratepayers desired. That the majority of the Catholic ratepayers would prefer to have their children educated in mixed schools, where Catholics and Protestants would sit side by side, is known to all who take an interest in this question. But the voice of the Separate school ratepayers is never heard. The voice that is heard is the voice of the Archbishop, and it is his voice that the politicians invariably listen to. Sir James Whitney admits that the legislature has the right to amend and improve the Separate school laws in order to make the schools efficient and enable them to give a good education at the expense of those who support them. It is therefore the duty of the Conservative ministry to amend and improve the law by putting the ballot in the hands of the Separate school ratepayers in order that they may elect capable representatives to the Separate School Board and not be obliged to take every nominee whom it pleases the Palace to send them. What single reason can be put forward for withholding from the Separate school ratepayers the same privileges as enjoyed by the ratepayers who support the Public schools? One of these is the right to elect trustees by ballot. In all elections now held the ballot has been substituted for open voting, in order to get rid of all outside pressure. Of all people who are subject to outside pressure the Catholics are the greatest sufferers. Yet a Conservative ministry withholds from them the one means by which they could give free expression to their wishes in regard to the schools carried on at their expense. Priests pay no taxes, are not business men, and have no experience with children; yet the control of the Separate schools is in the hands of the priests. Catholic ratepayers are entrusted with the ballot in municipal elections and parliamentary elections, where they vote with Protestants, yet in the election of trustees to manage their educational affairs—the most vital subject of all—the ballot is practically denied them. Conservatives, who should be the first to try to aid the Catholic ratepayers to escape from clerical pressure in the education of their children, are the very ones to tighten the bonds, thus preventing Catholic parents from freely exercising their choice. The Scriptural reasons having been approved of by the Archbishop, so that no Catholic pupil would feel that he was in any way being reflected upon, or that any attempt could be made to tamper with his religion, the necessity for Separate schools disappeared. It is not the Catholic ratepayers who desire that Separate schools shall be maintained, but the Catholic hierarchy, and it is only because the hierarchy insists on Catholic children being kept apart from Protestants that Separate schools are necessary. Instead of the intolerance and bigotry developed under the system of keeping Catholic and Protestant pupils apart friendships would be formed at mixed schools which would continue all through life. Catholic and Protestant trustees would sit on the same school board, and Catholic children would not be handicapped in the race of life by inferior education.

ALDERMAN GORDON AS A PROBABLE CANDIDATE

The Next Year's Council Should Include a Lawyer Who Has Displayed Zeal for City Prosperity.

One of the evening papers suggests that Ald. G. N. Gordon is likely to receive opposition when he runs for re-election next January.

In our opinion the Centre Ward should show its appreciation of Ald. Gordon's work in the Council for the past year by electing him by acclamation. Last January the largest majority given to any candidate in the election was given to Ald. Gordon, and from what we can learn he is much stronger now.

He is a most energetic, far-seeing and fair-minded councillor, and the city needs his service as it never did before. His successful work and untiring efforts to help every worthy cause are well known and his opinions have carried a great deal of influence in the city's policy of development along the line of acquiring new manufactures.

The City Council needs one honest, clear-headed lawyer in it and Ald. Gordon is that one. In fact we would like to see an engineer or two in the Council to assist by their special training.

If any one runs against Ald. Gordon, it will be a fight to a finish for the lawyer-alderman is a strong campaigner, as was shown by his last election, and he knows every man, woman and child in the Centre Ward.

With A. J. Warr and other new candidates, there seems to be an indication that we will have more strength in the new council.

It seems conceded that Mayor Bradburn will receive his second term by acclamation as he should, for his government has been as progressive as he was able to make it.

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

HERE IS GOOD ADVICE TO ALL WHO FEEL AS IF THEIR VIGOR AND LIFE ALL OZZED AWAY.

This Condition Can be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the land. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarhizone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

WILL CRUSH BIG COAL

pointed out that the townships have been put off from time to time the past three years, no joint meetings having resulted in anything of a tangible nature, and unless a definite agreement is reached the consequence will be serious to the city.

Ald. Gillespie thought that were a committee appointed to meet representatives from the interested townships and explain exactly what action the city is taking, the delay for delay, the townships would not be found unreasonable. He spoke advisedly.

Moved by Ald. Gillespie, seconded by Ald. Duffus, that Ald. Buller, Gordon, Duffus and the Mayor be a committee to meet representatives from the two Monaghan and Otonabee townships, to explain the city's intention in relation to sewage disposal. Carried.

On the Mayor's suggestion Ald. Gillespie's name was added to this committee.

City Development.

Mr. Sharpe spoke at length on the merits of future city developments on a definite line, under the direction of a man skilled in such work. This matter will receive council's attention later on.

Garbage Collection.

Ald. Duncan's report of the Property Committee explained the action taken on complaints regarding garbage collection, as previously published.

Ald. Duffus wanted an explanation of those complaints, to wit: Ald. Duncan replied, adding that investigation had shown that Downer, the collector, was not altogether at fault, some citizens not understanding the requirements of this making collection difficult. However, existing misunderstandings had been removed and he looked for no further trouble, as he believed Downer was endeavoring to live up to his contract to the best of his ability.

Ald. Duffus thought many complaining citizens had been most unreasonable, and that Downer was honestly trying to do his work in a satisfactory manner. The system is a good one, he added, and is working out all right.

Snow Ploughing.

A by-law authorizing the execution of contracts for snow ploughing passed its third reading.

J. P. Connors was awarded the contract for No. 3 District at $140.

This district was not needed for Thursday night. The chairman was authorized to arrange with some person to take care of No. 3 District, for which neither Mr. Connors' nor Mr. Curran's tender was accepted.

Thursday night, pending arrangements for one of the men to enter into a contract for this district and the other for No. 3 District, Subsequent to the meeting, the tender would enter into a contract for No. 5.

INDUSTRIAL BY-LAW.

The DeLaval Dairy Supply Company's by-law passed its third reading.

Market Hours.

Ald. Brown raised a question of changing the hour at which buyers may purchase wholesale on the market from 10 to 11 o'clock.

This matter proved a bone of contention. Some argued that such a change would injure the market, inasmuch as produce growers could not get away early enough to catch outgoing trains. Others contended that the later hour would be a measure to curb a monopoly of the market by dealers.

Ald. Gillespie offered that the market be open to A.L.E. Residents, citizens can purchase produce cheaper from dealers than they can on the market.

This matter was referred to the Property Committee to wrestle with and report.

Too Many By-Laws.

It was agreed that as the Hydro-Electric by-law and one to authorize the purchase of an incinerator is to go to the people in January, it would be unwise to add another for a high-level bridge at Hunter street and one for a bridge at Dalhousie street.

$1,000 To The Good.

The $1,000 paid by the Peterborough Cereal Co. for a deed of their property on the river front was applied to a fund for extensions and widening of streets.

To Crush Coal.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cattle Co. were rented the city's stone crusher with which to crush large grade coal to stove and furnace sizes.

This is a Want Ad Town

1) There Are a Lot of Important Things That cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service given. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

QUEER OLD MINES

The Orpiment Workings in the Snow Clad Himalayas.

A DAZZLING BLAZE OF COLOR.

Splendors of the Dismal Mineral Photo as They Sparkle in a Brilliant Mass of Gold and Rubies in the Light of the Flashing Torches.

High on the flanks of Thrush Mt., one of the snow clad giant Himalayas of Central Asia, are the old mines where orpiment is found. Orpiment is a fiery, scintillating mineral, a compound of arsenic and sulphur, the basis of certain beautiful yellow pigments, the auripigmentum of the ancients. In "Sport and Life in the Farther Himalayas" Major Kennell describes his visit to these workings, the first visit to them, he was told, ever made by a European.

"The holes through which the mines are entered are in the face of a precipitous rock and are reached by a narrow, downward sloping ledge. They were about large enough for a hyena to walk into without inconvenience.

"On my arrival five or six men with bloodshot eyes and faces covered with yellow dust crawled out. Although not injurious to health, the orpiment, I was told, affected the hands of the miners in a peculiar way. That was obvious enough. The hands of many of the men I saw were shrunk to the bone, of a dark shaly color and covered with knots and excrescences.

"I told my guide to lead on, and he disappeared into one of the holes. I followed more deliberately, surprised at being able to get in at all. After crawling a few yards we found ourselves in a small chamber about eight feet long, in which a man could stand upright. The air was fresher than I had expected, but there was no orpiment in sight.

"In the farther corner there was what looked like a well, and toward this my guide led me. Following his example, I sat on the floor and let myself down feet foremost into this dark and narrow hole. The shaft did not go straight down, and on the whole it was easier to descend than a factory chimney, for here and there were projecting ledges on which you could rest your feet. But for any one except a sweep or an orpiment miner it was difficult enough.

"After descending some twenty feet I felt my legs swinging in space, a hand grasped one foot, guided it to a rock and I let myself down on solid earth. I was in another chamber, smaller than the first and stiffer. But still there was no orpiment.

"A hole appeared to lead away to a downward direction from the farther end of the chamber, and on one side a lot of debris had fallen. My guide cheerfully told me that this was the grave of eight men, who had been buried under this fall of stone while working at the end of the passage.

"My guide now disappeared into the hole and I had to follow. There was no room to crawl—you had to lie down and work yourself along with your feet. The air was foul and full of sulphurous dust. If it had been possible to turn round and retreat I think I should have done so. After traversing forty feet, which seemed as many miles, in this painful manner we reached another chamber, in which it was possible to sit up.

"Here at last was the orpiment, and it was almost worth the trouble of coming to sea. Except where the roof was blackened by our torches—the miners do their work in the dark for the sake of purer air—the walls of the mine seemed a dazzling, scintillating mosaic of gold and rubies. The light was thrown back from an infinite number of glittering points, in which every shade of red and yellow, from the deepest ruby to the palest sulphur, was intermingled to form an indescribable blaze of color.

"After admiring the fascinating glitter and gleam and ever changing blaze of beautiful color of this display of subterranean splendor for awhile and breaking off a few specimens of various hues I began to long for the upper air. So we began the ascent from the mine, which I was pleased to find considerably easier than the descent."

Just the Same.
"Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?"
"Exactly. I remember just how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I used to hang over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her shadow on the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act just the same way now when I get home late."

Not So Very Unexpected.
"Ada, dearest Ada, will you be mine?"
"Oh, Charles, this is so unexpected! You must give me a little time."
"How long, darling?"
"Oh, I will just call mamma. She is waiting in the next room."—Flegende Blätter.

THE "GOBLIN PRIAR."

One of the Specters That Are Said to Haunt Newstead Abbey.
Newstead Abbey, the home of Lord Byron, has the reputation of being haunted by more than one specter, and many curious noises and strange sights have been heard and seen by residents and visitors there. But the best known and most noted specter connected with the place and immortalized in Byron verse is the "Goblin Friar." The particular chamber which this specter is supposed especially to frequent and which is known par excellence as the "haunted chamber" adjoins Byron's bedroom. Lord Byron and many others not only believed in the existence of the Goblin Friar, but asserted that they had really seen it. It did not confine its visitations, however, to the "haunted chamber," but at night walked the cloisters and other portions of the abbey.

A monk arrayed in cowl and beads and dusty garb appeared in the moonlight and now loomed

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Science change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. "Is not enough that you graduated from this University at that College. The world asks: 'What do you know to-day?' Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself huddled up on the mud-flat. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is the one and perpetual by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., O.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., L.L.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 600 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—
"I have had occasion to resort to it frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not un-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—
"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wynn, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Library and Scientific Institute writes:—
"The name of 'Nelson' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia."
"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Remarkable story of a Man in Love Who Finally Went Mad

A remarkable story of how a man, having lost the girl he wanted to marry, kept up the illusion that he had married her, is reported from Bala.

Michael Kilroy, a property owner in Kilmest, had for several years been in love with Malvina Marmorstein, the daughter of a merchant hotel for her beauty. Her parents were not in favor of the match, as they considered Kilroy to be very strange in his ways. Later, a bookkeeper named Oscar came on the scene, fell in love with Malvina Marmorstein, and married her. Kilroy now took pains to be near the Oscars, and after a few months, he seemed to have given up his disappointment. He spent the greater part of the day in his room, and when he came out, he was always very over-curious. After a while Kilroy began to receive letters and packages from Paris. He was very himself, carefully concealing the contents from his landlady. The latter, in tidying up the room, occasionally came across articles of women's clothing, and one day when Kilroy was in another part of the house, she opened into the room in which he spent most of his time, and saw Frau Oscar sitting on a sofa. She ordered the woman to leave the house at once, threatening to inform her husband. At this point Kilroy appeared on the scene, and began to laugh. He pointed to the supposed Frau Oscar. "That is a wax figure," he said, "but tell me one thing you have seen, otherwise I will shoot myself." The landlady promised, and Kilroy explained that when he made the acquaintance of Malvina Marmorstein she gave him her photograph, from which he ordered a wax figure made. The story goes that he made love to the wax figure for a year, and when the real Frau Oscar became a mother Kilroy ordered the figure of a child from Paris.

Recently Kilroy had a nervous breakdown, and showed signs of madness. A few days ago he began to rave and was taken to St. Asaph's.

INMATE OF WORKHOUSE HUSBAND OF COUNTESS

Martin Townsend is Said to Have Been Married to a Titled Lady

After making their customary round of the Newport Workhouse some time ago, the Visiting Committee made the following entry concerning an inmate named Townsend: "An actor, stated to be married to a countess." Townsend obviously declines to divulge his wife's name as he is anxious not to hurt her feelings, but he himself claims that she is a countess.

The romance appears to date from July, 1898, when a marriage took place in the Registry Office in Charles Street, Cardiff, the bridegroom being Martin Edward Townsend, who described himself as a professional and a bachelor, and gave his age as 31. The bride, who was fashionably attired, described herself as a widow, and her age was also entered as 31. The name she then gave was a rich aristocratic name. Apparently the romance was short-lived, for the couple soon separated. Townsend is said to be an excellent companion, and his conversation shows him to be well read and a man of considerable culture.

RAILROADS AND INDUSTRIES

They Give a Town Stability and Permanency

It can be safely said that nearly every live Board of Trade and aggressive Publicity Agent in Western Canada to-day is out for every industry possible to obtain. Railroads and industries give a town stability and permanency. And while it is often declared that agriculture is the backbone of the country, how fortunate indeed that town which has a monthly payroll of $25,000 of railroad and industrial employees, when there is even a partial crop failure. Merchants are able to meet their obligations promptly and there is no set back and straining of credit for a year, or until another good crop is harvested and normal financial conditions are resumed. Without railroads or industries there is no certainty of any town ever having a large population or needing any increase in the number of businesses necessary to serve the community. Without these industries in nearly every case there is a limit to population as well as to development.—Milestone Mail.

BIG INTEREST IN WOOL BILL

Our Neighbors to the South Are Aroused Over the Proposal to Reduce the Tariff on Wool

It will be remembered that in their platform Republicans pledged themselves to maintain a tariff adequate to offset the difference in the cost of production between the United States and foreign countries. Although somewhat revolutionary in other respects, President Roosevelt was careful to reaffirm the general principle of protection. Even the candidate of the Democrats, Mr. Woodrow Wilson, who was always inclined to low tariff, was mindful in his speech accepting the nomination to assure American workmen that in any revision of the tariff their interests would be protected. All three parties recognize that the principle of protection is vital to the preservation of a prosperous home market. Ex-President Roosevelt said the substitution of a tariff for revenue only as proposed by the Democratic platform would plunge the United States into the most widespread industrial depression it had ever seen. He believed the American people favored a protective tariff.

President Taft shares in this belief as is shown in the statement accompanying his formal veto of the wool revision bill which was in part: "I shall stand by my pledge to maintain a degree of protection necessary to offset the differences in cost of production here and abroad, and will heartily approve of any bill reducing duties to this level. To sum up, then, most of the rates in the submitted bill are so low in themselves that if enacted into law the inevitable result would be irretrievable injury to the wool growing industry, the enforced idleness of much of our wool combing and spinning machinery and of thousands of looms and the consequent throwing out of employment of thousands of workmen." In conclusion he appealed to Congress to adopt some other measure which would not destroy any established industry or throw any wage earners out of employment.

GETTING MEN TO CHURCH

At a conference of the Church of England Men's Society, held in Bath, under the presidency of Dr. Kennan, Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Rev. Hyman Stewart, rector of Bathwick, declared that if they were to attract men to church they must in the first instance get the women to reform the men of their habit. The statement was received with laughter, and Mr. Hyman Stewart added that "a friend had declared that he would not go to church again until this was done, for he declared that he could neither see nor hear anything. Very often, he said, the women were very particular about the arrangement of their hair and their hats than they were about their prayer."

SOIL STILL RICH AFTER 80 YEARS

Farnham Farm, in Wellington county, Ontario, owned by Mr. Henry Argill, after eighty summers' constant cultivation, possesses soil as rich as if it were richer than when it was first broken in 1831. The following methods of farming, rigidly adhered to by Mr. Argill, may be cited as reasons for this happy situation:—

The owner's interests are evenly divided between crop production and live stock raising.

Everything grown on the farm in the way of feed is fed on the farm.

A system of crop rotation prevents any needless waste of soil fertility.

The application of barnyard manure after specially absorbent crops replenishes the soil with plant food.

Hay area is pastured two years and crops cut from it two years, then plowed under.

Rape seed is sown with oat crop, providing pasture for cattle and sheep for more than three months after harvest.

The general conduct of the farm is closely in accord with mixed farming principles, which protect any soil from depletion.

HOME INDUSTRY

How It Has Been Injured in the Case of Wool Manufacture

"Canada an example and warning" is the subject of a pamphlet issued by Thomas O. Marvin, of the Home Market Club, Boston. He says that the wool manufactured in the Dominion of Canada is as old, and theoretically it should be as prosperous an industry as it is in the United States, yet the entire production of the Canadian mills is less than that of a single American company. "Two out of three of the inhabitants of the Dominion," he said, "are clothed wholly in foreign fabrics, as against less than one in ten of the American people."

He then proceeds to investigate this extraordinary difference. Fifty years ago the countries were practically on an equal so far as this great branch of textile manufacturing was concerned. The Canadian mills had been managed with shrewdness and ability. There has been no dearth of capital or of skilled operatives. Many of these capitalists or mill owners, finally despairing of success in Canada had moved to the United States and there had become successful manufacturers. So, too, with the operators. A considerable proportion of the best spinners, weavers and dyers in American mills to-day had found their way to these mills by way of Canada.

In 1861, an adequate protective tariff in which wool and its manufactures were included, was enacted for the American people by their government, and under this policy the aggregate value of American wool products increased from $72,454,000 in 1860 to $507,319,000 in 1910. Under a policy of late years of inadequate protection, however, the wool manufacture of Canada had entirely failed to increase but was actually decreasing, as witness the large number of mills that had closed. The sheep themselves were disappearing. While there were 3,154,000 sheep in Canada in 1871, there were only 2,104,000 in 1910, while in the United States on the other hand, the number had grown from 27,386,000 to 41,999,000.

"In other words," says Mr. Marvin, "inadequate protection robs Canada of a great natural industry once strong and prosperous and has made Canada the best outside customer of the great manufacturing clothiers of the United States."

HISTORIC PRISON CELLS

The Criminal Relics of London Will Be Stored Therein

The authorities of the new London Museum, at Kensington Palace, have secured possession of some historical prison cells, which will be housed the criminal relics of London.

The cells were discovered in a common lodging house in Wellclose Square, St. George's-in-the-East, and are believed to date back to the time of Charles II., and to have been subsequently used in connection with the Whitechapel Police Court. In the walls, which are built of oak, thickly studded with strong iron bolts, were the original fetters used for the condemned prisoners, together with a plank bed, upon which, no doubt, many a criminal spent his last night in the cells.

The complete cells have been dismantled by experts, acting under instructions from Mr. Guy Laking, custodian of the new museum, and will be re-erected in their entirety in the annex at the museum at Kensington, where visitors will be able to pass in and out of them and inspect the many quaint inscriptions on the walls. An old oak staircase still stands in the house in Wellclose Square, but this will not be removed.

TWO ENGINES IN BIPLANE

Satisfactory Test Made of the New Apparatus

A successful trial has been made at the Royal Aero Club's ground, Bournemouth (Isle of Sheppey), by Messrs. Short brothers of their twin engine biplane. Mr. P. K. McLean, for whom the machine has been built, piloted with Lieut. C. R. Samson, R.N., as passenger. The chassis carries a weight of one ton. At starting it required ten men to hold the machine down, the twin engines of 150 horsepower exerting such great pull. Mr. McLean took his machine up and down the ground several times, and although he kept throttling down the speed quickly, and when the engines were completely shut off her excellent gliding qualities were displayed, the machine coming gently to a halt in spite of her great weight. "So far," the test has proved eminently a success. Her speed and other test are to be conducted at the earliest opportunity.

school time of a man like Prince Bulow, who played so conspicuous a part in his country's history, and all the more when what is read is written by Prince Bulow himself."I never attached much importance to home tasks," says the Prince. "In my opinion the chief thing is to do one's learning in school, to listen to a lecture attentively, to write the main point of a subject, to answer quickly and precisely, to think clearly, and ex-

in such cases, he had a hearty dislike to mathematics. One of the happiest moments of his life, he says, was after his final examination when he studied his book of logarithms into the fire.
He did not work during the vacations,
but roved freely about the country.
The Prince found it hard to learn a foreign language at school. "It is difficult," he writes, "really to master
a foreign speech unless one has spoken it from childhood, when tongue and ear become accustomed to it, or else
one has learned it in the foreign country."
The Prince himself is a good illustration of this, for he speaks French fluently, having been for some years
German Ambassador at Paris, and English very poorly, since he spent very little time in that country.NAVAL AVIATIONFrance and Germany are paying much attention to itBoth France and Germany are paying special attention to naval aviation at present. France is establishing an aerodrome for the training of naval officers near Toulon, and Germany has already established an aerodrome at the naval base at Osthaven and Wilhelmshaven. It is said that a big aeronautic station is also to be formed on the island of Heligoland. Heligoland, a British possession, is so isolated that important experiments can be carried on there without fear of espionage. A number of German officers are now in training at the naval aviation school at Johannisthal, near Berlin, and when trained they are to act as instructors at the new aerodromes. France and Germany are each experimenting actively with the aeroplanes which can alight on the water.THE PENDULUM WALTZIt Recreates the Vigorous Working of a Pump HandleThe newest form of waltz in Germany is called the "Pendulum." It is hard to describe on paper, but an idea may be had of it in performance by imagining a pump handle in vigorous motion. The pumping keeps time with the music, the bodies of the dancers swaying rhythmically in accord. There is, of course, nothing new in the movement so far, except that it is exaggerated far beyond what is considered allowable in England or America; but in Germany the feet appear to keep no particular time at all, but "creep about," to use the German idiom, independently of the rhythm. It is attributable to the limitations imposed on the waltz step by the hobbie-skirt, which reduces the action of the feet
to a minimum, and it is probable that with the abuse of the hobbie-skirt the "Pendulum" too, will pass away.HEREDITARY PENSIONGranted in 1875 by Charles II. and Still Being PaidLiving in Peterborough, in humble circumstances, is a groom named Smith, who, upon the death of his father, came into the possession of a hereditary pension, granted in 1875, by King Charles II., to a man who assisted his escape from England after the battle of Worcester. The pension, which was voted by what is now known as the "Pensions Parliament," because of its readiness to recompense
the King's friends on the expression of his Majesty's desire, amounts to £154 a week, and having been paid for 34 years, has already cost $22,940.
As the pension was granted in perpetuity, only the dying out of his progeny can prevent the sum from eventually running into millions of pounds.
Mr. Smith's father sold his life interest in the pension many years before he died, but his son had no difficulty in proving his title upon his father's death, the documents being in the possession of a firm of London lawyers.
Mr. Smith, who was previously a groom in London, has a little son to beget the pension, and he is the Social Functions in EnglandAt the great social functions this season the number of grey-haired ladies to be seen is a matter of general comment. In these days grey hairs are apt to make their appearance in early middle life, indeed, in many cases while the owner is in the flower of her youth. The Marchioness of Ponsonby has been white for years.

Mrs. Hall Walker, one of the lovely Sheridans, has white hair, which is the envy of all her friends. She is one of the young matrons. Another is Mrs. John Jacob Astor, whose snowy tresses single her out for admiration in any crowd. Since she was seventeen Lady Henry Bentinck has had white hair. She is a sister-in-law of the Duke of Portland, and one of the most picturesque women in London. Madame von Andre, a popular American, says if a woman has the proper coloring for white hair, that it is irrefragable. Her own certainly is. Countess Fritze-Hockberg, who is a sister of Lord Fanny, a typical Irish beauty, with her dark eyes and fair complexion, has wonderful white hair which has begun to turn white her friends say she is more beautiful than at any other time in her life.BIRTHPLACE OF YACHTINGThe Sport Appears to Have Had Its Inception in IrelandYachting, as a recognised branch of aquatic sport, appears to have come to us from the Emerald Isle. At any rate, "The Water Club of the Harbour of Cork," as the Royal Cork Yacht Club was originally called, claims precedence over the Royal Yacht Squadron, and dating from 1716 will soon be celebrating a bi-centen-nary. When that festive occasion arrives the members will probably no longer be required to conform to the sumptuary laws which were enacted for the earliest years. It was prescribed in those Spartan days that no admiral should bring more than two chairs to the club, or presume to bring more than two dozen of wine to his treat.KEZIAH COFFINby

CHAPTER I.In Which Keziah Meets Two Proposals and the Beginning of a Third.Trumet in a fog, a fog blown in during the night by the wind from the wide Atlantic. So wet and heavy that one might taste the salt in it. So thick that houses along the main road were but dim shapes behind its gray drapery, and only the gates and fences of the front yards were plainly in evidence to the passer-by. The beach plum and barberry bushes, on the dukes were spangled with beads of dew.
The pole on Cannon Hill, where the beacon was hoisted when the packet from Boston dropped anchor in the bay, was shiny and slippery. The new weather-vane, a gilded whale, presented to the "Trumet" church by Captain Sebeidiah Wray, retired whaler, swam in sea of cloud. The hallowed eaves of the little "Come-Outer" chapel dripped at sad intervals. The brick walk leading to the door of Captain Elkanah Daniels's fine residence held undignified puddles in its hollows.
And, through the damp stillness, the muttered growl of the surf, three miles away at the foot of the sandy bluffs by the lighthouse, sounded ominously.Directly opposite Captain Elkanah's front gate, on the other side of the main road, stood the little story-and-a-half house, also the captain's property, which for fourteen years had been tenanted by Mrs. Keziah Coffin and her brother, Solomon Hall, the shoemaker. But Solomon had, the month before, given up his fight with debt and illness and was sleeping quietly down in Trumet's most populous center, the graveyard. And Keziah, left alone, had decided that the rent and living expenses were more than her precarious earnings as a seamstress would warrant, and, having bargained with the furniture dealer in Wellmouth for the sale of her household effects, was now busy getting them ready for the morrow, when the dealer's wagon was to call. She was going to Boston, where a distant and condescending rich relative had interested himself to the extent of finding her a place as sewing woman in a large tailoring establishment.The fog hung like a wet blanket over the house and its small yard,
where a few venerable pear trees, too conservative in their old age to contemplate a bud even though it was almost May, stood bare and forlorn. The day was dismal. The dismantled dining room, its tables and chairs pushed into a corner, and its faded ingrain carpet partially stripped from the floor, was dismal. Likewise, considering all things, one might have expected Keziah herself to be even more dismal.
But, to all outward appearances, she was not. A large portion of her thirty-nine years of life had been passed under a wet blanket, so to speak, and she had not permitted the depressing covering to shut out more sunshine than was absolutely necessary. "If you can't get cream, you might as well learn to love your sa-ser of skim milk," said practical Keziah.She was on her knees, her calico dress sleeves, patched and darned, but absolutely clean, rolled back, uncovering a pair of plump, strong arms, a saucer of tacks before her, and a tack hammer with a claw head in her hand.
She was taking up the carpet. Grace
Van Horne, Captain Eben Hammond's ward, who had called to see if there was anything she might do to help, was removing towels, tablecloths, and the like from the drawers in a tall
"high-boy," folding them and placing them in an old and battered trunk.
The pair had been discussing the subject which all Trumet had discussed for three weeks, namely, the "calling"
to the pastorate of the "Regular" church of the Rev. John Elery, the young divinity student who was to take the place of old Parson Langley, minister in the parish for over thirty years. Discussion in the village had now reached a critical point, for the Reverend John was expected by almost any coach. In three days the day of the late strike, the railroad down the Cape extended only as far as Sandwich; passengers made the rest of their journey by stage. Many came direct from the city by the packet, the little schooner, but Mr.
Elery had written that he should probably come on the coach."They say he's very nice-looking," remarked Miss Van Horne soberly, but with a mischievous glance under her dark lashes at Keziah. The lady addressed paused long enough to transfer several tacks from the floor to the sawcer, and then made answer.
"Humph!" she observed. "A good many years ago I saw a theater show up to Boston. Don't be shocked;
those circumstances we hear so much talk of—the kind you can't control—have kept me from going to theaters much, even if I wanted to. But I did see this entertainment, and a fool one
'twas, too, all slights instead of talking—open, I believe they called it. Well, it started to say, one of the ladies folks in it was the Old Lady Keziah, and he was pretty good-looking!"Grace laughed, even though she had been somewhat shocked.
"Why, Aunt Keziah!" she exclaimed—those who knew Keziah Coffin beusually called her aunt, though real nephews and nieces she had none—
"Why, Aunt Keziah! What do you mean by comparing the person you just mentioned with a minister?"
"Oh, I wasn't comparin' 'em; I'll leave that for you Come-Outers to do.
Drest this carpet! Seems as if I never saw such long tacks; I do believe you ever put 'em down drove 'em clean through the center of the earth andlet the Chinamen clinch 'em on Cother side. I haul up a chunk of the collar floor with every one. Ah, hum!" with a sigh. "I callate they ain't any more anxious to leave home than I am. But, far's the minister's concerned, didn't I hear of your Uncle Eben sayin' in prayer meetin' only a fortnit or so ago that all hands who wa'n't Come-Outers were own children to Satan? Mr.
Elery must take after his father
some. Surprisin', ain't it, what a family the old critter's got?"The girl laughed again. For one brought up, since her seventh year, in the strictest of Come-Outer families, she laughed a good deal. Many Come-Outers considered it wicked to laugh.
Yet Grace did it, and hers was a laugh pleasant to hear and distinctly pleasant to see."Aunt Keziah," she said, "why do you go away? What makes you? Is it absolutely necessary?"
"Why do I go? Why, for the same reason that the feller that was hove overboard left the ship—'cause I can't stay.""I don't care!" The girl's dark eyes shined indignantly. "I think it's too bad of Cap'n Elkanah to turn you out when—""Don't talk that way. He ain't turnin' me out. He ain't lettin' houses for his health and he'll need the money to buy his daughter's summer rig."She ain't had a new dress for a month, pretty near, and here's a young and good-looking parson heavin' in sight.
Maybe Cap'n Elkanah would think a minister was high-toned enough even for Annabel to marry.""He's only twenty-three, they say," remarked Grace, a trifle maliciously.
"Perhaps she'll adopt him."Annabel was the only child of Captain Elkanah Daniels, who owned the finest house in town. She was the belle of Trumet, and had been for a good many years.Grace smiled, but quickly grew grave.
"Now, Auntie," she said, "please listen. I'm in earnest. It seems to me that you might do quite well at dressmaking here in town, if you had a little—well, ready money to help you at the start. I've got a few hundred dollars in the bank, presents from uncle, and my father's insurance money. I should love to lend it to you, and I know uncle would—"Mrs. Coffin interrupted her.
"Ca'n't foot!" she exclaimed. "I hope I haven't got where I need to borrow money yet a while. Thank you just as much, dear, but long's I've got two hands and a mouth, I'll make the two keep 'together reasonably full. I wouldn't wonder, no, I shan't thinkShe broke into a smothered laugh.
of it, so don't say another word. No."
The negative was so decided that Grace was silenced. Her disappointment showed in her face, however, and Keziah hastened to change the subject.
"How do you know," she observed,
"but what my gold to Boston may be the best thing that ever happened to me? You can't tell. No use despair-in', Annabel ain't given up hope yet;
why should I? Hey? Ain't that somebody comin'?"Her companion sprang to her feet and ran to the window. Then she broke into a smothered laugh.
"Why, it's Kyan Pepper!" she exclaimed. "He must be coming to see you, Aunt Keziah. And he's got on his very best Sunday clothes. Gradual! I must be going. I didn't know you expected callers."Keziah dropped the tack hammer and stood up.
"Kyan!" she repeated. "What in the world is that old idiot comin' here for? To talk about the minister, I suppose. How on

ROXBOROUGH PLACE, CALGARY

It gives the writer a real journalistic thrill of satisfaction to be in a position to say a word or two about the property being offered by F. C. Lowe & Company, of Calgary, known as Roxborough Place. The fact that "Freddie" Lowe is using the columns of Saturday Night as an advertising medium at the present time, to bring this property before the attention of readers, is perhaps the only reason I know of why this little appreciation should possibly not be written. However, this journal is compelled so often to speak disrespectfully, not to say slightly, of many advertised western and eastern real estate propositions, that the opportunity to say something pleasant about a property which needs no recommendation to those who have seen it is welcomed. Roxborough Place is the title, and it is a name that means something, whereas seven out of ten, (possibly eight out of ten) of the slippery sub-divisions are parading under titles which have no relation in meaning to the real character of the stuff exploited. What F. C. Lowe did was to select a large tract which seemed to have been overlooked by the other developers, and convert it through the expenditure of a good deal of money into a residential area just across the river from Calgary itself. There is a bridge over the river, and Roxborough Place is easy of access. Before long, street cars will run right past the property. The tract was graded, concrete walks were laid, shade trees were planted, water and sewers were put in I imagine; natural difficulties in the way of hills on two sides of the property were simply hydraulicked of their forbiddingness, and are now terraced into added beauties of the district. The situation of this sub-division—to call it such—is admirable, and I imagine it will sell like hot cakes. It ought to, for in the writer's somewhat extended tour through the west, no more legitimate bit of real estate engineering was encountered. This may sound like so much paid for advertising, but it is nothing of the sort. For the past three months a large half-tone, showing the original tract, the drawing of how Roxborough Place would look after "treatment" and including a photograph of Mr. Lowe has been held in these offices, merely awaiting an opportunity to be inserted into the news pages. Said cut was so large, however, that it has so far been impossible to use it. I don't know what prices will be asked for this beautiful bit of Calgary, but if they run as I think they will, I would call this choice buying—about as good as the best.

NOTE—The above article was written by Mr. Norman Harris, Financial Editor of Toronto Saturday Night, and it appeared in the November 2nd issue of that publication. The article is of exceptional importance, as Mr. Harris has been particularly active in criticizing Western investments, and is the terror of all sub-divisions.

F. C. Lowe & Co., owners of Roxborough Place, are also owners of the choice sub-divisions in Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, and will be pleased to submit full particulars to anyone interested in making an investment in High-Class Western Real Estate.

You Can't Cure Catarrh By Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrup, Tablets and Sprays Shaken the Stomach But Don't Reach the Glands of Catarrh—Hence Their Failure to Help.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to rout out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhose, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhose mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

Catarrhose has entirely displaced the old-fashioned remedies, such as cough syrups, sprays, tablets, and sedative powders. It contains none of the opium, chloral and drowsy narcotics so commonly found in liquid cough and catarrhal remedies. Couldn't Breathe—"Catarrhose" Cured.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal catarrh than I suffered a month ago," writes Mr. G. E. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, N.I. "My head ached terribly, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhose gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhose every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhose quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhose, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhose lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes, 25c. and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhose Co. Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Two drunks occupied cells at the police station last night.

Reeve Babcock's name is currently mentioned in Lindsay as a candidate for the Mayoralty.

A large car, advertising Puffed Rice, a product of the Quaker Oats Company, was in the city yesterday.

The fine choir of St. Andrew's church, Lindsay, will appear in sarapices for the first time to-morrow.

The Y.M.C.A. team captains will meet on Monday night to report progress in the campaign to raise $3,000.

In the second game for championship of the Y.M.C.A. employed boys class, the champions defeated the Hustlers by 18-4.

Don't buy tags from boys to-day. If such should be offered whilst being an evidence on the boys' part, it is an indication of attempted fraud.

It is said that Ald. Graham of the North Ward will not be a candidate for Aldermany at the coming municipal elections.

Messrs. W. H. Casement, F. X. Fortier and Dr. Fraser, Lakefield, have returned after a two week's successful partridge shoot at Lovelace Lake.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. will be held on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A large attendance is requested.

The first prize for best packed apples at the Ontario Horticultural Exhibition was awarded to Northumberland and Durham apple growers. The prize was $200.

A Trenton despatch says that the municipal elections have presented a petition for repeal of local option that has been in force four years in Wellington, Prince Edward County.

The regular C.P.R. train from the city, as it passed through the city yesterday afternoon covered with snow, having passed through a heavy fall of the "beautiful" some unless east.

Have your small change ready, and lots of it to-day. When the bright-eyed, rosy cheeked girls of Peterborough earnestly ask for sweet chaity towards helping and upbuilding of poor little kiddies of this city, don't say nay.

HOME FACE PELLING
BECOMES POPULAR

From the Fashion Reporter.

No complexion treatment yet discovered seems to have become so generally and so immediately popular as the mercurized wax process. Evidently the reason for this is that this method actually gets rid of a bad complexion, which can hardly be said of any other. To temporary hide or bleach the defective skin with cosmetics, cannot compare with the effect of literally removing the skin itself. Mercurized wax takes off the offending surface skin in flour-like particles, a little at a time, until there's none of it left. The new complexion thus produced exhibits a healthy glow and girlish beauty obtainable in no other way. This wax, which you can get at your druggist's, is applied at night in the same way you use cold cream, and washed off next morning.

Here is the only thing I know of that actually does remove wrinkles, remove them quickly, and at trifling cost: Powdered sorbolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1 pt. with hazel. Use as a face bath.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Theo. Wilson.

A former life-long resident of Emory Township, who moved about a year ago to Cayes, in the person of Mary Jane Windrum, widow of the late Thomas Wilson, passed away on Thursday at the residence of her son-in-law Mr. Geo. Hooton, Cayes. The deceased was 61 years of age.

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 30,000,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the wells last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

TIMES REPORTERS.

George St. Missionary Anniversary.
To-morrow, the George Street Methodist Church will hold their Missionary anniversary. There will be special speakers and special singing for the occasion. All welcome.

Herrings Plenty at Bob.
Plenty of fresh water herring are said to be caught these days at Bobcaygeon and Fumelon Falls. They are a very tasty fish and are much relished by those who seek them.

Lindsay Old Boys to Meet.
A largely attended meeting of the Lindsay Advancement Club was held in the parlors of the Benson House, when the advisability of holding a "homecoming" week in the summer of 1914 was taken up and a strong committee appointed.

First Annual Banquet.
The first annual banquet and concert of the South Peterborough Anglican Mission, held in the Parish Hall, Thursday evening, proved a decided success. Nearly three hundred people sat down in the three rooms to a dainty supper, prepared by Mrs. Price and Mrs. Maslin.

Child Cut by Peashester.
As little Cicely, the four year old daughter of Sanitary Inspector Spence was running with a tin pea shooter in her mouth, she fell. The toy was driven into the roof of her mouth, inflicting a painful wound. The pea shooter entered the roof of her mouth about an inch.

Illustrated Lecture at St. James.
Last night in St. James church, Rev. Mr. Clarry gave his illustrated lecture on Chastity. The seventy odd slides, of latest make and clear combined, with the reverend gentleman's address in providing an amusing and profitable evening for those present.

Continues Leave Yesterday.
Dr. E. C. Crevier, of Montreal, a former local citizen held a continuous leave at the Oriental Hotel yesterday. Over fifty of his old friends of Peterborough, who had seen a reference to this genial doctor's arrival in yesterday's Times, called to pay their respects.

A Wages Case.
A wages case was settled in the police court yesterday morning. Claude Harris claimed $8.75 from Joseph Gray for whom he had worked. He got this and Gray had to pay the court costs amounting to $2.60. Gray said he had intended to pay Harris on Saturday.

A Bouncing Baby Boy.
Chemong has got a baby that, to use a slang expression, "takes the cake," or without slang, will some day take cake and lots of it. This fine little boy is only two months old and on Saturday turned the scales at twenty-one pounds. The bring along the baby that can beat this record.

Lindsay Yacht Burned.
The gasoline launch owned by Mr. Lindsay, Superintendent of the Waterworks, he at the bottom of the Sougou, destroyed by fire. The fire took place Wednesday night and was caused by the careless throwing of a lighted match, which ignited the gasoline stored in the yacht. This boat was valued at $150.00 and will be a almost total loss.

Boys Have to Pay Up.
Two boys named respectively Harold Stanfield and Harold Dodson, 14 years of age were charged before County Magistrate Edmison yesterday afternoon with having broken windows in a house on Morrow street, North Monaghan. The damages amount to $12. The youthful delinquents were let go on suspended sentence, but will have to pay for the broken windows.

Case Settled Amicably.
Yesterday County Magistrate Edmison held a special court. John Stewart, the self styled "King of Belmont" was charged with being insane. Magistrate Edmison thought Stewart was not insane. Articles of agreement were drawn up whereby Mrs. Stewart takes over the Belmont farm and pays John $150 a year, he to reside with his sister in that township.

Fine Concert at Knox Church.
Last night a large and delighted audience gathered in Knox church, and listened to a delightful and well rendered program. The piece de resistance of this musical feast were the numbers given by the Commonwealth Quartette of Boston, who received numerous encores. Miss Dorothy Allan contributed several well received selections to the program. A clever reading and selections by the orchestra rounded out a most successful evening.

Not a Director.
An item in an evening contemporary regarding the co-operative association being formed gives the name of "Mr. Turner, Charlotte street," as one of the directors. This has led to some misunderstanding as to the identity of the Mr. Turner. The director of the Co-operative Society is neither Mr. J. J. Turner of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, nor any member of that company. Mr. Turner has been caused some annoyance by people making such a mistake.

Small Fire at King George.
The fire brigade was called out shortly after noon yesterday to the King George Hotel on Simcoe street. It seems that a mass of combustible matter, such as paper, etc., near the furnace had been ignited by a spark from the latter. The firemen, who made quick time to the scene, extinguished the incipient blaze with four gallons of combustibles. There was no damage done. Mr. Jimmy Cavanagh had tried to put the fire out with a pail of water, but it had gained too much headway.

Organ and Vocal Recital.
An organ and vocal recital will be given in St. Paul's church on Tuesday evening, by Mr. John Allan and Miss Dorothy Allan, assisted by Mr. William Wilson, solo violinist. The programme is a most excellent one, both the instrumental and vocal numbers are well chosen and varied in style and should appeal to all true lovers of music. The annotation of each number is exceedingly interesting and should help the listener to an intelligent conception of the different pieces. Admission is by silver collection.

Canal Commissioners Here.
Five members of the National Commission of Canals for New York State, including Chairman Charles E. Truman, Winlow M. Reid, secretary, John M. Partridge, John A. Hensel and Duncan W. Peak, registered yesterday at the Oriental. Accompanied by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. and A. J. Grant, chief engineer of the canal, they inspected the canal and hydraulic lift lock this morning, and the visitors freely expressed their admiration of the structure. At noon the entire party left on the 1:30 G.T.R. for Campbellford to inspect Healey's Falls and the power facilities in that vicinity.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labour, Has Been Investigating Labour Conditions

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labour, has been taking a deep interest since his appointment in the question of the conditions under which labourers work in railway construction camps in Canada, and has already done much to improve conditions and has signed plans on foot for next year.

The minister found that there were frequent complaints for labour organizations and consuls and vice-consuls of those countries from which come immigrants who have been chiefly employed in this work.

Special Regulations
It has been explained that it is frequently impossible to procure accurate information, if any information at all, concerning men who are believed to have been employed in certain construction camps and who have fallen ill, or have in some cases become deceased. It has been stated that the possession of a person deceased have not infrequently been frittered away in ineffective efforts looking to identification of the owner, or have disappeared otherwise.

The difficulty proved on inquiry by the department to be very real, and one with which, it seemed to the minister, a practical effort should be made to deal. After a discussion of the matter with the chairman of the Transcontinental Railway Commission it was arranged that the Department of Labour should frame special regulations for the protection of workmen employed on railroad construction, copies of which were to be supplied to the contractors or sub-contractors controlling any section of work of any railway constructed by the Dominion Government.

Identification Form.
The regulations provide that the employer shall have the form filled out in the case of every employee, with all the information thought necessary for the purpose of identification, with names and addresses of relations or friends, and in the event of the person concerned falling seriously ill or dying, the form relating to him is to be immediately forwarded to the Department of Labour.

Many Complaints.
Many complaints have been received as to conditions along the Grand Trunk Pacific construction work in British Columbia. Mr. Crothers sent out over the line of the officers, J. D. McNeill. He went over the line west from Vancouver, and is at present working west from Edmonton. He found conditions far from satisfactory, and as a result of his re-

WARNED AGAINST DISGUISED APPEAL TO DISLOYALTY

Hon. Mr. Pelletier Declares That Government Will Submit a Policy That Will Carry Out Its Duty to the Empire

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Hon. L. P. Pelletier, speaking at a meeting in St. Henri in support of Hon. Louis Coderre, outlined the position he took in reference to the emergency contribution and gave it as his opinion that the policy to be announced by Mr. Borden would "give satisfaction" to the immense majority of the people.

Hon. Mr. Coderre himself reminded his hearers that he had never promoted himself against an emergency contribution to England. Moreover, he declared that the time had come to do something for England, not only because there were threats of war in the air, but because of the moral effect of such aid.

Touching on the naval policy during the course of his speech, Mr. Pelletier declared that he noticed any question of a permanent naval policy should be submitted to the people, but that regarding an urgent contribution the principle was an altogether different one.

"We are British subjects," declared Hon. Mr. Pelletier, "living under the British flag. I am here before you tonight to tell you with the courage which the situation demands that I believe in the principle of British liberty."

"I deny to any man, no matter what he calls himself, to come in-

HOT CONTEST IN HOCHELAGA

Hon. T. W. Crothers Not Tacit in His Handling of the C. P. R. Strike Situation
—May Be Given Another Department

Montreal, Nov. 17.—The contest in Hochelaga is warming up, but Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labour, and his policy seem to be the principal objects of attack.

The Nationalists are putting up a hot fight, but are not especially attacking Mr. Coderre. They are making things extremely uncomfortable for Mr. Bruno Nantel, minister of inland revenue. Indications are that Mr. Coderre will be returned by a big majority, but if the straight liberal vote comes up for Borden the contest may be a close one.

RUSSIA FORMALLY RECOGNIZES GREEK AUTHORITY IN PROVINCE

Athens, Greece, Nov. 17.—Russia has recognized the Greek occupation of Salonika as definite, according to a despatch received here to-day. The Russian consul at Salonika is stated to have received coded instructions from St. Petersburg formally to recognize Greek rule and to place himself under the jurisdiction of the Russian legation at Athens.

TAG DAY BROUGHT IN $1,229.88 FOR CHILDRENS AID SOCIETY

The people of Peterborough have every reason to be proud of themselves, their city and of the ladies, young and older, who worked hard and intelligently on Saturday to mail the flag of victory above Tag Day.

Go where one might, from Jackson's Park to the Lift Look or from Auburn to the southern limits of the city were to be seen men, women children and even horses in fact dogs even, decorated with the diamond shaped medal awarded for aid in a good cause. Many men, who bore several tags would say with a grin, "Oh, I've been stung!" and then look for another fair one to sting them again. Whilst the result fell slightly below tag day of the year before, the girls who did the work were nobly supported by the citizens. The higher price of living and its consequent results on middle-aged pocketbooks possibly had some effect on the shrinkage.

School Children Contribute.
A collection was taken up at the various schools in the city on Friday with the following results:

| | |
|-----------------------|----------|
| South Central | $18.04 |
| Central | 17.19 |
| West Ward | 5.62 |
| King Edward | 8.92 |
| Queen Alexander | 10.12 |
| East Ward | 5.98 |
| St. Peter's | 3.01 |
| St. Mary's | 3.21 |
| | $74.17 |
| Normal School | 9.37 |
| Collingdale Institute | 27.28 |
| Total | $110.81 |

The sale of tags on Saturday brought in the handsome sum of $1,229.88, making a total for the Children's Aid Society of $1,229.88. The figures for Tag Day, 1911, were: Schools, $119.70; Tag Day, $1339.93.

BULGARIAN'S REPLY TO TURK NOTE ANXIOUSLY WAITED BY BEATEN ARMY

Turkish Troops Are Ready to Convert the Momentary
Lull of Battle into a Definite Cessation of Hostilities, Strategic Move Expected of Allies to Avoid Bloodshed at Tchatalja

London, Nov. 17.—Bulgaria's answer to Turkey's plea for an armistice is due in the course of to-day. Despatches from Sofia, with few exceptions, concur in asserting that however onerous may be the terms on which the conquerors are willing to convert the momentary lull of battle into a definite cessation of hostilities, the Turkish army is in such condition that submission is the only course open to it.

A somewhat notable exception to this pessimistic view, however, is taken by a correspondent who visited the Turkish lines at Tchatalja yesterday. He says that the Turkish army at the front appears capable of dispatching any further advance by the Bulgarians, and further emphasizes the strength of the Turkish position by saying the allies will shortly take measures to possess themselves of the Dardanelles, thus averting the possible payment of a price in blood at Tchatalja, which the Bulgarians can ill afford.

Constantinople, Nov. 17.—The opinion is general here that the war is practically over. An armistice with the Bulgarians will in all probability be arranged within the next few days and this will be followed by direct negotiations for peace.

The Ottoman Government fully recognizes that further resistance can only prejudice the position of Turkey still more, while its outcome is extremely problematical and might lead to even more humiliation.

Hitherto only a few of the soldiers badly wounded in battle have arrived here. A number of the invalids are being sent to the coast, where they will be treated in a hospital, and not being treated for several days after they were inflicted. The doctors in attendance declare that many of the wounds have been self-inflicted.

Long lines of carriages commanded in the Turkish capital are being used for the transport of the sick and wounded men to the improvised hospitals.

No cholera patients are sent to the city, but little precaution is taken to prevent refugees bringing it in. Fugitives continue to crowd around the city walls. Train loads of them are being sent off daily along the railroad into Asia Minor.

Many of the foreign residents who were willing to risk the chance of a fatal outbreak are departing for Europe because of the cholera.

The departure of prominent members of the Young Turk party for Europe is considered by many as foreboding a possible return to the old regime, in which case the Young Turk leaders would be the first sufferers. In any case, the internal situation is a source of much speculation and nobody has any idea of what will happen.

AUSTRIA AND SERBIA HAS NOW BECOME GREAT STORM CENTRE

Austria is Determined to Have Share of the Spoils Regardless of Serbia

London, Nov. 17.—According to the official newspapers of Vienna the declaration of King Nicholas will not affect the attitude of Austria, whose demands in connection with the Adriatic ports will not be changed.

Another cause of ill-feeling between Austria and Serbia lies in the presentation by the Serbian Minister of an official complaint alleging that the Austrian consul at Priested fired from the top of his house at the Serbian troops when they captured the town. The Austrian foreign office has promised to investigate the case, but at the same time called attention to the protests of foreign consuls at Udup against the action of the Serbian military authorities in hindering them in the exercise of their official duties.

It is believed in Vienna that the Austrian consul at Priested was defending some Albanians, numbers of whom are alleged to have been shot by the Serbians for concealing arms and abusing Serbian soldiers.

There is reason to believe, according to despatches from Belgrade, that Serbia, while not positively rejecting the Austrian representations on the subject of passports, will not submit a satisfactory reply. The situation in this respect is regarded by some diplomats as very serious.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIAL NOTES

In the course of a few days we expect to hear of an enormous increase in the ferry traffic across the Boeophorus.

No newspaper man who has ever poked fun at Hon. Col. Sam Hughes need hope to be made an honorary colonel. That's where Col. Sam gets even.

In spite of the fact that the political revolution of September 21, 1911, was entirely bloodless it is evident that the Liberal party and reciprocity were killed in it.

A Cincinnati girl who bet on Taft rolled a peanut three blocks with her nose, yet there are some men mean enough to deny that a woman is fit to exercise the right of suffrage.

"At last things are coming my way," said Winston Churchill the other day when he was hit by a heavy blue book hurled by a Unionist in the House of Commons.

When the opportunity presents itself the Protestants of the United States took occasion to get even with Hon. Bill Taft for his effort to serve the Catholic Church in the Philippines Islands and elsewhere.

The Canadian memorial to the late General Booth is to take the form of a training institute for Salvation Army officers. Peterborough is expected to contribute six hundred dollars to this good work. It should be easy to raise such an amount here, where the activities of the Salvation Army are appreciated.

Hon. Mr. Rowell, leader of his forlorn but gallant band of followers, speaking in Montreal recently, said that whilst a Liberal sometimes feels lonely in Canada's metropolis he felt himself amongst friends. It looks as though this gentleman must either change his policy or get a policy or flock by himself.

Hamilton Herald: Premier Borden, in a heart-to-heart talk with Ottawa's civic authorities, insisted upon better sanitary conditions at the capital. One can easily guess what the reply was: "If the government wants better sanitary conditions, let the government spend the money to get what it wants." That's Ottawa's way.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

According to the record of industrial accidents maintained by the Department of Labour, there were 104 workmen killed and 324 injured during the month of October. Compared with the record for September, this is an increase of fifteen in the number killed and a decrease of ninety-five in the number injured. The greatest number of fatal accidents occurred in Steam Railway service, there being 26 employees killed. The Building Trades come next with 18 fatalities. Of the non-fatal accidents the greatest number occurred in the Metal trades, the number recorded being 85, followed second by building trades, with 40 injured, and third by steam railway service, with 37 injured.

THE DISAPPEARING INDIAN

The statement concerning the health of the 300,000 Indian still in government reservations in the United States contained in a report of the Indian Bureau is appalling. A death rate of 30.72 per 1000, even of a vanishing race, is proof of negligence on the part of the United States government, which assumes a responsibility of guardianship over the interests of that race.

If it is true that of one tribe over 90 per cent. are tainted with tuberculosis the fact is a shame upon the white people of the country, who are spending millions to rid their own communities of this plague, and permitting Congress to turn a deaf ear to the needs of the Indians. It is true that the material wants of the government's Indian wards are well supplied, and most of the tribes have sufficient income for their purpose without drawing on the vanguard of the white man.

Educational opportunity also is being afforded the young generation of Indians, but they are entitled to health as well, and although the problem may be a difficult one the government has no right to disregard it. It is obvious that the changes of civilization and manner of living which have been enforced on the Indian have caused him to be neglectful of his own health and subjected him to attack of disease which he would not otherwise have met, hence the government is in duty bound to regard him as a special case and to safeguard his health as well as his material interests. In Canada the condition of the Indian is better, the government taking care of his health as well as his finances.

Bright, Ruddy Cheeks
For Pale Girls

NO LONGER ANY NEED TO BE PALE, WEAK OR ANAEMIC.

By following the Advice of Miss McEwen You can Quickly Become Strong Again.

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested.

At night she is restless, she does not sleep soundly.

Vital forces must be increased, new blood must be supplied and a general rebuilding take place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton has invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing to prompt in building up young women as his vegetable pills of Mander and Butterworth.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is fast strengthened and invigorated. Full of spirit, ruddy and strong is the girl that assists her system by the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Etta McEwen, of Haliburton, speaks for itself:

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, sleep more soundly, and awaken in the morning feeling quite refreshed."

"Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if I were ill, and was hanging over my head. Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Cataract Co., N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid. While each fund is only $50,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

SAID BANK WAS SAFE AND SOUND

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Pending the report of Chief Justice Sir William Meredith, as Royal Commissioner in the Farmers' Bank case, upon his return from England, no further steps will be taken by the shareholders of the defunct institution who are opposing the operation of the double liability clause.

After the Commissioner has submitted his report, some months hence, hearings for the purpose of taking evidence will be resumed.

A sitting was held yesterday afternoon before Referee George Kappela, in the office of Trustee Clarkson. The following witnesses, from Halton County, called by Mr. Laidlaw, representing the shareholders, testified to lack of bona fides and misrepresentation on the part of Lindsey and Travers in securing subscriptions to the bank's stock. Samuel Webster, Sheriff of Halton County, Norval, Dr. Abraham Groves, Toronto; Geo. H. Thompson and Thomas Aitken, both of the Township of Eganville; Wm. McLean, Milton; Pir. A. McDuffy, Omagh; and Noah Hamilton.

Mr. Laidlaw also read letters sent to the witnesses by erstwhile General Manager Travers, expressing pleasure at the fact that they had subscribed and assuring them that they would never regret having done so.

VICTORIA'S
Bright Future

Induces Another Firm to Open a Pacific Office

To better serve our Eastern clients, Runions Brokers, Ltd., of Calgary, have opened a coast office in the Central Building, Victoria, where we will conduct a general business in real estate, insurance, loans, and will handle exclusively Victoria property held by our Eastern clients. We will also handle through our Eastern offices, Eastern properties held by Victoria people—a sort of clearing house.

As has been our policy during the past seven years in business, our clients shall have the benefits of our honest efforts in legitimate business.

The Victoria firm is composed of Manager, J. E. RUNIONS, President of Runions Brokers Ltd., Calgary, formerly of Cornwall, Ont. Treasurer, H. B. MACLEAN, Ex-Principal George Jay School, Victoria. Secretary, C. B. GRAHAM, Ex-Manager Bank of Ottawa, Fort William. Salesman, P. J. SINNOTT, of Toronto.

STARTLING FACTS.

- (1) Victoria's harbour tonnage this year has been the greatest of all Canadian ports.
- (2) The Dominion Government is investing $3,000,000.00 on improving and enlarging Victoria's harbour to prepare for increased shipping, which the Panama Canal will produce.
- (3) Victoria is 85 miles nearer Panama than any other Canadian port, and the insurance rate on ships and cargo is less between Panama and Victoria than from Victoria to Vancouver.
- (4) All the Canadian and American Transcontinental Railways are invading Vancouver Island and Victoria.
- (5) Vancouver Island is as large in area as England, and cannot be surpassed in natural products, scenery and climate, hence Victoria's slogan: "It's the climate."
- (6) The building permits this year in Oak Bay, Victoria, show the highest percentage increase of all the municipalities in Canada.
- (7) Men are coming from every Province in Canada to Victoria with their families to enjoy life in the City of balmy salt breezes and perpetual flowers, and they are bringing their money, too.

WHAT DO THESE FACTS MEAN?

If you fully appreciate their meaning, you will invest your money, as we are doing, in A 1 investments, such as the following propositions, which we honestly recommend as the best investment we have discovered:

- (1) Secure this for year Victoria Home: A fully modern 7-room house, close in on Pandora Avenue, excellent view, large grounds, only $7,000. Easy terms, grounds alone are worth the money. Owner leaving for England.
- (2) Fine home site, 50' x 120', on the Gorge, opposite Sir Richard MacBride's home, best salt water bathing and boating, in City. Only $2,200. Terms, one-third, 6, 12, 18 months.
- (3) Fine homesites in Oak Bay, near Beach, at $1,200 and upwards.
- (4) Good business corner 90' x 165'. Business block and bank opposite corners. Only $12,500 on easy terms.

We respectfully solicit your patronage.

This is a Want Ad
Town

There Are a Lot of Important Things That cannot, Nowadays, Be Accomplished at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy, or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

Wasting Coffee.

A pleasant order preceded to the guest room, and one of the visitors smiled at the sight. "The coffee smells good," she said, hastening her preparations for breakfast. The other guest shook her head sadly. "Yes," she replied, "it is good coffee, but it makes me nervous to have anybody make coffee so long before a meal is ready. So many people do that. It shows at once the difference between an ordinary cook and a culinary artist. A careless cook often makes her coffee the first thing and puts it on the back of the range to keep hot, thinking thereby to have it ready for the table without further trouble and wait out of her way. It is a fatal mistake. All the rich, delicate aroma of the coffee is lost in that way. We are getting it up here now, as you perceive. It is, as you have said, very appetizing, but coffee is not intended especially for an appetizer, and you don't wish it while you are combing your hair. To be perfect, with all its aroma and strength preserved, coffee should be served piping hot, just as soon as it is made."—New York Press.

They Were "Dips" and "Mrs. Q."

Mrs. Grant had no secretary to attend to her correspondence, the grand bulk of which was referred to the office for action. She used to receive an enormous number of appeals for help, for charities, for assistance, in aid of almost every cause that could be imagined. Being a warm-hearted, sympathetic woman, some of these appeals made a strong impression upon her. I can remember several instances when Mrs. Grant requested her husband to give the person or that a position that was asked for or to accede to some other request of like nature. She always called the president "Dips," and, excepting upon the most formal occasions, he always addressed her as "Mrs. Q." Both the president and his wife were plain people, simple in their tastes to an extent that would cause surprise today, when everything has so changed throughout the social fabric of the entire nation.—W. H. Cook in "Memories of the White House."

An Interesting Illusion.

A curious and interesting effect may be produced in the following simple manner:
Take a sheet of paper or a card-board about five inches square and roll it into a tube, with one end just large enough to fit around the eye and the other end somewhat smaller. Hold the tube between the thumb and first finger of the right hand—do not grasp the tube with the whole hand—and place the larger end of the tube close against the right eye. With the left hand place a book against the side of the tube. If both eyes are now kept open there will appear to be holes through the book, and it will appear that objects are seen through this hole and not through the tube. The effect is even more odd if the left hand instead of a book is held against the tube, when the book will appear through the center of the hand. Many other strange effects are also apparent.—Detroit Free Press.

Metals in the Human Body.

The human body contains, among other constituents, about two pounds of phosphorus, which is essential to the health of the bones and the vigor of the brain. This phosphorus, if extracted and put to another use, would make up about 4,000 packages of friction matches. Besides phosphorus, the body contains a few ounces of sodium and half ounce of potassium. The quantity of the latter would be sufficient for many experiments in a chemistry. In addition to sodium and potassium there are a few grains of magnesium, enough to make the "silver rain" for a family's stock of rockets on a Fourth of July evening or to create a brilliant light visible at a considerable distance.—Harper's.

What She Asked For.

Uncle Jack, who was visiting them from the west, wished to talk to Elizabeth's father at his office. He could not find the telephone directory and then appeared to three-year-old Elizabeth for information regarding the phone number. "Elizabeth, what does mother ask for when she talks to daddy at his office?" "Money," she replied.—Ladies Home Journal.

Pleats of Ends.

"Mamma," queried small Edna, "how many ends are there to a stick of candy?" "Five, of course," was the reply. "That's funny," mused the little fellow. "I have bitten off three or four ends, and there are two left yet."—Chicago News.

It Was Born So.

Stranger in Town—So that is the hardest lesson? What gave it such a significance? Indeed—Well, there's been something uncanny about it from the beginning. Even when it was built it didn't exceed the contractor's estimate.—Pack.

A Continuous Performance.

"Our baby gives us considerable trouble. Yells unless he has his own way."

Something Wrong.

Billy—Huh! I bet you didn't have a good time at your birthday party yesterday. While—I bet I did. Billy—Then why ain't you sick today?—Palm Springs Record.

There is no friendship between those associated in power. He who rules will always be impatient of an associate.—Lessa.

Yari Retort.

Restaurant patron (caustically)—I am glad to see your baby has shut up, madam. Mother—Yes, sir. You are the only thing that's pleased him since he saw the animals eat at the zoo.—Park.

If your spirits are low do something.

and if you have been doing something do something different.—E. B. Hale.

A Safe Bet.

Yeddi—They do say when a man's ears are red that somebody is talking about him. O'm-m-beck—Yes, and he can bet that some-body's talking about him if Fatal Street Music.

In casting up the score against street musicians it must never be forgotten that to them was due the untimely death of one of England's foremost humorists, John Leech. The strain of constant application to his work rendered Leech abnormally sensitive to street noises of all descriptions, and street music in particular drove him frantic. The organ grinder, it is said, knew of his animosity toward them and played within earshot of his studio simply to plague him. In a letter to Mr. Sam. M. P., who was framing a bill for the suppression of street noise, Mark Lemon, the editor of Punch, declared that beyond a doubt Leech's ultimately fatal malady, angina pectoris, or breast pang, was due to the disturbance of his nervous system caused by the continual visits of street bands and organ grinders.—London Chronicle.

The Senator's Sarcasm.

For many years there were in the United States senate a man of brilliant mind and many fine qualities, but who was forever estranging many with whom he desired to be friendly by reason of his incurable sarcastic manner both of speech and action. Once an intimate friend wrote the senator asking the appointment of another friend to a minor position in the government. The senator returned a most sarcastic reply, declining to recommend the appointment. It is said that he never forgot the merited rebuke he received from the friend who had suggested the appointment:
My dear senator—I think it would be well for you to reserve your sarcasm for the rapidly increasing number of your enemies, instead of offering it to the decreasing number of your friends, of whom I am one.

Navajo Blankets.

Much unadmitted nonsense has been written concerning the symbolism of Navajo Indian blankets and the poetry, legend, tradition and history woven by the squaw into its fabric. It is true that some designs have a symbolic meaning, but Hopi, Kiowa and Apache symbols are used quite as freely as those peculiar to the Navajo. The Navajo squaw is one of the least imaginative and least poetical of human beings, and it is quite safe to say that even when symbolic designs are employed in blanket weaving it is without the remotest reference to their true significance.—Argonaut.

Tragic Family History.

The following inscriptions are to be seen on a tombstone at Debrezin, Hungary:
"Joseph Morris, murdered at sixty-two by his son, Isabelle Morris, wife of above, poisoned at forty-seven by her daughter, Elizabeth Morris committed suicide at twenty after poisoning her mother, Joseph Morris, Jr., murderer of his father, died in prison at twenty-seven."—London Standard.

Cutting Him Off.

"You" scouted Miss Sharpe. "Marry me? Why, you're only an apology for a man."
"But," protested Mr. Small, "you will not."
"No; I will not accept the apology."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Relations Between.

"What are relations now between your wife and yourself?"
"Oh, only her mother, two uncles, a sister and a few cousins."—London Telegraph.

The root of all benevolent actions is filial piety and fraternal love.—Confucius.

$10,000,000 A Year Wasted On Trusses

Wrong To Buy Anything For Rupture Without Getting Sixty Days' Trial

Away with Worthless Make-shifts

Ninety-nine out of every hundred dollars spent for elastic and spring trusses might about as well be thrown away. (Clues to ten million dollars a year—in this country alone—is practically wasted on such a useless operation.)

A Here Try-on Is a Shame

You can't possibly tell anything about a truss or anything else for rupture merely by trying it on.

The Only Thing Good Enough To Stand a 60-Day Test

There is only one thing of any kind for rupture that you can get on sixty-days trial—only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test.

Will make a guaranteed rupture holder especially for your own—make it to your measure—and let you try it sixty days—without asking you to risk a cent—just to let you see for yourself how it takes all the strain out of your rupture.

Will practically lead it to you the long—without asking you to risk a cent—just to let you see for yourself how it takes all the strain out of your rupture.

Will make a guaranteed rupture holder especially for your own—make it to your measure—and let you try it sixty days—without asking you to risk a cent—just to let you see for yourself how it takes all the strain out of your rupture.

protects you against every strain as your rupture can't possibly be forced out. And in addition to the constant holding, it provides the only way any discomfort has ever been overcome—the weakness in the real cause of rupture.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—in all explained in the free book which the coupon below will bring you.

No Belt—No Leg Straps—No Springs

The Clute Truss does away entirely with the cause of pain, leakage and chafing. People who have tried it say it is as comfortable as their slippers. And it is waterproof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration proof and easily kept clean.

Will Save You from Operation

The guaranteed rupture holder has as thoroughly proved the matter in many cases, and many physicians in all parts of the world now recommend it instead of all other operations.

It has a remarkably strengthening and bounding effect that has completely cured hundreds of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless.

THE THINGS WE TELL IN OUR BOOK

There are so many mistakes made about rupture that we have taken the time to sum up in a book all we have learned during forty years of experience.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 98 pages, 20 chapters and 20 photographs—illustrations—is full of facts never before put in print.

It deals with rupture in all its forms and stages.

It shows the danger of operation.

It exposes the "padding" appliances, "methods," "plasters," etc., and shows how old-fashioned elastic trusses are misapplied under false and misleading names.

It shows why wearing elastic or spring trusses is almost sure to shorten your life.

And it tells about the famous Clute Truss made in England—how it works and how it cures—without asking you to risk a penny, and how little it costs if you buy it.

Also gives over 5,000 voluntary endorsements from benefited and cured people.

Read for this book to tell you, in all—how it works, how to write to us, how to get your free book, how to get your free book, how to get your free book.

Simply send the coupon below and we will send you a free book.

LIQUOR IN THE PUNJAB

Drinking to Excess is Prevalent and the Government is Taking Action

The annual excise report for the Punjab notes the growth of the drink habit among the people. Measures are being taken to curb the drink habit in districts where drinking is excessive and wherever possible the number of drink shops is being reduced. But it is pointed out that in a matter of this kind little can be done without the co-operation of all sections of the people, and the Lieutenant Governor urges the need of public opinion to maintain the former customary restrictions upon excessive indulgence.

The formation of temperance societies shows that public opinion is being aroused and that the more intelligent men are alive to the danger which threatens their communities.

THE YOUNG MEN OF THE PRAIRIE

The Problem of Providing Varied Employment for Sons of Western Farmers.

In many respects conditions in Western Canada to-day are not unlike those that prevailed in older Canada forty years ago. Grain growing is the paramount industry in the West to-day, and thanks to a beneficent Providence, given proper methods of tillage, it will always occupy that place. The manufacturing industry is only in its infancy in the West as yet. Store-keeping and retailing are the two great sources of employment for young men in the West apart from farming.

What are the sons of the present farmers in the West going to do for a living when they grow up? As yet the West has hardly been settled long enough to produce a full generation of children, but when it does what are they all going to do? Many, no doubt, if true homebodies are available when they reach their majority, will follow in father's footsteps and go on the farm.

Develop the Factory.
But what of the others? What of the young men whose taste lies in designing? Where will he find an outlet for his talents in his own part of the country? And what of the embryo cabinet makers, machinists, electricians, chemists and other industrial workers who will develop in the West in the near future? Must we send them abroad to find work suited to their capabilities? And what of the daughters of the West? Are they all going to stay at home? Their Ontario cousins are busy earning good wages, making the Westerner's underwear, carpets, confectionery, clothes and other necessities. Shall the Western girl be denied the same opportunities for her energy and skill?

And what of Western towns? Are they to remain as they are, sleeping and distributing centres in most cases with no producing industries? Many have reached their limit as to population and business as such. They must develop the factory or mark time. Will the Western farmer be satisfied year in and year out with the same little business centres with their limited opportunities for social intercourse and pleasures?

A Big Problem
As the life of the West centres more and more in farming, the problem of providing varied employment for those who live there will become intensified.

Already in the towns in winter months there is sometimes a dearth of employment. Generally speaking there is little varied farming. Few cattle are kept on most farms and as a result dairying and meat production are hardly holding their own. This form of farming provides employment the year round. Not so wheat and oat culture.

As the children of the present settlers of the West grow into manhood and womanhood, the problem of finding suitable employment for them will supersede all of the big problems which we hear so much about to-day, unless development in other lines of activity begins at once. The factory with its abundant openings for the skilled artisan, for the office man or woman, the salesman and the organizing or executive genius cannot be built in a day. Already there is a place in the West for the busy work shop, and within the next decade it will become essential to well-balanced progress in the West.

The Factory Chimney
Specialization is all very well in its place, but specialization in Western farming has gone far enough if we want to keep in Canada all the young people who wish to specialize in some other field. Fortunately the factory chimney is already shooting up in the West. It is not very tall or very wide as yet, but it is growing. Mixed farming, which our agricultural experts are unanimous in prescribing for wheat specialization in the West, will hasten its development. Mixed farming demands a market for its varied and often perishable products at its very door. The factory provides such a market. Its employees, building and owning their own homes, raise good, healthy, average-sized families. Their children must be fed.

Just as a patient goes to a specialist to ascertain the exact nature of his illness, so may a man or a woman go to a psychologist at the present day to find out whether he or she is "in love." For the state of "being in love" may now be located and its development ascertained as easily as a case of psoriasis or rheumatism.

"Am I truly in love? Is my affection likely to be lasting?" a young lover may ask. And the psychologist, after a few pointed questions, can tell just how strong and enduring are the young man's feelings toward his beloved. These interesting possibilities arise from a lecture given by Dr. Will Ham Brown on "Emotions and Morals" at King's College. Some passages from the lecture were as follows: "A sentiment is a system of emotional disposition centered about the idea of some object. Failing in love is a crystallization of a whole lot of emotional tendencies and ideas round about the object. One cannot call love an emotion because it involves a whole series of emotions. There are only two main sentiments—love and hate."

In an interview Dr. Brown enlarged on the subject of love looked at from the psychologist's point of view: "When a person 'falls in love,' a nucleus of ideas and emotions forms in the brain," he said. "These emotions all centre around the object of affection. In time, if the state of love continues, these ideas become solidified and grow in strength. They become more and more compact and crystalline. If the state of love is very strong it is possible that the whole mind is attracted and merged in the central idea. In such cases, as when a person 'falls in love,' the state of 'being in love' may be suddenly abandoned. This is what happens when a man is suddenly converted to religion, or is unconsciously changed his politics."

This theory is of immense interest, as it practically explains the reason why lovers have fitted one another through the ages.

"The emotions of the human being are innumerable," continued Dr. Brown. "They correspond to the chemical elements. There are seven primary emotions—anger, fear, curiosity, disgust, pride, humility and tenderness. From these spring innumerable emotions, which it is the work of the psychologist to classify."

Dr. Brown's lecture was a most interesting and valuable contribution to the study of human emotions and their influence on human behavior.

Pulpwood Exports are Instance of Enormous Loss That Has Accrued to Canadian Industry

The Department of the Interior,

Ottawa, has issued a report on "Pulp-

wood" in part as follows:

"If the pulpwood exported in 1911

had been reduced to pulp in Canada,

it would have supplied 68 mills of the average size of those in Canada.

Thus one hundred and twenty mills

instead of fifty-four would have been operating in Canada, employing Canadian labor and advancing Canadian adrian industry. The provincial laws affecting the export of pulpwood within the exporting provinces have changed considerably in 1911. In 1909, pulpwood from private lands in Ontario and from all lands in Quebec

and New Brunswick could be shipped

TORONTO, MONTREAL, WINNIPEGto points outside of Canada. In that year, however, the province of Quebec issued more restrictive regulations, which came into force on the 1st of September, 1910, prohibiting the export of unmanufactured wood cut on Crown lands within the province; and in 1911 New Brunswick passed legislation to the same effect, coming into force on the first day of October of that year, too late to affect the 1911
export trade.Legislation Needed
"The effect of the Quebec legislation is noticeable this year. The export of raw pulpwood from that province was decreased by 148,544 cords, or 18.2 per cent. Its domestic consumption increased by 47,671 cords, or nearly 14 per cent, and three new mills were started in addition to several others under construction. In the other provinces taken together,
the export of raw pulpwood increased by 47,662 cords, or 29 per cent.; the domestic consumption was increased by 36,130 cords, or 10.3 per cent.; and one mill less reported. It is evident that this legislation is already having the desired effect in stimulating the growth of the industry. It would also seem to have been effective in stimulating the export of pulpwood from other provinces, and from private lands in the province of Quebec."All the provinces are fully alive to the importance of preventing the export of this valuable raw material. So far as it is in their power, they have taken steps to prevent it from being carried off to build up the industries of another country, yet more than half the pulpwood cut in Canada is still carried over the border to supply the pulp mills of the United States.
Nearly all of this wood is cut from privately owned land, over which the provinces have no jurisdiction. Only the federal authority, by the imposition of a prohibitive export tax, could stop this export.Loss to Canada
It is interesting to note to what extent provincial industry would have been increased if the pulpwood exported to the United States had been converted into wood-pulp on Canadian soil. The 636,134 cords exported from Quebec would have supplied material for a year to forty-five pulp-mills of the average size operating in Quebec.
In Ontario, six mills of the average size could have been kept running with the pulp logs exported from that province. The 122,698 cords shipped from the ports of New Brunswick would have supplied ten mills of the average size. If the high production of 1909 be taken as the normal capacity of the mills of the province.
More than twice the number of mills operating in the Dominion might now be at work if Canadians had been far seeing enough to manufacture their own raw products.STRONG MAN OF RED SOX

the Red Sox's strategy.
He is second to none on the team
in offensive strategy.
He is Jake Stahl's right-hand man and a brilliant catcher.
He is the "big" catcher of the Red Sox who ever is to the Cubs.
Last year with almost the same team the Red Sox finished fifth.
The manager was largely at fault for the team's weakness in the

when the team changed hands the players petitioned that Carrigan be made manager. Bill Carrigan, who largely to blame for the failure of this plan.
When Stahl was made manager, he gave Carrigan charge of the twirlers.
The official records show how well he has handled them. Redden in his most conspicuous success, but in the making of Joe Wood into a great pitcher Carrigan had no small part.
J. Garland led the signaling of the defensive play entirely to Carrigan who, with Heinie Wagner's help, heads out all the signs. In a pinch when runs are needed, Bill goes on to the coaching lines and shares with the manager the responsible duties of leading the base runners in the field.
As a backstop Carrigan has proved himself. He is slow and ap-ears clumsy, but he blocks the runners off the plate like a stone wall.
He has the faculty for hanging onto the ball, even when the sliding player kicks him off his pins, and he puts the ball on the runner with the best of them.
As a hitter, while he does not boast
a .340 average, he is really valuable.
He hits more than an average

Maharajah of Nepal is Arranging Rare

Sport for George V.

If King George does not bring back from India a magnificent collection of hunting trophies it will not be the fault of the Maharajah of Nepal, who is making stupendous preparations for a unique tiger hunt in which the nearly crowned Emperor of India will take part. Some idea of the grandeur of this hunt may be had when one hears that it will take 500 elephants to carry the hunters. These beasts are now being trained to stand the noise of guns and the sudden onslaught of maddened tigers.
The hunt will take place in the jungles of Nepal, which are the private property of the Maharajah and which situated on the southern foothills are a marshy tract of the Himalayas, are the densest and most unexplored of any in India. They are literally swarming with wild beasts, which are very rarely disturbed, because forest guardsmen are excluded, except when invited by the Maharajah. The shooting done by the Maharajah himself is not enough to make an impression on the game, which includes wild elephants and rhinoceroses, with all kinds of tigers, bears, leopards, wild boars, and deer.

Will Counteract the Rolling and Pitching of a Battleship

H.M.S. Orion is getting to test a new form of range-finder to be used in the firing of her 15.5 in. guns. This consists of a gyroscopic mounting upon which a range-finder is carried.
The object is to counteract the rolling and pitching of the battleship in a rough sea, and enable the range to be found more correctly.The new range-finder is placed in two control stations at the top of tripod masts, from which guns are trained and fired by electrical connections with the batteries; and it has been highly successful when tested on board. During the gun trials conducted will be extremely severe, on account of the intense vibration to which the apex of the tripod masts will be subjected.ERUPTION OF ETNA

It Commenced with a Series of Terrible

Explosions

The toll of death and destruction caused by the eruption of Etna is daily reaching higher figures. It is thought the final counting will compare favorably with those of any past disaster due to the volcano's activity. The devastation extends over an area of 400 square miles which the mountain covers. The eruption began with a series of terrible explosions, during which great tongues of white flame leaped to the sky. Since then as many as 16 new craters have burst forth within a radius of seven miles from the central crater at a height of 4,000 feet.
all of them belching dense smoke,
showers of stones and ashes, and rivers of white-hot lava, which advanced at the rate of one mile per hour towards Linguaglossa and Castiglione.
They destroyed the superb pine forests and all the fields and vineyards in their track. The main lava stream consisting of a solid advancing wall of the fully three-quarters of a mile wide, has already buried the village of Bollicciata. A heavy rain of ashes continued incessantly over Castiglione and the whole region accompanied by frequent alarming shocks of earthquake, stronger than any felt in Italy
since the great subterranean of Messina.BIG CHANGES
AT HOLYROODImportant Improvements Will Presen-

Getting Ready for the KingShortly after the Coronation King George will pay a long visit to Ireland, and as for Scotland, it is now almost certain that the royal couple intend to make much more use of Holyrood Castle as a royal residence than has any British king of recent times. Probably when other engage-KING GEORGE
From a recent photographments of the Court permit, the King will hold at least one Court every year at Holyrood—a proceeding that will vastly please the national pride of Scotland, and particularly of Scot-tishmen. Used as the State residence in Scotland, just as Balmoral Castle is the private seat of the King and Queen, Holyrood's ancient glories will be revived, with immense advantage to the social and commercial interests of Edinburgh. Holyrood will be put into such a condition as to render it entirely suitable for a permanent royal residence at any season of the year. A boiler-house is to be erected in connection with an up-to-date system of heating, electric light will be installed—the wires being carried in small steel tubes in order to minimize the risks of fire by fusing—and renovations generally effected in the suite of royal apartments. These rooms are situated in number, and open from the east end of the great picture gallery,
a noble apartment familiar to every pilgrim to Edinburgh. They were put in order in 1907 for occupation by King Victoria and her consort, and have ever since been known as the Queen's and Prince Albert's apartments. There is, for instance, a drawing-room, the Queen's bedroom, a drawing-room, and dining-room, and an evening drawing-room—a spacious apartment looking on to the quadrangle.
The royal bedroom is hung with tapestry depicting the destruction of Niohe's children. The dining-room of Queen Victoria's period of occupancy was utilized in the last reign as a throne room, and is again to serve the same purpose. It measures no more than 44 feet by 23 feet, but gives an impression of spaciousness. On the walls hang portraits of George the Fourth,
by White; of Queen Victoria, by Hayter, and of the other sovereigns by Van Somer and Lely. When last a King George was on the throne, Parliament voted no less than $120,000
to set the palace and grounds in good order, but no very considerable sum has since been spent on the historiople about which centres so much of the romance of Scottish history. Following upon the royal visit to Dublin, more will be heard of the project for providing a permanent royal residence
in Ireland, preferably near the capital.
It is said that the King and Queen also propose holding Irish Courts as frequently as can be arranged.DR. SUN YAT SEN

"No, no! I ain't loony, I want to make a proposal to you. I want to see if you won't marry me. I'm sick of Lavinia. Let's you and me settle down together. I could have some peace then. And I think a whole lot of you, too," he added, apparently as an afterthought. "Don't stop to argue, Kesiah.
I've got 'most fifteen hundred dollars in the bank. Lavinia keeps the pass book in her bureau, but you could get it from her. I own my house. I'm a man of good character. You're poor, but I don't let that stand in the way.
Anyhow, you're a first-rate housekeeper. And I really do think an awful lot of you."Mrs. Coffin stepped no farther in the direction of the kitchen. Instead, she strode toward the rickety chair and its occupant. Kyan grasped the pipe with both hands.
"You poor—miserable—impudent—"
began the lady.
"Why, Kesiah, don't you want to?"
He spoke as if the possibility of a refusal had never entered his mind. "I calculated you'd be glad. You wouldn't have to go away then, now—My soul and body! some one's knockin' at the door! And this durned pipe's fetched loose!"The last sentence was a smothered shriek. Kesiah heeded not. Neither did she heed the knock at the door.
Her hands were opening and closing convulsively.
"Be glad!" she repeated. "Glad to marry a good-for-nothin' sand-peep like you! You say—Get down off that chair and out of this house! Get down this minute!""I can't! This stovepipe's loose, I tell you. Be reasonable, Kesiah. Don't you touch me! I'll fall if you do. Please, Kesiah!—O Lord! I know it. Lavinia!"The door opened. On the threshold, arms akimbo and lips set tight, stood Lavinia Pepper. Her brother's knees gave way; in their collapse, they struck the chair back; the rickety leg wobbled. Kyan grasped at the pipe to save himself and, the next moment,
chair, sections of stovepipe, and Mr.
Pepper disappeared with a mighty crash behind the high-boy. A cloud of soot arose and obscured the view.Kesiah, too indignant even to laugh, glared at the wreck. In the doorway of the kitchen Grace Van Horne, hammer in hand, leaned against the jamb, her handkerchief at her mouth and tears in her eyes. Lavinia, majestic and rigid, dominated the scene. From behind the high-boy came coughs, sneezes and emphatic ejaculations.
Miss Pepper was the first to speak.
"Abishal! Pepper," she commanded,
"come out of that this minute."There was a sound of scrambling.
More soot floated in the air. Then around the corner of the high-boy appeared Mr. Pepper, crawling on his hands and knees. His hair was streaked with black; his shirt front and collar and shirt sleeves were spotted and smeared with black; and from his blackened cheeks his red whiskers flamed like the last glowing embers in a fire-cracker."I was just tryin' to help Kesiah take down her stovepipe," he explained. "You see, she didn't have no man to—"
"Yes, I see. Well, I judge you got it down. Now you go out to the sink and wash your face. Heavens and earth! Look at them clothes!"
"I do hope you didn't hurt yourself,"Kesiah nodded. "Yes," she affirmed,
"that was what Missah's proposal amounted to. Ha, ha! Dear me! I When he said 'proposal,' I over a period of a minute I didn't know what was comin'. After Kyan I was prepared for 'meet anything.' But he told me that Lavinia Pepper, who the parish committee has counted on to keep house for Mr. Elery, had sent word her sister was sick and couldn't be left, and that somebody must be hired right off
'cause the minister's expected by day after tomorrow's coach. And the cap'n was made a delegate to come and see me about it. Come he did, and we settled it. I went down to the parsonage with him before dinner and looked the place over. There's an awful lot of sweepin' and dustin' to be done afore it's fit for a body to live in."Grace extended her hand.
"Well, Aunt Kesiah," she said, "I ever and over so glad for you. I know you didn't want to leave Trumet and I'm sure everyone will be delighted when they learn that you're going to stay.""Triumph! That includes Lavinia Pepper, of course. I calculate Lavinia's delight won't keep her up nights. But I guess I can stand it if she can. Now, Grace, what is it? You ain't real pleased? Why not?"
The girl heaved a sigh.
"Auntie," she said, "I'm selfish, & gossip. I'm glad for your sake; you must think I'm not. But I almost wish you were going to do something else. You are going to live in the Regular parsonage and keep house for all persons, a Regular minister.
Why, so far as me seeing you in concerned, you might as well be in China.
You know Uncle Eben."Kesiah nodded understandingly.
"Yes," she said, "I know him. Eben Hammond thinks that parsonage to be the presence chamber of the B.V.O., I presume likely. But, Grace, you mustn't blame me, and if you don't call I'll know why and I ain't blamed
you. We'll see each other once in a while; I'll be sure of that."

She be continued.

ROXBOROUGH PLACE, CALGARY

It gives the writer a real journalistic thrill of satisfaction to be in a position to say a word or two about the property being offered by F. C. Lowe & Company, of Calgary, known as Roxborough Place. The fact that "Freddie" Lowe is using the columns of Saturday Night as an advertising medium at the present time, to bring this property before the attention of readers, is perhaps the only reason I know of why this little appreciation should possibly not be written. However, this journal is compelled so often to speak disrespectfully, not to say slightly, of many advertised western and eastern real estate propositions, that the opportunity to say something pleasant about a property which needs no recommendation to those who have seen it is welcomed. Roxborough Place is the title, and it is a name that means something, whereas seven out of ten, (possibly eight out of ten) of the slippery sub-divisions are parading under titles which have no relation in meaning to the real character of the stuff exploited. What F. C. Lowe did was to select a large tract which seemed to have been overlooked by the other developers, and convert it through the expenditure of a good deal of money into a residential area just across the river from Calgary itself. There is a bridge over the river, and Roxborough Place is easy of access. Before long, street cars will run right past the property. The tract was graded, concrete walks were laid, shade trees were planted, water and sewers were put in I imagine; natural difficulties in the way of hills on two sides of the property were simply hydraulicked to their forbiddingness, and are now terraced into added beauties of the district. The situation of this sub-division—to call it such—is admirable, and I imagine it will sell like hot cakes. It ought to, for in the writer's somewhat extended tour through the west, no more legitimate bit of real estate engineering was encountered. This may sound like so much paid-for advertising, but it is nothing of the sort. For the past three months a large half-tone, showing the original tract, the drawing of how Roxborough Place would look after "treatment" and including a photograph of Mr. Lowe has been held in these offices, merely awaiting an opportunity to be inserted into the news pages. Said cut was so large, however, that it has so far been impossible to use it. I don't know what prices will be asked for this beautiful bit of Calgary, but if they run as I think they will, I would call this choice buying—about as good as the best.

NOTE.—The above article was written by Mr. Norman Harris, Financial Editor of Toronto Saturday Night, and it appeared in the November 2nd issue of that publication. The article is of exceptional importance, as Mr. Harris has been particularly active in criticizing Western investments, and is the terror of all sub-dividers.

F. C. Lowe & Co., owners of Roxborough Place, are also owners of the whole lot sub-divisions in Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, and will be pleased to submit full particulars to anyone interested in making an investment in High-Class Western Real Estate.

Breach Lost.

On Saturday last on the public streets of this city, a small silver brooch, in the shape of a bow knot. Owner values it for its associations, and therefore will pay reward for its recovery. Finder will please leave it at Times Bookstore.

F.C.I. Team Trimmed.

The F.C.I. second team journeyed to Lindsay and were trimmed for good by the Highschool of that village. The Lindsay aggregation was composed of heavier players than the local boys. The score stood in Lindsay's favor 27-14.

Kicked by a Horse.

Vincent Murphy, the nine-year-old son of Mr. Timothy Murphy, Emmore, had his jaw fractured by the kick of a horse on Friday. The lad was leading the animal to the barn when it turned and kicked him. He was brought to St. Joseph's hospital and attended by Dr. McNulty.

Local Hunters Home.

Mr. T. Brightman, the local hide dealer, with other members of his hunting party, returned from their annual outing. They brought home the legal complement of deer. Unfortunately their largest buck, one of the handsomest seen this fall, went through by express by mistake to Brockville.

Sold Liquor to Minors?

At Saturday's police court George McKenzie was charged with selling liquor to minors. Another bartender, Alfred Switzer, was named in the case, and when the two appeared in court, the two boys, Harry O'Hara and Andrew Sullivan, were pretty certain that Switzer was the man who served them. The case was adjourned until to-day.

An Indian Not an Angel.

Chief Isaac Johnston of Chemong, Indian Reservation, was in Lindsay a few days ago. Meeting an acquaintance, the latter asked the Chief meaning from Rama Reservation. "Are you from above?" Chief Johnston, with quick wit, replied: "No, I'm an Indian not an angel." Mr. Dan Watung, who gave one of our reporters the story, chuckled and said: "The Indian as well as the Irishman has a keen sense of wit!"

Mr. Pappas After Restaurant.

Lindsay Post: Two Peterborough Greeks, Messrs. M. Pappas and J. Hudro, were in town on Thursday with the view of purchasing a restaurant or starting a business of that description if suitable premises could be obtained. It is stated that they could buy out business, but the purchase would necessitate the taking over of building and lands. They left for Orillia to-day.

Seriously Hurt in Otonabee.

The farm of Mr. George Stewart, Otonabee, was the scene of a possible fatal accident. Mr. George Elliott, a farm hand was engaged there, and, falling off a hay mow, fractured his skull on the wheel of a threshing machine. Dr. McClelland was at once sent for and had the injured man taken to Nicholl's Hospital in a wagon belonging to Mr. J. Lang, for whom he worked. The unfortunate man's fall from the mow was due to the handle of his pitchfork breaking. From enquiry made yesterday at the hospital, The Times was pleased to learn that Mr. Elliott was doing well.

OBITUARY.

William Foster.

A terribly sudden death occurred late Friday night, when Mr. William Foster, 223 George street, after working until six o'clock, passed away from heart failure. The deceased came to this city from Norwood some twenty-five years ago. He was a stationary engineer and for the past six months had been employed at the Canadian General Electric works. He was well and favorably known in Peterborough. Surviving him are his wife and two sisters, Miss Kate Foster and Miss Mary Jane Foster, of this city. This afternoon the funeral will be held at Little Lake cemetery. Deceased had been a member of All Saints' Anglican Church.

James H. Fife.

One of the oldest and most generally respected residents of Otonabee, in the person of Mr. James Fife was laid to his last resting place on Friday. The deceased passed away on Wednesday at the ripe old age of 80 years. He was born and lived all his life in Otonabee, and was a life-long Conservative. Most of his life was spent as a farmer. A few years ago he retired. He was one of the best known men of Otonabee and his death is regretted by all who knew him. In religion he was a Methodist. His wife predeceased him 16 years ago. Surviving him are five sons and two daughters.

Mr. Spence Nobody's Fool.

It would seem that Sanitary Inspector Spence is considered a kind of perpetuator of court of appeal by neighbors who squabble with one another, and who use as a means of spite anonymous letters to that official, complaining that proper garbage receptacles are not used by the other fellow. Mr. Spence is prepared to investigate any and all complaints of an authentic and signed nature.

Chief Howard Rejected, Paid Up.

This little story of a civil official would not be written were not Chief Howard well and favorably known. On Tag Day, this head of our gallant band of fire fighters vowed on a stack of Korans that he would or could give just so many dollars towards the "tag" fund and no more. His appropriation was quickly exhausted. As the Chief was on his way to dinner, per street car, the car was crowded. Among the occupants were seven pretty girls, all working for Tag Day. With an air of superiority, he made for the girls with whom he was acquainted. "I've given all I can afford," he said, "I've given all I can afford." The girls then, figuratively speaking, held the line tight in that street car drama. One said, "Isn't Chief Howard the homeliest thing that ever happened?" Another gaily intimated, "Of course every one knows he is the meanest old thing in town." While a third, in a more conciliatory tone remarked "No girls, I don't believe half the mean things I hear about Chief Howard. I really believe there is some good in him." At last the Chief, in desperation intimated that he might forego that oath on the Koran to the extent of another dollar, but "which of you kids would take it?" There was a simultaneous or ungrammatical cry of "No!" A compromise was struck, whereby the Chief, pulling out a handful of quarters and halves, gave each girl 25 cents, but suspected that two got a half dollar.

Greatest Invention of Age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered is so Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhose

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhose cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhose keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—irritation of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhose, and credit is no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhose
"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH." "Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill."

"One year ago I read in the 'Progress' a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God-sent invention, Catarrhose."
"Believing in the merit of Catarrhose, I tried it."

"Catarrhose cured me and has been the means of my success."
"You are at liberty to use my name if it will help relieve some from suffering, and I will always remain."

"Rob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.B."

Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhose is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhose is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sent by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhose Co., Buffalo, N.Y., or Kingston, Ont.

The northern part of New Ontario. This was due to the close of the season and consequent desire on the part of hunters to rush their spoils through. The trains all along the line from Port Arthur down were delayed loading game. The C.N.R. from Parry Sound had about 300 deer aboard. It is estimated that 1100 deer came into the city on Saturday.

WEDDING BELLS.

Wilson-Carlisle.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlisle, Esq., of Lindsay, was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Lillian, became the bride. The Rev. C. E. Craig, pastor of Mark street Methodist church performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Otonabee.

NAVAL MATTERS DISCUSSED

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Naval problems and policies claimed a large share in the speeches of two Cabinet Ministers who last night addressed meetings in the interests of Hon. Louis Coderre in Hochelaga.

Hon. Bruno Nantel, Minister of Inland Revenue, said he once held the opinion that no emergency existed, but now, he was open to conviction, and if emergency were proved, he was ready and willing to vote for the emergency contribution. Regarding a plebiscite, he said he was not in favor of such a proceeding, and in part it must necessarily be based upon certain secret documents from the British Admiralty, which could not be placed at the disposal of the electorate.

MAXIM GUNS AND MARINES ARE LANDED AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Powers Guard Against a Massacre, But Will Try Not To Provoke Turkish Populace—Each Nation Assigned to Its Own Zone

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—With the rumble of artillery plainly heard and the prospect of a defeated army pouring into Constantinople the powers have taken precautions against a massacre.

The number of men to be landed from the foreign warships will be decided at a meeting of the commanders to-day. Subsequent to the arrival of the vessels, various zones were assigned to the different powers. These zones will be protected generally by the landing parties, which thus will not confine themselves to guarding the embassies and foreign charitable and educational institutions. The greatest discretion, however, will be used in their employment. At the outset they will not appear, but will proceed to the respective posts allotted to each detachment, where they will remain until the necessity arises for intervention.

Among the cholera victims who have arrived from the front is General Ahmed Riza Bey, president of the Turkish Parliament.

WRIT TO BE ISSUED AGAINST THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH

Instructions have been issued by the Department of Justice, Ottawa, for the serving of a writ against the County of Peterborough in connection with the Government dam at Buckhorn. The Times called up Mr. Ed. Elliott, County Clerk, and asked for the County's version of the matter. Mr. Elliott explained that when the old dam at Buckhorn was to be replaced by a new one, by the Government, the latter refused to have a bridge, as formerly over the dam. This would have cost the county approximately $20,000 for a new bridge. Next, Mr. Elliott claims the Government allowed the county to build a bridge over the dam. This would cost the county some $17,000. Then the Government finally agreed to assume the whole cost of dam and bridge, provided the county contributed $3,000 towards the cost. This the county agreed to. Mr. J. R. Stratton, then member for this riding, made a request to the Government to assume the whole cost and relieve the county of its share. This Mr. Stratton claimed the Minister agreed to. However, when the Minister Government was replaced by Mr. Borden's followers, no record could be found of the understanding between the Government and Mr. Stratton.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., before his departure for the capital yesterday arranged with the Department to withhold issuance of the writ until the coming session of the county council which opens next Tuesday.

ASQUITH YIELDS

Arrangement of Home Rule Quarrel Will Delay Bill 10 Days

London, Nov. 18.—An amicable arrangement of the Home Rule quarrel in the House of Commons was brought about to-day when the dispute as to the Government method of procedure which led to such disorder last week was settled. The Government announced this afternoon its intention of reaching the end of the matter by a more round-about means and the Unionists, having made good their demand for the observance of precedent raised no objection. Premier Asquith attributed his change of mind, "partly to repugnance at a possible recurrence of disorder and partly to a desire not to ignore the appeal of the chair." The House then, on motion of the Premier, negatived its original financial resolution, the amendment of which by Sir Frederick Bantury in committee led to the trouble. Another resolution will be substituted for it. The net result of the squabble will be to delay the progress of the Home Rule bill for ten days.

THE FOUR GUNMEN ON TRIAL FOR THE SHOOTING OF ROSENTHAL

HARRY MOROWITZ ALIAS "GYP THE BLOOD"

FRANK MULLER ALIAS "WHITEY LEWIS"

LOUIS ROSENZWEIG ALIAS "LEFTY LOUIE"

FRANK CROFICI ALIAS "DAGO FRANK"

Although Charles Becker, the police lieutenant, was found guilty of the murder of Herman Rosenthal and was sentenced to die on December 9, the four gunmen who are accused of the actual shooting of the notorious gambler are on trial before Judge Goff. The case, which has already become world famous, promises some more startling and exciting incidents before it is finished. Judge Goff is rushing the case through in record breaking time and expects to have the whole affair cleared up in a very short while.

THREE GENERALS WITH ARMY OF 50,000 FALL INTO THE HANDS OF THE SERBS

Y.M.C.A. DOING WELL

The Y.M.C.A. yesterday opened up their team work in an endeavor to raise $3,000 by to-night. Of course, of this sum $1,000 is to be donated by Mr. E. R. Wood, Toronto, dependent upon this splendid local organization raising $2,000. Last night a dinner was held at the "Y," at which some enthusiastic workers sat down, including Messrs. Pogue, Clary and Riddiford. Of the five teams out working yesterday reports were only available from four of the captains. Mr. G. N. Gordon still being out on the war path after the nimble dollar. The four who made the reports showed collections of $124 for the day. It was intimated that by six o'clock Mr. Gordon's team had garnered over $100.

Most Serious Disaster of the War So Far—Garrison Was Disorganized and Lacked Food—No Escape From the Cordon

Belgrade, Nov. 18.—The Turkish fortress of Monastir surrendered this afternoon to the Serbian troops. Fifty thousand Turkish soldiers and three generals laid down their arms. Monastir had been virtually surrounded by Serbian troops for several days while Greek troops coming from the south have cut off their line of retreat to Ochrida. On Saturday the Serbian troops, after desperate fighting throughout the day and night, succeeded in capturing two important heights commanding the city. They then advanced through the Morava onto the inner fortifications which surrendered to-day.

Monastir is the headquarters of the sixth Turkish army corps commanded by Fethi Pasha, but many other Turkish troops fleeing from surrounding towns which had been captured by the Serbians concentrated there. Djavid Pasha, the commander of the seventh Turkish army corps went there with many of his soldiers after the fall of Uskup to the Serbians.

It was thought that the Turkish troops would be able to stand a lengthy siege in Monastir, but it is evident that the army was totally disorganized and lacked provisions.

MUST GO TO OTTAWA FOR HER NEW TRIAL

Toronto, Nov. 18.—When T. C. Robinson, K.C., asked the Court of Appeal to-day for a stated case on behalf of Emma Knight, alias Emma Jones, found guilty of bigamy, he was referred to the Minister of Justice for a new trial.

The woman was married to John Jones in 1901, and to John Thomas Knight in 1906. Under these circumstances she was convicted of bigamy but her lawyer argued that she had married a man named Dawson in 1892 and that Dawson was still alive in 1901, although she had not heard of him for twelve years. As Dawson was not dead, she was not legally wedded to Jones.

On this question more particularly she desired a stated case. But Mr. Robinson must go to the Department of Justice at Ottawa if he intends to press the point.

PHONE FOR MESSENGERS.

C.P.R. Telegraph Co. Has Done Away With Call Boxes.
The call box system has been unsatisfactory that the C. P. R. Telegraph Co. and the G.N.W. Telegraph Co. have agreed to close out their system. They have had an extra telephone installed in their offices to take the place of the call box. The C.P.R. Telegraph Company's telephone numbers are 181 and 182, and there should not be any delay in getting this office for Messenger service.

BULGARIANS ARE BEATEN BACK AND THOUSANDS ARE CAPTURED

Attacking Army Suffers at Least a Partial Reverse in Great Decisive Battle in Progress Within Earshot of Constantinople—8,000 Taken Prisoners

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—The negotiations for an armistice having fallen through, a great battle is now in progress.

The engagements began at three o'clock on Sunday morning. It was pitch dark. The Bulgarians were about two miles from the Turkish advance posts. A strong force tried to creep into the valley separating them from the Turks, under cover of darkness. But the Turks discovered the movement and the Bulgarians retired.

The attacking forces then opened with a heavy artillery fire, which was the signal for a general assault all along the line. The din was terrific, the earth seemed to tremble under one's feet.

A Turkish Aeroplane.

The opposing armies retained their respective positions for hours, but it was evident that a colossal effort was soon to be made. In the sky a Turkish aeroplane appeared. The Turks finally perceived a detachment of Bulgarians sheltered by the forest of Straza, and sent a contingent to set fire to it, forcing the Bulgarians to withdraw.

The engagement, so far as one could judge, seemed to be going in favor of the Turks in the Darko region, where they took many prisoners and a number of heavy guns.

Krupp Guns Employed.

London, Nov. 18.—The Times correspondent at the Tchatalja lines telegraphs:

The Bulgarians unmasked their artillery positions at daybreak and opened a heavy fire along the front from the Hamidieh forts at Papas Bargas. This is the first real endeavor they have made against the Turkish lines.

"The position the Bulgarians have selected as their salient is fronted on the left by the Papas Bargas marshes and on the right by the gradual ascent of the two Hamidieh forts. The Turkish front is connected by trenches worked into the alignment of the old fortifications."

"All the permanent works have heavy Krupp guns in emplacement, and other large calibre guns have been mounted in the recently constructed works facing the Papas Bargas valley."

"Above these, field artillery batteries are dug in at intervals all along the line, which is a plain series of redans. The Turks have also placed trenches in front of the permanent works in which the infantry are disposed."

WATER COMMISSIONERS MEET.

Caledonia Iron Co. Wants Bill for Pump Paid.

Yesterday afternoon the Peterborough Water Commissioners held a meeting. Among other business of routine nature transacted was the consideration of a letter received from Messrs. Wright, Norris & Thompson asking payment for the pumps supplied by Messrs. John McDougall & Co., for Caledonia Iron Works, and threatening, if not paid to have the matter placed in the hands of solicitors.

It was decided to put a new main on Sunnyside street to supply Nichols Hospital.

to give up the attempt, the firing according to a despatch from Constantinople having ceased this morning.

Observers who have been to the Turkish front agree that the capture of Tchatalja must prove a task of tremendous difficulty. The days the Bulgarian troops were compelled to use for the bringing up of guns, ammunition and reinforcements were taken advantage of by the Turks to dig themselves into entrenchments and to place their guns in positions giving them a distinct advantage over the attackers. The Turkish soldiers, too, who had been to the front by their previous defeats appear to have been steadied and thus far have made a most determined stand.

BOY SCOUT TO HELP "THE OTHER FELLOW"

Will Take Prominent Part in Church Services on Tuberculosis Sunday.

The co-operation of the Boy Scouts of Ontario has been enlisted on the movement to have the first day of December generally observed as Tuberculosis Sunday throughout the province. Members of each local corps will attend the various churches in uniform, and distribute literature regarding the care and cure of consumptives, and reviewing the progress made in the fight against tuberculosis. Each boy will wear a special badge, bearing the legend: "Help the other fellow," the principle of "helping the other fellow" being one of the chief obligations laid upon the members of the organization. The purpose of Tuberculosis Sunday is purely educative, and it is not proposed to take up special offerings for the work.

TIMES LAUDS WHITE AS GREAT SPEAKER

Says Nantel's Speech Shows French Conservatives in Line Behind Borden on Navy.

London, Nov. 18.—The Times, discussing to-day the debate of the Empire, deduces from Hon. Mr. Nantel's speech last week that French Conservatives are entirely with the English in supporting the Borden naval policy. Hon. Mr. White's speech went even further; it was a frank, far-reaching declaration of Canadian aims, which will place him high beside his leader in the column of all Imperialists.

The city still has a man employed on the Charlotte street dump, keeping it clear of objectionable refuse. The stench from the uttermost dump, however, is beyond his control.

High-Speed Eating and Wrong Food Lead to Indigestion

A little thought should convince anyone that right habits of eating are of first importance.

Five important points should guide the wise selection of food:

- Must be nourishing.
- Must be easily digested.
- Must taste good.
- Must make work for the teeth.
- Must be economical.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Greece is picking up islands in the Turkish seas. It is plainly intended to make Greece spots of them.

It pleases us to note that the boats plying in the Salt river trade have been doing a rushing passenger business.

So rapacious is the appetite of the Balkan governments for Turkey that it is doubtful if there will be enough of the old bird to go round.

The unspeakable Turk has been whipped to his knees and is now imploring the Powers to intervene and keep the Bulgarians off his back.

Yes, dear Maud, Baden-Powell, the head of the Boy Scouts, has at last got married. Some of his scouting hereafter will doubtless be after fall millinery.

A few days ago a Toronto paper stated that there was a man living in that city 102 years old. A man who has been that long on earth should have enough money saved up to move to Peterborough and enjoy life.

The Hamilton Herald thinks that the time is approaching when the huge overhanging electric signs which are becoming so numerous of late will have to come down. They shut out the view of near-by buildings.

Much has been said in the late Provincial campaign about the allent voter who every four years figures prominently in the political news just before election day, but our observation is he is a fellow who does an awful lot of talking.

It appears that some of the cultured people of Peterborough have been engaged in an elaborate discussion concerning the difference between "lunch" and "luncheon." We do not know how they settled the matter, but according to our experience the difference is about 95c.

It would seem that Dan Cupid himself sometimes is hard hit by a change of Government. A Pembroke dispatch notes how John Nichol, of Smith's Falls, went back on the girl he was engaged to because his father, a canal lockmaster would lose his job. The girl promptly sued for breach of promise and was awarded $1,000.

LABOUR DISPUTES.

The preliminary estimate of the number of labour disputes in October issued by the Department of Labour shows that the number of strikes was about twice as great as that recorded during the same month of last year, although there was no material change from conditions during the previous month of the present year. The disputes of coal miners on Vancouver Island continued throughout October, this being the only dispute in which a great number of men are involved. About twenty-one disputes were in existence, ten of which commenced during the month. Upwards of 4,300 employees were involved in these disputes which caused a loss of about 98,000 working days.

SHOULD THE DOCTOR HAVE GONE?

In London, Ont., last week, a woman took sick and sorely needed a doctor's care, says the Christian Guardian. Her own doctor was somehow unavailable, and another doctor summoned. He refused to go because he had warned that the woman's husband did not pay his debts. Other doctors were telephoned, but none responded. A nurse was there, but she was not a trained nurse, and a neighbor went a second time to the doctor who had refused to come, but he still persisted in his refusal. A child was born, and the woman's condition was so critical that the nurse herself went for the doctor, who at last agreed to come but before he reached her house the woman died. The doctor declares that he did not know that the woman was so ill, and he did not know that other doctors were unable to attend; and it may be that even if he had been present he could not have saved her life; but the fact that a young woman, only twenty-three years of age, died under such circumstances without any medical attendance is one which the public cannot forget. And it should not forget it. It is a disgrace to our Christianity and our humanity that such a thing should be possible. We are glad to know that few such cases are ever recorded. As a rule our medical men give their services with equal alacrity to rich and poor, and we venture to say that most of our doctors respond automatically to the call for help wholly regardless of the patient's financial standing, and sometimes equally regardless of their own comfort and their own health. We honor our medical men for their noble and self-sacrificing work and yet—such a case as we have chronicled should have been impossible.

North Monaghan Council

Council met on Nov. 11th, all members present, the Reeve presiding. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was received from W. H. Bradburn, Township Treasurer, enclosing a list of cash balances still in his hands from the years 1907 to 1911, and still uncalled for. Mr. Bradburn suggested that it would be better to place these small balances to the credit of the Township.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Robson that Mr. Bradburn's suggestion be granted, but if at any time any person to whom such balance is due shall call for the same, Treasurer shall pay them.—Carried.

A communication was received from Peck, Kerr and McElderry, asking the Township to sign a retainer.

Moved by Messrs. Forster and May, that the Reeve and Clerk are hereby authorized to sign a retainer of the firm of Peck, Kerr and McElderry to act jointly on behalf of Otonabee, South Monaghan and North Monaghan, and their various Boards of Health, to take such action as may be deemed necessary to force the City of Peterborough to discontinue pouring its sewage into the Otonabee River.—Carried.

The following deputation of Temperance workers from North Monaghan came before the Council and urged them to submit a local option by-law to the people. The Right Reverend Mr. White, Methodist Minister from Fraserville, who was present on behalf of Dr. Marsh, who could not attend owing to the death of his father; John Brown, ex-Reeve North Monaghan; John McIntosh, ex-Reeve North Monaghan; Joseph MacMillan, ex-Reeve of North Monaghan; Mr. Cowan, President of the County Temperance Alliance and editor of "Farm and Dairy," Peterborough. This strong and representative deputation strongly urged the Council to submit a local option by-law to the people of North Monaghan. The various speakers pointed out the necessity of local option in North Monaghan and more especially if local option passes in Peterborough. The deputation was introduced by Mr. John Brown, who at the close of the address, rose and thanked Council for the hearing they received.

Mr. John Brown, on behalf of the Methodist Church, Fraserville, asked the Council for title for a culvert going into the Church shed.

Moved by Mr. May, seconded by Mr. Forster, that Taylor and Hall, tile manufacturers, of Peterborough, are authorized to deliver to the Methodist Church Trustees, Fraserville, six pieces of tile 24 feet long, by 1 foot in diameter and charge the same to the Township meter, at their premises, Peterborough account. Mr. Brown, on behalf of the Church Trustees Board, rose and thanked the Council for granting their request.

Moved by Mr. Robson, seconded by Mr. May, that the Clerk be authorized to write Mr. John Armstrong, road commissioner for No. 4 Division, stating that there are some very bad holes in the roads in his division, which should be attended to, and if he cannot to attend the same Mr. Geo. Bigwood has kindly consented to do so.—Carried.

A communication was received from Mr. Wm. Stevens, asking the Council to replace a culvert which he alleges the road commissioner removed last fall when grading the road.

No action taken by the Council.

A petition was presented to the residents and property owners in the Council containing the names of 25 vicinity of the new extension to "Hammerstein street, on registered plan No. 53, asking the Council to grade the street and also to have the same drained direct through to High street and that the High street drain be cleaned out.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Robson that the request of the petitioners be granted.—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Forster and Robson, Forster moved is hereby authorized to build the bridge at the end of Eskine Ave and the Tenth concession.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Robson, seconded by Mr. Morrow, that the account of the Municipal Ward for $5,000 be paid.—Carried.

A local option by-law was then introduced, the Reeve still presiding.

Moved by Mr. May, seconded by Mr. Morrow, that local option by-law No. 659 be given its first reading. The by-law was then regularly read and finally passed its first reading.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. May, seconded by Mr. Morrow that local option by-law No. 659 shall be advertised in the Peterborough Evening Review.

Mr. Wm. Robson was then elected chairman, and the meeting then proceeded with by-law No. 659.

Moved by Mr. Morrow, seconded by Mr. May, that local option by-law No. 659 be given a second reading.

The local option by-law then received its second reading and will be submitted to the electors of North Monaghan at the January elections.

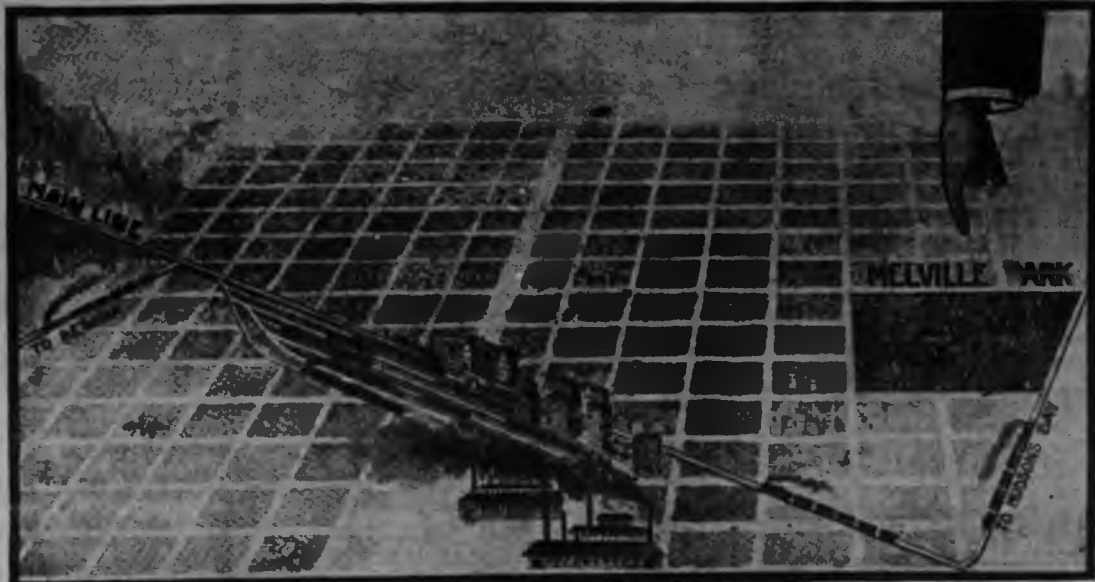

The meeting then adjourned until the call of the Reeve.

BRUCE JOHNSTON,
Clerk.

VICTORIA'S
Bright Future

Induces Another Firm to Open a Pacific Office

To better serve our Eastern clients, Runions Brokers, Ltd., of Calgary, have opened a coast office in the Central Building, Victoria, where we will conduct a general business in real estate, insurance, loans, and will handle exclusively Victoria property held by our Eastern clients. We will also handle through our Eastern offices, Eastern properties held by Victoria people—a sort of clearing house.

As has been our policy during the past seven years in business, our clients shall have the benefits of our honest efforts in legitimate business.

The Victoria firm is composed of Manager, J. E. RUNIONS, President of Runions Brokers Ltd., Calgary, formerly of Cornwall, Ont.

Treasurer, H. B. MACLEAN, Ex-Principal George Jay School, Victoria.

Secretary, C. B. GRAHAM, Ex-Manager Bank of Ottawa, Fort William.

Salesman, P. J. SINNOTT, of Toronto.

STARTLING FACTS.

- (1) Victoria's harbour tonnage this year has been the greatest of all Canadian ports.
- (2) The Dominion Government is investing $3,000,000.00 on improving and enlarging Victoria's harbour to prepare for increased shipping, which the Panama Canal will produce.
- (3) Victoria is 85 miles nearer Panama than any other Canadian port, and the insurance rate on ships and cargo is less between Panama and Victoria than from Victoria to Vancouver.
- (4) All the Canadian and American Transcontinental Railways are invading Vancouver Island and Victoria.
- (5) Vancouver Island is as large in area as England, and cannot be surpassed in natural products, scenery and climate, hence Victoria's slogan: "It's the climate."
- (6) The building permits this year in Oak Bay, Victoria, show the highest percentage increase of all the municipalities in Canada.
- (7) Men are coming from every Province in Canada to Victoria with their families to enjoy life in the City of balmy salt breezes and perpetual flowers, and they are bringing their money, too.

WHAT DO THESE FACTS MEAN?

If you fully appreciate their meaning, you will invest your money, as we are doing, in A 1 investments, such as the following propositions, which we honestly recommend as the best investment we have discovered:

- (1) Secure this for your Victoria Home: A fully modern 7-room house, close in on Pandora Avenue, excellent view, large grounds, only $7,000. Easy terms, grounds alone are worth the money. Owner leaving for England.
- (2) Fine home site, 50' x 120', on the Gorge, opposite Sir Richard MacBride's home, best salt water bathing and boating, in City. Only $2,200. Terms, one-third, 6, 12, 18 months.
- (3) Fine homesites in Oak Bay, near Beach, at $1,200 and upwards.
- (4) Good business corner 90' x 165'. Business block and bank opposite corners. Only $12,500 on easy terms.

We respectfully solicit your patronage.

This is a Want Ad
Town

There Are a Lot of Important Things
That at 11:30, Nowadays, Be Accomplished
at All Without the Help of the Want Ads!

For example, your chances to sell, or to lease, property AT THE RIGHT PRICE, to the right people, ARE MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED through an adequate campaign of classified advertising. If the matter is left to an agent, or broker, he must advertise your proposition aggressively—for the simple reason that 99 out of a hundred people who buy or rent property first read and consider and investigate the ads. The habit is one of simple prudence, of business sense, with them. The unadvertised property never comes to their notice at all!

So it is in the tasks of finding efficient help—of securing boarders or tenants for furnished rooms—of finding desirable positions. In these tasks and quests the want ads are the natural service givers. They introduce people who have business to transact with each other. Every hour of every day such people, who might never meet otherwise, are brought together, with mutual profit!

Truly, this IS a want ad town! Are YOU a want advertiser?

Oil is The Fuel of The Future

In 1911 California produced more than 77,000,000 barrels of oil. The fuel product of this was equal to 29,800,000 tons of the best coal. Geological authorities say California can keep up this rate of production for a century without exhausting the fields so far discovered. The coal wealth of Alaska does not compare with the oil wealth of California. Nor does the wealth of the sea reach the value of this one product of the Sunset State. DID YOU KNOW that California's oil product at the well last year was greater measured in dollars than ALL of the fisheries products of the three Pacific States the Province of British Columbia and the territory of Alaska combined!

Many huge fortunes have been made in the industry, but even greater fortunes are yet to be taken from the virgin oil territory of the Pacific slope. The value of oil as a clean and economical fuel has been established. This has brought production in California fields to the high mark reached last year.

Production in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields is going down, and now regions must be developed to furnish the higher grade paraffin base product. Katalla, Alaska, and East Kootenai, British Columbia, produce the oils which are nearest like the Pennsylvania petroleum. These are the fields for profitable investment.

The Colonial Oil Company of Seattle has holdings in all of the oil regions of the Pacific Coast, and are prepared to develop and exploit some great and profitable properties. Our representative in Peterborough wants to tell you all about it.

ART IN WAXWORK

Figures Made Nowadays That Are Really True to Life.

A SCULPTOR AND HIS MODEL.

When the Artist Cannot Get a Sitting
From His Subject He Works From a Photograph or a Description—The Way the Edgemoor Are Made.

Dickens described Mrs. Jarley's famous waxworks as being "divine" and "sprightly" efforts of celebrated character that stood more or less unchallenged upon their legs, with their eyes very wide open and their nostrils very much inflated and all starting with extraordinary earnestness at nothing. But Mrs. Jarley was sure they were "so like life that if waxworks only spoke and moved about you'd hardly know the difference."

"I won't go so far as to say," ventured that estimable showwoman, "that I've seen waxworks quite like life, but I've certainly seen some life that was exactly like waxworks."

If Mrs. Jarley were with us today she could find plenty of wax figures that are altogether "quite like life," for the art of counterfeiting humanity has made great advances since the days of Mrs. Jarley.

Today waxworks are used for a variety of purposes. The United States army, navy and medical departments make extensive use of them. Wax figures form part of the outfit of many recording stations. The quarter-master's department uses them to show army costumes. The hospital service employs them to depict surgical operations. Museums use wax figures.

Shoppers use them for displaying garments. Various waxworks exhibitions are still popular. And in every expedition nowadays hundreds of wax figures are used to portray life in distant times and climes.

Like any other commodity, wax figures can be had "ready made" or constructed "to order." The ready made kind are used principally in shop windows. The wax heads, arms and hands of these figures are made of plaster models—cast in stock molds. Just as ready made coats are cut after stock patterns. They sell by the dozen and cost only $6 or $7 apiece.

The made to order wax figure is cast in a specially made mold, accurately fashioned after the given model and as carefully finished as a piece of statuary. When the model is in the very lowest cost for such a wax figure is $25, and from that sum the price runs as high as $200. It all depends upon the amount of time and labor expended by the artist.

The sculptor in wax begins a new figure by making a sketch of his subject. When he cannot get a sitting from his subject he makes use of a photograph or a written description. Skillful photographers can give descriptions that are amazing for accuracy of detail. From this sketch a clay model is made. From this the plaster model is made. This has been covered with plaster to form a mold. Imbedded in the plaster are strings, which, being pulled out just before the plaster is fully dry, cut the hardening mold in half, so that when the figure is cast it can be lifted off in sections.

Into this mold is poured in due time the wax, which it takes half a day to prepare. This wax must be melted and worked over and colored to match the complexion of the subject. Finally it is poured into the mold and allowed to harden.

The cast is first "trimmed up" all roughness and irregularities being smoothed off. Then the eyes are inserted. These are glass eyes that match exactly the shade of the subject's eyes.

Lastly the hair is put on. Strangely enough, this is a most difficult operation, for the hair of a wax image is not, as one might think, merely a wig laid on. To be sure, it is a wig, and it matches exactly the subject's hair, but it must be made to "grow." That is, it must seem to spring from the scalp and grow at various angles just as real hair does. So it must be put in and not on the scalp. The hair is inserted with needles, numbers of which are imbedded in a wooden block so that the hair ends can be forced into the wax surface at a time.

The most difficult task of all is to make whiskers look natural. To make the beard grow naturally with the correct "grain" every one of the thousands of hairs, each one-quarter of an inch long, has to be inserted separately—a labor that occupies many hours.

Mrs. Townsend was the originator of the waxworks exhibition. She was born in Switzerland in 1700 and when six years old was sent to Paris to be placed under the care of her uncle, M. Curia, artist to Louis XVI. Under him she studied drawing and modeling. In 1772 she opened the first wax works in the Palais Royal. Figures of royalty comprised the principal exhibits of the waxworks of Europe. In this country the waxworks are more diversified. Any one who catches the public eye, be he murderer or president, is deemed a fitting subject for display. As interest in one character dwindles another figure must take its place, so that there is a constant changing of exhibits. It is interesting to note that in the waxing American waxworks more than 2,000 different figures were exhibited in twenty-five years.—Harper's.

A DETECTIVE STORY.

One They Tell in London on Two American Police Officials.

As an illustration of the good nature of Frank Frost, who used to be chief of Scotland Yard, they tell this story in London:

HABITS OF GAME BIRDS.

I was riding along the shore of Great Bear lake, in Utah, one afternoon and, coming suddenly over a rise of ground, surprised a grackle in the edge of the trees. She swam into the lake, trailing and calling repeatedly. Then two little grackles appeared, and, swimming low, with only their heads and backs visible, hurried after their mother. As they overtook her, each one reached out and, catching the feathers of her back in their beaks, they drew themselves alongside and quickly huddled under her wing, completely hidden. Had I not been a spectator to the act I should never have suspected her of carrying two little "mowmows" as she hurried off.—J. Alden Loring in Outing.

SKILLFUL FLATTERY.

"How well you look!"
"Do you think so?"
"Yes, indeed, I do. I never saw you looking better in my life."

"I'm so glad to hear you say so. I hope you mean it."

"I really do. Only the other night I was saying to my husband that there are a lot of women I know who aren't half so old as you that don't look nearly so young."—Detroit Free Press.

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of razors and razors from old horseshoes. The local blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of the empire with knives, razors and scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This cutlery comes from small shops, where only one or two men are employed, usually the proprietor and his sons, and is chiefly made from old horseshoes imported from England and the continent. A discarded steel shoe offers the best material for blades, but the blacksmiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron that come from Glasgow and Hamburg.

One British firm at Tianjin brought over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently, but could not dispose of them, as the native smiths said that the iron was too hard. They like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive methods.

A razor commonly used by the poorer class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 fang-tsun, about 9 cents in American currency. Upon the strip the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it. Any number of stroppings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged they are simply hardened and not subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

THE GREEK SYMPOSIUM.

The Greek symposium was literally "drinking together," but before the drinking fully began there was a ritual for the purpose of purifying the wealth and taste of the host might dictate. The guests came in their best. Even old Socrates, Plato told us in his "Dialogues" on the subject, was not above taking a little extra pains when he was invited out. Some one met him one day in the market place, "fresh from the bath and mandarin," and as the sight of the sandals was unusual he asked him whether he was going that he was so fine. "To a banquet at Agathon's," he replied, "and I have put on my finery because he is a fine creature. What may you be going with me unbidden?"

A joke on his clerical brother. Two brothers named Chalmers, one a minister and the other a physician, lived together in a western town. One day a man called at the house and asked for Mr. Chalmers. The physician, who answered the door, replied: "I am he."

"You've changed considerably since I last heard you preach," said the man, who appeared greatly astonished.

"Oh, it's my brother you want to see; he preaches and I practice."—Kansas City Star.

Encouraging Him.
Mr. Paintart—Miss Brightly, I—aw—that is—Mabel, I—er—desire to—aw—really—Miss Brightly—Keep right on, Mr. Paintart: I'll consider your proposal and have my answer ready by the time you have got it out of your system.—Philadelphia Press.

Fair, Fat And—
"Don't call me 'Ducky,' John. It's too suggestive."
"Why, precious?"
"Because ducks always waddle, you know."—London Tit-Bits.

DOOMED HIMSELF.

Chief Shavehead Boasted Once Too Often of His Deeds of Blood.

J. Seymour Curry in "The Story of Old Fort Dearborn" describes the massacre of the garrison of the old fort and tells of one instance of poetic justice for the Indians' brutes.

"Bloody retribution," says Mr. Curry, "overtook one of the savages, who on the day of the massacre showed no mercy to his victims. This was a chief known as a deadly enemy of the whites and who bore the expressive name of Shavehead because of his peculiar manner of tying up his scanty hair."

"Years afterward Chief Shavehead was in company with a band of hunters in the Michigan woods. In the party was a white man who had formerly been a soldier at Fort Dearborn and was one of the survivors of the battle on the lake shore. At one of the camps the chief, being of a beautiful disposition, related with merriment the influence of liquor to those sitting about the campfire the frightful tale concerning the events of that day, dwelling upon its horrors and boasting of his own deeds."

"He was not aware that one of the whites whom he had so severely assaulted was at that moment listening to his bragging vituperations. The old soldier as he heard the tale was saddened by the recall of the well remembered scene."

"Toward midnight the old savage departed alone in the direction of the forest. Shortly the soldier with loaded rifle followed upon his steps. Opportunity observed them as they passed out of sight into the shadow of the forest. The soldier returned after a time to his companions, but Shavehead was never seen again."

A FINE STEAMER

Greatest Invention of Age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered Is so Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhose.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhose cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes hoarseness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhose keeps the mucous surface in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—swiftness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhose, and credit is no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhose. "For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH." "Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill."

"One year ago I read in the 'Progress' a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God-sent invention, Catarrhose. 'Believing in the merit of Catarrhose, I tried it.' 'Catarrhose cured me and has been the means of my success.' 'You are at liberty to use my name if it will help relieve some suffering, and I will always remain.'"

"Bob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.B." Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhose is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhose is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhose Co., Buffalo, N.Y., or Kingston, Ont.

HELPING WORTHY CAUSE.

The Imperial Order of King's Sons and Daughters have notified the National Sanitarium Association that they will furnish a cot at the Hospital for Consumptive Children which is now nearing completion at Weston, near Toronto. Several branches of the Women's Institute have also signified that it is their purpose to have a share in the equipping of this hospital, which is being established to bring hope and health to many little ones who without its beneficent influence would be destined to an early grave.

BLACK BASS FISHING

This Hardy Fish Not Particular as to Salt; Will be Taken Second Time

The black bass can be captured on a variety of baits, there is most ordinary use being the streamer fishing with a three hook plug at the rear end, the single hook or, possibly five small hooks with an anguiform, minnow or frog attached thereto, and the fly, which is, of course, a single hook. In a great many cases, but more especially when the single hook is being used, the fish will be hooked in the tough membrane of the lip or mouth, and in such instances the hook can be removed without in any way harming the fish if care is taken first to wet the head before touching it, the rubbing of a dry hand being liable to cause damage to appear on the fish if it is subsequently returned to the water. The bass, indeed, is such a hardy fish generally that unless it is hooked in the gills or somewhere the half so that the hook or hooks cannot be removed without injuring the gills it will suffer no evil effects either from its struggles or from the slight handling that is necessary to release it, and, in fact, has been known to return to the water after a short period of its return to the water.

A Tax on Cats.

Of the many German municipalities which have long threatened to levy a tax on cats, Munich is first to carry the threat into effect. The revenue of Bavaria's capital will be augmented by five marks annually upon each cat within the walls of the city. In future poor puss must wear a collar with a metal clasp and number, similar to those worn by dogs, or she will fall a prey to specially-organized cat-catchers. The new measure, it is stated, is in defence of sleeping birds, and also in the interest of hygiene and the citizen's nocturnal repose.

A NOTE OF WARNING

The west is agog with a discussion on the merits of mixed farming for the prairie. Many an "old settler" is the only one representative of old-fashioned farming. Most farmers, however, are either convinced of the benefits of the soil's fertility or they are not worrying over that prospect so long as they reap good harvests with small outlay now. The experts, however, are divided. If the fate of the western states, for example, the border, where the yield of a wheat bush is doubled—Ours is C. H.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their capacities and amount of cash. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary,
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, November 2, 1912.

The Oil in Cloves.

Cloves are simply the dried flower buds of a beautiful evergreen tree growing naturally on the Spice Islands. These flower buds are gathered when they have become of a bright red and are just at the point of opening. The name comes from the resemblance of the prepared spice to small nails, from the French word clou, for nail. Cloves are very heavily charged with a pungent, acrid, volatile oil, as much as 20 per cent sometimes being extracted. This oil is valuable for flavoring and sweetening purposes and has a marked effect in medicine, but the habit of "putting cloves" in which young folks and old often indulge, is very reprehensible, as the oil is a powerful drug, becoming in many cases an irritative poison.

Mitigating Circumstances.

A British bullie recently advanced to the bench had a criminal placed before him accused of some very modest violation of the law. Of course the bullie knew the prisoner well. He heard the charge stated.

"John, man, I'm sorry to see you here. We'll just see you half a crown." The clerk here intervened.

"But the charge is not yet proved. We have not heard the evidence." Then the benighted bullie:

"Ah, well, John, my man, as the charge is not proved we'll just let you go on eightpence."—London Telegraph.

Facial Horticulture.

"A new milkman left our milk today," announced Dorothy.

"Did he have whiskers?" asked her mother, thinking perhaps it was the proprietor.

"No," said the four-year-old; "he didn't have whiskers, but he had the roots."—Harper's Weekly.

PROPOSALS IN JAPAN.

Quaint Custom of Placing a Plant in an Empty Flowerpot.

In some of the Japanese islands, in houses where reside one or more daughters of a marriageable age, an empty flowerpot of an ornamental character is encircled by a ring and suspended from the window or veranda by three light chains.

The Julietts of Japan are, of course, as attractive to the Romans as those of other lands. But instead of serenades by moonlight and other delicate ways of making an impression it is etiquette for the Japanese lover to approach the dwelling of his lady bearing some choice plant in his hand, which he boldly proceeds to plant in the empty vase.

This takes place at a time when he is fully assured that both mother and daughter are at home, neither of whom, of course, is at all conscious that the young man is taking such a liberty with the flowerpot outside their window. This act of placing a pretty plant in the empty flowerpot is equivalent to a formal proposal to the young lady who dwells within.

The youthful gardener, having notified his plant to his mind, retires, and the lady is free to act as she pleases. If he is the right man she takes every care of the gift, waters it and tends it carefully with her own hands, that all the world may see the donor is accepted as a suitor. But if he is not a favorite or if stern parents object the poor plant is torn from the vase and the next morning lies limp and withered on the veranda or on the path below.

"Will your wife's vacation cost you much?" "I don't know. I hope her's won't be enough to bridge to offset the debt I've broken."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A doctor, amazed to find a patient in a cold bath, began to scold him. "What's this?" he said. "Did I order you to take a bath?" "Sure! You told me to take those pills in water."—New York World.

"Life is full of inconspicuous," mused the philosopher. "Yes," replied the cynic, "in dry towns people lay aside meat for a rainy day."—Buffalo Express.

IRISH TONGUE BEING REVIVED.

France and Germany Are Paying Much Attention to it.

The ramor of religious and political animosities in Ireland has been greatly mitigated in recent years. There is a growing recognition among men of all creeds and all parties that they have interests in common as Irishmen, and that Ireland needs the service of all her sons. It is true that political opinions still mainly follow the lines of religious belief, a Protestant, that is, is usually a Unionist, and a Roman Catholic is usually a Home Ruler. But these old walls of sectarian partition are breaking down.

There is a genuine revival of interest in the old native language. It is part of that natural renaissance, the workings of whose mighty spirit can be seen in many directions. Every street name plate in Dublin now bears the name in Irish as well as in English letters, and Irish has been made a compulsory subject at the new Roman Catholic University. Yet there are singularly few signs of popular interest in the attempt to galvanize the old language into new life. Among some scholarly patriots, who regard the native tongue as expressing the genius of the nation, there is an intense zeal for Irish, and that splendid Irishman, Dr. Douglas Hyde, has encouraged his enthusiasm for the vernacular tongue by an ardent and popular lecture. This revival of enthusiasm for the Irish language is a very significant phase of the national awakening.

NEW LONDON MUSEUM WITH ROYAL ROBES

Many Interesting Exhibits Will Be Shown, including a Chamber of Horrors

In the room in Kensington Palace which Queen Anne and her husband, the windows of which is the playroom of Queen Victoria's childhood, Mr. Guy Laking, the King's Armourer, is busy classifying the exhibits of the new London Museum. Considerable time must elapse before they can be placed on public view, for already they number nearly 8,000, and to catalogue a collection which is drawn from every period of London's history is no light task.

The Coronation robes of five sovereigns—Queen Victoria's, Queen Alexandra's, and Queen Mary's, together with King Edward's and King George's, also some of the early costumes of Queen Victoria and the dresses Queen Mary wore at her coronation at King Edward's Coronation, and beneath her robes at her own coronation—will be on exhibition. Another exhibit will be the christening clothes of King George V. All these will form part of the costume history of London, towards which have already been added the magnificent Somerset coronation robes of the thirteenth century. The series comprises three or four hundred costumes, ranging from the fourteenth century to the present day. In the Elizabethan and Jacobean periods it is especially rich, and includes some beautiful silver-embroidered leather coats of the Commonwealth. There will also be a Chamber of Horrors, showing the executioner's block found in the Thames, by the Tower; letters worn by Tom King, the highwayman; some more feline (sixteenth century); fished up from a well at Nazeby; a basin from the poor devils' cell, as well as some fascinating thumbcrews and hand-cranes.

GERMAN LABOR TROUBLES

Amendments to the Criminal Code are Urged by Employers

Labor unrest in other countries has given rise to considerable uneasiness in Germany. This is manifesting itself both on the side of the workmen and on that of the employers. In the metal trades, in which nearly a million and a half men are engaged, strikes and lock-outs have been common for some time, and the situation has become so threatening that the united federations of employers have been forced to meet to discuss means of protection. Should a lock-out occur, as may happen in the course of this month, over 600,000 organized trades unionists will be affected, and along with them a far larger number of unorganized laborers. While this disquieting outlook in one of the principal branches of German industry continues, the employers in other branches are seeking to strengthen the law against plotting, which they regard as a danger to the community at large. An amendment of the criminal law in the following terms has already been proposed by the Government: "Whoever by means of dangerous threats disturbs the peace of any other person shall be liable to a year's imprisonment or a fine of $500. The Criminal Federation of German Manufacturers proposes in its petition an additional clause reading: "Whoever undertakes the systematic plotting of employers, workmen, work-leaders, shareholders, streets, open spaces, railway stations, canals, docks, or other places of traffic, shall render himself guilty of dangerous menacing in the meaning of the first paragraph." It is expected that the Reichstag will make this petition one of the first subjects of discussion on its resumption.

A BISHOP'S CRITICISM

Wishes a More Vital Application of Christianity to Problems

In his address of Carleton Diocesan Conference at Windsor, the Bishop of Carleton, Dr. Duggan, closed a most effective and vital application of Christianity to modern problems. "Our age," he said, "is an age of enormous material prosperity. Money is growing like a weed and working its way into the life of every man, woman and child. On the other hand we are losing the sense of the dignity of labor. The brightening of the habits of living has everywhere increased its cost. There, with other causes, are producing an unrest amounting almost to perilous despair among the lower laboring classes, who often work eighty hours a week for twenty shillings. These things ought not to be. They turn the brotherhood of man into a sham."

Bright, Ruddy Cheeks For Pale Girls

NO LONGER ANY NEED TO BE PALE, WEAK OR ANÆMIC.

By following the Advice of Miss Ewen You can Quickly Become Strong Again.

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested.

At night she is restless, she does not sleep soundly.

Vital force must be increased, new blood must be supplied and a general rebuilding of the place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton has invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing to prompt in building up young women as his vegetable pills of Mandrope and Butternut.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying
the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is fast strengthened and invigorated.

Full of spirit, ruddy and strong is the girl that amazes her system by the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Etta McEwen, of Haliburton, speaks for itself.

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, sleep more soundly, and awaken in the morning feeling quite refreshed."

"Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if a severe illness were hanging over my head."

"Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarthor-some Co., N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

will leave for the new seat of his labors in about a fortnight.

LIQUOR CASE DISMISSED.

At the police court yesterday Geo.
McKenzie, bartender was charged by the police with supplying liquor to a minor. Magistrate Dumble said that the evidence of Harry O'Hara, who stated on Saturday that Alfred Switzer was the man who served him, and not McKenzie, was ad-sufficient for the case against the latter to be dismissed.

Hit His Nerve.

At yesterday's police court, William Payne, who came with a married woman from England some few years ago, and to whom he is not married, though living together, was allowed out on suspended sentence.
It seems that "Mrs." Payne was once married, but has not seen or heard of her lawful spouse for years. He left her a baby boy, however. It is over this boy that she and Payne quarrel, and which caused the latter to strike her, so the police court case.

Peterborough Colony for Calgary.

As an illustration of the price of living in Calgary, Alta., it might be noted that on Saturday Mr. William Hamilton shipped a crate containing one hundred pounds of celery by the Dominion Express, to his sister, Mrs.
Cyril Hill, who resides in that bristling Western city. Even with six dollars express charges the celery will be laid down cheaper at Calgary than it can be bought there. The vegetable came from the garden at "Auburn," residence of the late Mrs.
(Hon.) Robert Hamilton.

Sudden Death in Otonabee.

A sad and sudden death occurred
Sunday at lot 25, concession 7, Otona-bee, when William Armstrong Miller, son of Mr. John Miller, aged 18 years, whilst reading a book, dropped off his chair and expired. The cause was heart disease, from which he has been a sufferer for some time.
He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Wilbert and James, at home; two sisters, Mrs. William Stark, of Otonabee, and Margaret.
The funeral will take place this afternoon to the Little Lake cemtery.

Council Will Discuss Hydro.

The Hydro-Electric By-law, whereby the citizens will be asked to vote on a proposed expenditure of $118,000 next January will be discussed at the next general meeting of our City Council. Mayor Bradburn will have a complete history of the Hydro-Electric proposition prepared, immediately after, which will be published. By this means the public will be afforded an opportunity to thoroughly familiarize themselves with the exact nature of the proposition.

OBITUARY.

Patrick Allen.

To-morrow morning the funeral of the late Patrick Allen of Lakefield, who died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital will leave the residence of Mr. Robert Allen of Douro, to St.
Joseph's church, Douro, and thence to St. Joseph's cemetery. The deceased is survived by a widow, two sisters and four brothers.

Mr. Allen's death was due to blood poisoning induced by the scratching of a pimple on his arm.

Mrs. (Rev.) John Smith.

A death occurred Sunday afternoon at 387 Walton street, whereby a large circle of friends are saddened and the W.F.M.S. of the Presbyterian church loses a life member. At the venerable age of 88 years, Elizabeth McCarthy, widow of the late Rev. John Smith, former pastor of Erskine Presbyterian church, passed away at the residence of her son, Mr. J. C. Smith. The deceased was born in Scotland, coming to Canada when a girl. She was married in Bowmanville and came to this city about a year ago.

She is survived by one sister, widow of the late Rev. Canon W. J.
McKenzie, of Milton, Ont., and one brother, Mr. F. F. McCarthy, of Toronto. Two daughters, Mary E., of Peterborough, and Martha J. Winni-per, and two sons, W. A. Smith, of St. Paul, Minn., and J. C. Smith, of this city.

The funeral will be held to Mount Pleasant cemetery, Toronto.

Small Blaze at Kamsler.

Yesterday an incipient fire at the Examiner Office was discovered and quickly extinguished during the noon hour. A dense cloud of smoke was seen issuing from a pavement grating. A lighted cigar stub or match had set fire to some paper under the grating. This quickly set fire to a canvass covered window between the street and cellar. Inside the window next the wall was a pile of waste paper. This had caught fire from the burning canvass. A few pails of water extinguished the blaze without damage, unless from smoke.
